THOUGHT OF THE WEEK: “I am here; do not be afraid”

I am the first and the last. As we have seen, in the Old Testament this is nothing other than the self-description of God Himself (Isaiah 44.6; 48.12). It is the promise of Jesus that he is there at the beginning and the end. He is there in the moment of birth and at the time of death. He is there when we set out upon the Christian way, and He is there when we finish our course. He is there when we lay our hands to any task for Him, or for men, and He is there when we complete it. As F. W. H. Myers makes Paul say in his poem:

*“Yea thro’ life, death, thro’ sorrow and thro’ sinning
He shall suffice me, for He hath sufficed:
Christ is the end, for Christ was the beginning,
Christ the beginning, for the end is Christ.”*

LEST WE FORGET

When night fell on the 25th, the Australians and New Zealanders held a position on the sea front of nearly two miles, extending inland a mile at its greatest depth. At “Y” Beach, the troops who had been left undisturbed for nearly 12 hours, were being attacked. “W” and “X” had joined forces, and the remnants of five battalions, two of which had suffered very heavily, held a defensive line from “X” Beach to the shore, a little to the westward of Fort 1. At “V” Beach the Hampshire Regiment was still in the River Clyde, but the Dublin and Munster Fusiliers, who had lost nearly all their officers including the Colonel of the Dublins and 70 per cent of their men, were clinging to the shelter of the sandy bank, and under cover of the seaward face of Sedd el Baht Fort. At “S” Beach the South Wales Borderers had consolidated the position at de Tott’s and were firmly entrenched.

They had been shelled from the Asiatic shore, but this did little damage. This was the actual situation when General Hunter-Weston came on board the Queen Elizabeth at about 8 p.m. to confer with Sir Ian—“cheery and stouthearted,” to quote the latter’s diary. At that time he thought Hill 141 had been captured, and when asked about our troops at “Y” Beach, the only landing within his command with which we had not been able to keep touch in the Queen Elizabeth, he replied that he thought they were now in touch with our troops at “X” but they had been through some hard fighting to get there; which, as it turned out later was not the case. But he was always an optimist. After Hunter-Weston had left we steamed up to Gaba Tepe and a few minutes after midnight Admiral Thursby came on board, with two Brigadier-Generals of the Anzac Corps, bringing a letter he had just received from General Birdwood. The General, Braithwaite, the two Brigadier-Generals, Admirals de Robeck and Thursby and I gathered in the fore cabin round the table. Sir Ian read Birdwood’s letter to Thursby aloud, as follows:

“Both my Divisional Generals and Brigadiers have represented to me that they fear their men are thoroughly demoralised by shrapnel fire, to which they have been subjected all day after exhaustion and gallant work in morning. Numbers have dribbled back from firing line and cannot be collected in this difficult country. Even New Zealand Brigade, which has been only recently engaged, lost heavily and is to some extent demoralised. If troops are subjected to shell fire again tomorrow morning there is likely to be a fiasco, as I have no fresh troops with which to replace those in firing line. I know my representation is most serious, but if we are to re-embark it must be at once.”

It was difficult to believe that those splendid people we had watched training for their ordeal, who had justified all that had been expected of them in the assault of the morning, could have been reduced to such a state. Sir Ian asked Thursby for his opinion, and he replied that under the existing conditions it would take two to three days to re-embark the whole force, which amounted to over 15,000 men. There were over 2,000 casualties, only a small proportion of whom had been evacuated. Many of the boats were smashed, others stranded in exposed positions in full view of the enemy. He used some very strong language about evacuation, and said that if it was put to them they would stick it; an opinion I warmly supported. At that moment a signal was handed to me from Lieut.-Commander Stoker, commanding AE2, reporting that she was in the Marmora and had torpedoed a gun vessel off Chanak. I read it aloud, and added:

“Tell them this. It is an omen—an Australian submarine has done the finest feat in submarine history and is going to torpedo all the ships bringing reinforcements, supplies and ammunition into Gallipoli.”

It is true that AE2 was commanded and officered by our submarine officers, and only about half her crew were Australians, but she belonged to the Australian Government. Sir Ian, who had started to write directly Thursby had given his opinion, looked up, nodded and went on writing, and a few minutes later read his reply to Birdwood, which the resolute Thursby at once took ashore. The reply ran:

“Your news is indeed serious. But there is nothing for it but to dig yourselves right in and stick it out. It would take at least two days to re-embark you, as Admiral Thursby will explain to you... Meanwhile the Australian submarine has got up through the Narrows and has torpedoed a gun boat of Chanak. Hunter-Weston, despite his heavy losses, will be advancing tomorrow, which should divert pressure from you. Make a personal appeal to your men and Godley’s to make a supreme effort to hold their ground. P.S.—You have got through the difficult business; now you have only to dig, dig, dig until you are safe.”

By Admiral of the Fleet, Sir Roger Keyes, Bt. G.C.B., K.C.V.O., D.S.O. (from) The Fight for Gallipoli. ***

BLACK VATICAN CARDINAL PREDICTS THAT THE WEST WILL DISAPPEAR BECAUSE OF MASS MIGRATION! By Richard Miller

Let us see if the politically correct fanatic censor this Black critic of mass migration:

https://explainlife.com/vatican-cardinal-warns-west-will-disappear-because-of-mass-migration-13774/?utm\_source=Explainlife.com%20Newsletter&utm\_medium=email

‘Vatican Cardinal Robert Sarah warns that the “west will disappear” as a result of mass migration, adding that “Islam will invade the world” and “completely change culture, anthropology, and moral vision.” Sarah’s new book, Evening Draws Near and the Day is Nearly Over, is causing controversy in Europe because it explicitly identifies Muslim migration as a harbinger of the continent’s collapse. “If the West continues in this fatal way, there is a great risk that, due to a lack of birth, it will disappear, invaded by foreigners, just as Rome has been invaded by barbarians,” said Sarah, adding, “My country is predominantly Muslim. I think I know what reality I’m talking about.” The Cardinal also blamed the European Union for its “desire to globalize the world, ridding it of nations with their distinctive characteristics,” labeling the move “sheer madness”. “The Brussels Commission thinks only about building a free market in the service of the great financial powers,” he continued. “The European Union no longer protects the peoples within it. It protects the banks.’

In a previous video interview, Sarah warned that Europe had lost its roots and was dying because of fewer European natives having children. Obviously, the book must be banned immediately, and the cardinal shouted down as a “white supremacist.” What else could be done in this post-reason era? ***

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To The Australian Well done, those "more than 100 grassroots Tory chairmen and party officers" who have told Mrs May that she should "deliver what the country knows to be Brexit" ("PM offers Corbyn a Boris lock on Brexit", 8/4)! Alas, neither she nor the House of Commons seem willing to do that, as the one-vote victory of a motion rejecting a "no deal exit" has shown, to say nothing of her turning Brexit into "essentially staying in the EU without a vote at the table." The great question now is whether the ordinary people of Britain themselves have the integrity and stamina to fight on to remove themselves from the noxious EU. A campaign of civil disobedience may be needed, together with a new Brexit party. Giving up the fight, however, would be a sign of national decadence and the people would then deserve their fate.

BRUSSELS BECOMES FIRST MAJOR CITY TO HALT 5G DUE TO HEALTH EFFECTS

Great news. A Belgian government minister has announced that Brussels is halting its 5G plans due to health effects. The statement was made by Céline Fremault, the Minister of the Government of the Brussels-Capital Region, responsible for Housing, Quality of Life, Environment and Energy. From an interview last Friday, with L'Echo:

“I cannot welcome such technology if the radiation standards, which must protect the citizen, are not respected, 5G or not. The people of Brussels are not guinea pigs whose health I can sell at a profit. We cannot leave anything to doubt.”

Ms. Fremault accurately identified that a 5G pilot project is not compatible with Belgian radiation safety standards (9 V/m, or 95 mW/m<sup>2</sup> according to any online converter), and stated that she does not intend to make an exception. (In the Building Biology guidelines, the threshold for extreme concern is 1 mW/m<sup>2</sup>. However, many government agencies still only consider thermal effects, instead of the cumulative body of thousands of peer-reviewed scientific studies.)

Perhaps with Brussels heading up the European Union, and with one of the two major 5G appeals being addressed to the EU, officials there are better informed and motivated to protect themselves. May support increase for Ms. Fremault and all officials who are hearing the call to sanity and prioritizing the people over the technocratic oligarchy.

2-MINUTE ACTION:

To send a brief note of support to Ms. Fremault, go here;

and to Brussels city councilors, go here;

Encourage them of the importance to keep this ban permanent, despite industry's forthcoming pressure.

The 5G Situation in Summary

There is almost no question that a 5G-world would place us all under an unprecedented level of surveillance and control; granting unheard-of powers to soulless corporate algorithms. That should be enough to permanently delete the agenda right there, filed under “useful technology gone bad.” Though perhaps an even bigger question for our time is: does 5G pose a major threat to all biological life? The independent evidence overwhelmingly indicates that it does. That is, unless you ask wireless industry sources, who own the FCC and who recently put out the following CNBC propaganda/commercial in a thinly-veiled attempt to quash pushback available on Youtube at the following link;

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ag1hkv2Upww>

The talking heads of the wireless industry even brashly admit - when forced, in a US senate hearing - that they have not done any safety studies... and they don't plan to. The fact is, hundreds of scientists are trying everything to sound the alarm.

However, within the corporatized halls of government, there is a well-worn pattern of voices of reason being drowned out by the frothed frenzy of technocratic corporations, who envision 5G as an unprecedented economic opportunity for the full-on commercial exploitation of reality.

But 5G pushback is starting to get viral. The compilation of truth assembled in videos on 5G like this one provides a much-needed reality-check on the shocking state of greed and depravation among the agenda-pushers in our world.

While it may sound stark, after observing this for a long while, to me it honestly now appears that those pushing this agenda are stuck in a type of hive-mind syndrome, so frenzied with dollar-signs and "us-versus-them" progress-obsessions that they are in a mode incapable of self-corrective thought. Or at the very least, incapable of seeing where all of this is obviously heading - for them and their kids, too.

When the industry sheep are being presented with an avalanche of scientific evidence for a catastrophe-in-the-making, and yet they refuse to listen and instead continue to tow the profit-pushing line, what becomes visible is the shadow-expression of utter disdain for life.

Where You Live:

The Pushback Against 5G is Going Viral

While Brussels becomes the first major international city to block 5G, dozens of local governments have passed legislation to prevent or restrict 5G rollouts due to health effects. Environmental Health Trust lists legislation from 21 local governments in the USA. And on March 13, the Portland (OR) city council demanded that the FCC update its research on the health and environmental impacts of 5G.

This industry-promoted summary of state-by-state 5G legislative actions gives an insight into their modus operandi. Below is a partial list of resources where you can learn more and get involved. We applaud everyone out there who is taking the reins and leading from their heart.

LOSING THE AUSTRALIAN IMMIGRATION ENDGAME By James Reed

Here are some insightful comments critical of present Australian immigration policy, just for a change from me sounding off:

<https://www.theaustralian.com.au/nation/inquirer/were-the-big-losers-in-this-immigration-numbers-game/news-story/76c7538c9a22b7e4df275186fee52788>

“This week the Morrison government announced its intention to reduce the annual cap on new permanent migrants from 190,000 to 160,000. This lower figure will apply for the next four years. The trouble with the announcement is that an effective cap of about 160,000 has been in place for the past two years. It’s a Clayton’s change — the cap change you have when you’re not having a cap change. In combination with other announcements, which will mean even more temporary migrants, the government has decided that the population will continue to grow at a rapid pace, mainly as a result of immigration. Rather than act on a very clear message from the public that the migrant intake should be cut, the government has preferred to appease various sectional interests while pretending otherwise. We should expect better, even of a government in its last throes. The bigger picture is that there has been a significant disintegration of the broad consensus on immigration — you could call it a settlement — that was achieved by prime minister John Howard. This consensus involved strong border protection preventing the entry of illegal migrants while expanding the pathways for legal migrants to enter and stay in the country.” ***

THOUGHT CRIMES USA By Charles Taylor

Aussies, the future can be seen in the US of A, once the home of liberty, I think. Witness thought crime data bases for anything the Dark Lords of Mordor do not like:

<https://www.naturalnews.com/2019-04-06-michigan-government-to-create-thought-criminal-database.html>

‘Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel ... has decided to launch a full-scale crusade against the First Amendment. According to reports, Nessel is planning to create a “hate crime unit” as part of Michigan’s government, the purpose of which won’t necessarily be to prosecute “hate crimes” – which aren’t a real thing anyway, by the way – but to actually police the speech and thoughts of Michigan residents to make sure they align with official government ideology. By creating a database of people who think for themselves, Nessel is on record as stating that she plans to keep an all-seeing-eye on people who commit “thought violations” – which aren’t real crimes, according to the United States Constitution.

“It is important to understand that these are not convicted criminals or people who[m] the state has reason to believe have committed or are planning to commit a crime,” writes Jay Lorenz for FashTheNation.com about the people Nessel is planning to target with her unconstitutional “hate crime unit.” “The new database is specifically designed to target law-abiding Americans,” he adds.’

That last sentence is the real kicker; targeting people who have not even committed a crime. That is the real essence of anarcho-tyranny, and it is here, and allowed to flourish. ***

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To The Age Dr Bentley James is making a significant contribution to our national culture by his sterling effort to preserve the Yolngu sign language (“Signing up for desperate effort to save a language and a way of life”, 8/4). Alas, some languages must die as socio-cultural contexts change. Think Gaelic and Cornish in the British Isles as well as the large number of Aboriginal tongues here. However, the sign language is hardly “the greatest treasure that Australia ever had.” Dr James’s excessive remark raises the question: “Well, what then is our greatest treasure?” Some would say Christianity, but I think I would nominate our tradition of political freedom. Perhaps we need another Dr James to preserve that!
