

REDUCE IMMIGRATION!

Australia's overall immigration intake is too high, and has more than doubled since 1999. We do not oppose all immigration, but believe that high immigration adversely affects our environmental sustainability, social cohesion and cultural integrity. We encourage Australian voters to convey their support for policy change by writing REDUCE IMMIGRATION atop ballot papers in local, state and federal elections. A successful precedent was the No Dams write-on campaign in the early 1980s. Such write-on activity does not invalidate the ballot, does not make the vote informal, and does not contravene any laws.
