This Act binds the Crown.

...Victoria has become a police state, but there is no legal basis for what is being done. Under the so-called Disaster Act, any law in Victoria can be suspended with the stroke of a pen. Of course, such legislation is invalid as it contradicts basic principles of constitutional government. Indeed, the Victorian government has neither constitutional validity nor democratic mandate to introduce such draconian legal measures. Those responsible for them should be held legally accountable. It is they, not families in park playgrounds, who should be facing the full force of the law. -Australia, How Have You Let it Come to This? - Augusto Zimmerman - Quadrant Online

THE ACHILLES HEEL OF THE CONSERVATIVE MOVEMENT By Arnis Luks

In my research for this week I felt Eric's booklet was the most appropriate for what is currently going on: The Achilles Heel of the Conservative Movement - available in our Bookshop and the League's website here:

Extract: The Achilles Heel of the conservative movement everywhere is its failure to grasp the financial and economic realities of the modern industrial age. Conservative principles of limited, decentralised constitutional government; free, competitive enterprise, with expanding freedom for the individual; will continue to be eroded so long as there is no realistic challenge to the basic causes which make increasing centralisation of power in all spheres inevitable. It is a failure to deal with these basic causes which makes defence against the most deadly Communist tactic - economic warfare - impossible.

We have been travelling faster and faster on the treadmill of industrialisation, producing unprecedented quantities of production. Yet we cannot, or more correctly stated, are not intended to, clear our debts. No economics institution, nor economist, has come up with, firstly, the correctly identified causes of debt, nor a program to reduce or cancel debt. And debt, we are informed, is caused by living beyond our means. What does this mean? Have we eaten next years crops? We only need to observe the natural world to recognise that (financial) debt is an abstraction. If a nation within its borders produces all of its needs, how can it owe itself anything from future production? Yet western nations, no matter how productive, cannot resolve this financial debt burden - and to whom? Where does the real credit come from for us to produce? - surely ourselves. Australia as a nation, is well capable of producing all its physical needs. The only area chronically lacking is in the metaphysical - the spiritual. We are capable of producing all sorts of machines to produce, we have almost limitless supplies of every mineral known within our shores. We have multiple generations of people prepared to work as, when, and where required. Yet it is in this area of a belief system - financial orthodoxy - in which the spell could not be broken - until CH Douglas turned the spotlight onto the flaw within the Price System.

Recent History of World Wide Threats

Before the year 2000 we had the world wide threat of the 'Y2K' bug within virtually all computer systems. Worked through to conclusion we crossed over the millennia at the stroke of midnight incident free. Around that time we also had the world wide threat of the 'hole in the ozone layer'. All chlorofluorocarbons needed to be removed from gas refrigerants and propellants. There were other ozone-depleting gases that were also listed that needed to be removed from the marketplace in order to protect all from sun's rays if the 'hole in the ozone layer' was not closed. We passed through this world wide threat uneventful. The 'hole in the ozone' varies from year to year with solar activity - sunspots, not chlorofluorocarbons. It is a naturally occurring phenomena. (next page)

Global warming, based on computer models, then became the newest world wide threat, of rising sea levels, catastrophic increases in temperature, collapse of economic systems - all of which never eventuated. Temperature variability is within historical parameters. Hockey sticks and J curves and other abstract concepts have been found to all be false. Included into this period of world wide threats was the 'war on terror' initiated during the George W. Bush / Dick Cheney Era.

What has occurred, and this is observable, is that parliamentary democracy and our freedoms and ancient rights have been eroded to the point where most nations are moving quickly towards dictatorship. Victoria and New Zealand in particular, are a demonstration of this dictatorial 'rule by proclamation or decree'. Henry VIII and Magna Carta's King John would have both been well satisfied to have had that much power. Our hard-fought ancient freedoms are being trampled on under the phantom threat of COVID-19. Sweden and Japan ran little or no restrictions and their economies are in tact.

Political Narratives

It's difficult to decipher the real political narrative because the Labor Premier of Victoria is fully supported by our Liberal Prime Minister. The other state Liberal and Labor Premiers are fully supported by their respective opposition parties. There appears to be no real dissenting voices, as if all the major parties are coupled together on this issue of 'riding jack-boot' over our ancient Rights and Freedoms, soiling our constitutions.

By their fruits you shall know them

Coupling of the Major Parties

Augusto Zimmerman in his article: Australia, How Have You Let it Come to This?, highlights the coupling of Liberal and Labor, whether in government or opposition, that brought the Victorian Emergency Act 2008 into being. Listening to a Liberal politician last night, you would have thought that it was entirely a result of that 'socialist Labor government' - Dan in particular. What is conveniently not mentioned, is that the Liberals had majority control in the upper house at critical moments of this legislative passage, yet they did nothing. They now bleat that Labor cannot be trusted with this much power, but we liberals, honest, God fearing people can.

Conservative or Liberal?

Jo Nova's website: <http://joannenova.com.au/2020/08/the-marxists-have-forced-out-the-conservatives-now-theyre-coming-for-the-liberals/> is currently in a discussion regarding the difference between liberalism and conservatism - whether or not liberalism will or should fully adopt marxism or will push back towards conservatism. The League, up till now, appears to have been a lone voice on this issue.

Conservatism alone will not achieve any effective long term answer unless it deals with the causes of centralisation, which sources its momentum from the creation of credit and the flaw in the Price System.

Rule by Expert Decree - Technocracy - Robert Klinck

We need to challenge this whole concept of experts dictating what our life is going to be. The bureaucracy, with these experts, have planned for a long time to create this surveillance state. China has been the proving ground for this technology, particularly in the area of payment systems. In Chinese grocery stores, as you walk out with your produce, a scanner reads your eye and iris and the money is automatically deducted from your bank account. This is where we are heading - cashless society.

In the West we have a tradition of more autonomy, more individual action therefore we have not up till recently, been hit with this technology. China is a society in which compliance has been a prominent feature.

Governments are becoming increasingly creative with their excuses for taking away our Rights and Freedoms. The insinuation of this virus, even the possibilities of it being introduced by terrorists, will play directly into their hands to deliver absolute power with a compliant population no longer able to defend themselves. This is the kind of manoeuvring that is going on. It is a game that has been playing out for a long time, of which both sides of the political fence are well accustomed with.

I must again emphasise that there is a fundamental dislocation at the heart of our financial-economic system. Until this is addressed we will not make any progress. There are multitudes of economists and a number of established economic schools of thought - none of which address this issue that Douglas Social Credit has addressed - How to get the benefits (of the most incredible technological developments in the history of the world) over to the population. The neo-liberals, or libertarians won't do it - the marxists certainly won't do it - the socialists won't do it - none of the schools of thought will do it. They won't address this issue.

Douglas Social Credit analysed and dissected the nature of the problem that prevents the 'getting over' of that abundance to the population. It has a solution, in fact twin solutions. The National Dividend and the Consumer Price Discount. Attacking deficient spending power from both ends simultaneously. We will never come out of these endless problems, in fact we will continue to stumble from one, to the next, to the next, until we solve this fundamental problem of how to distribute the abundance of the modern productive system to the population. Douglas Social Credit has the answer, in that the Real Cultural Inheritance, in this time of the machine and technological age, needs to be placed at the disposal (as a Right apart from government - a gift from God), the fruits being a Dividend and a Consumer Price Subsidy.

Spiritual Sickness

We are being governed by people who are suffering from a type of spiritual sickness - the need to control others. A central theme of Christianity is the sin of pride. These people - not through their own fault to a great extent because they have had this inculcated in them from an early age - have gone to prestigious schools - have been told they are of superior intelligence - they have a destiny to be the rulers of their respective societies. Their minds have been poisoned with pride.

We need to recognise that is what we are dealing with and try to free them from their spiritual prison. There is no greater prison than being convinced of your own superiority and your own right to govern other people's lives. It is a problem and it would be useful to recognise the psychology of the technocrat and bureaucrat.

I think another problem we are experiencing is our acceptance of the 'rule by experts'. These are just, more or less, self-proclaimed experts. They are simply people, created at the behest of the financial powers who actually control our academic institutions through grants / finance.

If you take up an academic career you will want to get financing. In order to get this financing you have to approach the Dean or the person who is procuring finance. This creates a channelling effect of research that is most unhealthy - not broad at all. I am particularly aware of money directed towards the feminist movement. I was familiar with academics who, when applying for grants, were directed towards research into 'what contribution women have made to the various fields'. This produced a skewed perspective. And these same researchers then went on to the climate change fiasco. If you want to receive financing you need to come up with a proposed paper that would promote the idea that the Earth was warming. Now we have this COVID-19.

You can see that people are tremendously intimidated - double speak - privately wondering what is going on - saying it doesn't make any sense. Doctors in general are not speaking out, even though they are in opposition to what is presented as fact.

It is a strange situation with all these experts but they are cowardly experts, that do not allow their views to be challenged. This is dreadful. I remember when I was younger: if somebody presents a new point of view, they then organised a debate in order to see it tested. You would call this classical education or the trivium. We very seldom see debates any more. Some alleged authority gives ex cathedra (infallible) pronouncements on what is going on.

Political Appointments

We have all kinds of government officials like ombudsman, police commissioners etc., as soon as they are appointed, it is obvious that they are not independent. Their appointments have been given to them by politicians, so they are there to protect the political establishment. They are not there to protect the interests of the public, not primarily at least. On a smaller scale they may protect the interests of the public, but when they get into big issues, their balance of influence differs towards the establishment. With all this technology heading our way we have to get rid of the notion that some expert can dictate to us on some other grounds because we have no defence unless we do. Bill Gates has no business deciding that the entire world is going to take a vaccine. How in the world he got into this position of talking that way without being laughed out of his prestige by everybody is beyond me. Every politician seems to kowtow to this man just because he's got money and he is clever at insinuating it into places that will go a long way. We cannot allow people like him to be dictating the future. We have to have a fundamental challenge against these people. That involves activating the population who must not comply. Particularly, this vaccination requirement. It is absolutely terrifying because Anthony Fauci and Bill Gates says possibly the next time it occurs it may be a terrorist weapons. - end Robert Klinck

cont.. A Luks When fluoride was first added to the public water supply there was little public resistance. The compliant public were generally unaware that this imposition of mass medication onto their private person was a significant step towards the erosion of their liberty. Then PM Tony Abbott and the Minister for Social Services Scott Morrison, may have been unaware of this massive intrusion towards the private person with the introduction of the "No Jab No Play, No Jab No Pay" legislative requirements. With the COVID-19 lock down, the writing is on the wall: to receive any sort of government payment will require adherence to the vaccine schedule. This will be mandatory vaccination for everyone if you want a medical passport for work or any sort of (taxpayer funded) payment.

Scott Morrison may have back-pedalled a little on the words "mandatory vaccines", but his government is now talking about using stazi-like pressure tactics to induce people to take the COVID-19 vaccine when it arrives.

What the government is talking about doing (and what they have already done with "no jab, no pay") puts into question one of the very fundamental principles of Western Civilization: the security of the person, the right to physical and psychological integrity, and free choice over one's own body and being. As this line is crossed, of control of your own body, anything becomes possible.

We need to take a step back from the brink of economic and parliamentary-democratic disaster and have a really hard look at what is going on. Dan and (NZ's) Jacinda have trampled on the rights of the individual to free association, thought, movement and action, with our PM cheering on in the background. The other state premiers, regardless of political persuasion, are not far behind.

Review and Summary For Action

Under climate model projections, human induced CO<sup>2</sup> needed to be drastically reduced in order to protect the Earth from warming no more than 2°. It's now been five months of lock downs and effective de-industrialisation. The Cape Grimm monitoring station in Tasmania has revealed, 1977 to 2020, no significant change to the rate of CO<sup>2</sup> increase. Therefore the de-industrialisation of the West, as a consequence of the COVID-19 lock down (and other climate change policies) did not alter the rate of CO<sup>2</sup> increase at all. Our use of energy causing CO<sup>2</sup> is not a huge faucet that humans can turn on or off. We have little impact and are not causing CO<sup>2</sup> to rise at any appreciable rate. We cannot slow the rate of CO<sup>2</sup> increase to any measurable degree. Should we continue with the de-industrialisation of the West undeterred by obvious facts? Did the experts of this whole 'world under threat' juggernaut get their predictions so terribly wrong? Not only wrong - they deliberately lied from the start.

The Causes of Centralisation,

which sources its momentum from the Creation of Credit and the flaw in the Price System

The power of 'credit creation', increasingly vested in central banks, is a long and sordid history of corruption, murder and intrigue. Monarchs and Presidents have fallen, wars have been fought, countries are today competing for markets, on account of this.

By placing an 'economic vote' into the hands of every person 'as their Right', (similar to a political vote), based on the ever expanding cultural inheritance, redirects the power away from the privately owned central banks, and into the hands of each individual. The real credit of society, being the accumulated wisdom and technology from past generations, is more than capable of producing the abundance before our very eyes. This 'economic vote', in the form of a Dividend, eliminates debt by removing the 'flaw in the Price System'. Communities (as many individuals) could purchase in full what they themselves produce - above government as all other weights and measures authorities are and beyond politics.

The National Dividend and Consumer Price Discount would be set, by the National Credit Authority, at a rate to hold 'available spending power' in balance with the combined output of all industry, measured in dollars.

As technology continues, further efficiencies would be gained so prices would naturally drop. Reliability, not obsolescence, would be pursued as industrial policy. The environment would take a break as would everyone else.

Look Back And See The Road Forward To Freedom
The Individual alone can be trusted to hold, both political and economic power, with a political vote and also the economic vote in the form of the National Dividend.

Within Australia's various parliamentary-democracies are the seedbeds of the restoration of our ancient freedoms.

The Preamble to our Federal Constitution reads:

Whereas the people of New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, and Tasmania, humbly relying on the blessing of Almighty God, have agreed to unite in one indissoluble Federal Commonwealth under the Crown of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and under the Constitution hereby established:

Firstly it is the people who have agreed to unite - as the owners of the supreme law in Australia, the Constitution.

Humbly relying on the blessing of Almighty God places all Rights and Liberties as coming from God, not the State, nor from Parliament, nor from the Executive.

Under the Crown and under the Constitution hereby established, places kinship, kin, kingship - family, organically developed from past generations, through existing generations, and for future posterity. It is an evolving relationship of extended family which centrally places 'Limited Constitutional Monarchy' as to how we shall be governed. The true compass is freedom with responsibility in a moral environment. Mutual Love and Cooperation is the guide for family, community and Nation. I call this Christianity from an abundant God.

TARGET AND ANNUAL SEMINAR

Readers are asked to forward replies to Head Office, from MP's to your question asking whether we need to repay the debt to ourselves. This refers to the large amount of the Covid 19 stimulus package financed by the Reserve Bank purchasing Australian Government Bonds. If your MP has been slow to reply, it is time to send a reminder. We do need to have your replies, irrespective of the content. - Nat Dir

Annual Seminar: The brochure has already been posted announcing the new format planned for this year. Due to Covid 19 restrictions we are holding a Webinar (a seminar broadcast to your computer or smart TV). Plan to devote Saturday afternoon September 19 to the Webinar. Take advantage of being able to relax in your own home - no travelling or accommodation required. It will be a great opportunity to invite some friends to join you for the afternoon or you can encourage them to watch from their home.

The theme will be Freedom. It is disappearing before our eyes every moment. Top qualified speakers will point out areas under attack and suggest how the solution rests with action from the grass-roots.

Reward the effort involved in producing the Webinar by tuning in. Contact Head Office (phone 08 8387 6574) for a guide for connecting to the programme. This needs to be done as a trial hook-up well in advance of Sep.19th.
