THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: "A sometime Daily News columnist, (the Bishop of Birmingham, Dr. Barnes) was one of Ramsay Maconald's clerical appointments, another being Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, who over the years preached Stalin and him sanctified from the pulpit... Thus MacDonal, least revolutionary of Socialists, all unconsciously delivered a body blow at institutional Christianity far more destructive in its consequences than all the efforts of overtly anti-Christian crusades. Was it not two bourgeois Jews – a typical Viennese general practitioner, and a British Museum Reading Room enragé – Freud and Marx – who undermined the whole basis of Western European civilisation as no avowedly insurrectionary movement ever has or could, by promoting the notion of determinism, in the one case in morals, in the other in history, thereby relieving individual men and women of all responsibility for their personal or collective behaviour."

– Malcolm Muggeridge in "The Green Stick", 1972

THE ABORIGINALS : VICTIMS OF THE NEW CLASS by James Reed: Alice Springs is considered by some to be one of the most violent towns on earth, with at least one murder a month. Or at least that is what a TV programme told me. Perhaps Africa was not bracketed in the equation. In any case, there can be few doubts that Alice Springs Aborigines are facing a social catastrophe. Petrol sniffing, rampaging alcoholism and the sexual abuse of children are tearing a community apart. The crimes of many indigenous drug users (petrol and alcohol) are depraved.

The Alice Springs Crown Prosecutor cited many cases to the media this week – such as the anal rape and drowning of a six-year-old girl by an indigenous petrol sniffer.

Raping Innocence: An article by Rosemary Neill (The Australian, 19/5/06, p.14) points out that child sexual abuse is rife in Aboriginal communities. Aboriginal children as young as four suffer from sexually transmitted diseases. Young girls of one community were too afraid to take a shower in case they were raped. One-third of 13-year-old Aboriginal girls in the Northern Territory were infected with chlamydia and gonorrhoea.

The New Class: Rosemary Neill points out that she had been covering the issue of Aboriginal domestic violence for some time. But – the people I and others call 'the new class' – "the politicians, feminists, white progressives and indigenous organisations turned a blind eye". The conservatives were indifferent, seeing this abuse as "just the Aboriginal way". The "progressives" kept silent because of political correctness and cultural sensitivity.

In this issue: • Thought For The Week • The Aborigines : Victims Of The New Class • Blame It All On The Irish • A Brief Intro To Zimbabwean Theory Of Quantum Mathematics • An Asian Dilemma • Anyone For A Nuclear Holocaust? • The Mighty Migrants March

Neill rightly asks: "How sensitive is it to tacitly endorse a code of silence that allows infant rape to go unpunished?" Worse yet, the courts are not helping, she observes: "Absurdly lenient sentences, often influenced by arguments about cultural difference, serve to further diminish the victims."

What is to be done? The responses to the Alice Springs tragedy have been predictable. Bring in non-sniffable petrol, ban alcohol, lament about unemployment and White racism. Yet none of these factors explain why men rape babies. Other racial and ethnic groups have suffered such injustices and not raped their babies. Neill bravely says something which could get her in trouble with the human rights thought police. Neill quotes Joan Kimm's book "A Fatal Conjunction": "The sexual use of young girls by older men, indeed often much older men, was an intrinsic part of Aboriginal culture, a heritage that cannot be easily denied."

Feminism to the Rescue: Misogynous customs, these feminists believe, is the main cause of abuse. This, I think, is almost correct. The other "misogynous custom" I would add, which these feminist writers have not addressed is pornography. I don't just mean hard-core pornography, I also include the girlie magazines that many of us take for granted in shops. Add this fuel to men on drugs and one has a dangerous brew that explains pathologies such as raping babies. Aboriginal Elders are right in advocating a ban of alcohol in such communities. Let's hope they tackle the pornography problem as well. As for the question of racism, let me say that I believe that alcoholism and the pornoculture are racial poisons for Whites as well as Blacks. The road to hell is paved with political correctness.

BLAME IT ALL ON THE IRISH by James Reed: Prime Minister John Howard did not appear to like a snub made by six independent Irish members of parliament during his recent visit. He said words to the effect [stern, nasty voice] "The Irish have brought many things to Australia, including dissent." [Soft, loving voice] "God bless them."

This little play acting game did not fool me. Nor does John Howard fool the likes of Cindy Sheehan whose son, a US soldier was killed in Iraq in April 2004. In protest, in 2005 she set up camp in a roadside ditch outside George Bush's Texas ranch.

Her message to John Howard: "My son was killed in an illegal and immoral war. My country is carpet bombing innocent civilians, my country is torturing people without due process. We, as members of humanity, need to reach across borders to end this. Australians need to get out on the street and say to John Howard 'You work for us, not Americans'."

John Howard works for the new world order: the globalised princes of profit. That is why he didn't like the snub in Ireland and let his mask drop. Whatever our views are about the war, there are a thousand and one good reasons to agree with the suggestion of Cindy Sheehan. Just blame it on the Irish (part) in me.

A BRIEF INTRO TO ZIMBABWEAN THEORY OF QUANTUM MATHEMATICS – Also known as Bobenomics: The day is very hot and you are passing the Keg and Sable in Borrowdale, so naturally you go in for a nice cold beer. The barman informs you that one beer now costs 150 000 Zimbabwe dollars.

You can pay with three crisp new $50 000 notes, still damp from the printing press. Or, if you are feeling a bit bloody-minded, and if you can still source the coins (remember those things: they were still quite common a few years ago). You can sit back and enjoy a beer while the barman counts out 15 000 000 Zimbabwe one cent coins.

But hold it! We have a problem. Each Zim one cent coin weighs 3 grams. So this little lot weighs in at 45 000 000 grams or 45 000 kgs or 45 Tonnes.

After humping 45 tonnes of coins into the pub you are going to need a helluva lot more than one beer to cool down. But don't panic – we have a plan. Like all brilliant ideas this one relies entirely on its simplicity.

Plan B: We sell the metal and drink the proceeds: There is a small legal question about smelting coin of the realm and exporting the resulting brass ingots. However we'll let the buyer worry about that one.

There doesn't seem to be an international price for brass. Its main ingredient, copper, has recently been selling for an all-time high of US$ 5 200 a tonne on the London Metal Exchange, but we won't be greedy. For a quick sale let's discount it to US$ 2 600 a tonne

We are now the proud owners of US$ 117 000! But we still can't buy that beer as the Keg is only allowed to accept Zimbabwe currency. We must resist the temptation to change our money on the lucrative but illegal black market (only the Governor of the Reserve Bank and Cabinet Ministers are allowed to do that). So we change at the prevailing interbank mid rate which is US$1 : Zim $99 201 58.

Our heap of US green-backs now miraculously becomes a mountain of Zim$11 606 584 860. For the uninitiated the billions start at the tenth figure, counting from the right. So if the price of beer has not increased while we were doing this calculation you can now walk back into the Keg and order 77 377 beers! HAPPY DRINKING!

P.S.: For current inflationary reasons it is advisable to review these figures on a daily basis.

AN ASIAN DILEMMA by Peter Ewer: Refugeeism is the ideology that non-White disadvantaged people have a right to be admitted to Australia in whatever numbers and for whatever reason. Thus female African athletes who fled the Commonwealth Games in Melbourne sought asylum-status because they faced having their clitorises removed if they lived in African society.

Yes, that is a truly ghoulish practice, but it is one widely practised in Africa, and if accepted as grounds for asylum-status would permit every woman in Africa an entry ticket to Australia, which of course is what the White genocide eliters would truly like.

Sometime however refugeeism can have unexpected consequences. Indonesia is furious that Australia accepted 42 asylum-seekers from West Papua, its colonial possession. Indonesia tortures and oppresses these people. Australia granting such asylum, has been taken by Indonesia as a challenge to its authority to do as it sees fit with these people.

Even writers typically sympathetic to refugeeism have stopped to think about the consequences of this "boatload". Greg Sheridan, The Australian's foreign editor wrote an interesting article about these dilemmas, entitled "Trouble by the Boatload" (The Weekend Australian, 25/3/06, p.22). Sheridan says that "West Papua could be the new East Timor of Australia-Indonesia relations, only much more troublesome." Sheridan believes that these diplomatic tensions can be contained "Unless, of course, there are new boats on the horizons."

This situation would inflame an already delicate situation. I say: bring it on! Let the boats come! It is time that Australia:

- 1) deal with the refugee nonsense and
- 2) stood up to Indonesia instead of licking its boots. The sooner the pus is extracted from this ugly diplomatic boil, the better.

ANYONE FOR A NUCLEAR HOLOCAUST? by Jack Moss (an excerpt): "...Thanks to Mordecai Vanunu the world learnt that Israel has a massive stockpile of nuclear weapons – perhaps over 200 nuclear weapons – in a program which cost billions, in a country whose currency is so degraded that it can't be used anywhere except Israel and Palestine. In 1986 Vanunu was kidnapped by the Israeli Mossad in violation of international law.^[1] He has only recently been released.

Israel has nuclear weapons arising from uranium theft from the United States, covered up and then excused by President Lyndon Johnson. As argued by Seymour M. Hersh in his book "The Sampson Option"^[2] Israel can't use nuclear weapons because of fallout, so such weapons are used for nuclear blackmail purposes. Israel has moved to full-scale nuclear war alert three times to date.

The first was in the 1973 war when Egyptian and Syrian forces appeared likely to win and Golda Meir threatened nuclear war unless Nixon sent an emergency airlift of conventional arms and ammunition. The second time was when it appeared that the Soviet Union may try to rescue Egypt. The third time was on the second day of Gulf War I when Iraq lobbed Scud missiles into Tel Aviv and Haifa. The U.S. rushed in anti-Scud Patriot missiles.

Jewish neo-con Professor Martin van Creveld, Professor of Military History at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem has said that Israel has the capacity of hitting most European capitals with nuclear missiles, hinting that Israel could avenge the Holocaust by annihilating millions of English, Germans and other Europeans.

He said: "We possess several hundred atomic warheads and rockets and can launch them in all directions, perhaps even at Rome. Most European capitals are targets of our Air Force."

Professor Martin van Creveld said that he believed that the Israeli Prime Minister (at that time) Ariel Sharon wanted to deport all Palestinians and the professor quoted with approval former Israeli Defence Minister Moshe Dayan who said: "Israel must be like a mad dog, too dangerous to bother."

Creveld said in conclusion: "Our armed forces are not the thirtieth strongest in the world... We have the capacity to take the world down with us. And I can assure you that will happen before Israel goes under."^[3] The good professor said that that is not his own position, but rather what will happen.

Where are you Dr. Strangelove, for this pathology is a most strange love indeed."

THE MIGHTY MIGRANTS MARCH by James Reed: Hispanic power – that is the message of the May 2nd protests by marching Hispanics. The protest was against legislation that the republicans in the Congress have sent to the Senate cracking down on 11 million illegal immigrants – mainly Hispanics from Mexico and other Latin American countries. President George W. Bush is opposed to the crackdown and apparently doesn't know or care about the southwest of the United States ultimately breaking away from the Union to form a new nation of Atzlan, or at least of greater Mexico.
