THOUGHT OF THE WEEK: Australian leadership elites in politics, the bureaucracy, academia, big business, the churches and the media have effectively cut themselves adrift from the interests of the majority of Australians. Many have betrayed the trust of the people they are supposed to represent. As part of this process the elites, while they may mouth concern for the country, have given up thinking in terms of the national interest to pursue an internationalist agenda. This agenda is eroding the foundations of our nation and marginalising the majority, which has less and less say in its own destiny. The bulk of the media, charged with a watchdog role in the public interest, have become active agents in this process. Academics, artists and others who are supposed to be independent-minded have become propagandists and intellectually corrupt hirelings. Only a handful of such people speak out against political correctness. Not only do the favoured lobbies and their friends not encourage open scrutiny and criticism in politically correct areas, they actively act to suppress criticism and often, as well, smear the critic. They have become so powerful that they have been able to use the power of the state to attack and silence dissidents.

Australia Betrayed by Graeme Campbell MHR (Member for Kalgoorlie) & Mark Uhlmann 1995

There are a large number of outlets repeating the propaganda mantra, that Australia Day is a celebration of genocide. Taken to its logical conclusion, this means that Australia, from its very beginnings is irreparably based on genocide which it most certainly is not. It's true history is one of relatively peaceful settlement of predominately unoccupied or uninhabited land - terra nullius.

<https://www.abc.net.au/news/2019-01-26/australia-day-will-always-be-a-day-of-survival/10745268>

Another strata of people to blame by victimhood are the baby boomers, and in his book, A Generation of Sociopaths: How the Baby Boomers Betrayed America, (Hachette, New York, 2017), author Bruce Gibney does just that. <https://www.zerohedge.com/news/2018-12-13/did-baby-boomers-ruin-america>.

This division into warring tribes will make it exceptionally difficult to save us from social disintegration. National regeneration will require great personal sacrifice, and that is something that currently appears in short supply. The pre-World War II Australian, let alone the world of our ancestors, has become like a distant dream. Now our civilisation, without sufficient hope and faith in themselves and their history and institutions, will find it increasingly difficult to overcome the marauding invaders (totalitarian elites). We look at them face to face, but we do not recognise the traitors within our very own gates. They are much to be feared because they look and sound the same as us, but have loyalties to distant shores such as the UN and world government.

65 years ago Sen Joe McCarthy made a compelling speech outlining twenty indictments against communist agents within the American administration. Those same charges could just as readily be levelled today towards the elites in ours, as well as the Canadian, American and British administrations' midst. Traitors amongst us.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Australians should not be fooled by the call from giant mining companies for implementation of the Uluru Statement from the Heart's proposed "Voice to Parliament" ("Backing an Indigenous voice is good for business", 1/2). Any such tampering with the constitution threatens our national unity, our future security and the principle of equity (because it is unfair to the great majority of us, who are "non-Indigenous" Australians).

The vague and sweeping claim by BHP chief executive Andrew Mackenzie that fears of the ill effects of "constitutional recognition" do not "stand up to scrutiny" is not an argument. And quality of life for our descendants is more important than financial profits for mining company shareholders. - Nigel Jackson. ***

BEWARE THE YELLOW VESTS, GREEN SHIRTS AND STEEL-CAPPED BOOTS By Viv Forbes

For decades now we have watched Green-ants destroy Australia's backbone industries. Their incessant attacks on hydro-carbon energy have vandalised our electricity grid, destroyed heavy industry, inflated power costs and made blackouts inevitable. The last coal-fired power station built in Eastern Australia, the small Kogan Creek generator in Queensland, is now 12 years old. It is urgent that we build new coal-fired power on established coalfields with nearby transmission lines.

However, Green dreamers posing as power engineers, their media lapdogs and spineless MP's support scarring the hills with wind towers, plastering the flatlands with solar panels, and wasting billions on spider-webs of new roads, transmission towers and power lines. Then when it becomes obvious that this ramshackle system will not produce reliable energy, they waste even more money on humungous lithium batteries, energy-wasting pumped storage, thumping diesel engines and power rationing (PC shorthand for rolling blackouts).

Parroting tired and discredited climate alarm theories, they oppose any expansion of coal power, gas exploration, coal mining, timber-getting, farming or fishing and continue to restrict grazing industries and oppose new hydro power. No industry has escaped their lethal green shackles. No one dares to mention nuclear power.

Their thoughtless interference in the management of regrowth in grasslands and forests has ensured destructive wildfires (and there will be more). Totally uninformed on what created Australia's great grasslands and open forests, their policies are turning these into weed and pest-infested fire-prone wastelands. The tragedy now facing towns, farmers, fish and wildlife along the Darling River is also a green disaster. They have wasted stored water on "environmental flows" and prevented more conservation of flood waters. The most significant weir on the Darling River, the Wentworth Weir, was built in 1929. And when the Menindee Lakes were filled, Greens squandered this water to the sea thus causing a water crisis for Broken Hill. All river life would benefit from more weirs and better management of the Darling River.

Greens also inflate our population by encouraging the entry of untrained and sometimes hostile "refugees". Increased population needs more power, water, food and jobs. If they oppose expansion of reliable power and water they should also oppose immigration.

They also debase our future workforce by churning out a flood of students whose heads are so filled with green ideology and hatred of human industry that they are useless in jobs requiring some knowledge of hard science, maths, engineering or trade skills. Too many end up serving in McDonalds, the Coffee Club or the Public Service.

For too long Australian assets have been sucked into this green sinkhole. It is time we let real foresters look after our forests, hydrologists look after our water supplies, businessmen run our industries and geologists and engineers look after minerals and energy. Ordinary Aussies have put up with green fantasies for too long – greens should beware the rising anger of the yellow vests, green shirts and steel-capped boots. ***

THE LEGACY OF DIVERSITY By Peter Ewer

This brief post by Brett Stevens, pretty much sums up the present crisis in a nutshell:

"Diversity everywhere seems to result in the same mixture of lack of social unity plus low grade ethnic warfare: vandalism, rape, corruption, theft, white flight, and periodic race riots. South Africa proves no exception. It turns out that when your society has diversity problems, the solution is not to simply give the minority groups a seat at the table; it is to send them away. Diversity does not work — in any form: religious, ethnic, cultural, racial — and it splinters civilizations into warring special interest groups who take focus away from the future and reality and turn it toward self-referential infighting, at which point society collapses and all of the ethnic groups are destroyed, leaving behind a cultureless grey race." ***

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Teela Reid, who has Wiradjuri and Wailwan ancestry, refers to "a First Nations Voice" ("Heart in search of a voice", 26/1), but can such a thing really exist or be brought into being at this stage of our history? It is not clear that the tribes which lived here before the 18th Century can be accurately described as "First Nations" and, in any case, they no longer exist - so how can they have a voice today? The great majority of Australians who identify as indigenous have some non-indigenous blood. Only a very small number of Australians have nothing but indigenous DNA. Thus very few of those who put themselves forward as indigenous spokespeople or leaders truly have the unadulterated representative status that they claim. Therefore, their agitation for "constitutional recognition", including the Uluru Statement from the Heart, and for a changed date for Australia Day, is morally built on sand.

ON TEACHERS By James Reed

The site Amerika.org, usually has some good quotable paragraphs about the plight of the West, a perennial theme for us. Here is one about the present degeneracy known as teaching:

<http://www.amerika.org/politics/social-engineering-educational-marxism/>

“And who are today’s teachers? They’re the outcasts, the losers, the socially inept afterthoughts that were never good enough during their own educational experience and are out for revenge against the world that left them behind. They’ve been corrupted by a college system that has been compromised by communist ideologues and subversive donors, pampered by the advanced degrees their ancestors could never afford, and enslaved by a perverse pantheon of modern media voices. They lack the ability to think critically, but are unable to recognize it, and thus will force toxic progressivism on their students. Affirmative action programs will see many children learning from cultures that are not their own, leading to further confusion. It has been written here just how perverse and wicked the Baby Boomer generation have been, and how deep their failures as leaders run. This continues in the classroom: the teachers of this generation have failed, and one needs to look no further than the astronomical sexual abuse rates against minors by their teachers to see what a horrific failure the “cultural revolution” has become. But they also share blame in the skyrocketing suicide rates ... the escalation in drug abuse, the breakdown of the American family, and the inability of their students’ generations to assimilate into society.”

No wonder there is a cultural war, and that high schools really are blackboard, now whiteboard jungles.

“We have reached the endpoint of diversity. Our nation is permanently divided, with one side sure that the other side are “racist,” and the other side slowly realizing that it is being genocided through demographic replacement. This outcome was predictable from the moment diversity was introduced, since diversity does nothing but divide and civilization thrives on unity only.” ***

IS IT RIGHT TO SAY THAT VACCINES KILL MORE THAN THEY CURE? By Mrs Vera West

This claim has recently been made by Natural News.com, and is a much stronger claim than anything made by the relatively mild anti-vaxxers in Australia. I am not sure whether this argument is correct or not, but here is its essence for you to make up your own mind:

<https://www.naturalnews.com/2019-01-31-vaccine-induced-disease-now-a-top-global-health-threat-for-2019-and-beyond.html>

“Contrary to what the propaganda-spreading World Health Organization (WHO) purports, modern day vaccines are responsible for more deaths than the diseases they are intended to create immunity against. This is a fact based on sound science. Let’s review some examples, and then we’ll discuss shedding – the common way infectious diseases are spread by children and teens during the first two weeks after they are injected with multiple strains of diseases, when their own immune systems are severely compromised, as are the other vaccinated children around them. First off, there have been 127 deaths caused by the measles vaccine in the past 15 years, but only 2 deaths caused by the measles disease itself. Secondly, just take a look at GlaxoSmithKline’s (GSK) 6-in-1 jab called “Infanrix Hexa” (meaning six diseases are injected into a baby’s muscle tissue all at once – a science phenomena no studies have ever shown to be safe). That toxic GSK hexa-jab has killed three dozen infants already, and over 2,000 reports have flooded in regarding adverse reactions (of which 500 were termed “serious”). This immunization combo is deadly, but the mass media has buried these reports, as usual, so hardly a soul knows to avoid this shot like the modern-day plague. Then there’s the most toxic and deadly vaccine of all – the influenza vaccine, a.k.a. the flu shot. Damage from the flu shot is responsible for the majority of the secretive vaccine court’s payouts in settlements that have breached a mind-blowing (pun intended) $4 billion (the number increased vastly since 2016). Yes, you read that right.

Recently, a Las Vegas man became paralyzed and blind the day after he got the flu jab. Could it be because many flu shots still contain up to 50 parts per million (ppm) of mercury, listed as “thimerosal?” The guy was perfectly healthy before he got the vaccine. Now he can’t breathe, speak, or walk on his own anymore. Is the vaccine worth the risk? Most people with even a partially functional immune system can beat the flu in a few days.

No doubt the flu vaccine itself is a global health threat, especially since the CDC recommends it for pregnant women. Is there a coupon in the vaccine insert for Planned Parenthood that comes with that jab? If so, New York State will be the first to offer that deal.”

There is more, such as shedding of bugs from vaccines and the alleged myth of herd immunity, but that is quite enough for one morning. Oh, if you can’t resist, pour yourself a big cup of herbal tea and watch this:

HARVESTING YOUR ORGANS By Mrs Vera West

Gasp! Now even our organs are not safe!

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-6475215/Australians-organs-automatically-harvested-donation-die.html>

“Australians will automatically have their organs donated after they die under a new proposal. The policy, which is being considered by MPs, assumes everyone is an organ donor unless they've filled out official documents to opt-out. The proposed changes would help to close in on the illegal trade of organ donation, the Sunday Telegraph reported. Australians who receive an illegal transplant overseas would be criminalised when they return to Australia, as recommended by federal MPs proposing changes to the laws. Doctors would also be required to report suspicions their patient accessed an illegal donation overseas. In 2016, the Sunday Telegraph reported almost 100 Australians travelled overseas to acquire an organ transplant on the black market. In some instances they paid up to $250,000 for a kidney transplant. The illegal trade of organ transplants is driven by a shortage of donations. A parliamentary inquiry wants Australia to consider implementing the opt-out system - in a bid to prevent illegal overseas trade.”

Thus, the reasoning behind the organ grab proposal is to deal with overseas trade, not primarily to address an organ shortage here, although that is a secondary concern. Therefore, as this has been put in globalist terms, I intend to opt out when this proposal surfaces

APPEAL OF NICHOLAS MADURO TO THE PEOPLE OF THE USA https://youtu.be/HU_xg68iSFU

I am Nicholas Maduro, constitutional President of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela. I want to send a message to the people of the United States to warn you about the media, about the psychological war being waged in the international and especially in the US media, against Venezuela.

This campaign has been prepared to justify a coup d'etat in Venezuela that has been organized, financed and actively supported by the Trump Administration. Everybody knows that a brutal campaign of false images, of manipulated images, of faked images, has been started. Do not believe everything they say on the US television! I'm telling you from the heart - they could not make up a lie that Venezuela and Maduro have massive weapons of mass destruction, so they had no excuse to invade us. So now, they invent other lies and fake news every day, to justify aggression against our country. I call on your conscience, I call you to solidarity, I call you to an awakening to the truth.

Let's not allow another war like Vietnam. If the government of the United States intends to intervene with us they will have a much worse Vietnam than you can imagine.

We do not want violence. We will resist it. We are a peaceful people, proud of our history and of Simon Bolivar and Hugo Chavez. Venezuela has a solid democracy. We have our own problems as any other country, and we will solve them by ourselves. Our people deserve respect.

In our country there is the largest certified oil reserves in the world. And the eyes of those who lead the empire in the United States are on our oil, and they want to put their hands on it as they did in Iraq and Libya. That wealth belongs to us. We are now certifying the world's first gold reserves, we have the fourth largest gas reserves in the world. We are a country of great resources both natural and energetic. This is the truth and this explains the constant attacks against Venezuela. That's why I appeal to your conscience, to solidarity with us. Don't let Donald Trump and the group of extremists around him like John Bolton, Mike Pompeo, the CIA and Mike Pence impose their lies and their coup against Venezuela. Support the people of Venezuela in their struggle for democracy.

I have confidence in you, American citizen. Here in Venezuela you have a brother. I am an admirer of the history of the United States. I know your country well. I have driven through Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, and Washington. I know your country's width and breadth. I want to have relations of respect, closeness and cooperation with all of the United States. The United States is a great country, and it is much bigger than Donald Trump.

I want to have good relationships and solve our problems through peaceful diplomacy. I only ask for respect for Venezuela and I need your support to avoid a war like Vietnam.

I ask for peace and I ask for respect for my people. I am sure that we are going to continue on this historical path because we are on the just historical path, we are in the right place in history. Thank you very much. ***
