The price of Freedom is eternal vigilance—

Vol. 23 No. 3

Registered by Australia Post — Publication No. VBH 0999

January 31st, 1986.

Thought for the Week: "The complete degradation of children is the aim and the ideal of humanist-based education as planned for imposition on the Christian democracies under the direction of United Nations authority.

"Nor will this be presented in the old classroom atmosphere that mature readers may recall from their own schooldays. Education has become indoctrination and is now a science that is turning to 'relaxation', 'imagery', 'suggestology-hypnosis', 'values clarification', 'role playing', and 'meditation', as part of its armoury for prising the resistance off the minds of the innocent."

Alan Gourley, in The Assault on Childhood (1985)

PROFESSOR GEOFFREY BLAINEY AGAIN SOUNDS THE ALARM: "Australia's emphasis on granting special rights to minority groups was threatening to cut the country into many tribes, Professor Geoffrey Blainey warned yesterday."

THE SUN (Melbourne) January 25th.

Professor Blainey stated in his Australia Day Dinner speech that Australia was a nation in decline, and that social cohesion is essential if a nation is to survive.

We have all witnessed huge "Greek" festivals, and other ethnic festivals. The point we make is that these are not "Australian" festivals - in which all Australians can share and participate. We recall with some dismay, the erstwhile Commissioner for Community Relations, Mr. Al Grassby, whose clap-trap about "the family of the nation" assaulted our ears for many years. He was quite proud of his expression. All the multiracialism in the world does not make a family: rather the reverse - it divides the family.

So Geoffrey Blainey is correct: Australia is becoming "tribalised". He warned of the Bill of Rights by means of a reference -to it and the Frankenstein it will erect, viz. The Human Rights & Equal Opportunities Commission; which sounds dandy, until it is examined, line by line, with a lawyer's inquiry for detail.

He said: "There is a Human Rights Commission in Canberra which will become very powerful unless we are alert" "and there is a Bill before Federal Parliament with the grand, all-pervading title of Bill of Rights." He warned that we are in danger of losing the freedoms Australians have traditionally taken for granted.

Nothing could be plainer: Professor Blainey sees that the Bill of Rights is a sly "con" to carry out the reverse of its high-sounding title. But Professor Blainey will draw more attacks from the Socialist/ Humanist ideologues, in particular, who attack the credibility of any who question their "religion". The intellectually bankrupt and/or the intellectually dishonest most often resort to "playing the man, rather than the ball".

We might mention here that beneath The Week-end Australian (January 25th -26th) report of Geoffrey Blainey's speech was the published result of a poll on the Australian Flag, which finds:

"Two years before the Bi-centenary most adult Australians do not want the national Flag changed.

"A Newspoll survey ... shows that 2 out of 3 adult Australians believe that Australian Flag should never be changed. Of those who wanted change, the vast majority (72%) wanted the Union Jack omitted from a new flag. Are we surprised? No, we are not.

Here's something! "Better educated people were more inclined to have the Flag changed". Are we surprised? No, we are not.

All that this means to us is that modern "education" has had its erosive effects.

CLAP-TRAP FROM CANBERRA PROPAGANDA SHEET: We made reference, in last week's On Target (January 24th) to Government in Focus (Vol. 2 No. 11), concerning "a constitutionally entrenched Bill of Rights. We'll wager that Senator Gareth Evans is up to his eyeballs in this!

Continuing the clap-trap (what sort of journalistic hacks does the Hawke Government engage to write this bilge?) Where does it find them. No doubt they'll write anything for a price. We recall that Napoleon remarked that "every man has his price". But Napoleon went further. He added that what staggered him was how low it was!

Listen to this: "... the common law does not offer clear or wideranging statements of an individual's freedoms and liberties; at best, after satisfying procedural matters (whatever that means!) the common law offers remedies in a haphazard and incidental way. The common law provides no guarantees of such rights as the rights of freedom of expression, movement or peaceful assembly, or the right to a speedy trial, legal aid or many other rights in the administration of criminal justice." And so on, and on.

The common law, in general, lays down what the individual can not do. Generally, as common law is woven around the Christian ethic, an individual is allowed freedom of action providing the rights of others are not infringed.

In 1986, in Australia, pre-Human Rights and Equal Opportunities Commission, we still have the rights mentioned above. We have little confidence that we shall still have these rights IF the H.R.E.O.C. is established, with a full set of teeth. The sly trick of the Bill of Rights "con" is to specify what "rights" the individual has. Then, rights not specified are no longer rights. This is the reverse of Common Law, and is, in fact, an attack upon Christianity, as the Christian ethic is woven into Common Law!

The Australian Democrats ("Chippocrats") now hold the key to the fate of the Bill of Rights. Don Chipp is a political realist, if nothing else. He is a shrewd, experienced, politician. If he can be shown (if not already the case) that the new Senate quotas for proportional representation will require his Party to actually increase their electoral standing to hold their present position, and, the campaign against the Bill of Rights can be stepped up, then Don Chipp will closely examine the writing on the wall, and the Bill of Rights will be defeated. This will upset Senator Janine Haines, "Chippocrat" senator for South Australia, whose complaint against the Bill of Rights legislation is that "it doesn't go far enough"! Mark these words - a defeat of the Bill of Rights legislation now coming up, will be a serious blow to the enemies of our Christian civilisation. We can do it again. We have virtually knocked out the Enemy's Land Rights "weapon", right out of his hands. Hence the Enemy's response with an Anti-South African campaign, turned up to screaming point. If we can knock out the Bill of Rights, there will be another frenzied response. But we must accept that, for the fight to the death between the forces of light, and the forces of darkness has been joined. We know what side we are on.

BRIEF COMMENTS: The former New South Wales Chief Stipendiary Magistrate, Mr. Murray Farquhar, upon being released from jail recently after serving 10 months of a four-year sentence, said that his time in Long Bay had made him realise the great value of freedom. "I don't think people realise how precious freedom is until they lose it", he said. How true, as the millions of victims of totalitarianism can testify. But if Australians do not defend the freedoms they still possess, they will lose them. The most immediate threat is the Bill of "Rights".

Our Canadian contemporary, On Target, (January 6th) comments that "The iron hand of censorship continues to push Canadians down the road of totalitarianism. Two Toronto men were convicted last month of promoting hatred against non-white people. Donald Andrews and Robert Smith were sentenced to jail terms of 12 and 7 months respectively. One suggestion is the accused's literature singled out by Judge Edward Wren was promoting hatred was that repatriation of blacks to their homeland might contribute to a solution to our growing racial problem."

If British M.P., Mr. Enoch Powell, lived in Canada, he would be liable to prosecution and imprisonment! Across the Tasman Mr. Bill Daly, National Director of the New Zealand League of Rights, is now being pressured to stop selling certain books, one of these being "The Hoax of the Twentieth Century", also banned in Canada. Mr. Daly is threatened with the secret courts which operate under the guise of Human "Rights" Commissions. Australians should take note, and act, before they also feel the lash of the totalitarians.

Hi-Tech and automation are catching up with the Soviets, and this will be bad news for the Politburo, unless they can funnel the displaced workers (those beloved "toiling masses") into fruitful employment (for the sake of the Politburo).

The Soviet Constitution (which has a Bill of Rights "enshrined" in it) guarantees the "right" to work, with almost religious zeal. Communism is a religion.

So while Mr. Gorbachev sets about the modernisation of Soviet industry and commerce, the problems spin off for the Soviet bureaucrats (and there are many more of them there, than here, back home,) the dire predictions are that many millions, as high as 20 million Soviet people, will be thrown out of a job. The Kremlin can easily fund their unemployment benefits: the "danger" of millions of people, with too much time on their hands - to think unacceptable thoughts - is just what the Kremlin would not want.

What has happened to Senator Durack's "Flag Amendment Bill" (1984)? The Bill laid down no change to our Flag without a referendum.

BASIC FUND AT RISK: Over the holiday period only 27 of our readers have contributed to the League's Annual Basic Fund, although these supporters contributed $3,261. The grand total now stands at $35,669, which leaves a balance of just over $14,000. If the rate of increase cannot be substantially increased immediately, then the Fund is at serious risk. With the threat of the Bill of "Rights" becoming law, paving the way for attacks on the League through the Human "Rights" Commission, adequate minimal funds for the League were never more desperately required. As the great majority of our readers have not yet contributed, there is no reason why the balance of the Fund cannot be found in short time. We appreciate the offers of further assistance from those who have already contributed, but they have already "done their bit", and their example should inspire others. No matter how small - or large! - YOUR contribution, send it in IMMEDIATELY, and keep faith with others. We must all pull together for the future of our nation.
