FALSE NEWS ABOUT ALLEGED RUSSIAN NERVE AGENTS By Michael Ferguson

The Deep State of the West must have a death wish, for they are forever obsessed with starting a war with Russia, perhaps because they see the last drop of symbolic resistance to their complete domination of the universe, in a way crazier than any 1960s James Bond villain. It is a globalist psychopathy of the most disturbing form, for unlike other killers and mass murders, the global elite are willing to destroy life on earth. Apparently, the elimination of anything higher than a virus would be a win for globalism, so long as all forms of nationalism are obliterated. The nerve gas attack in the UK on ex-spy Sergei Skripal, probably did not come from Russia at all:

“The substance used in the poisoning of Sergei Skripal may have originated from the countries studying the “Novichok” nerve agent, including the UK, Slovakia, the Czech Republic and Sweden, the Russian Foreign Ministry said. “The most likely source of origin of the toxin are the countries which have been carrying out intense research on the substances from the ‘Novichok’ program, approximately since the end of the 1990s until the present time, and this project is not the creation of Russia or the Soviet Union,” Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharova said on Saturday. She listed the UK, Slovakia, the Czech Republic and Sweden among the countries involved. The US should also “be put under question,” Zakharova said in an interview with the state broadcaster VGTRK. “How did they come to the conclusion about a Russian ‘footprint’ if they didn’t give us those samples? Logically they shouldn’t have this substance. Which samples have they compared with to draw such a conclusion?” she went on. “Questions arise: then, they should have samples, which they conceal, or it is a lie from start to finish.” “If the UK prime minister and other British experts give the formula, then it will be clear which countries have been developing these agents,” she said.

Zakharova’s remarks echo those of Russia’s representative at the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW), Aleksandr Shulgin, who said the ‘Novichok’ research was taken out of the Soviet Union following its collapse. While Shulgin didn’t name where the program was smuggled, he said the source of the substance used in Salisbury is “concealed in one of the countries where this research continued and achieved certain success”. None of this though prevented the UK from making a fool of itself with the diplomat expulsions. Sadly, Great Britain is no longer great and is disintegrating fast, a product of the modern disease. The rot, as in Australia, is everywhere, and it is hard to know where to start cleaning up. ***

THE END OF BRITISH RULE OF LAW By Peter West

As my mother is ill today and cannot get out of bed, I will do the honours of her report about the decline and fall of her beloved England. And, what a mess that place is now, perhaps a toss-up with Sweden in the collapse stakes. The British (legal-ed) system pursues so-called hate crimes with an iron fisted ruthlessness, and will throw one in irons even if one’s dog misbehaves. Why, pursuing “hate crimes” is now the number one job of the police, which is what the Deep State requires for keeping the natives in line until they can be demographically displaced (while making pounds off them, as they go down): https://www.youtube.com/watch?time_continue=197&v=QQ8WPzu_u9U

The police and prosecutors are so soft on migrant crime, which is now being defined out of existence, that they have held that it was not possible to prosecute a grooming gang because, allegedly the 13 year old white British girl consented to rape and systematic abuse:

“Prosecutors told a Telford grooming victim’s father they couldn’t prosecute the alleged abuser because the 13-year-old had consented to have sex with the man, according to uncovered documents. (continued next page)

(continued from previous page) The letter was discovered after papers were handed over to the Home Office as part of the ongoing investigation into what may be Britain's 'worst ever' child abuse scandal. It was sent from the Crown Prosecution Service to a father in 2016, and stated the branch couldn't prosecute the man because although the young girl may not have wanted to have sex, she agreed she would. The existence of the letter was first reported by Sky News, and read: 'The defence that was put forward in this case was that she willingly met the suspect and had consensual sexual intercourse with him. 'Also at the time this took place the suspect held a reasonable belief that she was over the age of 16. 'In her statements to the police she was clear that although she may not have wanted sexual intercourse with the suspect, she agreed.'

Cutting to the chase, it is uncontroversial law, that statutory rape occurred, but the authorities excused it because of anti-white racism, namely the victim was a white British girl, and the offenders were migrants. Don't tell me that if some white guy had been grooming non-whites that he would have been treated so softly. Surely, the entire system would have erupted in a frenzy of anti-racism, screaming for days, months, years, decades, about the injustice: and rightly so! Law in Britain is as

WHO BENEFITS FROM THE FALL OF EUROPE? By Paul Walker

A good test of finding out who is attempting to destroy you is to ask: who benefits? This issue was recently addressed by Russian nationalist Vladimir Zhirinovskiy who had some insights to share:

<https://www.rt.com/politics/422431-west-collapse-russia-zhirinovskiy/>

"Western nations need the current conflict with Russia to consolidate the region in the face of the migrant crisis and looming collapse of the European Union, the leader of the Russian Liberal Democratic Party has said. "The European Union is falling apart. How can they prevent this without an external threat? They need some fear factor," Vladimir Zhirinovskiy wrote in his Telegram messenger on Tuesday. "They are no longer afraid of the Islamic world, there are millions of refugees from Arab nations and Africa living in Europe anyway. China is too far. Russia is all that they are left with," he explained. "Besides, the USA benefits from this whole situation. If Europe remains unstable, funds from the whole world would pour into the United States. A similar effect was recorded in the time of

ABOLISHING GERMANY By Michael Ferguson

According to "mother" Angela Merkel, Islam is part of Germany, because Germany does not exist as anything more than a multicultural consumer globalist plaything:

<http://www.breitbart.com/london/2018/03/16/islam-belongs-germany-merkel-insists/>

Yes, when an aggressive man runs at you, mother, and your armed security deals with it, that too, is part of the new Germany.

simple as that and anyone who is white questioning this, will be punished by prison. And, the elites are just getting warmed up.

Does that seem like a democratic society to you, or one which is under invasion, where the establishment has turned on its own people, like a cancer? The remarkable thing is that the ordinary people are just allowing all of this to occur, with no anger. It seems to be a pathological death wish produced by the decadent comforts of over-civilisation.

For conservatives not too much concerned about the race/immigration issue, ask yourself how long will the monarchy survive in this decaying society, and what chance is there of social credit, when the system falls apart and descends into unending chaos? Oh, it already has. Mum was going to write an article about a recent beauty contest controversy of a Muslim contestant wearing a hijab, and was going to say that such contests are demeaning to women anyway, and in a sense non-Christian. I really don't know about that one; I suppose she has a point. But, I don't care because things have gone way beyond debates about wearing hijabs. The issues discussed above about fundamental justice are far more important than beauty contests. England seems to be in one unending UGLY contest. ***

World War II, which was mostly waged on European territory," the Russian politician noted. Zhirinovskiy's comment followed shortly after the United States, the United Kingdom, 16 EU nations and several other Western countries announced that they were expelling dozens of Russian diplomats in response to Russia's alleged complicity in the recent poisoning of ex-spy Sergei Skripal and his daughter Yulia. Russia has denied any role in the incident and has demanded to see some basis for the allegations being made by British officials, but this request has been denied."

Western elites, as seen by the US baiting of Russia by its false news media, is itching for a war with Russia. Yet, as has been covered here in many articles, Russia has already been preparing its defence, while the West has been preoccupied with transgender and like issues. The West is highly likely to be destroyed in any war with Russia and/or China, so we should be doing all we can for peace. But, we are ruled by the criminally insane, so do not expect reason to win the day. ***

Likewise, when migrant crime increases by 61 percent, in just one vibrant region.

I imagine that the political class have a bet going about who can destroy their society the quickest. Pity for them though, that they will not be able, yet, to escape to outer space, and will still have to stew on this planet with the rest of us. ***

AFRICA'S MIGRANT CRISIS By James Reed

We have reported on the African migration crisis, where millions of Africans intend to migrate to the West, whether the West likes it or not, in a Camp of the Saints scenario: <https://www.amazon.com/Camp-Saints-Jean-Raspail/dp/1881780074>

There are many reasons for the mass migration, including the fallout effects of big dams in the Sahel region, which have dried out wetlands, endangering the livelihoods of thousands. Consequently, many decided to take the royal road as refugees, environmental refugees in fact. Nevertheless, for multiculters seeking easy answers, this alone does not account for the sheer numbers, tens of millions of Africans seeking to flood Europe in the next migration crisis. They seek the lifestyle that Europe offers, and have seen how easy it is, thanks to the New Class elites, to get on the migrant train.

With Africa's population exploding, Europe, and the rest of the West does indeed face Camp of the Saints style swamping, for chain migration will lead to all of Africa entering Europe. By 2050, on the medium growth projection, Africa's population will be 2.5 billion, and by 2100, 4 billion, one third of all people on Earth. The consequences, once the West collapses from its own pathological altruism, will be catastrophic.

“Just 10 rivers are carrying 90% of the plastic entering the oceans, a study has found. Two of them are in Africa - the Nile and the Niger - while the others are in Asia: the Indus, Ganges, Amur, Mekong, Pearl, Hai he, Yellow and Yangtze. As well as being some of the world's longest rivers, they have big populations alongside them. The Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research in Leipzig, Germany, also said they tend to be in countries where waste control could be better.”

There is also the problem of European nuclear weapons, as well as nuclear power stations going into meltdown and poisoning all life on Earth, when or if, Europe collapses. ***

YOUTUBE GOES DOWN THE TUBES By Brian Simpson

It is getting hard to keep up with all the censorship the IT giants are imposing. Now, YouTube has moved right away from gun issues and is banning prepping videos, of all things:

<https://www.naturalnews.com/2018-03-28-breaking-youtube-bans-pandemic-preparedness-video-that-teaches-people-how-to-survive-a-deadly-outbreak.html>

“The latest censorship insult from YouTube has just arrived: YouTube has just issued a strike and banned a Natural News video entitled, “Pandemic Preparedness FREE Online How To Course Episode 12.”

The video, which you can see at this link (or watch below), teaches people how to survive a pandemic outbreak when antibiotics are useless and vaccines don't even exist. The discussion in this particular video centered around “remaining calm” during a pandemic outbreak that causes many people to panic. According to YouTube, teaching people how to survive a pandemic and remain calm “violates our guidelines” and gets banned. This is what YouTube has now become: a technology overlord that interferes with lifesaving information by banning some of the most helpful channels that contribute to saving lives in outbreaks, natural disasters and other emergencies. YouTube literally wants its viewers to die rather than view a Health Ranger video containing lifesaving information.”

Fortunately, pro-action folk like Mike Adams, who have money and tech savvy, are moving away from the mainstream pc libtard sites, and Adams will launch REAL.video on July 4, 2018. It is only a matter of time before social credit videos are banned because someone will raise “stormy” stuff about what Major Douglas said, and that is enough nowadays to kill anyone by remote guilt by association. So, clearly, there is a need to move beyond YouTube and the like. However, for the foreseeable future, YouTube will still be good on neutral education videos, containing worthwhile mathematics, physics, chemistry and computing tutorials, which I recommend to my science students. The quality of teaching is very good indeed, and I am not ashamed to say that I brushed up on one thing in vector analysis before teaching my Year 12 class last year. ***

TRAVELS IN CULTURAL NIHILISM - review

It is hard to find academics willing to have a hit at the tyrannical system, since they are soon removed. Yet, UK academic Stephen Leonard, in Travels in Cultural Nihilism, (Arktos, 2017), seems to have done a good job of slaughtering sacred cows, boldly proclaiming that multiculturalism is a failure.

Leonard has observed political correctness first hand, and no doubt will in the future. He hopes that European man will wake up in time to prevent the complete slide into chaos and collapse. I do too, but it may not happen. Fear is leading many of even those who once put their heads above the trenches, to retreat to the safer spots down in the dirt of the trench. Meanwhile, time stops for no man.

THE WANTON WORSHIP OF WOODY WEEDS by Viv Forbes

Greens worship woody weeds. Their proposed tree-clearing bans in Queensland are the latest salvo in a long war favouring trees and damaging grasslands and pastoralists.

For millennia Australia's open forests and treeless plains have supported our national emblems – the kangaroo and the emu, which in turn sustained aborigines, eagles and dingos. Australian grasslands also nurtured now-endangered species such as bustards, quail, pigeons, finches and grass parrots.

Nothing stands still in nature. Savannas are forever a battleground between grassland, scrub and desert. Greens gaze in rapture at the trees but ignore the valuable grasses beneath their feet – native plants like Mitchell Grass and Kangaroo Grass and cultivated grasses like wheat, barley, oats, sorghum and sugar cane.

Greens hate grazing animals like cattle and sheep (but not wildebeest!) and, like trained parrots, repeat the hard-hoof fairy-tale about soil compaction and erosion. In reality, hoof action breaks crusty soil. A short burst of concentrated animal impact with hoof cultivation, seed burial, and application of dung and urine fertilisers does wonders for the long-term health of the pasture. It is not a question of hard hooves or soft paws - it is a grazing management question. A healthy pasture needs grasses, herbs, legumes and periodic grazing animals – shut out the ruminants, or stock heavily and continuously, and you will get weeds and desert.

Greens favour “Do Nothing Pasture Management”. Along with their bans on mechanical or chemical control of tree invasions, they try to prevent bushfires which have for millennia maintained the vigour of the grasslands. To have healthy pasture requires recycling of nutrients from old dead grass before the summer rains. This is best achieved by concentrated short-term hoof impact or by controlled burning (both of which may also kill tree seedlings that are forever trying to invade the grasslands).

Greens are always nibbling away at grasslands and open forests by demanding ever more nationalised parks, conservation zones and other green blockades. Instead of supporting graziers with their productive pastures and grazing animals they create ever-expanding sterilised un-managed areas which become havens for weeds like lantana, prickly pear, cactus and wait-a-while and pests like feral dogs, wild pigs and wild cats.

Proposed new Queensland laws will hinder landowners in harvesting mulga scrub during drought and controlling invasion of grasslands by woody weeds. These destructive green bans plus the unjust Kyoto tree-clearing land seizures are part of the global Green plan to drive farmers and graziers from much of the land. The great value of ruminants is their efficiency in converting the vegetation of poorer grasslands and open forest into edible proteins and fats. ALP/Green policies will reduce the supply of this truly free-range food and increase our dependence on feedlot food, which is worse for the environment and our health.

And for those who believe the greenhouse warming fable, grassland plants remove the bogey-man (carbon dioxide) from the atmosphere. This carbon collected by grazing animals ends up in long-term storage in human bodies via meat and other animal food products. At the end of their life, most human bodies get sequestered in carbon-based coffins and buried in carbon cemeteries. Greens should be happy with that, but the plant world will gradually suffer from this relentless loss of the gas of life from the biosphere.

The bureaucracy of our “Brave New Green World” will use drones, spy cameras and computer programs to trap and punish any grazier who dares to defend his grassland from invading trees.

Instead of tree clearing bans we need to free our land managers for a war on woody weeds using controlled burning, better grazing management and reversal of the unjust Kyoto land sterilisation program. ***
