Vol. 24 No. 15

April 22nd., 1988.

Thought for the Week: "Australia was not a multi-racial country at the end of the 1939-45 war. After the war a plot was hatched to make it a multiracial country without the knowledge of the public and without approval by a properly constituted Referendum on such an important issue as this. Secrecy was to be the keynote of the plot (emphasis in original) - and in addition oft reported mis-statements of fact, namely that Australia had been from the first a multi-racial country. To cause further deception the word multi-culturalism was used instead of multi-racialism."

Dr. J.C.A.Dique, in Immigration: The Quiet Invasion (1985)

THE BARAMBAH BY-ELECTION: "The National Party plunged into catastrophe last night when it looked certain to lose its safest seat in Australia." - Sunday Press (Melbourne), April 17th.

Yet another reverse for the Australian "Labor" Party, of course, its vote was down 5% on figures for the last election for Barambah. So Mr. Goss, the Queensland A.L.P. Leader, can find no comfort for himself nor his Party.

The League's State Director for Queensland, Mr. Chas. Pinwill, advises us that the results of this by-election are by no means simplistic; the "Joh" factor was marked, as it was in the Federal Groom by-election held the week before. Mr. Pinwill sees a growing disillusionment of electors with political parties; really, ALL political parties - and that is borne out by the election (a formality, now, in Mr. Pinwill's view) of Mr. Trevor Perrett (Independent Citizens) ahead of the National Party's Mr. Warren Truss.

There is no doubt that Sir Joh is gunning for Sir Robert Sparkes and Mr. Michael Ahern, and we hope he gets them. Both of them have always been hostile to the League of Rights. As a matter of fact, the League gets a mention from Mr. Ahern who stated: "The (National) Party will, of course, carry out an urgent assessment of the situation.

LIFE Salaries

'I think it is important for the people of Queensland to be aware that Mr. Perrett represents League of Rights type policies, which have an important influence in that electorate.' You bet it has! Not that we care a tinker's cuss whether the politicians like us or not. True to form the print media have not mentioned (those we have seen) the fact that Mr. Trevor Perrett campaigned on the Electors' Veto. He also campaigned on a more democratic type of communication between Member and electorate.

What of the future for Queensland? Mr. Pinwill sees the role of the independent becoming central in the immediate future (as is the case in New South Wales). It is likely, now, that the Queensland Nationals will be forced into a coalition with the Liberals at the next Queensland State election, perhaps with independents holding the balance of power. Unfortunately, there is no Upper House in Queensland; that was abolished by "Labor" in 1922 (some say because of the influence of Jock Garden, after his return from Moscow!) The last Queensland Legislative Councillors voted themselves out of office in 1922 - having voted themselves their salaries for life! (They were no different then to what they are today).

At least, with the decline of political parties and the growing influence of independents, there is much more opportunity for all democratically-minded people to press ahead with the Electors' Veto concept in government.

MOST EXCELLENT ISSUE NO. 1 OF HERITAGE: The Little People:

"Australia Day, 1988, the Bicentenary of the First Fleet's arrival in Sydney Harbour, was an enormous success. In the words of Professor Geoffrey Blainey, it 'marked the triumph of the people and their quiet sense of national pride over all those politicians and bureaucrats who had earlier done all they could to turn it into a very different day.'

- Editorial, HERITAGE (Bicentenary Issue No. 1), 1988

HERITAGE is the quarterly journal of the Australian Heritage Society, a Division of the Australian League of Rights. What a splendid production it is, commencing with the Queen's Christmas Message (1987); the Prince of Wales' Speech given in the Sydney Opera House forecourt on Australia Day, 1988.

After these comes "The Christian-British Heritage", and "Australia's Religious Heritage" (the latter by Dr. Geoffrey Dobbs). The Very Reverend David Robarts, Dean of Perth, W.A. writes on the theme - "To Secure the Future". Professor J.D. Frodsham, School of Humanities, Murdoch University, W.A., supplies his article - "Reflections On our Present Discontent".

The Rev. Cedric Jacobs, M.B.E., well-known to many League of Rights supporters, writes on - "The Aboriginal Perspective". Many other items of particular interest.

The price of each issue is $5.00 posted. The subscription for one year (the FOUR Bicentennial issues) is a remarkably generous $15.00.

Send your orders/subscriptions to: The Australian Heritage Society, P.O.Box 7409, Cloisters Square, PERTH, W.A., 6000. Please do not send to Melbourne.

The Heritage editors are right on the ball too. After the comment (above) on Australia Day, and the comment by Professor Geoffrey Blainey, comes the following:

"Originally, the planners had intended that 1988 would be 'more of a time of contrition than a festival of restrained pride and thanksgiving'. It was to be a time for us to repent, to disown our past, to wallow in the guilt of our real and imagined mistreatment of the original inhabitants. It was to be the year of the new Flag, the new Constitution, maybe even the year in which the scales were to be tipped in favour of a Republican form of government. This was to be a symbolic year; we would express our new identity (as if we didn't already possess a quite distinct identity), be finally released from the shackles of colonialism (regardless of whether the baby went out with the bath water)."

HERITAGE knows the score! Why not give a gift subscription, apart from taking one yourself: four splendid issues for only $15.00. The "mood" of our nation is changing back to acceptance of "traditional" values and sentiment. THERE WAS EVEN A DEBATE ON IMMIGRATION ON COMMERCIAL TELEVISION OVER THE WEEK-END PAST. This would have been unmentionable a year or two ago. EVERYONE was happy with our immigration policy, as everyone knows! Anyone who wasn't was a racist, or an extreme right-winger. Of course. But it's different now. Heritage has caught the mood.

BRIEF COMMENTS: The president of the Northern Territory Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Geoffrey Sherrington, says that politics are wrecking the Northern Territory mining industry.

The Territory is being used as a testing-ground for social experiments dreamed up by the Fabians in Canberra.

Because of the steady destruction of the Australian Constitution by the abuse of the External Affairs Power, this validated by the present High Court (as foreseen and approved by Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, and Dr. Zelman Cowen) - the Conservation Legislation Amendment Bill was rammed through the Parliament, given Royal Assent by Sir Ninian Stephen, the Governor-General, who voted against Queensland in the Koowarta ruling, thus paving the way for the suzerainty of the Commonwealth (Canberra) over the States.

Under this new totalitarian legislation of the Hawkeating Fabians, whole industries and individuals can be kicked off their lands, with laughable compensation; the locking-up of natural resources (to be exploited by other international forces later?).

Read - "World Heritage & the International Banks" to get the low-down on what the Fabians are up to as they contort themselves in abaisance to international masters they slavishly serve. Send $1.00 for a copy to G.P.O. Box 1052-J, MELBOURNE, Vic., 3001.

In our view Sir Joh was kicked out of office to smooth the way for this sell-out of Australia to the internationalists. He would have fought for the sovereignty of Queensland tooth and nail, and the Fabian mob knew it. He had to go. But it's not over yet! Just wait and see.

WHAT MANNER OF MAN IS DR. NEAL BLEWITT? Would you believe, State governments must show condom courage, says our Federal Health Minister, Dr. Blewitt. We suppose he thinks this is clever, but we are turned off by this type of talk, which is mere smut, to us. The Grand Occasion was Dr. Blewitt's launching of an Anti-Aids campaign using advertisements, in typical poor taste, and regarded as such by the Governments of N.S.W., Queensland, and Western Australia. The great historian of Secret Societies and Subversive Movements, Mrs. Nesta Webster, has remarked on the links between moral depravity and political decadence. Enough said.

The one and only "Jacko" is back home for a spell. Whilst his type of "entertainment" is not generally our cup of tea, he has made a few remarks with which we agree wholeheartedly.

We viewed the Academy Awards Festival on T.V. - somewhere in the United States, and we were utterly bored by the shallowness of the people; actors, film makers, etc. - the many poor types involved; and the quite inferior standard of "entertainment". To say nothing of the crass materialism overall. Ugh! They can keep their Oscars.

Good for our Jacko! Jacko attended the Academy Awards last week but was less than impressed by the stars.

"I call it the plastic factory", he said. "They've all got plastic bums, plastic boobs, plastic faces and plastic smiles." Exactly.

BASIC FUND: We are pleased to advise that the Fund has been filled and a full report will be given in the near future. But keep those donations coming in, as they will be put towards the 1988-89 Basic Fund.

CONSERVATIVE SPEAKERS' CLUB (Adelaide): Next meeting on Thursday, April 28th at the NEWMARKET HOTEL, cnr. North & West Terraces, Adelaide. Adequate parking.

Assemble at 6.00 p.m. for excellent hotel meal, otherwise assemble at 7.15 p.m. at adjoining meeting room. Guest Speaker to be Mr. Eric D. Butler, National Director of the Australian League of Rights, who will speak on "The Answer to the Planned Surrender of Australia."
