THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: "The absolute origin of all economic activity has its organic roots in the soil and in nature..." from "Distinguishing Between Money and True Riches", Part 5 of the "Introducing Social Credit" series. "In nature matter and energy flow: 'Nature abhors a vacuum.' In the human economy, money should flow similarly, freely fulfilling its function dynamically 'to oil the mechanism' of production and to facilitate automatic distribution of the physical proceeds of industry."
– Wallace Klinck, Canada, 2005.

THE CAPITAL COLLEGE & SPIRITUAL WARFARE IN THESE TRYING TIMES

by James Reed:

Geoffrey Dobbs, an outstanding British social creditor gave a thought-provoking address to the League in Melbourne in 1985 and the address was published in The New Times; February 1985 -- "The Strategy and Tactics of Spiritual Warfare". Our conflict with our enemy is 'spiritual' in the sense of it being a war about policy. Dobbs illustrated this thesis by a number of examples which he saw as susceptible to analysis from the social credit paradigm. For example, on the racial question Dobbs pointed out that "discrimination" has come to mean at the hands of the "Anti-racists" racial hatred where traditionally it meant a "loving discernment and appreciation of the essential differences between things". To fight back requires psycho-political counter-warfare – to regain the moral ground that the "Anti-racists" have stolen and rescue the original meaning of the word "discrimination".

Beyond this thought, much of anti-racist legislation arises from forcing people who are incompatible to work together in the workplace. Social Credit champions freedom of association and gives people the choice about whom they may employ.

The social dividend provides protection against "discrimination" in the best possible way - freeing people from being wage slaves in the first place.

There are a number of ideas within the broad social credit paradigm which are a valuable aid to achieving freedom in these dark times of globalisation. Charles Ferguson, an influence on C.H. Douglas, expressed one such idea in his 1924 book Technarchy and the Capital College.

At its very basics, the idea is to use scientific ("technarchy") principles to mobilise capital to liberate individuals, through emancipating the work environment. The Capital College doesn't deal directly with individuals, but rather acts with working organisations to maximise their service ability.

It does this by underwriting the real credit of working businesses through both advisory management and through publicity about a businesses services and products. Personal credibility is supplied, not money as such, by an underwriting of the firm's honesty and competency. Suppliers are assured in supplying tools and equipment. This mobilises real credit faster and more efficiently than a bank lending money. Ferguson saw the Capital College as a way of diminishing the power of banks. The Capital College will be as Ferguson put it, "a flow or leaven, in the wider society of the Nation."

We have stated in this note only the very basics of this idea. The point to be made, as Geoffrey Dobbs has observed, is that we are not helpless in this spiritual battle. There are good ideas out there that can address the challenges of our time. All that is needed is the co-operation, good will and dedication, to put them into practice.

Remember this when reading the next bit of "bad news". Let us be positive and treat life as a challenge and rise to the occasion.

Further reading on Charles Ferguson and his Capital College ideas are to be found in Michael Lane's book "Charles Ferguson: Herald of Social Credit". $11.50 posted.

The companion book is: "Human Ecology & Social Credit: the Legacy of Tom Robertson". $9.50 posted. Both books available from all League Book Services.

'HE WHO DOES NOT WORK WILL NOT EAT' IS NOW 'OLD HAT': The concept of a job 'for life' and Howard's push for 'full employment' flies in the face of the facts of a modern economy. Ron Fischer of Sebastopol, Vic. writes on the matter:

"The concept that having a job is the aim of life is obsolete. All the needs, and indeed the desires, of a modern society can be provided by one in five of the working age population. This was revealed at Mikhail Gorbachev's State-of-the-World conference in San Francisco in 1995. As technology advances, that twenty per cent will be reduced to fifteen, ten and beyond. The stigma of "unemployment" should be removed from that eighty per cent plus.

When robots take over the manufacturing industry to the level of ninety per cent plus how then will purchasing power be distributed to the former workers? By taxing more highly those who still have jobs?

Thus the concern expressed in the Ballarat Courier editorial 20/4/05 is futile. Big businesses like Masterfoods and EMP, will continue to shed jobs in the interests of the bottom line. Ultimately, when they can downsize no more it will be no longer viable for them to remain in Australia.

Included in this bracket should be Telstra (if it is 'privatised'...ed). It will be owned by multinational interests with no concern for the jobs of Ballarat's residents, nor for whether we have good communications or are relegated to a backwater of the communications industry."

IS GEORGE BUSH GUILTY OF TREASON & MASS MURDER? by James Reed:

It's Time! Australia issue No.1 has as its front page story "'Bush Ordered 9/11' – Hilton". American lawyer Stanley Hilton has claimed that George Bush authorized the 9/11 attacks. This claim has been made on many internet sites. But Hilton is a former senior adviser to Senator Bob Dole and an insider of the Republican Party. But he's not vexing his spleen on an internet site: he's taking a Taxpayers' Class Action on behalf of the families of the victims of 9/11. Hilton claims to have documentary evidence of George Bush personally authorising the attacks. Not surprisingly, he has been harassed by the FBI, he claims. That is only the beginning.

DON'T CRY FOR ME, AUSTRALIA by James Reed: The Australian 7/3/05 reported "Holmes a Court Stirred by Plight of Refugees", that Janet Holmes a Court was "emotional" and expressed "shame" at Australia's treatment of asylum seekers. The article also tells us that Senator Vanstone has welcomed the arrival of 360 refugees from Central Africa.

What a pity that our elite don't express "shame" at the treatment of Anglo Saxon Australians, who, since 1947 have faced an undemocratic immigration programme, specially designed to ethnically and racially dilute their kind. Of course it is "racist" to object to the planned destruction of our people by mass immigration. After all, we are only getting our historical desserts for building modern civilisation.

IMMIGRATION IDIOCY & MULTICULTURAL MADNESS ACROSS THE GLOBE

by Andrew Ryan:

- Here is a medley of news items on immigration and multiculturalism from across the globe. Europe is becoming increasingly concerned about immigration following 9/11 and the train bombings in Madrid (and now further bombings in Spain...ed). To deal with an aging population and below replacement levels of births – the end result of the feminist revolution – thousands of migrants have poured into Europe from the Third World to keep the captains of Capitalism supplied with cheap labour.
- The United Nations estimates that 1.6 million migrants would be needed per year for the next 45 years to keep the work force at the present levels. However, a poll of 25,000 EU residents conducted in 2004 found 54 per cent of respondents opposed to further immigration to Europe.
- The Dutch "lead [the] way in deporting migrants" International Express 17/2/04, has tightened up its asylum policies and since February 2004 has begun deporting some asylum seekers.
- The Australian 11/4/05: "Whites Flee Migrant Rise in British Cities", tells us that White flight is occurring in Britain as Whites move from migrant areas such as Manchester, to be replaced by Asians. According to a study conducted by Migrationwatch, the greatest absolute decline in the White population is seen in Manchester, Birmingham and Bradford.
- Meanwhile criticism of this form of passive genocide is silenced by the laws of once merry England. The leader of the British National Party (BNP), Nick Griffin, has been charged with inciting racial hatred, The Australian 8/4/05. Also charged is BNP founder John Tyndall. Both welcomed the "martyrdom" that the race-hate charges would bring.
- In London, Algerian militant Kamel Bourgass was convicted of plotting a terrorist attack to rival 9/11. He planned to smear the poison ricin – which kills on contact – throughout London on buildings and trains. Bourgass had formed a terrorist cell group as part of al Qaeda. He should have been deported as an illegal immigrant months before he stabbed one police officer to death and injured four others.
- As England falls apart, British school children are given history lessons about famous gays, but are taught nothing about the greatness of what was once the British Empire.

Again this is a catalogue of bad news, but there is a glimmer of hope that Europeans are waking up about immigration and multiculturalism. Let us hope that Australia follows in due course.

IS THERE NO FORGIVING, NO FORGETTING? by Betty Luks:

According to the Adelaide Advertiser, 26/5/05, Australian authorities have asked the Hungarian Government for more information on 86-year-old Hungarian-Australian Mr. Charles Zentai, who, it is alleged, is a 'war criminal'. We are informed the forthcoming information is to help a Senate Committee determine whether Mr. Zentai should be extradited back to Hungary to face 'war crimes' charges, allegedly committed during WWII, sixty or more years ago.

According to the report the Australian Federal Police are investigating information that this man, who now lives in Perth, Western Australia, killed a Jewish teenager in Hungary during WWII.

If Hungarian witnesses' memories prove as 'reliable' as some of the witnesses at the Adelaide Polyukhovic war crimes committal hearing (which I attended in the early 1990s) there will be witnesses claiming to recognise the accused, although having seen him but a few times in their earlier life – even claiming to remember what clothes the accused wore at his wedding fifty or more years before! A claim which was later easily proved false!

As former Lieutenant-Governor Sir Walter Crocker said at the time of the Adelaide hearings: Vengeance poisons communities as well as people.

AH! McCAIN – YOU'VE DONE IT AGAIN! by Betty Luks:

So! Canadian-owned vegetable processing giant McCain Foods has opened a potato plant in China and Tasmanian farmers are concerned 'this is just the beginning' of a move offshore.

Of course it is! And if this multinational company finds that another move to another subsidised tax haven 'offshore' gains them an advantage, they will do it again and again. (Ballarat Courier, 4/5/05). The giant food company came here in the first place because of Australia's 'tax-haven' laws and Government-financed infrastructures. When are our farmers going to wake up? The League was warning them when their numbers were over 300,000 – it is mathematically certain more and more will go bankrupt, or forced off their lands, under orthodox financial policies, and no political party will come to their rescue and 'buck' the money power.

Farmers' numbers have now dwindled down to 100,000 – and still they don't get it!

There is no long-term answer for them under present financial policies. But they would rather listen to 'leaders' who have betrayed them, than men such as Eric D. Butler, (and Jeremy Lee) of the Australian League of Rights! Between them, these two men criss-crossed this large brown land for well over fifty years warning what was going to happen if they didn't 'take on' the money power and its toadies in the political parties.

Chinese farmers are no more (probably less) efficient than Australian farmers – but neither is it a 'level playing field' as was recently revealed on SBS. It is a policy, it is planned, that the bulk of Australia's farmers are to be phased out – and they still can't see it.

Meanwhile, farmers and business spokesmen have publicly expressed 'hope' that everyone will benefit from a proposed free trade agreement with China! They need to be reminded Americans had the same 'hope' but are now waking up to the fact it is very much a 'one-way' street - and not their way.
