ONE SHILLING & NINEPENCE FORTNIGHTLY

THE LAST DAYS OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE?

Zionist-Communist Plot Nears Fruition

By ERIC BUTLER

In the absence of knowledge of all the facts, it is impossible to be dogmatic in writing about the world crisis, with particular reference to events in the Middle East. But it is clear for all to see that current "American" policy is merely a continuation of a policy, which can be traced from Yalta, Potsdam, and the Geneva "Summit" Conference. It is a policy of collaboration with International Communism. Anyone who refuses to face this basic fact concerning international politics can make no realistic contribution to an understanding of what is taking place.

The most powerful group influencing American policies are the Zionists. Their principal, but not exclusive, instrument of control and influence is the financial system. It is therefore clear, as demonstrated by events, that whatever the Zionists think of the Communists, or vice versa, that the Zionists through their influence in the American Government and the "United" Nations, also situated in America, have followed a consistent policy of furthering the growth of the Communist conspiracy, now the Zionists make it clear that they seek to create a World State. But the greatest barrier to this plan has been the existence of the British Empire. It was therefore essential that this Empire be destroyed. The destruction has been proceeding for a long time and it is now possible, unless effective action is taken by patriots in all parts of the Empire, that current developments in the Middle East are leading towards what could be a death blow.

In order to obtain a true picture of what is happening in the Middle East, it is necessary to turn to a brilliantly prophetic statement in Major Douglas's "Brief for the Prosecution", published in 1944. Douglas gave what I am certain is the true picture of Zionism.

"Zionism is something very different to a simple scheme for the return of the Jews to Palestine. That is incidental to the moulding of events and Governments to procure World Dominion for 'Israel'. The objective involves a perfectly clear, coherent and continuous policy on the part of the Zionists. The conditions for successive and major crises must be created and maintained in the world; the means required to deal with each crisis as it arises must be in the hands of Zionist Jews, directly or indirectly; and the use of these means must only be granted to the highest bidder in the surrender of power or the guarantee of its use in the interests of Jewry. In the past the control of money, gold and credit has been the primary weapon of the Zionists.

"But the money myth has been exploded; and legal control of raw materials is essential to the pursuit of the policy to a final and successful issue . . ."

In his book, "What Price Israel?" which caused him to be smeared viciously by the Zionists, the American Jew Alfred Lilienthal provides a detailed and carefully documented account of the manner in which the Zionists deliberately used Jewish refugees from Europe as so much raw material to be forced into Palestine. The manner in which they were forced into Palestine clearly indicates that the creation of the Israeli State must not be regarded as an end in itself; it was, as Douglas said, a means to an end. The Jews forced into Palestine were regarded as expendable troops. Surely events have now demonstrated this for all to see. Surely it is most significant that the Zionists generally in America are at the moment not conducting a big campaign against the Eisenhower Administration because it is against the British and French, and because it is supporting Nasser, who is allegedly the bitter opponent of the Israelis?

However, whatever is the truth about the behind-the-scenes developments, and again I stress the fact that I am not dogmatic, the unrest provoked by the creation of the Israeli State has paved the way for the destruction of British power and prestige in the Middle East, and the entrance of Soviet forces. This means that control of the oil supplies of the Middle East

OUR POLICY

1. The support of all policies rooted in the Christian philosophy of freedom and based upon the Moral Law.
2. The preservation of Australia's sovereignty as a part of the British Empire and the exposure of all internal and external groups, which attack that sovereignty.
3. The preservation and extension of genuine local government.
4. The preservation and strengthening of all Constitutional safeguards for the purpose of protecting fundamental individual rights.

The encouragement of all activities designed to bring Governments under more effective control by the electors.
6. The preservation and extension of genuine free, competitive enterprise and private ownership, and opposition to all Monopoly, whether it be "private" or State.
7. The support of a financial policy which will (a) permit free enterprise to make available to all individuals an increasing standard of living and greater leisure for cultural pursuits, (b) result in no further increase to the community's indebtedness and the sound business practice of gradually reducing existing debt. Recognising that the basis of any sound economy is agriculture, the encouragement of agricultural policies, which will ensure the preservation and building up of soil fertility by organic farming and gardening; and the prevention of soil erosion and the protection of forests and watersheds.

LAST DAYS OF BRITISH EMPIRE?

will wreck the economy of the British and other Western European countries. Already petrol has been rationed, the price has been increased substantially, taxation and other controls are being intensified, and as unemployment develops as industry closes through lack of oil, the situation will become progressively ideal for the Communist conspiracy as outlined by Lenin. If the control of the oil of the Middle East passes to the Communists, Europe and Great Britain can only be "saved" by accepting oil from the Americans on the terms laid down by the Zionist policy makers. Whatever happens would mean the end of the British Empire as an independent and sovereign group of nations. The only hope of survival is for all Empire countries to pull together to defeat the common enemy. This can be done if the effort is made. And if the effort is made we can confidently expect that the patriotic groups amongst the American people would give the British every possible assistance. Already they are strongly criticising the Eisenhower Administration.

The British people everywhere are now faced with the greatest crisis in their long and glorious history. Only traditional British grit and a determination to face the Truth will see them through the trial ahead. Now is the time for all of us to intensify our efforts. Let us name the enemy, expose his strategy, and refuse to be driven from the field of battle while we are still able to fight. Perhaps only a miracle can now save us. But we do not deserve a miracle unless we earn it.

Anglican Bishops Spread Communist Propaganda

When the Chinese Communists permitted a group of Australian Anglican Bishops to visit Communist China we had no doubt that the Communists hoped to use these Church leaders as innocent dupes in their propaganda campaigns. Judging by the reported statements of the Bishop of Hobart and the Archbishop of Perth, the Communists must be delighted with their success.

These Church leaders inform the Australian people that there is complete freedom of religion in China, that tremendous progress is being made under the Communists, and that Australia should recognise the Chinese Communist Government. We notice with interest that the Bishops admit that they were "lavishly entertained."

It is amazing that any matured man could think that he could in a short visit to a country like China possibly discover the truth about anything. The Communists are experts at arranging conducted tours and in keeping visitors away from things they do not desire them to see. Large numbers of Christian clergy visited Soviet Russia during Stalin's dictatorship and came back to their own countries with stories which Stalin's fellow-gangster, Khrushchev, has since exploded as false with his famous denunciation of Stalin's numerous crimes. As far as we know, not one of these dupes has since had the decency to apologise for spreading false information.

We have no doubt that the Anglican Bishops saw plenty of evidence of vast industrial and other developmental activity in China. But in terming this activity progress without any qualification, these Churchmen merely demonstrate that they have succumbed to the very materialism, which they and their colleagues are so fond of denouncing. To the Christian, the only true progress is moral progress. Increasing the size of the tools of production does not necessarily mean that individual has increased freedom to make moral progress. Has the industrialisation of Communist China resulted in greater freedom for the Chinese individual? This is the fundamental question, which Churchmen should examine. The claim that there is complete freedom of religion in China is based upon the fact that the Bishops saw some Churches still open. The Bishops have merely repeated the false and misleading statements of the Anglican Chinese Bishop K. H. Ting, who in August of this year told the World Council of Churches, meeting in Communist-dominated Hungary, claimed that the Communist regime in China had come to power through the love of God! He also said that the Chinese Communist Constitution guaranteed freedom of religion, a statement repeated by the Anglican Bishops upon their return to Australia. The Constitution has not prevented thousands of Christian clergy from being killed, imprisoned or expelled from China. This fact is ignored by the Anglican Bishops.

Just what is meant by freedom of religion? A much more important question is, "Can the Christian Church fulfill its true purpose in Communist China?" We have no doubt that there are ministers preaching in Churches in Communist China, as there are ministers preaching in Churches in Soviet Russia. But can these ministers attack any Communist policy, which interferes with the God-given rights and dignity of the individual? If Christian ministers cannot uphold the cause of Truth and Freedom, they cannot be loyal to Christ. They are merely the tools of the anti-Christ and useful to delude visiting Churchmen. It is most distressing when Anglican Bishops allow themselves to be made the instruments of the Communist conspiracy against this country. We trust that members of the Anglican Church let those Bishops know that they look to them to uphold the cause of Christ, not that of His adversaries.

THE HIDDEN HAND

FREEMASONRY AND THE ANTI-CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT

By Rev. E. Cahill, S.J.

(15/3 posted)

This is one of the best books ever published on the connection between Freemasonry, Jewish International Finance and Communism, and is essential to a clear understanding of present-day affairs and the War against Christ. Fr. Cahill writes:

"The predominating influence of the Masonic Jews in Russian Communism and, indeed, in the whole modern socialistic movement is now commonly admitted."

He goes on to explain that behind national politics, behind professional politicians and showy ambassadors are "certain unpretentious, unknown men, high financiers, who are superior to the vain ephemeral politicians who imagine that they govern the world".

Writing on the PROTOCOLS OF THE LEARNED ELDERS OF ZION, Fr. Cahill says:

"The feature which gives these documents their peculiar interest, and which no amount of adverse criticism or of arguments against their genuineness can explain away, is the startling accuracy with which the recent developments of the anti-Christian and Masonic movement are described almost in detail. The documents were certainly published more than a quarter of a century ago. How is it that they seem to indicate or clearly foreshadow events and social developments, which have taken place during the last fifteen years; and to trace these phenomena to their causes? The obvious explanation would seem to be that the documents, whatever may have been their origin, are based upon accurate knowledge of the Masonic conspiracy; and that the revelations that they purport to contain of the aims and methods of the Masonic Jewish leaders are substantially true."

Fr. Cahill's book contains a wealth of information on the secret society known as the Illuminati whose rites are based upon the Jewish Cabala. He shows how Illuminati members have filtered into the high degrees of Freemasonry and so control the actions of thousands of men who do not understand the purposes for which they are being used.

And one thing is abundantly clear from the many documents quoted: the Communist Manual on Brain-washing, at present used to train specially chosen Communists in the art of DEGRADATION, is nothing more than the plan of the Illuminati brought up to date.

CATHOLIC PRIEST EXPOSES "HIDDEN POWER" BEHIND WORLD TURMOIL

The following are extracts from a recent brilliant sermon given by a Catholic priest from N.S.W. on the occasion of the day of special prayer for persecuted Christians in various parts of the world:

The special prayers and devotions today are meant to remind us of the dreadful plight of those millions under Communist domination, to urge us to pray that they will persevere to the end, and to warn us that what is their lot today may be ours tomorrow.

Since the beginning of the present century a hidden power has been working to bring about a World Police State, a State of complete slavery without Church, without Religion, without God. This plan is controlled not, as most people seem to think, from Moscow, but from New York. It was from New York that the Russian Revolution was financed in the first place. America lined up with Russia against England at Teheran, Yalta, and Potsdam, so much so that on one occasion Churchill complained to Roosevelt, "I think you are trying to do away with the British Empire." Since then the same planners by means of the United Nations, UNESCO, the World Bank, and all their other organisations, and now their demand for world control of Atomic Power, have slowly brought the possibility of World Government and World Slavery nearer and nearer. The Capitalism of the United States and the Communism of Soviet Russia are both being used for one and the same end.

In the meantime countries like our own are being prepared for this dreadful catastrophe and they are being prepared in accordance with the rules laid down by Karl Marx. And all Governments, whether Labour or Liberal, follow these rules because their experts and advisers are all trained in Laski's School for the spread of Socialism, the London School of Economics. Some of these rules are, Crippling Taxation, the centralisation of Credit, State ownership of the means of production and distribution, the necessity for full-time employment, and free, secular education for all. The reason for these rules is to concentrate more and more power in the hands of the government so that it will be easier for the World Planners to take over, while the ordinary individual is so occupied earning his daily bread that he has not the time to realise that his personal freedom is being taken away. And all the time the threat of war is kept over us because "only during war or under threat of war will countries embark on large scale planning." And now the latest technique to be used is Brainwashing. This system, by means of psychiatry, brain-operations, and drugs, one of which is fluorides in the Water Supply, will dehumanise and depersonalise us, will destroy our will to resist, and will make us the complete slaves of the Dictators. The Communist Manual of Instruction of Psychological Warfare states quite plainly for anyone who wishes to read it, "Shock treatment and surgery must become common and accepted. By these means and by the use of drugs we can alter forever the loyalty of a soldier, or a statesman, or a leader, or we can destroy his mind."

So far there is one big obstacle in the way of the World Planners, and this is the British Commonwealth of Nations. That is why since the war there has been a determined effort to destroy British influence and British prestige everywhere. Unfortunately British leaders, knowingly or in ignorance, have willingly cooperated in their own destruction. Probably the worst offender in this matter, and the most cowardly, is the present leader, Sir Anthony Eden. The latest betrayal and surrender to the World Planners is in Egypt. The British should never have left the Suez Canal Zone. Now that they have gone back there it should be, not as the spearhead of an Israeli attack on Egypt, but to establish strong and permanent bases for their own and our interests. I know that we don't want war; nobody in his right senses does. But the time is fast approaching when the only alternative to war will be a tyrannical and worldwide slavery such as has never been known since the creation of man.

These few words may seem strange for a Sunday morning sermon but I know you will forgive me because this is the only opportunity I have of telling you the truth. This is the only opportunity I have of warning you about those who really control the destinies of the world. Pope Pius XI said, "No one dare breathe against the will of those who hold and control money . . . Those, very few in number . . . are in great part the cause of so much woe." You will not find these facts in the newspapers because, as Sir Reginald Rowe says, if they dared publish the truth they would immediately be put out of action "by a twist of the credit screw." I have not the time to elaborate on the points that I have raised but I hope that I have succeeded in really frightening you into a realization of the terrible danger we are in. Australia is in greater danger now than when the Japanese were shelling her shores.

"BRAIN-WASHING"

Secret Communist Textbook

(4/3 post free)

This synthesis of the Communist manual on brainwashing is one of the most shocking documents ever made available on the worldwide conspiracy against Christianity. The manual is used to train secretly chosen Communists in psycho-politics, which is defined as "the art and science of asserting and maintaining dominion over the thoughts and loyalties of individuals, officers, bureaus, and masses, and the effecting of the conquest of enemy nations through 'mental healing'." In other words, the aim of psycho-politics is TOTAL DEGRADATION of all people, except the "Chosen Few" of the world bureaucracy who will rule over the rest.

The lectures instruct Communists in the corruption of youth and the exploitation of immorality; they explain to "operators" how to hold sane people in insane asylums without civil rights; how to use the frightful electric shock treatment and brain operations for Communist ends. And an introductory chapter to this book, written by Mr. Eric D. Butler, shows that all these vile arts and sciences are being used, HERE AND NOW, and that a certain type of psychiatry is nothing more than a disguised agency for World Communism.

This terrifying document, whose authenticity has been tested by enquiries in many parts of the world, displays an almost superhuman and devilish insight into the foibles and weaknesses of human beings. It boasts of how income tax was slipped into capitalist countries many years ago as a means towards their ultimate destruction; it shows "operators" how capitalist countries, given over to materialism, will co-operate eagerly in their own downfall.

"The Capitalist does not know the definition of war. He thinks of war as attack with force performed by soldiers and machines. He does not know that a more effective if somewhat longer war can be fought with bread or, in our case, with drugs and the wisdom of our art." It is important that Christians do all in their power to get copies of this hair-raising book into the hands of as many Australians as possible, as quickly as possible.

A Temporary Respite From The Battle

Even the most dedicated and militant soldiers must periodically withdraw from the field of battle in order to refresh, themselves for further efforts. In the type of warfare in which we are engaged it is most essential that we all have a temporary respite in order that we may review in quiet our efforts of the past twelve months. And through contemplation comes a deeper understanding of the issues we are concerned about.

As Major Douglas stressed so strongly in his latter writings, we are engaged in a battle for Christianity. We are concerned with defending in all spheres that Truth which Christ promised would make us free. And because we uphold the cause of Truth in all spheres, we understand better than most that the fundamental battle-line cuts right across the geographical and other boundaries, which are generally accepted as the real divisions between individuals. We understand that the Communist philosophy manifests itself among some clergy of the Christian Church as well as amongst dedicated members of the Communist Party. We see appalling evidence of the impact of Judaism, the very antithesis of Christianity, in every Christian Church. The enemies of freedom are to be found in every section of society.

During this year we engaged in the most vigorous campaigning in our whole history, campaigning which showed conclusively that it is only by concerning ourselves with the fundamental issues, and by refusing to compromise, that we have any chance whatever of making an effective and real contribution to the cause of Christendom. When the Christian Campaign for Freedom was launched in England by Mr. John Mitchell, we felt convinced that here was a fundamental development which Major Douglas had indicated was urgently necessary. In all our activities over the past twelve months, we have devoted the major portion of our resources to furthering this development.

Some, of course, have stood aside from the Christian Campaign for Freedom because they felt that it was futile. But the record shows that where supporters have set about approaching the Christian clergy and insisted that the Church must concern itself about upholding the cause of Truth in all spheres, including the political and the economic, there has been an encouraging response.

We are satisfied now from actual experience that this response will grow rapidly if only sufficient supporters dedicate themselves to this field of activity in the coming year. Our biggest battles are yet to come, and they will only be won if we apply the right strategy and tactics. We trust that over the Christmas break all supporters will, during the temporary respite from battle, think on these fundamental matters in order that they may be better campaigners in 1957.

Social Credit Barbecue

We are pleased to announce that the annual Social Credit barbecue will be held at Mr. W. J. Carruther's property, Ringwood, on Saturday, February 9. THE BRITISH SCENE - IV

By MARY H. GRAY

Man's Inhumanity to Man

It is impossible to view the British scene with equanimity as in normal conditions while national feeling is engulfed in a tidal wave of horror and revulsion from the violent eruptions in Hungary and shaken by fear of war from events in the Middle East.

The savagery of the wholesale massacres—it is stated that 20,000 have already died in the fighting—the treachery of their oppressors, offering an amnesty and pretending to withdraw their tanks while continuing to send in thousands more, have shown to all the world in a lurid light the monstrous, vile thing that Communist rule really is, when the disguise of "peaceful co-existence" has been thrown aside.

It has also shown that, to bring about a spontaneous, unorganised uprising of an entire population of millions the cruelties and barbarities endured must have been unspeakable. The heart-rending calls to the "free world" for help while the patriots still held a radio voice were piteous to hear. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn."

What did the "free world" do to succour them? Nothing. Truth to tell, there was little it could do, short of risking a large-scale war, save what the Red Cross agencies are doing. For, despite the U.N. Assembly, NATO and all the talk, to offend Russia, it seems, is not to be thought of.

One direct result of the Soviet wolves abandoning the sheep's clothing is a general running for cover of the home-grown Communists. They are "shocked" at the atrocities, the mass deportations. Communist leaders of some Trade Unions have resigned. Likewise some of the DAILY WORKER staff. The British Soviet Friendship League has cancelled 40 of their meetings this month. Just as if they had never before heard of the Russian slave camps where millions of innocents have perished!

America, conveniently preoccupied with elections, made the appropriate gesture of censuring the criminals, but had time, nevertheless, to look over its shoulder at what Britain and France were doing in Egypt and tell them to stop; the U.S. had not sanctioned it.

When the news broke that Britain had sent paratroops to destroy military positions in Egypt, my! what a flutter in the dovecot at Westminster! The Opposition, led by Gaitskell, had the time of their lives in a hectic debate. No accusation mean enough to throw at the Government; no distortion of facts barred. They almost outdid Moscow.

SUEZ ANOMALY

In vain the Prime Minister pointed out that Britain had intervened solely to separate the antagonists, Israel and Egypt, though carefully omitting to mention that it was Israel who had invaded Egypt and was therefore the aggressor, and without explaining why our forces were attacking

Egypt exclusively while allowing the Israeli army to career at will over the whole Sinai Peninsula and, in the by going, to annex the Gaza strip, that bone of contention between Israel and Egypt where 200,000 Arab refugees still, after eight years' exile, eke out a miserable existence.

All along, Labour leaders have been demanding British help for Israel, yet when Israel is thus allowed to go scot-free they still persist in attacking Government policy — proof of their insincerity.

Although it is purposely ignored, we all know what brought on the latest intransigence of Nasser; the withdrawal by "America" and then by "Britain" of their promise to help finance the Aswan Dam project. Nasser reacted as required. This was no doubt Number One move by the Invisible Hand on the conspirators' chessboard.

Although the "British" Government had, not long before, yielded up the Canal without a murmur and cheerfully evacuated to the last soldier, even leaving behind stores and much material, yet when Nasser nationalised the Canal — a proceeding of little significance by comparison — it suddenly became a major issue; this was a kick in the pants which no self-respecting Briton could stand! (Or so we were led to believe).

THE BIG PUSH

The real kick (from behind) was administered from another quarter. And so to Number Two move on the chessboard.

Israel decided to attack Egypt and had already, in fact, advanced into Egyptian territory; Britain was required to do her stuff in support. Why, otherwise, was Israel allowed a free hand to annex the Gaza strip and nearly all Egypt east of the Canal?

These were but preliminary moves, however, toward the ultimate objective. Number Three move soon emerged from the welter of argument as the proposal, first voiced by the mouthpiece, Lester Pearson, a One-Worlder, to set up an international police force to "protect" the Canal. Here ended the first round in the struggle for world domination — a walkover for the enemy.

Whether or not the Lions of Judah return to their lair -- their objective assured — Zionism, World Jewry — it's all the same — has gained an outstanding success, the beginnings of a World Police Force to serve the World Government in subduing the whole of mankind to its domination.

An Introduction To Social Credit

By Bryan W. Monahan

This excellent book is specially recommended to those who desire a clearly written, but authoritative introduction to the subject of Social Credit. Dr. Bryan Monahan is Chairman of the Social Credit Secretariat, a body established by the late Major C. H. Douglas.

Social Credit concerns much more than monetary reform, which was one of the reasons why Major Douglas established the Social Credit Secretariat. Dr. Monahan writes: "Social Credit is a way of looking at things, a point of view that seems to bring every branch of knowledge into a new and more clear perspective. Equally, all knowledge is relevant to Social Credit."

"An Introduction To Social Credit" is divided into four parts: Physics, Economics, Politics and Metaphysics. The chapter on physics shows how increasing leisure and security for every individual are physically possible. The author writes: "Clearly, only either leisure, or 'unemployment' outside production can dispose of the 'unemployment problem'. The problems of economics and politics are absolutely conditioned by the physical realities described: short of sabotage or cataclysm, the progress of the situation is inexorable..."

After dealing simply but comprehensively with the Social Credit A — B theorem in the chapter on Economics, Dr. Monahan points out that the emphasis in Social Credit has passed from purely technical considerations to the subject of credit control and policy. This leads naturally to an examination of the policy of Social Credit and the Christian philosophy from which it stems, as compared with the various totalitarian policies based upon an anti-Christian philosophy.

Dr. Monahan's book is well produced, has a comprehensive index, and contains two appendices: one giving Douglas's analysis of the financing of a long-term production cycle in order to present a simple and convenient formal proof of the Social Credit theorem, and the other outlining the reasons for the establishment of the Social Credit Secretariat.

"An Introduction To Social Credit" is obtainable from New Times Ltd., Box 1226L, G.P.O., Melbourne. Price 5/5. post free.

THE BRITISH SCENE

Presently a clamour arose, as with one accord, from the many organisations agitating for a revision of the United Nations Charter to transform it into a world government. The formation of the I.P.F. was what they had been waiting for. A World Government lacking a Police Force had no "teeth," they complained. The "teeth" have now arrived on the scene, a raggle-taggle, polyglot mob of "bits and pieces" from all over the globe.

Curiously enough, less than 24 hours after Mr. Selwyn Lloyd had announced the proposal for an international police force I was looking at a press photograph of some of the Norwegian contingent, in battle dress, all ready to be shipped away! Who says it was not all pre-arranged? Another picture, suggestive of a "phoney war," showed British soldiers playing a game of football with Egyptians in a street in Port Said.

There is talk of our forces being released from doing the menial work, the mopping-up operations — if one can mop up the contents of a blocked canal. Babel will now do the job.

Why — oh why — could not the British forces have sat tight once they were there, where they have every right to be and should never have left? That would have been in keeping with British tradition and would have earned respect from the entire Arab world looking on.

EXPLOITING THE SITUATION

While the built-up opposition to the Eden policy was at its height a disgraceful scene was enacted in the heart of London. A wild mob of thousands tried to force their way into 10 Downing Street where a meeting of Ministers was going on. Their entrance was barred by rows of foot and mounted police, estimated at 50 or 60, the biggest mounted police force ever used in Whitehall and described by an officer of 20 years' service as "one of the most difficult mobs with which we have ever had to deal."

At least six policemen were injured, one being dragged from his horse. The riot lasted an hour and a half. Ambulances even a fire engine failed to disperse the crowd. Some 25 arrests were made. The frenzied mob was Communist without a doubt, but I wonder if so fierce an attack on our unarmed police was a little bit of practice for THE DAY — the Revolution?

There are signs that Harold Macmillan is about to seize the opportunity to bring back economic restrictions — even to wartime austerity. The Planners, always lurking in the offing, spring to their places as soon as rationing is mentioned. Anything does for an excuse.

What is to follow now? Will Israel remain satisfied with her conquests? How long will Egypt tolerate the raggle-taggle army? Who knows?

CATHOLIC PRIEST EXPOSES HIDDEN POWER

Knowing the situation you will want to do something. And what can be done? The first thing for all of us is to know and to live our religion better than ever before. This means, as Hamish Fraser, the great English convert from Communism, says, living in strict obedience to the Social teachings of the Pope as well as in strict obedience to the Ten Commandments. He says the problem today is not a political or economic one, but a spiritual one, and the world will only be saved by a return to religion and to Jesus Christ. In our own country we must do all in our power to prevent Governments and Bureaucrats from acquiring more power. We must agitate for the de-centralisation of power and for the breaking of the International Monopoly of Credit; and we must keep a constant watch on all our Political and Industrial leaders. In the International field we must stand by Britain, preserve the unity of the British Commonwealth of Nations, and uphold our Christian traditions and our Christian way of life. Our task will be a long and difficult one. It is a fight against the "principalities and powers" spoken of by St. Paul; fight against the very demons of hell.

'The Kingdom of God'

Albert Schweitzer, in an epilogue to 'The Theology of Albert Schweitzer', by E. N. Mozley.

The modern view of the Kingdom of God and its coming creates a spiritual situation comparable with that of Jesus and his little flock and of the early Church. Again, after many centuries, the Kingdom of God has become a live question. Again mankind as a whole is changing its mind as to what it really means.

Modern faith finds the beginning of the Kingdom of God in Jesus and in the Spirit, which came into the world with Him. We no longer leave the fate of mankind to be decided at the end of the world. The time in which we live summons us to new faith in the Kingdom of God.

We are no longer content, like the generations before us, to believe in the Kingdom that comes of itself at the end of time. Mankind today must either realise the Kingdom of God or perish. The very tragedy of our present situation compels us to devote ourselves in faith to its realisation.

We are at the beginning of the end of the human race. The question before it is whether it will use for beneficial purposes or for purposes of destruction the power which modern science has placed in its hands. So long as its capacity for destruction was limited, it was possible to hope that reason would set a limit to disaster. Such an illusion is impossible today, when its power is illimitable. Our only hope is that the Spirit of God will strive with the spirit of the world and will prevail.

The last petition of the Lord's Prayer has again its original meaning for us as a prayer for deliverance from the dominion of the evil powers of the world. These are no less real to us as working in men's minds, instead of being embodied in angelic beings opposed to God. The first believers set their hope solely upon the Kingdom of God in expectation of the end of the world; we do it in expectation of the end of the human race.

The Spirit shows us the signs of the time and their meaning.

Belief in the Kingdom of God makes the biggest demands of all the articles of the Christian faith. It means believing the seemingly impossible—the conquest of the spirit of the world by the Spirit of God. We look with confidence for the miracle to be wrought through the Spirit.

The miracle must happen in us before it can happen in the world. We dare not set our hope on our own efforts to create the conditions of God's Kingdom in the world. We must indeed labour for its realisation. But there can be no Kingdom of God in the world without the Kingdom of God in our hearts. The starting-point is our determined effort to bring every thought and action under the sway of the Kingdom of God. Nothing can be achieved without inwardness. The Spirit of God will only strive against the spirit of the world when it has won its victory over that spirit in our hearts.

"Whose Service is Perfect Freedom"

By C. H. Douglas.

Price 7/9 -- Post Free.

It has been stated that this work by the late C. H. Douglas was one of his favourite pieces of writing. Publication first started in "The Social Creditor" of June 3, 1939, and when the twenty-first chapter appeared in "The Social Creditor" of April 29, 1940, the words "To be continued" indicated that Douglas had not completed the work.

In a foreword to "Whose Service is Perfect Freedom", Dr. Tudor Jones states that it was Douglas's intention to write a final chapter, presumably on the necessary strategy to deal with the situation as Douglas saw it at that time.

Every person desirous of understanding how the present plight of the world was produced must read this book. Douglas observes that "it has become clear to me that the difficulties which confront the world's miserable struggles towards sanity, are not in the main intellectual difficulties; they are almost wholly problems of de-hypnotisation

HOW RED IS THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT?

The answer to this question is to be found, in part, in Elizabeth Churchill Brown's new book "THE ENEMY AT HIS BACK" which has just been published in the United States. The answer, and the facts which support this answer, do not make very pleasant reading for those who support the Christian way of life.

It is clear beyond doubt from this important publication, with its devastating facts, that there are Communists still holding key positions in the American Government, who are able to erect an impenetrable Iron Curtain whenever some investigator begins to probe after them.

In this book Elizabeth Churchill Brown documents every step she takes. She quotes from Congressional Hearings; from government reports and memorandums; from biographies and private letters; and what emerges is the story of a great nation eaten from within — with its vital insides eaten away by Communists, to a stage where American armies, fighting for their lives, can be deprived of supplies by their own government; where members of Congress seeking answers to important questions can be told, in language hardly less blunt, to go jump in the Potomac River.

All this sounds incredible and yet all these things have happened in recent years. Congressman Francis E. Walter, Chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities, says of Elizabeth Brown's book that it "picks up the Communist line in Moscow and follows it to the United States assembly line of Communists, fellow-travellers and dupes in our government. For the first time the American public will have a clear-inside view of how Communist strategy influenced U.S. policies."

Zionism and the Arabs

The decent, responsible and friendly Arabs have been thrown into the arms of the Egyptian politicians by Great Britain's support of Zionism, by the numerous injustices perpetrated at the bidding of oil magnates and Churchill's fantastic introduction of "police bombing" from the air, which, while wholly ineffective, has caused the deaths of many inoffensive people. Where there used to be confidence and respect, politicians have produced distrust and contempt.

Although definite evidence is not yet available, one could readily believe that Nasser's nationalisation of the Canal Company was prompted, directly or indirectly, and perhaps without his knowing it, by the agents of Zionist international finance. Such agents might be at the same time agents of the Soviet Government, which was established and has been maintained by international finance based upon New York.

One does not know the exact nature of the influence brought to bear upon the man Eden, but when the Canal crisis was about to develop Churchill had staying with him at his house in Kent the "great high priest" of Zionist finance in the person of Mr. Bernard Baruch, who has been his friend and mentor for many years. Because it must be largely due to Baruch's malign influence that Churchill has for long been known in the best informed of responsible circles as "the man who is always wrong," it does not follow that Eden is exempt from the same influence.

RED HAND ACROSS THE WATERFRONT

Although the Australian waterfront strike of January-February, 1956, is now generally regarded as past history, it provides a classic example of how the Communists exploit the legitimate economic grievances of the workers to further their own objectives.

"Red Hand Across The Waterfront", written by one of the best authorities on Communism in Australia today, should be closely studied by all those who desire to understand how the Australian Communists are applying Lenin's teachings on political strategy and tactics. The author of this important booklet shows how the waterfront strike was a major victory for the Communists. He shows how even the daily press and the radio capitulated to Communist tactics.

"Red Hand Across The Waterfront" is a most valuable weapon for those endeavouring to oppose Communism at the industrial level.

WHO BACKED COLUMBUS?

The historian Von Humboldt claimed that Columbus discovered America by accident while looking for a closer route to the gold areas of the East. This would suggest that his backers were bankers or 'front men' for bankers.

Von Humboldt's theory is given some support by material published by Arnold White in his book "The Modern Jew" (Heinemann, London, 1899). White claims that Columbus was given royal approval for his voyage only after strenuous intervention by two men of Jewish blood—Luis de San Angel, treasurer of the Royal House hold and Gabriel Sanchez, High Treasurer of Aragon. White quotes from a writer named Las Casas. He also produces the following statement, which he says is from an account-book found at Simancas:

"Paid to Luis de San Angel . . . 2,640,000 maravedis of which 1,500,000 is to be paid to Isaac Abraham for his loan to their highnesses for expenses of the war and for the amount he lent to pay for the caravels sent to the Indies and for Christopher Columbus who goes in the expedition."

PERJURER, TRAITOR, SCOUNDREL!

The Roosevelt Myth

By John T. Flynn

(44/- post free)

This is a revised and enlarged edition of John T. Flynn's famous book on Roosevelt which first appeared in 1948 and tore away the veil of falsehood which had until then almost completely obscured the real Roosevelt from public gaze.

Roosevelt perjured himself when he took oath to Uphold the U.S. Constitution. And his whole reign was in keeping with this perjury. He lied, he was mean and little; but more than that he was a catastrophe for Western Civilisation. As a well-known French writer said: If the West perishes, Franklin Roosevelt will have been its gravedigger!

This book is full of information, incredible, but true. Roosevelt, supremely confident of his own abilities, treated Stalin with the same perception and importance as his stamp collection.

This book is a "must" for anybody who wants to understand why the West is in its present lamentable predicament.

WITNESS

By Whittaker Chambers

Price 27/6, post free.

It was the evidence of ex-Communist secret agent, Whittaker Chambers, before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which caused top Communist espionage agent in the U.S.A., Alger Hiss, to be indicted and convicted on a charge of perjury. Not only the American people but many people in other countries were startled by the disclosure that the official who advised President Roosevelt, helped draft the disastrous Yalta Agreement in 1945, and who was the first Secretary-General of the United Nations Organisation, was a Communist agent.

Before being finally convicted, Alger Hiss, aided by some of the most influential people in America, fought back against Chambers, who was subjected to a whispering campaign described by one prominent American writer as "one of the most repellent in modern history". Chambers replies to this campaign in one of the most important autobiographies of our times. Not only does this book deal exhaustively with the Hiss-Chambers battle before the Committee on Un-American Activities and the Courts; it is a moving human document which explains how Chambers first became a Communist, his work in the secret Communist apparatus, how he met Alger Hiss and worked with him, and how eventually he came to repudiate Communism.

Near the conclusion of his book, Chambers makes one of the most important observations yet made on the Hiss-Chambers case: "No feature of the Hiss case is more obvious, or more troubling as history, than the jagged fissure, which it did not so much open as reveal, between the plain men and women of the nation, and those who affected to act, think and speak for them. It was, not invariably, but in general, the 'best people' who were for Alger Hiss and who were prepared to go to almost any length to protect and defend him. It was the enlightened and the powerful, the clamorous proponents of the open-mind and the common man, who kept their minds shut in a pro-Hiss psychosis, of a kind which, in an individual patient, means the simple failure of the ability to distinguish between reality and unreality, and, in a nation, is a warning of the end."

"Witness" must be read and studied by those who want to know the truth about Alger Hiss and his part in the Communist conspiracy in the U.S.A. Every student of Communism and international affairs must have this work on his shelves. No one with an unbiassed mind can read it without realising that Hiss was undoubtedly guilty of the charges made against him.

American Communists Back Water Fluoridation

The American Communists are now openly supporting water fluoridation. It was the Jewish Communist, Ana Pauker, the first Communist dictator in Rumania, who revealed that among the principal weapons which Communist agents would use to knock America to her knees would be the poisoning of city water supplies.

Charles Eliot Perkins, one of America's leading industrial chemists, has explained the effects of fluorides on the human brain and will power. In a letter to the Lee Foundation for Nutritional Research, dated October 2, 1954, Perkins stated:

"I have your letter of September 29 asking for further documentation regarding a statement made in my book 'The Truth About Water Fluoridation' to the effect that the idea of water fluoridation was brought to England from Russia by the Russian Communist Kreminoff.

"In the 1930's Hitler and the German Nazis envisioned a world to be dominated and controlled by the Nazi philosophy of pan-Germanism . . .

"The German chemists worked out a very ingenious and far-reaching plan of mass control, which was submitted to and adopted by the German General Staff. This plan was to control the population in any given area through mass medication of drinking water supplies. By this method they could control the population of whole areas, reduce populations by water medication that would produce sterility in the women, and so on. In this scheme of mass control, sodium fluoride occupied a prominent place.

"We are told by the fanatical ideologists who are advocating the fluoridation of water supplies in this country that their purpose is to reduce the incidence of tooth decay in children, and it is the plausibility of this excuse, plus the gullibility of the public and the cupidity of public officials that is responsible for the present spread of artificial water fluorination in this country.

"However—and I want to make this very definite and very positive—the real reason behind water fluorination is not to benefit children's teeth. If this were the real reason there are many ways in which it could be done that are much easier, cheaper and far more effective. The real purpose behind water fluorination is to reduce the resistance of the masses to domination and control and loss of liberty . . .

"In the rear occiput of the left lobe of the brain there is a small area of brain tissue that is responsible for the individual's power to resist domination. Repeated doses of infinitesimal amounts of fluorine will in time gradually reduce the individual's power to resist domination by slowly poisoning and narcotizing this area of brain tissue and make him submissive to the will of those who wish to govern him . . .

"When the Nazis, under Hitler, decided to go into Poland . . . the German General Staff and the Russian General Staff exchanged scientific and military ideas, plans and personnel, and the scheme of mass control through water medication was seized upon by the Russian Communists because it fitted ideally into their plan to communize the world . . .

"I was told of this entire scheme by a German chemist who was an official of the great Farben chemical industries and was also prominent in the Nazi movement at the time . . .

"I say this with all of the earnestness and sincerity of a scientist who has spent nearly 20 years' research into the chemistry, biochemistry, physiology and pathology of fluorine—any person who drinks artificially fluorinated water for a period of one year or more will never again be the same person, mentally or physically."

THE MEDICAL PROFESSION LOOKS AT COMPOSTING

Reprinted from "THE MEDICAL JOURNAL OF AUSTRALIA"

The use of wastes, particularly human and animal excreta, has, from very ancient times, been associated with the improvement of soil fertility, and indeed has been a major factor contributing to the survival of some of the ancient civilisations. With this has been associated disease in man, particularly intestinal disease. The older methods, still in use in many countries, were very unsanitary, and in areas where night-soil is commonly used as fertilizer, it is not unusual to find more than 90 percent of the human population infested with one or more of the several intestinal parasites—bacterial, amoebic or helminthes.

Community and human wastes are of undoubted value as fertilizers, but safe and sanitary methods must be evolved for their use. Composting, properly controlled, is such a method. The art of composting is very old, but it is only in recent years that intensive scientific studies have made clear the underlying biological and chemical processes involved. Modern methods of composting were first suggested in India by Sir Albert Howard about thirty years ago. The World Health Organisation is interested in the maintenance of soil fertility, provided the methods used are consistent with acceptable standards of public health. W.H.O. commissioned H. Gotaas, Professor of Sanitary Engineering at the University of California, a man who has done considerable research on composting and has advised on the erection and running of plants in many parts of the world, to prepare a comprehensive report on composting, particularly from the sanitary disposal point of view. The result is a book of 205 pages called "Composting: Sanitary Disposal and Reclamation of Organic Wastes." While the stress is largely on the sanitary aspect, other aspects are treated adequately and the result is a work that can be read with profit and interest by any intelligent person. Much of what has been written on composting consists largely of magic, mystery and mumbo-jumbo, but this book is thoroughly scientific.

Composting of organic waste materials can be carried out aerobically, anaerobically, or by a mixture of the two. In these processes bacteria, fungi, moulds and other aprotrophic organisms use the organic material for food and convert it into more stable forms. The waste material used may be animal and human excreta, vegetable matter such as weeds, clippings, et cetera, household refuse, organic industrial wastes or any mixture of these. In the aerobic process organisms, using oxygen, feed upon the organic matter, using nitrogen, phosphorous, and some of the carbon and other elements to make cell protoplasm. About two thirds of the carbon in the original material passes off as carbon dioxide; the rest is largely combined with nitrogen. When ample oxygen is available there are no smells. A great deal of energy is set free in the form of heat during the conversion of combined carbon to carbon dioxide. The interior of a pile of decomposing material may rise to over 70° C. When the temperatures over 45°C. are reached thermophilic bacteria take over. The temperatures reached under these conditions rapidly kill pathogenic organisms, worm eggs and weed seeds. Aerobic decomposition or composting can be carried out in silo digesters, pits, bins, stacks or piles, or in special apparatus if adequate oxygen is supplied. This can be obtained by frequent turning. In anaerobic composting putrefactive breakdown of organic material takes place. The waste carbon here is mainly converted to methane with some carbon dioxide. This is the sort of fermentation, which takes place in a marsh. There are always objectionable odours produced by such substances as hydrogen sulphide and mercaptans. Very little heat is engendered in this process — a disadvantage for the killing of pathogens. Given time, these are destroyed, but only after some months. Weed seeds and helminthe eggs are not all destroyed. In the mixed aerobic-anaerobic process the material, usually in a pile or pit, is turned at infrequent intervals. This is the commonest process, particularly in composting on a small scale, and is effective, but takes longer than the aerobic method. In an aerated digester or when piles are turned frequently the composting process is complete in three days to three weeks, when the piles are turned infrequently in up to six weeks, and when the piles are not turned in from four to six months. Ascaris eggs seem to be the most difficult to kill, but three turns of a pile in thirty-six days killed all ascaris eggs.

The case for the use of composting as to destroy pathogenic organisms with consequent great improvement in health, particularly in smaller communities, seems to have been well made out. The other aspect of composting is the improved nutrition, which can be obtained when the wastes, in more acceptable form, are returned to agricultural land to provide plant nutrients. Waste organic materials come in the long run from vegetation, and contain nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium and trace elements — all necessary for continued fertility of the soil. Compost, properly prepared, puts these elements back into the soil. The physical properties of humus and the organic material left in the ripened compost are of great importance in the soil. Soil fertility depends on soil structure as well as on nutrients. The humus increases the degree of aggregation of soil particles and so increases the water retention capacity of the soil, and also encourages the more extensive development of the root system of plants. The nitrogen present in the compost is largely in bacterial protoplasm, and as the bacteria die in the soil the nitrogen is gradually set free for the plants. The aggregation of the soil particles is brought about by cellulose esters (cellulose acetate, methyl cellulose and ethyl cellulose). These factors are sufficient to explain the value of compost in improving the fertility of soil, and there is no need to look for mystical or magic properties, hormones and the like. The author shows that the addition of much-advertised inocula or activators to compost in the making serves no useful purpose, and millions of tons of compost are made successfully all over the world without any additions.

A considerable part of the book is taken up by description of plants used by various public bodies throughout the world for composting various types of organic wastes. Details are also given of small-scale methods for individuals or small communities. The author points out that in assessing the cost of composting the public body must consider that it has to get rid of the waste material somehow, and the cost of incineration or other methods should be considered. Many hundreds of municipalities or other public bodies all over the world are disposing of their waste material at a profit by composting. The largest scheme of the kind in New South Wales seems to be at Canterbury, near Sydney, and is apparently very successful.

The author has made a very good case for the utilisation of waste organic materials for composting as a means of reducing human infections and for the improvement of fertility of the soil for agriculture.

TRAGEDY IN MISSOURI

Under this title Mr. Leonard Wickenden narrates an unexpected and very extraordinary story from Missouri. It was first noticed that three succeeding drought years produced forage toxic to ruminant animals. The corn (maize) became so poor that it was left to be eaten by the herds. In most instances several of the best cows were found either dead or very sick, subsequently dying by the fifth day, Veterinary science was baffled. Several owners lost all animals, and the total loss amounted to between 500 and 1000 in Missouri, and to several thousands if the damage done also in Illinois and as far north as Wisconsin is reckoned in.

Equally disastrous effects were observed when the crop was siloed. A type of fermentation seems to have taken place, which gave off fuming gases in the form of mixed oxides of nitrogen. The Professor of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Missouri reports on his personal experiences during the catastrophe. There was loss not only of animal, but also of human life, and something like near panic created. Further information mentions the death of three farmers and the very serious illness of three others. The poisonous juice running from a silo into a pond several hundred feet away killed all fish.

The poisonous fumes and liquid were all highly nitrogenous. A research group, after careful investigation, reached the "tentative" conclusion that the trouble may have resulted from the use of inorganic nitrogen supplements. It appears that there has been a very large expenditure on nitrogenous fertilizers in the affected districts.

The information was gathered from various reports, including the report of the Missouri Professor referred to, from the public press, and from a number of correspondents.

BACK TO REALITY

By Gustave Thibon

This book, by one of the most original and provocative thinkers in France today, has been described by Mr. John Mitchell, founder of the Christian Campaign for Freedom, as representing "a rebirth of Christian thought in France, the importance of which it would be difficult to exaggerate."

Thibon's appeal is for realism in social and political thinking. In particular, his chapter "Christianity and The Democratic Mystique", provides some excellent examples of realistic thinking. He shows just how ridiculous it is to believe that freedom can be won by the mere recruiting of political power. In his Foreword Thibon writes, "I am relentlessly opposed to the law of numbers and the power of the masses." He points out that the abstraction of the political vote is not a genuine substitute for economic independence. Food is much more important to a starving man than the "right" to place a mark on a ballot paper.

Thibon warns that not only freedom itself, but the taste for freedom, is dying. "The age of organisers and technocrats has begun. The human person, deprived of every living attachment, is not longer a member of an organism but a cog in a machine, a figure in a particular set of statistics. He has become an isolated slave amid a multitude of slaves.

"But the worst danger of all is that in losing his external freedoms man is losing the sense of freedom and even the taste for it. Slavery, it has been rightly said, is so degrading to men that it even brings them to like it . . ."

The author obviously agrees with the view of the late C. H. Douglas that individual integrity is the only thing, which can save the world. He writes: "Instead of trying to baptise the unbaptisable, it would perhaps be better for us Christians to try to realise fully the logical consequences of our baptism and our Christianity. It is not our task to attract impurities but to make ourselves pure. The thing that is important is not to dally with caricatures but to show to the world the true image of Christ; not to compromise with false ideas hut always more and more to distinguish our own from them."

We can recommend this book, without necessarily agreeing with all points made by the author, to those engaged in the Christian Campaign for freedom. Price 21/-, post-free.

I TESTIFY

/ Testify, by Robert Edmondson (31/-, post free).

This is one of the most important Anti-Communist books ever written. It is the result of twenty years of intensive research. In 300 excellently detailed pages, Edmondson unmasks the origins, organizers and promoters of Communism-Socialism-Marxism in the United States and Europe, withholding no punches.

"I Testify" includes more than one hundred confessions "from the horse's mouth". The author shows that Jewish Communists and Socialists direct the Eisenhower Administration just as surely as they directed the Truman-Roosevelt regimes.

Within these pages the reader will find an exclusive diary-account of the flagrantly illegal procedures of the 1942-47 "Mass-Sedition" trial in Washington. This account tells of more than seven years of vile smears, persecution and court-prosecution of patriotic men and women by powerful Reds using the facilities of the American Federal Government.

Edmondson analyses and unveils the false face of "Anti-Semitism"; he quotes extensively to show that not only was Russian Bolshevik Communism established by Jews but that they still guide the Kremlin.

Before the Second World War millions of Americans were reading Edmondson's factual bulletins on Communism. He was considered so dangerous to the international usurers that a number of prominent Jews, including James Paul Warburg, approached him personally in an attempt to make him divert his energies into less fundamental aspects of the fight against Communism.
