JUST IN... "The Precariat" by Guy Standing, Professor of Economic Security at the University of Bath, UK. Price $35.00 + postage. Guy Standing presents the Precariat — an emerging class, comprising the rapidly growing number of people facing lives of insecurity, moving in and out of jobs that give little meaning to their lives.

Guy Standing argues that this class is producing instabilities in society. Although it would be wrong to characterise members of the Precariat as victims, many are frustrated and angry. The Precariat is dangerous because it is internally divided, leading to the villainisation of migrants and other vulnerable groups. Lacking agency, its members may be susceptible to the siren calls of political extremism.

To prevent a 'politics of inferno', Guy Standing argues for a 'politics of paradise', in which redistribution and income security are reconfigured in a new kind of Good Society, and in which the fears and aspirations of the Precariat are made central to a progressive strategy. This important and original book brings out the political dangers, so clear in contemporary America, of failing to address the insecurities of the Precariat. It also suggests the way forward: a reconstruction of the concept of work.

-- Eileen Applebaum, Center for Economic and Policy Research, Washington DC, USA

Over 90% of workers in India are informal, poorly paid, without any economic security. Guy Standing combines vision with practicality in outlining policies that are urgently needed to provide security to workers such as these around the world.

-- Renana Jhabvala, Self-Employed Women 's Association of India

ANOTHER 'JUST IN': "Classified Woman, A Memoir, Sibel Edmonds Story" Price $27.50 + postage. In this startling new memoir, Sibel Edmonds - the most classified woman in U.S. history-takes us on a surreal journey that begins with the secretive FBI and down the dark halls of a feckless Congress to a stonewalling judiciary and finally, to the national security whistleblowers movement she spearheaded.

Having lived under Middle East dictatorships, Edmonds knows firsthand what can happen when government is allowed to operate in secret. Hers is a sobering perspective that painful experience with a rallying cry for the public's right to know and to hold the lawbreakers accountable.

With U.S. citizens increasingly stripped of their rights in a calibrated media blackout, Edmonds' story is a wake-up call for all Americans who, willingly or unwillingly, traded liberty for illusive security in the wake of 9/11.

Sibel Edmonds is the editor of Boiling Frogs Post and founder-director of the National Security Whistleblowers Coalition. She is the recipient of the 2006 PEK/ Newman's Own First Amendment Award.

Ms. Edmonds worked as a language specialist for the FBI where she reported serious acts of security breaches and cover-ups, for which she was retaliated against and ultimately fired. Court proceedings were blocked by assertion of the State Secrets Privilege, and the U.S. Congress has been gagged and prevented from taking up or even discussing her case through retroactive classification issued by the Department of Justice. Ms. Edmonds has an MA in public policy from George Mason University and a BA in criminal justice and psychology from George Washington University.

Wolves in Sheep's Clothing by Dr Amy McGrath is now available from Heritage Book Shops and Veritas Online. Price $15.00 + postage. Dr. McGrath has done us all a great favour by compiling 'a compendium of the voices of others' in "Wolves in Sheep's Clothing".

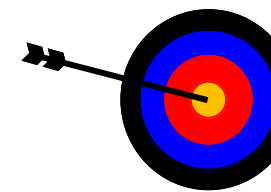

The summary of the nature of the people referred to echoes back to Christ's warning to his followers: "Beware of the false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly are ravenous wolves (Matt. 7:15). Dr. McGrath writes: "Communist Fabian wolves (disguised) as sheep (seek) to hide the truth, they would destroy our past as Lenin did in Russia in 1917, unleashing wolves who led to Stalin's murderous regime."

"Europe: The Shattering of Illusions" by Vaclav Klaus. Now back in stock. $27.50 + postage. Intent on warning his fellow Europeans of Communism's re-emergence, the former president of the Czech Republic Mr. Vaclav Klaus warns the Europeans the European Union is shaping into yet another communist super state. Australians – if only they had eyes to see – would see the same pattern of political and financial manipulations in their own country. Just change a few key words in Mr. Klaus' book for the Australian scene and the reader would have eyes to see.

He writes: "The core concepts of economic integration were the free-trade area, and the common agricultural policy (a policy based on planning, control and subsidies, not dissimilar to what we knew under Communism). I repeat that I am only describing the outline of the system, this is not a detailed list of shared activities orchestrated and performed by Brussels. "...It is also widely known that not everybody was in favour of this kind of economic integration at the time. As soon as the EEC started displaying some of its more ambitious features, a par alternative was born in 1960, known as EFTA the European Free Trade Association, which - led by England - made it clear from the start that integration should remain limited to economic matters only. When England reconsidered its position, under the reign of 'conservative' premier Edward Heath at beginning of the 1970s, and 'changed clubs' in favour of the EEC..."

"By the logic of things, the EEC - although still a 'mild' form of integration – started building its empires and offices, creating its own bureaucracy, its 'European' politicians, its lobbyists, its embedded media dependent on the European institutions. In other words it became an enterprise by and for itself (and a major employer). These people, as well as the institutions they worked for, started living their own lives. Slowly and cautiously at first, but ever so rapidly and consistently later, they were gaining new independence, shedding the original mantle of mere servants to the member states.

At the same time we saw the implicit, gradual and largely invisible birth of the ideology which I call 'europeism' with new horizons in time and space, drafting and promoting the contours of future integration..."

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

For myself after 21 years familiarity with the Lord's Prayer, it was Social Credit which supplied that dynamic, bringing new life to the Prayer. Social Credit is built upon acceptance of the elements of forgiveness, opening a path to that material and spiritual abundance, where the mystery of God's grace is the key factor. It was a Christian priest with 25 years service as a missionary in Africa who first explained to me that God's grace is a free gift to all, unearned and undeserved.

Douglas had never put it in such precise terms, but I immediately saw the relevance of grace to Social Credit. There was an added dimension that besides being unearned and undeserved, God's grace was also indiscriminating. When applied to all nations and races, the gospel of Christ fulfilled His injunction, "go ye into all the world...."

It is in this understanding that Social Credit answers the cry of pain from an agonized and groaning world because the Christian Church after 2,000 years of striving has yet to come to grips with the reality behind the gift of God's grace inherent in Social Credit. That His prayer should become reality is the desire of Christ. What was His answer to achieving that reality? To pray: "Ask and it shall be given unto you" Christ makes our task as simple as possible.

For the Record ~ 'The Word' of Kevin Rudd — Would You Trust this Man?

Kevin Rudd, February 27, 2012: TO Julia I would say this ... You will have my absolute support in your efforts to bring us to victory. I will not under any circumstances mount a challenge against your leadership. I go one step further. If anyone turns on Julia in the 18 months ahead ... Julia - you will find me in your corner against them.

Rudd, March 21, 2013: WHEN I say to my parliamentary colleagues and to the people at large across Australia that I would not challenge for the Labor leadership I believe in honouring my word. Others treat such commitments lightly. I do not.

March 22 statement: MR Rudd has said consistently over the last 12 months that he would not challenge for the Labor leadership and that he would contest the next election as a local member of parliament at the next election. ... Furthermore, Mr Rudd wishes to make 100 per cent clear ... that there are no circumstances under which he will return to the Labor Party leadership in the future.

Rudd, doorstep, March 22: IN political life we live by our word. We live by whether we honour our word. And the good people of Australia observe that over a lifetime ... I have said time and time again that I would not challenge in the future for the leadership of the Labor Party - I believe in honouring my word.

Furthermore, had I done the reverse and simply gone out there and challenged, each and every one of you here today, as journalists, here in Brisbane and around the country, would quite rightly have attacked me for a loss of credibility for having walked back on my word.

Crucifixion of St. Andrew - http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Andrew_the_Apostle

Eusebius in his church history 3,1 quotes Origen as saying Andrew preached in Skythia. The Chronicle of Nestor adds that he preached along the Black Sea and the Dnieper river as far as Kiev, and from there he travelled to Novgorod. Hence he became a patron saint of Ukraine, Romania and Russia. According to tradition, he founded the See of Byzantium (Constantinople) in AD 38, installing Stachys as bishop. According to Hippolytus of Rome, he religious relic brought from Greece, officials said Saturday, in the latest sign of the Russian Orthodox Church's influence in post-Soviet Russia. The cross of Saint Andrew -- said to be a relic of the X-shaped cross on which Andrew the Apostle was crucified -- was placed in Saint Petersburg's Kazan Cathedral on Thursday after arriving from its historic home in Patras in Greece. In just the first days of its display, there were some 65,000 visitors and the preached in Thrace, and his presence in Byzantium is also mentioned in the apocryphal Acts of Andrew, written in the 2nd century. Basil of Seleucia also knew of Apostle Andrew's mission in Thrace, as well as Scythia and Achaia. This diocese would later develop into the Patriarchate of Constantinople. Andrew is recognized as its patron saint. Andrew is said to have been martyred by crucifixion at the city of Patras numbers are increasing all the time, a representative of the fund which helped bring the cross to Russia told the RIA Novosti news agency. The cross has come from Greece as part of commemorations of the 1,025th anniversary of the Christianisation of the mediaeval Slavic state of Rus.... The relic is due to stay in Saint Petersburg until Monday and then be taken to Kiev in Ukraine, Minsk in Belarus and to the Russian capital Moscow before returning to Greece on August 2.”

(Patræ) in Achaea, on the northern coast of the Peloponnese. Early texts, such as the Acts of Andrew known to Gregory of Tours, describe Andrew as bound, not nailed, to a Latin cross of the kind on which Jesus is said to have been crucified; yet a tradition developed that Andrew had been crucified on a cross of the form called Crux decussata (X-shaped cross, or "saltire"), now commonly known as a "Saint Andrew's Cross"....

GLOBAL WARMING A ‘MARKETING PLOY’ ON PART OF GLOBALISTS

Veterans Today had the following to say about Al Gore the fake ‘greenie’: “Al Gore promotes Global Warming because it is a money making scam, these past winters are freezing out Global Warming as a viable theory. Al Gore is now frozen in time as the village idiot who lectured us about carbon emissions and was stopped by the cold reality of a cooling earth. So what was Anthropocentric Global Warming (AGW) all about anyways?

<http://yukonjackblog.files.wordpress.com/2013/07/al-gore-frozen.jpg>

Global Warming was/is a Marketing Ploy

The Global Warming theory was never really a theory, it was a marketing effort on part of the “globalists” to remake the world in their image of taxing ever more - you breath so therefore you are taxed... Al Gore was their errand boy, CO₂ was never a threat because it is a trace gas, and man-made CO₂ only a small 3% of the total. Water vapour is 95% of the global warming effect, and is hardly ever mentioned.

HAPPINESS IS HAVING SOMETHING TO EAT AND NOT BEING COLD

By Len the Unemployed, Dispossessed, Hungry and Cold: Another cold night here in Adelaide which I am spending in a friend's took shed. It is dry, but cold, although there is a light. Writing this article keeps the circulation in my fingers. I reflect upon a study rolled out of Deakin University which names the “golden triangle of happiness to be a loving partner, a fulfilling social activity and an income of $100,000 a year”! My goodness – it took academic research to come up with that – no wonder James Reed wants to close down the universities. In the real world outside of the now yellowing ivory towers, there is a crisis in youth unemployment with record numbers of young people looking for a job and living on welfare payments, while hundreds of thousands of migrants, and maybe half a million of would-be migrants (e.g., international students) get ready to compete on the job market. ABC's Four Corners recently had a programme about the difficulty people have “living” on Centrelink's Newstart allowance (the dole). Let me tell you that you can't really live – ultimately you end up on the street or sleeping in a shed like me. That's how the Aussies are now “treated”. I could whinge more if my fingers weren't frost-bitten.

KEV THE CHRISTIAN AND GAY MARRIAGE by Mrs Vera West

With Mr. Rudd back in the top spot yet again, it is time to critically look at some of Rudd's position on social issues. Be aware that he will charge ahead with the Aboriginal constitutional recognition (as will Abbott). Rudd has also changed his position on gay marriage and the deputy Prime Minister said that Labor will make gay marriage a reality. Rudd is now so committed to gay marriage that he said if Abbott refuses to allow Coalition MPs a conscience vote, he will consider a referendum. Got that? – never a referendum on immigration, multiculturalism and Asianisation – but gay marriage, you've got it. The Christian Lobby may mobilise against Rudd but it is not clear how much damage it could do. Other ethnic groups probably will support Rudd because he is so gung ho on mass immigration, multiculturalism etc., but then, Tony Rabbit is not far behind. I think if Rudd gets in, Abbot will be replaced by a pro-gay marriage opposition leader and there will be a “conscience” vote, which will bring gay marriage to Australia. Of the two evils, Labor and Liberal, I think Labor is worse by a pin-head, but a significant pin-head which no angels dance upon.

THE DEATH MERCHANTS OF TEL AVIV By Gilad Atzmon

Haaretz reported today that (16 July 2013) there are more than 6,800 arms exporters working in Israel. As of the end of 2012, there were “6,684 individuals dealing with security exports in 1,006 companies and 312 independent businesses. The Israeli Defence Export Controls Agency issued 1,900 marketing permits and 8,716 export permits.”

Apparently some 6,684 Israelis are making a living selling death around the world. They are serving an industry that produces more than 150,000 jobs. However, the most crucial question here is how did the Jewish State become a death factory? Early Zionism promised, indeed, to bring to the world a ‘new Jew’ – a productive, proletarian authentic human being driven by ethics and humanism. But, it didn't take long for the Jewish State to reveal its real supremacist inclinations and plunderous pragmatism.

By now, Israel isn't just a regional threat. It actually operates as a military industrial lab. On a daily basis it celebrates its destructive powers on the expense of Israel's neighbours and the Palestinians, just in order to find new markets for its growing class of death merchants.

OUR POLICY

- To promote service to the Christian revelation of God, loyalty to the Australian Constitutional Monarchy, and maximum co-operation between subjects of the Crown Commonwealth of Nations.
- To defend the free Society and its institutions — private property, consumer control of production through genuine competitive enterprise, and limited decentralised government.
- To promote financial policies, which will reduce taxation, eliminate debt, and make possible material security for all with greater leisure time for cultural activities. To oppose all forms of monopoly, either described as public or private.
- To encourage all electors always to record a responsible vote in all elections.
- To support all policies genuinely concerned with conserving and protecting natural resources, including the soil and environment reflecting natural (God's) laws, against policies of rape and waste.
- To oppose all policies eroding national sovereignty, and to promote a closer relationship between the peoples of the Crown Commonwealth and those of the United States of America, who share a common heritage.

ALL THE FUN 'N' GAMES OF ASIA WAR by James Reed

Preparations for the “big one” – Asia War – are well advanced. With hostilities in the South China Sea, nations are engaging in an Asia arms race. China, Pakistan and India have increased their nuclear stockpiles while the West reduced its nuclear stockpiles. Pakistan is intending to increase defence spending for 2013-2014 by 15.7 per cent to $6.3 billion (The Age 17

June 2013, p.13). This was done while the Pakistan prime minister cut budgets of all cabinet ministers by 30 per cent. This is significant and shows how serious Pakistan views the need to arm-up. The West though is eager to sell weapons and the French are selling 126 Rafale fighter-jets to India. Russia is building 250 Stealth fighter-jets for India as well as nuclear-powered submarines. Meanwhile the Australian Defence Force has slashed its military spending. Yes, when the time finally comes, Australia will be plum and juicy, ready for invasion. Oops, sorry, I forgot – it's already happened. All that remains is for our total annihilation. In fifty years time will even a trace of Anglo Australia remain?

CIVILISATION CONSUMES ITSELF OUT OF RESENTMENT

Continuing on this theme, Brett Stevens blogging at Amerika.org (June 15 2013, “Civilisation Consumes Itself Out of Resentment”) reflects on the self-destructiveness of Western civilisation. He cites as an example a recent TV show where the host mentioned that deaths now exceed births among non-Hispanic whites in the United States. The audience cheered – and they were non-Hispanic whites, in fact mainly Nordics (Northern Europeans). Brett Stevens rightly notes that “That’s akin to the people on the Titanic deciding that if the iceberg hasn’t done the job, they were going to go down to the hull and dynamite it, so the ship might sink.”

John Derbyshire “The Joy of Ethnomasochism” (Vdare.com 15 June 2013) commented briefly on this story, but had no answer to the question of self-destruction. Steven hypothesises that these people are self-destructive because they hate the weakness of their society and at the same time feel a sense of shame. We disagree strongly. Consider some statistics about generation Y young people in Australia (“Civic Pride a Lost Cause” The Australian, 24 June 2013, p.9). Less than half of surveyed gen-Y people aged 18-29 years support democracy over other kinds of government such as that of communist China. Amazingly 58 per cent want an increase in Asian immigration, even though young people will be facing migrants as competitors in the ultra-tight job market.

There is no shame here, just stupidity and ignorance born from having too much comfort and never having to face existential threats to their soft and Oh so cosy existence. This is not to single out specifically young people – baby boomers who have given us all the horrors of the modern politically correct world are even more to blame.

The altruism of Nordics (Northern Europeans), no doubt a product of evolutionary adaptation to cold winter environments gave them high intelligence but also a weakness that can and has been exploited by other ethnic groups. Added to this, a culture of affluence and urbanisation has further broken down tribal barriers. The Northern European ruling elites long ago decided that they would sacrifice their own race for thirty pieces of silver. Hence the cargo cults of immigration and multiculturalism.

Professor Kevin MacDonald has recently said: “Whatever blame for our situation that we [Whites] place on others, the bottom line is that we are allowing the unfolding disaster to happen. It is unprecedented for a civilisation to voluntarily cede political and cultural hegemony to others, particularly when so many of these people harbour hatreds and resentments towards our people and our culture.” (<http://theoccidentalobserver.net/2012/white-pathology>)

Robert S. Griffin has discussed this in his two part essay “Are Whites Pathological? Yes and No” at The Occidental Observer 29 June 2013; 1 July 2013). Professor MacDonald sees the characteristics of individualism and moral universalism as detrimental to racial survival, and Griffin discusses mainly individualism, giving a defence of it. We believe the problem of explaining the super-ultimate origin of the pathology of our race is exceedingly complex and does involve these philosophical elements. However, these racial theorists are ignoring a sociological explanation; namely that a culture of affluence (along, of course with the culture of critique) has weakened the Nordic racial immune system so that these other factors can work. For example, support for mass migration is strongly correlated with those who benefit from it.

In this context a solution to the racial problem presents itself. A breakdown of civilisation, as in a fall of Rome, only this time a collapse of global consumer society, would effectively turn off the mind-controlling devices that control our race. It would allow manhood to once again flourish. Thus, while there is much merit in MacDonald’s philosophical approach to the race problem, there is also another, simpler perspective.

THE DOSE DOESN'T ALWAYS MAKE THE POISON

By Brian Simpson

I know that there are highly trained scientific thinkers in our readership, so I offer this article for you. According to P. Myers and W. Hessler, “Does ‘the Dose Make the Poison?’” Environmental Health News 30 April, 2007, a core assumption in toxicology is not in general true. Toxicology assumes that larger doses have greater effects than smaller doses. This is true for many, but not all things.

For example the estrogenic drug diethylstilbestrol (DES) causes mice exposed in the womb to large doses (100 parts per billion) to be skinny, but much lower doses (1 ppb) results in massive obesity. Pollutants may cause different effects at different concentrations which means that scientists may be underestimating the ill effects of low doses of chemicals such as hormone-disrupting chemicals.

Health standards have not recognised this possibility, Myers and Hessler state. We may not even be aware, I believe, how we are being poisoned by the modern world.

RUDD ENGAGING IN CLASSIC PRE-ELECTION PLOY

Carbon Tax dumped for ETS: And then Terry McCrann ‘dumped’ on Kevin Rudd: “Kevin Rudd in classic pre-election ploy over carbon tax” Herald Sun 16 July 2013.

“Prime Minister Kevin Rudd can see clearly now that he wants to fast track an emissions trading scheme in place of the carbon tax. Kevin Rudd is NOT ditching the carbon tax. He isn't even cutting it. Your power prices won't fall by a single cent on his announcement.

All he is doing is engaging in a classic pre-election ploy. At best, you could say, he was promising that "there'd be a lower carbon tax under a government I lead".

The critical point is that it's not even classic situation that voters have to take on trust, that after the election, he doesn't find out, were he to win, that, unfortunately he then just had to break that promise. Like so many, including his immediate predecessor, before him. No, that would just be 'normal politics'. But in this case, he simply doesn't have the power to guarantee what the carbon tax price would be. Because what Rudd's doing, is promising to leave it to be set by Europe and/or financial speculators.

You don't have to be a political genius to understand that Europe will set its price, or try to set its price, in what it sees as the best interests of Europe. It won't give two hoots for Australia or Australian business and consumer electricity users.

Similarly, you don't have to be a financial genius to appreciate that speculators will want to, and will be trying to, sell any carbon dioxide emission permits they have, for the highest possible price. Again, they won't be aiming to look after Aussie consumers...

The whole 'point' of this carbon tax/ETS (emissions trading scheme) IS to hurt everyone with higher electricity prices. So both users, business and consumers, will use less electricity; and that power companies will switch to non-coal - much more costly, and essentially useless - forms of so-called 'alternative' energy.

This is the fundamental internal dishonesty of what Rudd is trying to con voters into believing. That they can have cheaper power and still save the planet.”

THE SPIRITUAL BRAIN: THE NEUROSCIENTIFIC CASE FOR THE EXISTENCE OF THE SOUL

By Chris Knight.

The dominant philosophy in science is materialism – that is, all that exists in “matter” in motion. Actually “matter” has become quite abstract in the 21st century and is seen to be vibrations in a multidimensional mathematic space (String theory). That hasn't really worried materialists too much. Rather than bothering with cutting edge physics, which sees the world as a mathematical construct (I would argue in the mind of God), they tend to keep to the biological sciences arguing that there is no soul, and no mind (as distinct from brain processes), and they claim that neuroscience backs them up. That is where Mario Beuregard and Denyse O'Leary's “The Spiritual Brain: A Neuroscientist's Case For the Existence of the Soul” (Harper One, 2007), comes in. The book by a leading neuroscientist (Beuregard) sets out to challenge the paradigm that holds that the mind is an illusion generated by the brain. It does so by showing that there is little evidence for materialism and much against it. For a start, materialists must simply explain away consciousness and free will, even though they admit that neither “problem” has been “solved”. Religious experiences come down to being a type of brain disease. But such an attitude is unscientific and dogmatic. There is good evidence that the mind of consciousness, emotions, belief, purpose and meaning), can control the brain. Psi effect, in parapsychology, has not been refuted, and materialism is impotent in accounting for it. There are also near death experiences (NDEs), which indicate that there is indeed something beyond death, although again, materialists just have to dismiss this because it challenges the entire materialist paradigm. Most importantly Beuregard and O'Leary go through the usual arguments used by materialists (such as the human brain is just a computer) and show that there is no evidence for these views. There is even an interesting discussion of chess playing computers, which have beaten human chess champions. All this shows is that intelligence lies in the humans that wrote the programmes, and, in any case humans are now giving super computers a run for their, well, money. Original research is also presented on the neuroscience of spirituality. A detailed summary is beyond me, but I am comforted as a Christian knowing that those capable of doing so have taken on the materialists.

SWEARING ON THE KORAN? DON'T YOU WORRY ABOUT THAT! By Chris Knight.

Muslim Labor frontbencher Ed Husic was sworn in on the Koran rather than the Bible. This led to some Aussies making sharp criticisms. Husic defended the right of Australians to criticise this but also warned against “extremism”. Yes, there are those who “seek ways in which to divide people”.

But the G-G Quentin Bryce saw the swearing in as a “great day for multiculturalism in Australia” and Tony Rabbit said any abuse of Husic was “completely unacceptable”. They're a lovely lot aren't they? In this context there is a need to widen the objects which MPs can swear on. I would suggest that politicians of both Liberal and Labor stables swear in on a stack of $100 notes. The bottom line is that the money power rules modern Australian politics so the robots should be honest about what fuels them, and rules them.

DIRTY SECRET OF BRITAIN'S POWER MADNESS

Polluting diesel generators built in secret by foreign companies to kick in when there's no wind for turbines - and other insane but true eco-scandals, by James Dellingle, Mail Online, 16 July, 2013. "Moving to wind power is expected to cost £1 billion a year by 2015. Official figures on the size of the green economy are extremely misleading. They exaggerate the worth of the sector by up to 700 per cent.

Stopgap: Banks of diesel generators that have been built for when wind turbines fail to produce electricity because of lack of wind

Thousands of dirty diesel generators are being secretly prepared all over Britain to provide emergency back-up to prevent the National Grid collapsing when wind power fails. And under the hugely costly scheme, the National Grid is set to pay up to 12 times the normal wholesale market rate for the electricity they generate.

One of the main beneficiaries of the stopgap plan is the Government itself, which stands to make hundreds of millions of pounds by leasing out the capacity of the generators in public-sector property including NHS hospitals, prisons, military bases, police and fire headquarters, schools and council offices.

But the losers will be consumers who can expect yet further hikes in their electricity bills in the name of 'combating climate change'. The scheme is expected to cost £1 billion a year by 2015, adding five per cent to energy bills.

This scheme is a direct consequence of the renewable energy policy adopted by the Coalition but first developed by Tony Blair in response to EU renewables directives to reduce Britain's carbon emissions by 20 per cent by 2020. As more and more wind turbines are built to replace fossil fuels, so the National Grid will become increasingly unstable because wind power is intermittent, unpredictable and unreliable. Wind now constitutes about ten per cent of Britain's energy mix. Under current Government targets, the plan is to increase this to 25 per cent by 2020.

Watch Professor Bob Carter at the launch of "Taxing Air: Facts and Fallacies About Climate Change" here...

Read "Taxing Air": Are human industrial carbon dioxide emissions causing dangerous global warming? If it is so then climate change surely is one of the great moral challenges of our time.

But is it possible that the so-called consensus science around anthropogenic global warming produced by lavishly funded research institutes and with its own international political lobby organization the United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) is wrong? Could it be that the emperor has no clothes? Your essential guide to the science and politics of global warming. Price $25.00 + postage.

Taxing Air is an outstanding contribution to the growing literature that examines and calls to account the climate alarmism of the past two decades.

I could not put this book down, the authors have highlighted every facet of the worldwide scam that is Man-Made Warming.

NORDIC RACIAL SUICIDE AND WHITE PATHOLOGY By James Reed and Brian Simpson

Phillip Adams ("Test of Tolerance", The Weekend Australian Magazine 29-30 June 2013) says that behind racism lives the perception of difference and "The hostility to the other is ancient, hard-wired, a part of our evolutionary heritage". In our globalised world we now see the paradox of a "retreat into tribalism, ultra-nationalism, sub-cultural enclaves and strident religious intolerance."

Contrary to Adams, there is no paradox here as globalisation itself has produced "racism" by forcing radically different ethnicities and races to live all squashed together - at least in the West. This is the grand experiment of liberalism and it is its failure, just like communism in its idealist sense failed. Communism as global collectivism succeeded but it too is, ultimately, doomed. Human nature will have its way and its revenge.

K RUDD'S MOUTH RIDES AGAIN! By Peter Ewer

In a recent article (People's Wish to Hail Caesar", The Australian 1 July 2013, p.10) George Melleuish says that people want a "democratic Caesarism", a leader who, once elected (the "democratic" bit) acts like Caesar and looks after and protects them. The people can then switch off and graze. As I see it this mentality not only destroys "democracy" but is also dangerous because the Caesars do not protect the people but only serve the global money class. The people will be sorely disappointed if they think that KRudd will be their Caesar. He is off to a bad start with his remarks that Abbott's boat policy turnaround will provoke military conflict between Australia and Indonesia. Not only is this irresponsible for a prime minister who claims to be a foreign policy expert, but it ignores the role that Indonesia is playing aiding people smugglers. Indonesia says that the asylum seeker problem is Australia's alone., but never mind that Indonesian boats with Indonesian-based people smugglers move people who have entered Indonesia with false documents - known to be so by Indonesian authorities who make no attempt to stop this.

Rudd himself is ultimately responsible for more than 45,000 illegals coming to Australia at a cost of billions, all arising from the abolition of temporary protection visas and the Pacific solution. Rudd does not have a policy of stopping the boats : he seems to act as if the boats can't be stopped and that we should just accept it. Ten billion dollars wasted and counting.

The Scam of Boat People:

Add to this picture the role of the UN's High Commissioner for refugees who criticised Carr's claim that the majority of Iranian asylum-seekers were not avoiding persecution but were seeking better economic conditions. Apparently this can't be said because the Iranian cases haven't been processed yet. What! - people who pay people smugglers, destroy their identity papers and then go by boats to literally invade Australia are genuine refugees? it is beyond belief but is standard for the politically correct mind.

An article "Locals Urge Burke to Stem Asylum Tragedies" 2 July 2013, p6, cites the views of those in multicultural western Sydney who wants the boats to stop because this is too dangerous for asylum seekers. Rather, they should come via a plane and Australia's refugee intake should be increased! This seems to be a common view in the electorate of Watson which has the second highest proportion of Muslim residents in Australia, at 20 per cent and where 76.8 per cent of people have both parents born overseas. Does ethnicity have something to do with such views? Would these people have the same belief if the asylum seekers were all blue-eyed, blonde-haired Nordics?

IMMIGRANTS? WE SENT OUT SEARCH PARTIES TO GET THEM TO COME...

and made it hard for Britons to get work, says Mandelson.

Former minister admits Labour sent out 'search parties' for immigrants to get them to come to the UK, Lord Mandelson has admitted. In a stunning confirmation that the Blair and Brown governments deliberately engineered mass immigration, the former Cabinet Minister and spin doctor said New Labour sought out foreign workers. He also conceded that the influx of arrivals meant the party's traditional supporters are now unable to find work.

By contrast, Labour leader Ed Miliband has said his party got it wrong on immigration but has refused to admit it was too high under Labour. Between 1997 and 2010, net migration to Britain totalled more than 2.2million, more than twice the population of Birmingham. The annual net figure quadrupled under Labour from 48,000 people in 1997 to 198,000 by 2009. Lord Mandelson's remarks come three years after Labour officials denied claims by former adviser Andrew Neather that they deliberately encouraged immigration in order to change the make-up of Britain. Mr Neather said the policy was designed to 'rub the Right's nose in diversity'. He said there was 'a driving political purpose: that mass immigration was the way that the Government was going to make the UK truly multicultural'. Senior Labour figures have been reluctant to concede they deliberately engineered the influx of migrants who have transformed communities over the past decade.

But, at a rally for the Blairite think-tank Progress, Lord Mandelson said:

'In 2004 when as a Labour government, we were not only welcoming people to come into this country to work, we were sending out search parties for people and encouraging them, in some cases, to take up work in this country.' He said: 'The problem has grown during the period of economic stagnation over the last five, six years.'...

CAN OBAMA FAITH-HEAL NELSON? by Brian Simpson

I didn't have my glasses on when I viewed a photograph of Prezy B. Hussein Obama looking out from a window in the jail cell on Robben Island where Nelson Mandela spent 18 years (The Australian 2 July, 2013, p.8). It looked to me that Obama was 'relieving himself' - a terrible mistake on my part. No, his hands are in his pants pockets .

Obama paid homage to his hero Nelson who he hailed as "Africa's Washington" and he said: "His legacy is one that will linger on throughout the ages". No Hussein, he will be forgotten in the chaos that ANC rule has delivered to South Africa, where the official unemployment rate is over 25 per cent of the workforce and where Blacks are still poor. Mandela's contribution was to essentially allow the ANC to economically destroy South Africa. Ad civilisation seeps away from the crumbling ruins of this land, people will have more to worry about than Mandela's legacy.
