THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Billions of reasons for Climate Alarm: Joanne Nova lists the billions of dollars flowing to the U.N., thanks to Climate Change alarm advocated by... no other than the U.N's. high authority on climate change, listened to by western governments and scientific society... the IPCC. Your Carbon Tax money flowing to the U.N. bureaucrats and 3rd World corrupt governments for the 50 million climate refugees... that don't exist.

- Abbott refuses to confirm or deny that the Howard Government's Cabinet did not specifically endorse John Howard's own promise to implement an emissions trading scheme.

(When in power, John Howard's government made a grab for control of Water - which is a State responsibility under the Commonwealth Constitution).

WHAT! ONE-WORLD GOV'T NOT JUST A 'CONSPIRACY THEORY' BARNABY? The following release is from Senator Barnaby Joyce: "I thought one-world government was a conspiracy theory, then I heard the de facto deputy PM on Radio National. Well, welcome to the world of a new broad based consumption tax to sit on top of the other green state based taxes and swindles, and of course the GST.

Welcome to the capacity of the government to jack the tax take via your power point, as they please, to pay back their gross debt of $194.4 billion.

Welcome to the fact that the Prime Minister said this is the deal before even a draft of the legislation has made it to the Parliament, another insult to your democratic rights.

Welcome to the Brown-Gillard-Windsor alliance saying this will save the Great Barrier Reef and stop droughts, a pitch that would put the dodgiest second hand car dealer to shame.

Welcome to the world where a member of the new government alliance, Bob Brown, has stated about the carbon price this morning on ABC radio that:

IN THIS ISSUE • Thought For The Week • What! One-World Gov't Not Just A 'Conspiracy Theory' Barnaby? • The Great Carbon Tax Grab Is Not All We Have To Worry About • A Call For Labor MP To courageously 'Cross The Floor' • And What About 'Independent' Tony Windsor's Actions? • Nation Will Founder And Head For Ruin • Come On Bankers, Give Us Another GFC (Not KFC)!

... it's not locked in for 15 years to no change, this has got upward flexibility. It means that through the processes, including a Climate Change Authority here, we will be able to keep pace with the rest of the world as inevitably more mature and reasoned action is taken against the enormous threat of climate change in the years ahead.

Collected via Power Point in Your Home: Let's all just retire from the Parliament as your rights follow your $3 billion of carbon credits, collected via a power point in your home just above the skirting board, to some other corner of the globe. Instead, a new Canberra bureaucracy, or Authority, will decide what the carbon tax should be in the future. They didn't need to go to an election to introduce it and now they don't think they need to go to the Parliament to increase it".

Editor's comment: Bravo! Barnaby Joyce you are setting an example for those wimps in Parliament; why they might even grow backbones. But seriously, the fight doesn't end with the Great Carbon Tax battle, you need to come to grips with Australia's ever-escalating financial debts and understand there are answers to the black magic that passes for financial orthodoxy. What about Brown's Global Parliament proposition? <http://www.ipa.org.au/news/2428/brown%27s-global-parliament-scary-proposition>

I wonder can the ALoR now expect apologies from some of the old political warhorses who once prattled on about the U.N's. New International Economic Order as being 'a figment of the imagination of the League of Rights'? (<http://www.alor.org/Volume14/Vol14No44.htm>)

THE GREAT CARBON TAX GRAB IS NOT ALL WE HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT: Our history is dotted with instances of politicians attempting to grab more powers unto themselves. But this time it is the one-world-government politicians' attempts to grab some of Australia's taxing powers and hand them over to the United Nations.

One such historical instance was the 1942 attempted power-grab by Labor's Fabian Attorney General, Dr. H.V. Evatt. Under the pretext of 'war time emergency' he wanted the States to hand over a number of their powers to Canberra. Every State agreed - except Tasmania's Upper House, led by a former Test Cricket captain Joe Darling. He told Evatt to "go home and hold a constitutional referendum under Section 128", which had been included in the Commonwealth Constitution expressly for such a purpose.

Evatt did NOT want to do this but because of Tasmania's stand finally had to hold the 1944 "14 Powers Referendum", where Australians said "No", with the biggest vote of all in Tasmania. "Constitutional Sabotage" 31/8/1973 <http://www.alor.org/Volume9/Vol9No32.htm>

A CALL FOR LABOR MP TO COURAGEOUSLY 'CROSS THE FLOOR': Barnaby Joyce has called on Joel Fitzgibbon Labor MP to do just that: "Joel, if you represent Hunter you'll vote against the carbon tax. I have been travelling around the Hunter Valley and I can't find one person who supports the carbon tax, not one, and believe you me I have been asking for their opinion. It would seem that for local member Joel Fitzgibbon sticking by his mates in Canberra is more important than sticking by his mates in Hunter.

Joel, I know it will be tough for a while but, take it from me, you will survive crossing the floor. Labor will be dirty on it for a while but they'll get over it.

Joel, I managed to do it only a year and half ago, and about 20 other times as well I think.

I reckon Joel you can do it once. You'll survive Joel you really will and you would have done something incredible you would have represented your constituents.

Don't think that the people I spoke to today don't understand that if you cross the floor you can stop the carbon tax. Even your Labor mate Tony Windsor says that you should represent your constituents, though he seems to have forgotten about that lately.

So I tell the people of Hunter that Joel can stop the carbon tax. Your local member has immense power. Even if he just said he would cross the floor he could stop it. Let's see how big the heart in his chest really is. Let's see what he really thinks of you.

So, Joel you tell your constituents that you are not going to vote for it, you are going to cross the floor, you are going to represent the people of Hunter first and foremost. When those little bells ring and those little green lights flash, just walk into the chamber, toughen up and vote for Hunter". (emphasis added....ed)

AND WHAT ABOUT 'INDEPENDENT' TONY WINDSOR'S ACTIONS? Windsor's actions responsible for increasing costs of local council – Senator Barnaby Joyce: 13th July 2011. Tony Windsor's support of the Green-Labor-Independent government and his support of the carbon tax has led to a $300,000 increase in the electricity costs of his local council, which no doubt will have to be retrieved via increased rates.

The Tamworth's Regional Council annual electricity bill is $3 million a year. With the carbon tax set to increase electricity prices by another 10%, the carbon tax will increase Tamworth's electricity costs alone by $300,000.

Last night the Tamworth Regional Council unanimously supported a decision to investigate the full impact on the Council's costs caused by the carbon tax. No doubt road construction costs will go up, bridge construction costs will go up and the transport fuel costs, from 2014, are going to go up. The Council has also called on the Federal government to compensate the people of Tamworth for the costs of a carbon tax that they didn't ask for and haven't voted for.

Of course if Mr. Windsor didn't support a carbon tax then we wouldn't have a carbon tax and the rates wouldn't be going up because of the carbon tax.

So no doubt the people of Tamworth will be thrilled to bits about the actions of their local federal member when they get their next rates notice. Similarly so will the people of Inverell, Gunnedah, Glen Innes, and Walcha.

All this cost for absolutely zero outcome in its affect on the climate: All these costs so we can assist banks to make more commissions on the future trading of permits. No doubt the people of Tamworth will be thrilled to know that some of their rates will be sent overseas to buy carbon permits. I read today that Mr. Windsor is heading off to Spain to study renewable projects there. (<http://www.brisbanetimes.com.au/national/oakeshott-out-to-convince-voters-20110711-1haru.html?skin=text-only>)

I hope he gets the time to investigate the Spanish 'night time' solar power fraud, where in 2009-10 diesel generators were producing 'solar' power at night and claiming the associated subsidised tariff price. (http://www.theecologist.org/News/news_round_up/465409/spanish_nighttime_solar_energy_fraud_unlikely_in_uk.html) Solar panel at night, now that really is global warming. This is the kind of show that we are getting ourselves into when we start sending $3.5 billion of taxpayers' money offshore to buy carbon credits.

P.S. I should have got Barnaby to write this week's On Target!.....ed.

NATION WILL FOUNDER AND HEAD FOR RUIN by Wallace Klinck, Canada: So long as a nation continues to account its assets (physical and spiritual) as a liability, it will flounder and be headed for ruin. As British Social Crediter Eric de Mare concluded his book "A Matter of Life or Debt" (U.S. ed., 1991): "This monstrous confidence trick, this bogus numerology, this mad metaphysical rite of borrowing oneself out of debt, (<http://www.alor.org/Media.html>) is still blindly accepted by political leaders of every persuasion all over the world. It is so destructive and so crazy that it may bring all life on this planet to a hideous end. Are we to vanish from this earth without even a whimper of protest against the cause of that possible tragedy? Nothing in the world will, or can, go right until we first get our money sums right.

Social Credit advocates the National (Consumer) Dividend and the Compensated Price (retail at point of sale) in the context of a properly constructed National Credit Account so that we can draw upon the national credit (i.e., production capacity) rather than incurring endless accumulating and un-repayable financial debts.

There are two forms of 'credit': Actually there are two forms of "credit": (1) Real Credit being the ability to produce goods and services as, when and where required or desired, and (2) Financial Credit being the ability to create money as, when and where required. There should be an equation between the two forms of credit.

When debt-driven prosperity reaches a point where the accumulated debt is no longer sustainable, credit is restricted and economic recession or depression is induced. At this point the banking system and stronger economic entities foreclose on the weaker ones revealing the essentially confiscatory nature of the existing defective and predatory financial system that issues money only as debt.

The increasing "gap" between consumer prices and incomes should not be bridged by new money created by banks as debt-claims against the future, but by new consumer-credits created without being registered as debt and paid in direct support of consumption.

The National (Consumer) Dividend and Compensated Price (to lower consumer goods prices) as proposed by C. H. Douglas are the Social Credit mechanisms offered as an appropriate correction to the problems of distributing goods and accumulating un-repayable financial debt. When consumer goods have been completed and are ready for purchase by consumers the physical costs (the human and non-human energy and materials) have already been provided or "paid." A realistic financial system would reflect this fact.

COME ON BANKERS, GIVE US ANOTHER GFC (NOT KFC)! by James Reed: The International Monetary Fund is more than a little bit worried that Greece's debt problems could go global. Well, why not, global is the buzz-word now. The IMF solution is for countries which it has bailed out - Greece, Portugal and Iceland - to become a "fully integrated" monetary union. In other words, solve the problem of poisoning by swallowing ever more of the international financial toxin.

If Greece defaults, U.S. and British banks will face the tab and the bankers will put down their greasy KFC and give us another GFC. And a mighty fine thing that would be! The bigger the crash the better the social credit option of financial self-reliance looks. Bring it on Mr Banker!
