

- NEWS HIGHLIGHTS
- BACKGROUND INFORMATION
- COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

The Price of Freedom is Eternal Vigilance

Print Post Publication Number 10000815

Vol. 58 No. 06

18th February 2022

IN THIS ISSUE

LOVE as a Dynamic Force By Arnis Luks	1
Man - Heir and Steward By ED Butler	2
LOVE as a dynamic force - PLAN B	4
What is to happen when the demonstrations stop?	4

Thought For The Week: “Socialism, or to give it its correct name, Monopoly, is not a production system, which is exactly what one would expect from its origins... it is a legalistic system based upon a power complex supported by a set of abstract slogans which its policies and results contradict, where they have any concrete meaning. The idea so skilfully inculcated that confiscation of property will assist in the distribution of wealth is, of course, completely without foundation. Socialism is a restriction system, as any examination of Socialist practice in the Trade Unions will confirm, and it has two well-defined fundamental principles — centralization of power, both economic and political, and espionage. “That is to say, every advance towards Socialism is an advance toward the Police State.”

The Big Idea By CH Douglas

LOVE AS A DYNAMIC FORCE By Arnis Luks

In an increasingly obvious scripted narrative, the South Australian Premier is shaping the lifting of Covid restrictions to align with the next state election. While the ABC is the only reporting service dealing with this obvious manipulation, nonetheless it warrants consideration of what really is a cynical work practice of politics - pork barrelling of another type in exchange for re-election - a temporary relaxation of the rules of tyranny.

A similar perspective can be taken in regard to the Federal election due in May. MSM are almost pleading with the incumbents to give them something to eulogise them with. The jostling for media time isn't limited to the major parties, even though I am convinced the federal ALP hold no real desire whatsoever to win this election, with their polarising narrative of taxing the rich and confiscating inheritance rights. The current ALP leader endorses the Morrison policy of covid/climate tyranny, reinforcing that they are two peas from the same pod.

Our PM has distanced himself from the covid demonstrations in Canberra against lockstep/lockdown; claiming it as state policy, not federal that is causing this unbearable situation. If this were true, which it is not, the government would have the states in the high court in a heartbeat, which they have not. They work together.

They deny with their mouths what they are doing with their hands.

This vacuum of acceptable policy direction is a huge opportunity for minor parties and independents to rally against the majors. Firstly, to insist upon “freedom of choice”; and secondly “lifting of all covid restrictions”. These two policies reinforce our inalienable rights and freedoms are to be upheld, especially by our governments. Should an incumbent be unable to endorse and pursue these two policies they need to be placed last on every ballot paper. Canadian Truckers are leading the way on this issue, and, while it may turn unstable at any moment with the government preparing a paramilitary response, those truckers need to hold their line as best they can. This is a war against tyranny for the restoration of our inalienable rights and freedoms that government seized.

When Mark Latham was the ALP Federal leader he came up with a polarising narrative of class warfare. Even though he is now an indicative leader within the PHON camp, I still cautiously watch every manoeuvre he makes.

Police shut down Perth restaurant, arrest owner, over alleged vaccine breach

<https://www.smh.com.au/national/police-shut-down-perth-restaurant-arrest-owner-over-alleged-vaccine-breach-20220208-p59upt.html>

Qld's Capricorn Coast Says NO to Labor's Vaccine Mandates

<https://youtu.be/AIDHLEom5C4>

<https://goodsauce.news/qlds-capricorn-coast-says-no-to-labors-vaccine-mandates/>

Livingstone Shire Council voted to become “pro-choice” by rejecting government advice to medically discriminate between who they serve and employ in local businesses...

The PHON request for a Royal commission into Covid handling by the various governments and health departments, must be compared to the recently held banking Royal commission which was carefully guided into the sidelines by former PM Malcolm Turnbull. I have no confidence any 'terms of reference' for a Royal commission would seriously look into this covid fiasco. There are too many skeletons in the closet of important and influential people for the light of day to be allowed.

The splendid work that PHON political party were doing in the early days, with a genuine alternative media presence under the stewardship and guidance of James Ashby, is nowadays hardly to be seen. Had their media contingent being present with the current demonstrations in Canberra, factually reporting the discontent evident on the ground, or the small businesses collapsing under Covid tyranny, and now with the threat of five-year-olds being experimented on with the jab, I'd be prepared to withdraw my concerns for holding such a dark view of where they are going and where they are leading us.

Canadian convoy protesters have crystallised their policy objectives into 'freedom of choice' and "lifting of all covid restrictions". PHON, UAP and Australia1 would all do well to give the electors a serious target for the upcoming South Australian election due in 5 weeks. The majors would not be able to contain the propaganda narrative any longer if the people are given a genuine political alternative to pursue - a VETO against tyranny.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AIDHLEom5C4>

The recent business leaders and councillors Nov 2021 town hall meeting in Yagoon, Qld was all good stuff but while Pauline Hanson had the mic, she only committed to managing everything better than was being done by current leadership. Sorry Pauline, just not good enough when we are losing our nation and our inalienable rights and freedoms, while our children are being experimented on with the jab. The people need a clear policy choice, even if it is to the negative of what they no longer want.

I also hold reservations towards Sen Malcolm Roberts' perspective on the economy and the existing financial narrative. My reading of where he is leading is Ludwig von Mises' libertarianism - not far from laissez-faire monopoly capitalism, of which the (Roman) church condemns equally alongside communism - both evil. Ludwig von Mises: everyone has a responsibility to work even if there are no jobs out there. Even if the machines are doing absolutely everything. Even if robotics, advance control, and computers can do in a few minutes what took months by hand, the policy is still full employment, (if you do not work neither shall you eat) even if that insistence of work happens to demand

MAN - HEIR and STEWARD By ED Butler

No reversal of current developments is possible without reversing and modifying the financial policies which have been such a powerful instrument in the hands of the power-lusters. The true conservative knows how important is the past. As the young French-Canadian mystic, Simone Weil, so beautifully expressed it in The Need For Roots:

"We possess no other living sap, than the treasures stored up from the past and digested, assimilated and created afresh by us."

A genuinely conservative approach to life requires humility, to accept the fact that the man is not self-sufficient. It is surprising how many conservatives will accept this truth concerning some subjects, but reject it in the field prostitution of the body and the soul.

Victoria has become the third jurisdiction in Australia to decriminalise sex work

<https://www.abc.net.au/news/2022-02-10/victoria-sex-work-act-repealed-decriminalisation/100818818>

As noted last week, there are opposing theological arguments on this subject of full employment.

"All things therefore whatsoever you would that men should do to you, do you also to them. For this is the law and the prophets" - the golden rule as stated by our Lord.

It was William Wilberforce with a few others, who won the common law battle against the merchant-led slave trade. Slavery is a moral question, not a financial consideration for both the owner and the slave alike – a Faustian bargain for the slave. No human should have that much power over another, and none should be required to enter into a slave/master Faustian bargain. The financial system, through its nurtured and designed flaw of manipulation, has confiscated the very real assets of the entire planet to only a few hundred families. The natural law response is this: "the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath". Systems are made to serve man(kind) and not man to serve systems.

The financial system must be a just system (as with weights and measures), not filching the entire globe unto those who manipulate it for their own purposes, while driving the rest to abject poverty under financial slavery.

This PHON financial perspective, apart from being amoral (no morals), is separated from observable reality. With the cry for full employment, there is no explanation whatsoever of the irredeemable debt every nation in the world finds itself in. If you can't free yourself from financial slavery, if a nation cannot manage its own financial system for the benefit of the people of that nation, then we are all slaves, nonetheless. Silence on these vital issues is complicity. This is where capitalism and communism come together in their nexus of slavery – dictatorship of the proletariat. This is the blind side of PHON and conservatives generally, whereby they refuse, or deliberately avoid considering this question, while the other equally weighty issue of limiting the power of government is also not openly discussed in this arena of public education and discourse. What a moment lost! Important reading on this issue: The 'Achilles Heel' of the Conservative Movement by ED Butler available here:

https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Butler_ED-Achilles_Heel.pdf

continued on page 4...

of economics. Far too many conservatives create the impression that their concept of “rugged individualism” is a type of free-for-all where the self-made man succeeds and the weak go to the wall. The truth is that no man is self-sufficient today in the field of economic endeavour. Even those pioneering on some of the world’s remaining frontiers are making use of machinery and technical assistance which comes from co-operative industrial societies, themselves the heirs to a thousand years of “accumulated” industrial arts. The creative conservative of the Twentieth Century must take a new look at economics if he is to meet the Socialist challenge. Some proper humility is a prerequisite.

The following are basic truths which must be accepted in evolving a policy which will enable the best of our civilization to be preserved and developed along the lines of a genuinely conservative and co-operative society, one in which the creative initiative of every individual can find expression:

1. What might be described as man’s basic capital consists of vast natural resources, including the soil. Growth is impossible without sunshine, rain and fresh air. All this is a gift from God. It is not produced by men’s work. Labour does not produce all wealth as the Socialist and Communist claim.

2. The use of basic capital requires production capital. This has been developed at an ever-accelerating rate because each new generation is the heir to the accumulated knowledge of the past, which is part of man’s cultural heritage. Without this knowledge, man would still be subsisting at a primitive level without even knowing about the wheel. It is more correct to describe man as a discoverer than an inventor. The truth concerning what is termed the “mechanical advantage” was DISCOVERED, not created by the man who first used a lever to lift a much greater weight than he could with only his own muscular energy. This and other truths are also a gift from God. The Indians watched the flow of water over the Niagara Falls for centuries, without realizing that here was an enormous source of power which could be harnessed to serve the individual. Present-day North Americans use this power, not because of greater physical ability than the Indians, but because they are heirs to knowledge passed on to them by previous generations. Semi-automatic machinery driven by solar energy, computers, machines making machines, with human labour as such now a minor factor, are the results of the cultural heritage.

3. Both morally, and realistically, the individual is entitled to a share in the benefits possible because of the application of the cultural heritage to basic capital. But although the cultural heritage, like basic capital, must be regarded as a community heritage, in order that this heritage is preserved, extended and in the most competent and responsible manner on behalf of the individual, private ownership is essential. In a free-enterprise society, private owners should be a group of producing aristocrats, proud of their responsibilities and the opportunity to develop their various skills, serving a democracy of consumers.

4. As the “money vote” and price system is the most flexible mechanism through which the individual can exercise effective control over how his heritage is to be developed, it is the legitimate function of Government to ensure that the volume of community purchasing power AUTOMATICALLY reflects economic realities. The proper level of water in a cattle drinking trough is automatically adjusted by a ball-valve and the amount of water consumed by the cattle. The actual mechanics necessary to place individuals in control of their own credit, is one for appropriate experts to create. No change in the ownership or administration of the private banks is necessary.

C.H. Douglas predicted in 1924 that unless control of the community's credit were decentralized into the hands of its individual members, and the economic system reoriented away from the direction in which it was being forced by those monopolizing the control of financial credit, there would come a time “well within the lives of the present generation” when “the blind forces of destruction will appear to be in the ascendant... There is, at the moment, no party, group, or individual possessing at once the power, the knowledge, and the will, which would transmute the growing social unrest and resentment (now chiefly marshalled under the crudities of Socialism and Communism) into a constructive effort for the regeneration of Society... we are merely witnesses to a succession of rear-guard actions on the part of the so-called conservative elements of Society, elements which themselves seem incapable or undesirous of genuine initiative; a process which can only result, like all rear-guard actions, in a successive, if not successful retreat on the part of the forces attacked. While this process is alone active, there seems to be no sound justification for optimism...” — Social Credit By CH Douglas.

A genuine counter-offensive by conservatives, demand a challenge to the policy of the credit monopoly. It was Abraham Lincoln who observed that “the power to regulate the currency and credit of a nation” is “the Government’s greatest creative opportunity.”

A resurgent conservatism might well take the Lincoln statement as it’s fighting motto. ***

BEQUESTS

The League appreciates being remembered by way of a legacy in the Will of supporters. This is a way of assisting the work of the League to continue after your life. Legal complexities arise in some cases, so we have been advised to create a Company to receive the funds on behalf of the League.

In your Will, please designate the bequest to TALOR Pty Ltd. We thank you in advance for the kind thought. ND

LOVE AS A DYNAMIC FORCE - PLAN B What is to happen when the demonstrations stop?

The combination of the Financial/Political/Military/Pharmaceutical/Industrial/Media complex would be an impossible task to overcome by physical strength alone. It requires faith, hope and love, all put into action. The Canadian truckers have set up soup kitchens to feed the homeless and blow-up castles for the children. As the Truckers are challenged by whomever, the locals are coming out of their homes and filling the gaps created. This spirit of freedom is growing as Canadians come together to do all they can in -30°C temperatures. There may be some cracks appearing in the politician's armour, but these will be shored as they appear. The key to inalienable rights and freedoms is that it affects everybody including civil, political, military and police. Leadership of these structures has been subverted with injections from the WEF and secret societies. It is always the leadership that sets the flock on a destructive path.

Leadership of Self

I watched footage of the Canberra march and listened to several people with the microphone and came out with the impression clear direction was lacking or they were attempting to garnish votes for the next election. I did not witness a clear policy direction. What can 100,000 people do together in a march or rally? Not much unless this display of frustration is converted into action at their local level with an injection of some leadership of self. A dominant individual can readily take over a large meeting to cause a change in direction if you are not aware and thinking clearly. To overcome this charisma advantage, clear thinking and preset objectives are essential ingredients prior to attendance of these. The Canadian Truckers have united the nation under a freedom of choice and lifting of all covid restrictions banner that is bringing the public along with them. This is a unifying policy that permeates the public imagination. Issues other than this need to be set aside for now in order to direct political energy towards the restoration of our inalienable rights and freedoms. These rights and freedoms do not come from government but are inherent within every person from conception unto death. Government has overstepped their defined boundaries of a limiting Constitutional Monarchy. Energy now needs to be placed into this institution to shore it up as 'our agreement as to how we shall be governed'. Petitioning the Governors and Governor General to lift all covid restrictions is a start. He, as commander of our police and armed services is the rightful recipient of this plea from the people against the tyranny of our governments. This can be done at your own capital city rather than the 1,000+ kilometre trek to the capital Canberra. Logistically it also makes sense.

Alternative Media as Education

Each time there is interaction with a member of the public is also another opportunity for civics re-education. Our Limiting Constitutional Monarchical system of government is orientated towards 'division of power' across divisions of government and administration. No single house, nor individual holds supreme power over our nation (or our States). Annually the lower house must stand to be judged in the states' house the Senate with the passing of the budget. The Executive stands answerable to the Parliament, and the Ministry stand answerable before the Courts as adjudicator of the imposition of these laws. The Parliament is not doing its primary function of representing the will of the electorate and holding the Executive to account. They collect wages under false pretences and need to be replaced with others more attune to the now realised will of the electorate.

The New Zealand public are also rising up against this world medical tyranny. A similar message from them is freedom of choice and lifting of all covid restrictions. We need to understand that the police and the military also have children and family directly affected by this world medical tyranny. They need to be brought alongside with the public. This issue is government tyranny imposing a world medical policy. Sir Robert Peel, the founder of the London Police wrote:

"The police are the public and the public are the police; the police being only members of the public who are paid to give full time attention to duties which are incumbent on every citizen in the interests of community welfare and existence."

While the public is now finding clear objectives, the structure of tyranny must be considered. Klaus Schwabb boasted that he had injected up to 50% of administrations with his operatives, it is those in leadership positions which direct policy. It is those who will attempt to turn this narrative against the pursuit of our inalienable rights and freedoms. National broadcasters are simply hired tools. New media is you with a clearly defined message: freedom of choice and lifting of all covid restrictions. You can do much locally in this pursuit of our freedoms. This is where the supply lines are not 1,000+ks but readily available. This is a war against tyranny and it is happening in your neighbourhood at your own front door.

Subscription to On Target $45.00 p.a.

NewTimes Survey $30.00 p.a.

Donations can be performed by direct bank transfer:

A/c Title Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)

BSB 105-044

A/c No. 188-040-840

or cheques to: 'Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)'

Postal Address: PO Box 27, Happy Valley, SA 5159.

Telephone: 08 8322 8923 eMail: heritagebooks@alor.org

Online Bookstore : <https://veritasbooks.com.au/>

<https://alor.org/> our main website and repository of the Douglas Social Credit and Freedom Movement 'Archives'.

On Target is printed and authorised by A. J. Luks

13 Carsten Court, Happy Valley, SA.