

- NEWS HIGHLIGHTS
- BACKGROUND INFORMATION
- COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

IN THIS ISSUE

Nothing Tastes as Good as Freedom Feels By Arnis Luks	1
Inalienable Rights	2
What Is Law For? Think about the Road Rules:	3
Practicing At The Nets	4

Thought For The Week: A NEW DARK AGE

We had plenty of warning, even forty years ago, that if we did not defeat the policy of the Money Power within a few years, we should enter another Dark Age, and it is quite evident that we have now entered it. The culture in which we live is no longer a Christian culture. The Christian principles on which most of us were brought up are no longer tacitly accepted by Society as a whole, as they used to be however imperfectly; and the young, for the most part, are not being brought up as Christians. The light of Christianity now shines from many points, but does not visibly diffuse through the whole of Society. THE DOUGLAS LEGACY by Dr. Geoffrey Dobbs. The New Times Vol 44 No 11 1979

NOTHING TASTES AS GOOD AS FREEDOM FEELS By Arnis Luks

The South Australia state election is only six weeks out and yet I cannot find any, what I'd call, reasonable news-reported-articles in regard to candidates, or policies, or anything else. This includes the dedicated ABC election website. Incredible. It's almost as if South Australia does not exist in the Australian political psyche. I must admit I don't have a functioning TV or radio in my house so the preferred mediums of interchange of ideas can't permeate my thought processes. Some would consider this an advantage and others a disadvantage. I look on it as controlled thinking.

This weekend NSW will be holding 4 bi-elections. All voters have by now received a postal-voting pack. This extraordinary situation is rife for interference as was demonstrated by video-footage of postal vote rigging of the previous USA presidential election. Voter-rolls are another area of significant corruption that is never addressed by the AEC as their funds are strictly controlled by party hacks. It is not in the best interest of political parties to tidy up this cesspool. Remember those infamous Whitlam words of advice – vote early and vote often. This is not to allude to a Labor party monopoly in this area, but as I said a cesspool that needs a Royal Commission to be conducted following every election to tidy up these anomalies. Scrutineering is another anomaly altogether.

While the Canadian truckers' freedom convoy are facing temperatures of -30°C, we have our own truck convoy in Canberra, coming from all parts of Australia. What will happen after this campaign, or as a consequence of this campaign, is really the only pertinent question. I hold significant concern that the standoff may become a stalemate, which will demoralise those who are standing up for freedom. I am hoping wave after wave of new groups will move in to support the truckers. The French Yellow Vests have been protesting for more than 3 years, so a one-off convoy generally will not cut the mustard. In India, there were extended protests of 250 million farmers over many months that did not even rate a mention in our media. Hoping the media will honestly enter the fray is a false hope that will not eventuate. They are paid servants and will do their master's bidding.

How do we assist the public to come out of this deep hypnotic spell to the light of day, to actually think and no longer accept the MSM programming narrative? A thought that must be considered, is that the vast majority may not wish to come out at all from this spell. They are glued to their TVs in a state of perpetual fear and anxiety and are moving into the realm of psychological exhaustion ready to capitulate to slavery.

United States truckers have had their Facebook account terminated almost as quickly as it appeared, titled "Convoy to DC, 2022". GoFundMe has also attempted to withhold donated funds from the Canadian Truckers. The deep state won't allow use of supposedly 'their' facilities to promote freedom. I noted from one website that there are now migration trends within the United States away from "woke" states towards those states which promote a more acceptable version of freedom. No doubt the same is occurring in Europe with the latest Austrian laws mandating jobs. As Geoffrey Dobbs wrote in "Responsible Government in a Free Society", the ultimate VETO against government policy is to leave the country.

Inalienable Rights

Inalienable Rights, or a Bill of Rights, or a Charter of Rights are a vital thought to consider in light of a current court case in Canada. In a recent UK Column broadcast this very question came up. Legislated Rights infers that one person or group has the power to determine and adjudicate what rights another person or group may hold. Inalienable, or natural rights, not written down but originating from God alone, infers that the law's function is to the negative, you cannot lie, kill, maim, or destroy, but apart from that you are free to go about your business. Eric Butler would always refer to the 'road-rules' as the most obvious prototype or model of common law rights, free to go about your business and travel wherever you like provided you adhered to those road-rules and do not infringe on another's equal rights. This is the primary function of all law.

Only do unto him what you would have him do onto you

This way of thinking in my mind leads to an honest assessment of behaviour that is above all law and / or commandments. I read this morning two diametrically opposed perspectives by church leadership. One promoting the jab and the other condemning the jab. One stating that it is immoral 'not to get the jab', and the other stating the dominance of big Pharma over humanity as immoral. I'm of the view that one position is hideously evil coming from him who wears a backwards collar, and the other enlightened, that is, turning towards the light of truth. This is where we are and we have to accept that brother will turn against brother, wife against husband and children against parents.

Former merchant banker and appointed leader of the Anglican Communion (appointed by former British PM Tony Blair weapons of mass destruction fame) Justin Welby suggests that those who are not vaccinated are immoral. This was countered by Roman Archbishop Vigano describing: "the multiple vatican endorsements of the criminal mass-vaccine campaign confirm the full adherence of the (Roman church-ed) hierarchy to the globalist vulgate, without taking even the slightest account of the serious critiques of the so-called vaccines...The Pontifical Academy for Life is no exception. It has become an organ of neo-Malthusianism, even to the point of declaring that subjecting oneself to inoculation with the experimental drug is an act of love and a moral duty, incontrovertibly denying not only the evidence of the facts but also the existence of a global plan that has deliberately caused this psycho-pandemic in order to bring about a ruthless reduction of the world population (especially the elderly) and impose forms of control and restriction of the natural rights of citizens..."

Certainly a polarising narrative coming from two very differing leaders. As to the question of morality of being jabbed or not jabbed the former merchant banker Justin Welby has laid his cards on the table as to whom he shall serve. This is not out of the ordinary. Eric Butler would often write of the Communist infiltrated and controlled 'World Council of Churches' directing significant amounts of funds towards the guerrilla campaigns throughout Africa where helpless victims were necklaced to death by these revolutionaries. This is the sordid history of the world council of churches involved in evil political acts. Should there even be a world this or a world that? The communist revolutionaries would rather foster this division in order to promote, in the end, violence leading to societal breakdown.

I believe it is our primary function to find resolution

In a most enlightening interview of Kyle Kemper, half-brother to Canadian PM Justin Trudeau, many sacred cows were refreshingly examined. The alternative news services are certainly rising to the challenge. Watch this interview right through to the end, because it just gets better and better. Unexpectedly, Trudeau's half-brother is a guileless, informed, and genuinely humanity-loving individual who counters the woke narrative.

<https://rumble.com/vthgo8-watch-exclusive-sit-down-with-kyle-kemper-half-brother-and-active-critic-of.html>

Coles' supermarket shelves are increasingly running out of stock. I can only reiterate again the importance of promoting local growers, farmers markets and community gardens to reinforce the banks/levies of your own personal supply chains. Some sources of out of season produce can travel more than 4000 km to their market. Under increasing duress on the supply chains, availability of items will diminish. It is necessary, so necessary, to think ahead and secure your food base.

500,000 Canadian government employees have received pay rises while the remainder of the nation are finding they increasingly have to tighten their belts. If you earn less, you pay less tax, and yet the bureaucracy and those on government payroll are receiving pay rises. Also, significant numbers of the mainstream media are losing employment. This exerts inordinate pressure on the remaining staff to comply. Governments are providing huge financial support to the mainstream media to the tune of billions of dollars. Where does all this revenue come from? It comes from new credits in the form of debt issued by central banks, the source of this covid/climate lockstep/lockdown policy.

Reports coming in are that the Canadian truckers' freedom convoy is now being supported by cowboys on horseback and a contingency of farmers with their tractors. There was also one report of a Native-American contingent moving into position. Spokesman for the truckers are insisting that all lockdown/lockstep impositions be removed including mandatory jabs and testing. The Trudeau government is owned and controlled by corporate interests as is the mainstream, now referred to as "legacy" media. The alternative news services are reporting from the ground of these trucker activities, while our media in Australia, if at all, presents a very sanitised version of events. The main battleground is in this area of ideas, the public consciousness if you like.

This week I have been working my way through a book titled the "United States of Fear" by Mark McDonald M.D. presenting the case that heightened levels of anxiety, fear and trepidation, are gripping predominantly the female mind. The legacy media is doing all they can to foster this anxiety and fear. The facts on the ground are that the birds are singing, the weather is kind, and the harvest is plentiful. The demons in the forest are only a creation of the witch doctor's spell of which the legacy media play their most vital role. I have also viewed a report that should any police officer support or provide facility towards the Canadian truckers' freedom convoy they will be investigated and prosecuted by their police chief to the full extent of the Police Service Act and if relevant the Criminal Code...

#Ottawa Police Chief Says He Will Investigate & Prosecute Any Police Officer That Provides Any Support To The #TruckersConvoy2022 Protestors Including Food or Water...

Blackmail isn't limited to the political sphere but is rampant throughout all those areas which hold the political and societal purse strings or employment. A relevant thought is of what structure or organisation actually controls the leadership of these departments? In 'Secret Societies and Subversive Movements' by Nesta Webster, she writes of the hidden hand of the Masons, the Illuminati and nowadays we have all these 'think tanks' and 'charitable funds' which are able to pour billions into this campaign of world government. Another title on secret societies and subversive movements is 'The Mystery of Freemasonry Unveiled' by Cardinal of Chile.

New South Wales local Liberals are attempting to have some input into the selection process from their branches. The Federal Liberal executive is riding roughshod over the locals to parachute in pre-ordained individuals. By their very structure political parties are not a representative organisation but a power movement run by ruthless individuals. Their structure attracts tyrants and are generally run by them. The most revealing comments were made recently by the 'great reset' Klaus Schwabb: is that most of these world leaders are parachuted-in individuals, injected into the body politic, having been trained at his WEF school for world leaders. He also makes the extraordinary claim that 50% of some federal administrations are injected from his school. Whether communist or capitalist, they all come from this school as they historically once came from Harvard or the London School of Economics and Political Science.

If you as an individual do not accept personal responsibility to run your own life, then these tyrants will most certainly run it for you.

Emmanuel Macron and Justin Trudeau are not exceptional tyrants. They come from the same preparatory and predatory ground as Vladimir Putin and Jacinda Adern. They are groomed, developed, trained and implanted there to do the bidding of their corporate masters. The same place these funds come from, central banks and international corporations.

The Chinese system of surveillance is a creature developed in the west by tech giants such as google, facebook and twitter. Plans are afoot to constantly assess your worthiness as to more and more jobs based on your compliance to this global tyranny. In Europe, Austria has now passed laws making jobs mandatory or receive fines for non-compliance. Queensland has now introduced random covid testing. This will never end unless it is overcome by a counter movement towards freedom.

New Patent Proposes Digital Surveillance to Vaccinate People Based on Social Credit Style Scores By Tom Parker <https://reclaimthenet.org/> us-patent-surveilling-vaccinating-scores/

Patent and trademark attorneys Dr. Gal Ehrlich and Maier Fenster of Ehrlich & Fenster recently had a US patent approved for a technology that aims to surveil people via their digital activity, give them a score that defines "the potential level of super-spreading activity of each individual," and then vaccinate people based on this score... Not only does the patent suggest mass electronic surveillance of people to create a social credit style score that determines when they should be vaccinated but it also proposes that the technology could be deployed as part of a "dedicated mandatory app" where "the government may order the citizens to install a dedicated application on their smartphones (or other smart devices like tablets, smartwatches, smart glasses, etc.) to help the government with the logistics of the vaccination procedures"... The patent was approved on August 31 and follows governments around the world implementing increasingly far-reaching surveillance measures amid the coronavirus such as vaccine passports that aim to exclude people from economic and social activities and apps that use geolocation and face recognition to police quarantine...

What Is Law For? Think about the Road Rules:

Just-Law is not burdensome, but allows all (in this case) to freely travel/use the roads on conditions stated in the Rules of the Road. Truck drivers travel thousands of miles to their chosen destination every day - obeying the Road Rules. This is a good example of a useful law, not burdensome, but neither are they chaotic as would happen if there were no rules or those rules were not obeyed. This is "the power of human beings in association to produce the result intended, measured in terms of their satisfaction."

Tudor Jones, in Elements of Social Credit directs attention towards Douglas' advice that we must not only use the 'rules of the road' (or Constitution) we must 'practice at the net'. Sports stars understand this very well. They practice at the net - or wicket- to improve their abilities even though they must also know the rules of cricket or tennis, etc. Knowing the rules of the game is necessary, but without practising at the net knowing the rules will get nowhere. That is why it is so important to begin with Freedom of Choice and Lifting all Mandates as the first step in practising at the net.

Thinking about this proposal of practicing at the net; the need for devolution of political power has not surfaced from any political entity, but rather more of the same from different hands UAP, Australia One, PHON etc.

Government as mother, and now father, removes personal responsibility from the individual. First there was mass medication in the form of fluoride, justified for the protection of young children's teeth even though less than 1% of 1% of all water produced was drunk by children. If fluoride worked and was not a neurotoxin, a topical application by the dentist could have sorted this issue easily. Instead, all the population was medicated with a known sedative. And now this mass-medication theme has evolved into never ending jabs. Just think, the largest building complexes in every major city are now 'citadels for health' while our population is getting sicker and sicker, weaker and weaker. Cui Bono?

Accepting personal responsibility for your own health decisions has moved from something voluntary, almost incidental, towards something that is vitally essential, or mandatory if we are to restore our inalienable rights.

Practicing At The Nets

I have previously suggested Rate-Payer's Associations and Progress Associations as vehicles towards reform at the local government level. Understanding inordinate influences that can corrupt human nature, and the injection of persons of already vested interests into government, I see that the open meeting provides a viable resolution to this corruption, in that should a local meeting be swamped by outsiders, brandishing the council-rates-notice and being known by existing members could alleviate some external interferences. Open discussion, while there are risks of meeting capture, do promote meaningful and lively dialogue. Finding resolution may take time – so be it. This is where understanding that a quick-majority can and should be challenged back by a thoughtful and considered approach after due consideration, being the counter-balance.

Participation is the key. The revolutionaries know this only too well and will always be the other side of the net.

While opinionated individuals may carry persuasive arguments at the time, due consideration can counter back. This is all practicing at the net stuff that builds community and enforces representation instead of party power movements dominated by professional activists. How little consideration was ever given to local's opinions with the GMO decree by the agricultural minister in SA? Those active associations, had they been working tirelessly to remove this person permanently from the parliament, could have possibly changed the state government while they were at it.

Political party movements work from their own 'controlled associations' for their own purposes. It works like a club or a gang. Once representation is achieved the open meeting quickly goes behind closed doors.

36% organic certified farmers and growers of the Fleurieu Peninsular was insufficient to hold the line against this tyranny exercised by the minister on behalf of the GMO superstructure. Everyone is a minority at some stage. We need to rethink this majority vote racket.

Last ChristMass, I received word that a Queensland local government had supported local business leaders by declaring a covid tyranny safe-haven. This allowed business to achieve their much needed cashflow-injections across this high spending period, with no covid restrictions or policing whatsoever. Another council body was asked the same question but declined to offer support to their business community. Extraordinary.

One 'local government' acting resolutely with the 'local representative' and business leaders, could send shockwaves through any state government that imposes this tyranny. The covid thought police would be powerless against this in a heartbeat. Especially, if like the truckers, the thought caught on with wave after wave of increasing support from freedom loving individuals.

You see, free must be balanced with moral and responsible. Those who rashly chose the jab are the same group that are now recording a 40% increase in all-cause morbidity. They have not avoided responsibility; in fact, they are demonstrating it with this increase in death rate. As horrid as it is to say that is the practical truth of it.

Short term goal: to slow or stop the progress of covid tyranny with the restoration of all our inalienable rights: freedom of movement and choice, informed consent, and

Long term goal: to have our constitutions updated to include a VETO mechanism to hold the 'tendency of tyrants' to account on a daily basis.

Further Reading:

https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Dobbs\_G-Responsible\_Government\_in\_a\_Free\_Society.pdf

https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Dobbs%20G%20-%20One\_Man\_One\_Vote.pdf

<https://alor.org/Storage/Library/Dobbs%20G%20-%20The%20Douglas%20Legacy.htm>

Subscription to On Target $45.00 p.a.

NewTimes Survey $30.00 p.a.

Donations can be performed by direct bank transfer:

A/c Title Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)

BSB 105-044

A/c No. 188-040-840

or cheques to: 'Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)'

Postal Address: PO Box 27, Happy Valley, SA 5159.

Telephone: 08 8322 8923 eMail: heritagebooks@alor.org

Online Bookstore : <https://veritasbooks.com.au/>

<https://alor.org/> our main website and repository of the Douglas Social Credit and Freedom Movement 'Archives'.

On Target is printed and authorised by A. J. Luks

13 Carsten Court, Happy Valley, SA.