THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: "Socialism, with its hatred of all superiority, of noble virtues - loyalty and patriotism - with its passion for dragging down instead of building up, serves the purpose of the deeper conspiracy...

"..... For the final goal of world-revolution is not Socialism or even Communism, it is not a change in the existing economic system, it is not the destruction of civilisation in a material sense; the revolution desired by the leaders is a moral and spiritual revolution, an anarchy of ideas by which all standards set up throughout nineteen centuries shall be reversed, all honoured traditions trampled underfoot, and above all, the Christian ideal finally obliterated."

Mrs. Nesta Webster, in Secret Societies & Subversive Movements

ONE WORLD OR NONE - A CAMPAIGN FOR GLOBAL CHANGE (By David Thompson, N.S.W. League of Rights Director): One of the most incredible campaigns in Australia's history is now in full swing. The Australian Council for Overseas Aid (ACFOA) is running the Australian arm of an international propaganda thrust, the "One World or None" campaign.

The campaign was launched late in May, with the screening of a four-hour global television "extravaganza" on the environment: "Our Common Future". This programme, screened in Australia by the ABC (wouldn't you know it), carries the bones of the World Commission on Environment & Development's report, of 1987. It consisted of rock music, actors, celebrities, athletes and politicians (Hawke included) and was a sophisticated environmental "crisis" propaganda barrage aimed at our kids.

The propaganda is now coming from almost all directions, including the Commission for the Future and the churches. It centres on the environment, third world debt and poverty, and military spending. It is so dangerous, because it is shot full of grains of truth, without the full story or constructive answers being proposed.

One of the objectives of the campaign is: "To commit Australian political parties to the strategies needed to help avert environmental destruction and world poverty, knowing that a major part of the Australian community is behind those strategies.." In order to demonstrate support to the Hawke Government for drastic action on the environment, poverty, etc., the ACFOA is running the "Campaign for Global Change" - "One World or None".

PROPAGANDA DELUGE: I have been on the mailing list for the ACFOA campaign since June, and there is a constant stream of highly sophisticated propaganda. It includes a 'One World Campaign' Bulletin, a Campaign Calendar (outlining functions, speakers, etc., right across Australia), a Campaign for Global Change newsletter, and glossy brochures, posters and booklets. Those registered as One World Campaigners are now receiving their One World Campaigners Kits, which consist of: a Bulletin, a free copy of the book 'One World or None: Making the Difference', a sticker, a badge, posters, and an order form for campaign merchandise.

Campaign merchandise for sale includes: a range of booklets, three full-colour posters, badges, stickers, T-shirts, printed balloons, videos, pamphlets, etc.

ONE WORLD DECLARATION: Also included in the One World Campaigners Kit is "The One World Declaration" to which is attached a petition to Parliament, calling on the Government to fight poverty and debt in the third world, protect the environment, cut military spending 1%, increase overseas aid to 0.5% of GNP, and develop new IMF, World Bank, and Development Bank policies. It holds the essence of the Marxist programme to smash the free world, and introduce the World State, and it is directed at your kids and grandkids. The campaign kits, we are assured, will be sent to as many schools as possible. We already know that the Weather Bureau is being driven mad by kids doing school 'projects' on the environment. The teachers are in an impossible position (as are parents) - the propaganda just keeps rolling in, and they have nothing with which to balance it.

THE SPONSORS: The pedigree of this campaign can be best judged by some of its sponsors. The list includes: Phillip Adams, Franca Arena, Bob Brown, Manning Clark, Stella Cornelius, Simon Crean, Blanche D'Alpuget, Cliff Dolan, Dawn Fraser, Father Brian Gore, Sir Gordon Jackson, Jenny Kee, Mary Kostakidis, Ray Martin, Sir Gustav Nossal, Archbishop Penman, Susan Ryan, Helen Sham-Ho, Judy Small, Robyn Williams, Gough and Margaret Whitlam. Many of the names are familiar, including a few top Fabians.

The organisations sponsoring the campaign include: Aust. Conservation Foundation, ACTU, ALP, Federation of Ethnic Community Councils, Joint Board of Christian Education, Liberal Party of Australia, National Women's Consultative Council, Youth Affairs Council of Australia.

In addition to this, there are the 84 member organisations of the ACFOA - non-government aid organisations. We shall reproduce a full list where possible in On Target. Most of the aid organisations are Church bodies! The churches are in this campaign up to their collective necks, with very few exceptions. For example, the Uniting Church took up this campaign during One World Week (August 6th-13th) and now offers a 'parish kit', including worship and Bible study resources; a schools kit with teachers' notes, activity sheets, and cassette tape.

"TEN DAYS TO CHANGE THE WORLD": The 'One World Campaign' is to be launched nationally on September 6th, at Parliament House. The campaign is to continue, gathering in intensity, until United Nations Day - 24th October. It will culminate in "Ten Days to Change the World" on that date. (NOTE: The campaign calendar includes the World Congress of International Union of Local Authorities in Perth beginning 3rd September. This confirms our suspicions.)

BEHIND THE JAPANESE REBELLION: Japan, now regarded as 'the wealthiest nation in the world', has few resources of her own. The fragility of her economy can be seen by the inability to tailor her production to her consumption requirements, needing larger and larger foreign 'markets' to keep her brilliant manufacturing machine from burying the whole nation in surplus goods. The Japanese production miracle cannot stop - it cannot even slow down - without major collapse.

Part of the reason for this, of course, is the debt structure. Contrary to public perception, Japan has huge debts as does every other industrialised nation. Her Government debt alone is 162 trillion $US. The Government spends about 20% of its 60 trillion yen annual budget on interest payments.

Politically, Japan is also fragile. Although the Liberal Democratic Party (LDP) has not lost a national election in 34 years, it received a thrashing at the Upper House polls earlier this year. The true reason for this was not the Recruit bribery scandal, reaching into almost every corner of the ruling party as a political way of life. Nor was it the sex scandals in what Western feminists would regard as the most 'sexist' society in the world.

The real reason for the massive political revolt was the introduction of a 3% sales tax on April Fools Day this year. The electorate used the Upper House polls to register a most uncharacteristic swing of massive proportions against the government of the unfortunate Mr. Takeshita. About 80% of the public opposed the new tax!

For ten years the Japanese have been attempting to reform the tax system, and politically the sales tax has proved an absolute disaster for not only Mr. Takeshita, but has also helped to destroy Prime Minister Uno.

BRIEF COMMENTS: The Age (Melbourne), September 4th, carries the political comment article by its Canberra correspondent, Michelle Grattan, who quotes from a recent book by South Australian political "science" academic, Dean Jaensch. Mr. Jaensch doesn't like that awful League of Rights!

Mr. Jaensch claims that Messrs. Hawke and Keating have "hijacked the traditional Labor Party, thus handing it over to the "pragmatists and electoralists". "Labor", so the line goes, is in the process of internal and external realignment.

This is only part of the story: a mere means to an end.

The real truth is that the traditional Labor Party was captured many decades ago by the Fabian Socialists and those under Fabian influence. One has only to read Mr. Hawke's address to the Fabian Society Centenary Dinner in Melbourne, on May 18th, 1984, from which we quote:

".....We all have to face the fact that if our Government is to make really great and worthwhile reforms - reforms that will endure, reforms that will permanently change this nation - then it is not enough simply to obtain a temporary majority at an election, or even successive elections.

"For our reforms to endure, the whole mood and mind and attitudes of the nation must be permanently changed..."

Yes, the whole mood and mind of the nation to be "permanently changed" by the Bill of Rights, the I.D. Card, the stacking of the High Court with political centralists, which has sanctioned the "new" freedom-restrictive "social" legislation based on United Nations Conventions and Declarations; e.g. Heritage listings, Race discrimination, Sex discrimination, Affirmative Action - legislation which is raising the temperature of our society by creating fresh tensions and even hatreds, yes, as planned.

Now there is a call for criminal provisions against those companies who are dragging their feet on Affirmative Action, by an Affirmative Action lady, with sudden powers that no individual should be allowed to have. There's no end to it with the totalitarians, and we lump most Fabians in that category, despite all their pleas to the contrary ("social democracy", comrades!).

The socialist mind is an immature mind. Everyone must be "made" to obey the socialist theory: no-one is to be trusted. We all must welcome I.D. Cards and Bills of Rights, for our own good, of course. The States must be rolled; a strong centralised government at Canberra is what we all need; none of this archaic nonsense about citizens having more control over smaller units of government. Fabians know best. Yes, Big Government, Big Unions, Big Taxation - such necessary steps along the way to slotting Australia into the New International Economic Order, and yes, eventual World Government.
