Remembrance Day: At 11am on 11 November 1918 the guns of the Western Front fell silent.

Cavalry's Last Great Charge by Brad Crouch, Canberra (1st Nov 1992)

The 75th anniversary of the Battle of Beersheba, 31st October 1917, commemorates an epic feat of daring and courage which resulted in the capture of the Middle East stronghold by the Australian Light Horse Brigade in 1917. The men of the Light Horse were remembered in ceremonies around Australia and at Beersheba itself.

A lifetime ago, the 800 young men of the 4th and 12th Light Horse faced 4km (2.5 miles-ed) of open plain guarded by artillery, machine guns and trenches filled with the 4,400 Turks defending Beersheba. They had marched 50kms (31 miles-ed) overnight through the desert from the nearest water and faced the "thirsty choice" of turning back or taking the town immediately. At 4.30pm. the order was given to charge - a stunningly audacious move against all odds which has gone down in history as the last great cavalry charge. An hour later, after the heroic all-or-nothing assault, the Light Horsemen had captured Beersheba at the cost of 31 men killed and 36 wounded.

War historian C. E. W. Bean recounts the battle in Anzac to Amiens: "As they came over the top of the ridge and looked down at the long, gentle open slope to Beersheba - somewhere in front of whose buildings the Turkish trenches and the garrison lay - The Turkish gunners saw them and opened with shrapnel.

But Australians had never ridden a race like this, and the pace was too fast for the gunners.

"After two miles, Turkish machine guns opened hotly from the flank, but the watchful British batteries at once detected and silenced them. "Next came rifle fire from the Turkish trenches - dangerous at first, but wild and high as the Light Horse, who could now see the trenches, approached. "Then the foremost troops were over the front trenches and jumping the main one, dismounting and turning upon the Turks from the rear with rifle and bayonet... the bewildered garrison quickly surrendered. "Other Light Horsemen galloped ahead to the rear trenches, where parties of 50 Turks surrendered to single men. Other squadrons galloped straight into Beersheba."

The charge was conspicuous for its individual heroism and valour, as H. S. Gullett's official history, Sinai and Palestine, records: "From the time when the 4th and 12th Regiments received orders to saddle to that of the entry into Beersheba, less than an hour had passed. "It had been a glorious hour, filled not only with military achievement of a very rare kind but with memorable deeds by individual officers and men which serve vividly to demonstrate the spirit which alone made success possible. "Two ground scouts, Trooper T. O'Leary and Trooper A. E. Healey, galloped some 70 or 80 yards in advance of the squadron, but both rode through untouched. "O'Leary jumped all the trenches and charged alone right into Beersheba. "An hour and a half afterwards, he was found by one of the officers of the regiment in a side street, seated on a gun which he had galloped down, with six Turkish gunners and drivers holding his horse by turn... "He explained that after taking the gun, he had made the Turks drive it down the side street so it could not be claimed as a trophy by any other regiment. "Healey, his mate, dismounted on reaching the trenches and was the first man among the Turks with the bayonet.

"While the fighting was proceeding at the trenches, Armourer Staff-Sergeant. A. J. Cox saw a machine gun being hurriedly dismounted from a mule by its crew - in a minute it would have been in action at close range. "He dashed at the party alone bluffed them into surrender and took 40 prisoners. "The day was full of stories of courage and daring, such as Trooper S. Bolton, armed with only a broken revolver, capturing a heavy gun from a party of seven, and Trooper W. Scott refusing to leave the battle despite a broken thigh. Victory at Beersheba broke the Turkish defensive line in Gaza which had already claimed the lives of more than 22,000 Allied troops.

WILL QUEEN HILLARY RULE HER LOYAL SUBJECTS FROM GAOL? by Chris Knight

Ahhh, the excitement of the journalistic world, as news rolls down the wire and stories need to be pounded out to reach deadlines! No sooner had we hard working journalists thought that we finished our work, and prepared to go to the pub to drink large quantities of alcohol, then this news came relevant to our coverage of the US elections: “Indictment Likely for Clinton,” or “Bret Baier: FBI sources Believe Clinton Foundation Case Moving Toward “Likely an Indictment,” at http://www.realclearpolitics.com/video/2016/11/02/fbi\_sources\_tell\_fox\_news\_indictment\_likely\_in\_clinton\_foundation\_case.html.

The Murdoch press/Fox News has a milder version of this: “FBI’s Clinton Foundation Investigation Now ‘A Very High Priority,’ sources Say,” at <http://www.foxnews.com/politics/2016/11/02/fbis-clinton-foundation-investigation-now-very-high-priority-sources-say.html>.

Here is a transcript from Fox New’s Bret Baier which puts the latest news in a nutshell:

BRET BAIER: Here’s the deal: We talked to two separate sources with intimate knowledge of the FBI investigations.

One: The Clinton Foundation investigation is far more expansive than anybody has reported so far... Several offices separately have been doing their own investigations.

Two: The immunity deal that Cheryl Mills and Heather Samuelson, two top aides to Hillary Clinton, got from the Justice Department in which it was believed that the laptops they had, after a narrow review for classified materials, were going to be destroyed. We have been told that those have not been destroyed - they are at the FBI field office here on Washington and are being exploited.

Three: The Clinton Foundation investigation is so expansive, they have interviewed and re-interviewed many people. They described the evidence they have as ‘a lot of it’ and said there is an ‘avalanche coming in every day’ from WikiLeaks and the new emails. They are “actively and aggressively pursuing this case.” Remember the Foundation case is about accusations of pay-for-play... They are taking the new information and some of them are going back to interview people for the third time. As opposed to what has been written about the Clinton Foundation investigation, it is expansive.

The classified e-mail investigation is being run by the National Security division of the FBI. They are currently combing through Anthony Weiner’s laptop. They are having some success - finding what they believe to be new emails, not duplicates, that have been transported through Hillary Clinton’s server.

Finally, we learned there is a confidence from these sources that her server had been hacked. And that it was a 99% accuracy that it had been hacked by at least five foreign intelligence agencies, and that things had been taken from that...

ON TARGET

There has been some angst about Attorney General Loretta Lynch - what she has done or not done. She obviously did not... go to a grand jury at the beginning. They also have a problem, these sources do, with what President Obama said today and back in October of 2015...

I pressed again and again on this very issue... The investigations will continue, there is a lot of evidence. And barring some obstruction in some way, they believe they will continue to likely an indictment.

Source: http://www.realclearpolitics.com/video/2016/11/02/fbi\_sources\_tell\_fox\_news\_indictment\_likely\_in\_clinton\_foundation\_case.html.

That is the establishment sources, but the alternative IT community seems to have the drop on Clinton.

Kim Dotcom thinks that the 33,000 incriminating emails that Clinton deleted are now in the hands of Wikileaks and will soon be released to the public, by-passing the FBI, leading to Clinton’s greatest nightmare:

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-3895316/Internet-pirate-Kim-Dotcom-warns-Clinton-trouble-unpublished-material-come-out.html>.

If any guys can find this material these computer gurus can.

In response to “Emailgate,” the Clinton campaign have gone into absolute panic mode, and have responded by saying that the FBI is a rogue agency which is siding with Putin and the Kremlin against her. What! – a conspiracy hypothesis – what will the journalists at The Australian say about that one? (Probably nothing).

But to recap, it is highly likely that the missing classified emails have been found on Anthony Weiner’s laptop, among the 650,000! And Wikileaks will be dropping an h-bomb soon! It is now almost certain that Hillary Clinton’s server was hacked by five foreign powers, which is an indictable offence. That is apart from anything else that surfaces. Who knows what dirt will be dug up from 650,000+ emails of shame.

Thus, we have the very interesting situation that Clinton may be elected president, but end up being arrested. Obviously such a president should be immediately impeached, but another important issue is whether there is a constitutional case for overturning the election result. This will need to be decided by the US Supreme Court, which is likely to support Clinton, being full of the ultra-politically correct. Thus, such a decision will further enrage Trump voters, leading to widespread civil unrest, which could be the start of Civil War II.

Mike Adams at Natural News.com, November 2, 2016, sees the “Deep State” having decided that Clinton is too damaged to champion any longer will let Trump win. Then the long-predicted economic crash will be used to destroy Trump, because he will be unable to “make America great again” under a condition of economic collapse.

As Adams says, “bringing down the debt pyramid of a nation carrying nearly $20 trillion in national debt isn’t exactly rocket science. All they have to do is stand back and stop manipulating the markets and stop printing new money for a few months while raising interest rates. Monetary gravity will do the rest.”

Human nature, being what it is, will result in loving crowds turning on President Trump for failing to deliver paradise.

GEORGE SOROS: THE CLOSED SOCIETY by Tom North

The conspirator’s conspirator, George Soros, is one busy man, with seemingly boundless energy for someone 85, or is it 855? He seems to have been with us for an eternity.

Running through this, is no particular order, we find that many of the voting machines used in the US elections, are put out by George Soros’ companies or companies with deep ties to him. (Breitbart.com, October 27, 2016)

If the reported claim is true, that Soros said that Trump will win the popular vote in the landslide, but lose the Electoral College. I think those voting machines need to be closely looked at by Team-Trump.

This indicates that there may be widespread rigging of the US polls, or at the very least, a conflict of interest.

As for democracy, Cory Bernardi says in a recent email newsletter about Soros:

“Even the multi-billionaire funder of the Left agenda, George Soros, is recorded in the minutes of his Open Society Foundations as saying “he believes that the rise of money in politics endangers our democracy.” He should know. It’s his money behind so many of the activist campaigns globally – he is the founding money behind Australia’s Getup! and goodness knows how many other similar outfits.

One media outlet disclosed he even secretly paid the salaries of four staffers in the then-Moldovan Prime Minister’s office.”

George is also in the East

The recent George Soros hacks showed a plan to subvert Russia’s traditional values. This Open Society

Hopefully Trump’s ego will not prevent him from seeing this and acting quickly to move on prosecuting the Clintons and others, and to set up an independent organisation to continue the fight once he falls, as fall he will. Maybe, just maybe, he will still be able to take down a system which is rotten to the core, like our own here in Australia. All in all, very interesting times.

Never has a political system been exposed in its full shocking horror of corruption and deception. *****

Foundation files has this revealing quote:

“Our inclination is to engage in activities that will... counter Russian support to movements defending traditional values.” See: http://dcleaks.com/index.php/srs\_reserves/.

Putin is aware of Soros’ attack from the fact that Soros nearly destroyed the Russian economy in the 1990s, and Soros has been banned from Russia as he and his organisations are seen by Putin as a “threat to Russian national security”:

http://yournewswire.com/vladimir\_putin-george-soros-is-wanted-dead-or-live/.

George Soros’ aim is the same as Hillary Clinton: a globalist society.

Clinton said in May 2013:

“My dream is a hemispheric common market, with open trade and open borders.” Soros’ Foundation gave $6 million to the Clinton Foundation.

Back in 1998 Soros wrote that “the sovereignty of states must be subordinated to international law and international institutions. We need some global system of political decision-making. In short, we need a global society to support our global economy.”
Welcome to the New World Order!

Apparently it all doesn’t end with George. His son Alexander Soros has donated $100,000 into California’s ammunition control measures, through Proposition 63, which outlaws large capacity magazines and imposes a multitude of ammunition controls – gun control by the backdoor. Collapse News.com, October 25, 2016.

Who speaks of a “conspiracy” now?

The plan for the New World Order is right out in the open now that it is almost all in place. *****

GOODBYE AUSTRALIA! by James Reed

For many years I have been arguing that “foreign investment” – actually no more than selling off the “family farm” – will lead to the dispossession of Australians.

The Deputy Prime Minister Barnaby Joyce has said that Australia’s sovereignty is threatened by the sale of farmland to foreigners. (The Australian, October 27, 2016, p. 8) As well, patriotism gets undermined.

He said: “It is the essence of patriotism, the love of one’s country, (and) it is best delivered when you own that country. And there’s one thing that people are not prepared to do, and that’s to die for a rented country.”

I could not have put it better myself!

Perhaps this is the first sign of mainstream awakening to the great sell-off of Australia that both parties have allowed, and encouraged? ***

BASIC FUND 2016/17

The task before the League in the coming 12 months has not diminished. The need to provide educational and motivational material is significant when one considers the events happening around the world.

As you realise, the League does not involve itself in “fixing” the problems but rather, provides the information and direction for supporters to take their own remedial action.

Current financial policies around the world are driving individuals, corporations and nations into further and further centralisation. However there is some awakening as evidenced by Britain attempting to exit the EU and the slight chance that the TPP may not be successful with the current USA presidential election candidate Donald Trump. We may be at a turning point; in which case the League can stand tall for its determined and relentless effort in promoting decentralisation and freedom.

Closer to home we have the important social issues of the RDA Section 18 c, Same Sex Marriage, Euthanasia and the so-called ‘Safe Schools’ programme to contend with. Our work cannot continue without the essential lubrication for the machine - namely finance.

The Basic Fund is now open and set at $60,000.

I wish to thank the contributors to last year’s fund and appeal to every supporter to assist the filling of this year’s fund.

Books can make an ideal Christmas gift or donation to local Libraries or Clubs.

THEY WANT TO CHANGE OUR FLAG

They want to change our flag, he said, with sad and misty eyes. The flag I fought so proudly for as I saw my coppers die. We bore that flag in battle as we marched to make a stand, To stem the tide of terror and keep freedom for our land. Why would they want to change our flag of red and white and blue, A flag that means so many things to blokes like me and you? It’s part of our great heritage, a link with ages past, And I feel both proud and humble, as it flutters from the mast.

That flag was borne so proudly by the famous Desert Rats. It was with us in the jungle as we fought the stubborn Japs. It bears the blood of Anzacs who all loved it to a man, And it travelled to Korea and the hell of Vietnam.

Who are these folks? the old chap said. “Why aren’t they satisfied?” Why don’t they love the Aussie flag? Why don’t they feel some pride? They cannot be Australian; they can’t be Aussie sons, They must be folk from somewhere else who speak in foreign tongues.

“Who won the war?” he softly said. “Did our boys all die in vain?” And he looked at me bewildered while his face was lined with pain, Then I watched that frail old Digger as he shuffled on his way, And my voice filled with emotion as I bade to him “Good-Day”. So I loathe the knockers of our flag, their motives I despise, Our present flag: the only one I’ll ever recognise. - anon ***
