

- NEWS HIGHLIGHTS
- BACKGROUND INFORMATION
- COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

The Price of Freedom is Eternal Vigilance

Print Post Publication Number 10000815

Vol. 54 No. 22

8th June 2018

IN THIS ISSUE

The Malignant Financial System By James Reed	1
People Never Learn: Millennial's Socialism By John Steele	2
Italy: How the New World Order Rules By James Reed	3
The Fruits of Diabetes By Mrs Vera West	4

THE MALIGNANT FINANCIAL SYSTEM By James Reed

Each week, at least one of us rages against our mutant financial system. For a change, here is a Russian website saying it as only a Russian can, so join me in having a vodka with lemon:

“Any country that does not have full control of its own financial affairs is not truly sovereign. No matter how well intentioned or patriotic its leaders may be, it will always have to operate within the artificially strict confines of current economic theories and the dominance of the international financial system.

The international financial system (or, more correctly, the international banking system) may or may not be run by deliberately evil people but the top of this structure is dominated by a disdain for nationhood and thus also a disdain for community and family, a peoples’ heritage and personal freedom. No matter how noble its propaganda may sound the appalling and destructive drive for any sort of ‘world order’ always will create ‘disorder’ and harm. Such a highly centralized and powerful structure cannot be anything other than a war against reality and the ordinary human spirit. It is the opposite of that for which Christ sacrificed Himself. His sacrifice teaches that the True God, our Creator and Creator of the entire amazing and bountiful universe loves each one of us intimately.

Among other things when He walked on this planet He stated that He came “that we might have life and have it more abundantly” (John 10.10 KJV) This statement is too often thought to have only a spiritual meaning but is that correct? What about His other teaching; v.26 “Look at the birds of the air, that they do not sow, nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not worth much more than they? . . .

v.28 And why are you worried about clothing? Observe how the lilies of the field grow; they do not toil nor do they spin, v.29 yet I say to you that not even Solomon in all his glory clothed himself like one of these.” (Matt. 6:26, 28-29)

Surely “life” means also our physical welfare and any sane person knows that it is nearly impossible to develop a deeper sense of spirituality in the midst of gruelling poverty or overwork. Love is suppressed when there is little opportunity for relaxation and reflection and these require economic security.”

Rather than just surviving, if people are to be fully human rather than being merely mechanical slaves of meat, they must begin to ask the big questions: why are things as they are, and how can they change? Social credit has the answer, and if you are new here, there are many places on our website alor.org that will fully enlighten you.***

IRELAND FALLS By Mrs Vera West

Ireland, once a Catholic country, has now accepted abortion “rights”: <http://www.breitbart.com/london/2018/05/26/irish-voters-say-yes-abortion/>

“Ireland’s campaign to save the country’s Eighth Amendment, which bans abortion, is conceding it has lost Friday’s referendum by a landslide. The people of Ireland “weighed it in the balance and it came down on one side. I obviously would have preferred if they had come down on the other,” John McGuirk, communications director for the “Save the 8th” campaign, told national broadcaster RTE, according to Reuters. “There is no prospect of the (abortion rights) legislation not being passed,” McGuirk added.

Many who voted in favor of repeal are crying “tears of joy” with the prospect of abortion access in their country.”

Christian readers who may be a wee bit sceptical about the position taken here by some of us, that Western civilisation is facing internal moral collapse, which will have a kick-on effect, destroying the entire structure of society, must think harder in the light of continuous bad news like this. It is not random and is following a grand plan. The open conspiracy, of sorts.

***

PEOPLE NEVER LEARN: MILLENNIAL'S SOCIALISM By John Steele

Ooops, I almost said a bad cuss word ... but this report made me drop the guard I keep on my tongue: the young generation are turning to socialism, big time:

<https://www.zerohedge.com/news/2018-05-26/socialism-no-longer-dirty-word>

“You would think that events in socialist Venezuela would knock some sense into these young people, but a new survey from GenForward shows increasing support for socialism. The report looks at how the millennial population thinks about politics and offers us a look at how the next generation thinks. Support for socialism is strongest among African-Americans and capitalism is supported by a small majority of white Americans. Among Asians and Latinos there is marginally more support for socialism. Given the support for the Bernie Sanders campaign this result is not surprising. When asked questions about whether strong government or the free market is the key to solving social problems, respondents believed that government is the answer by two to one. The majority felt the government was doing a good job with the economy, especially those that identified as Republican.

How this can be is a mystery. The federal government deficit has averaged more than a $1 trillion over the last decade. Guess who will have to pay this bill? Every $1 trillion of increased government debt puts an approximate burden of $15,000 on every millennial. High government support among Republicans is probably just a reflection of the fact that their party is in power. The millennial generation wants higher minimum wage laws, equal pay for equal pay, free tuition and for the government to pay off their student loans which indicates their Economic IQ is close to zero. I understand them not knowing that subsidies to higher education make a college degree even less attainable, but advocating a higher minimum wage is just stupid under all conditions.

Their gut feelings come from a variety of sources. Their education has brainwashed them about where our standard of living comes from. Lifestyle, for many of them, makes them feel guilty for the poor and downtrodden. Envy of the rich and famous also plays a role. They have been “successful” and “above average” all their lives. Why can't they be rich and famous too? I think a really big factor is that, under these conditions, they should feel betrayed and left out.”

The point is, that the Baby boomer generation in their greed and narcissism, have let this generation down, and now, with desperation, they are getting angry. And, rightly so.

The real challenge for the social credit movement is to begin programs of reaching out to the young generation and undercutting the socialist influence, a menace which grows by the day. After all, the modern day socialists are all fleeing from the ‘utopia’ they created: <https://www.rt.com/news/427270-maduro-venezuela-presidential-elections/> ***

SYDNEY AND WHITE FLIGHT; SOON WHITE FRIGHT By James Reed

If readers are weary of the style of reporting by some of us, which looks at overseas events, and draws links to Australia, which is still a bit behind the curve of destruction, then consider Andrew Bolt's take on white flight in Sydney, a place which is set to resemble many of the cities in Europe and the US. It is just a matter of time, because the same immigration and multicult policies are in place in all of these places:

<http://www.heraldsun.com.au/blogs/andrew-bolt/denying-white-flight-is-dishonest/news-story/eec595037f4fabca1e7b6d242d671c1b>

As one person on the blog comments:

“The saddest part is soon we will have no-where left to go. Our leaders have literally handed our country over to foreigners, and an apathetic and nihilistic public has allowed it to happen. My grandchildren will be born a minority in their own country. Well done Australia.”

<http://www.heraldsun.com.au/blogs/andrew-bolt/chinese-dictatorship-tells-australia-to-behave/news-story/5dd33c98918f38173ac613646e8c7d81>

THE BRITISH GENDER AGENDA By Mrs Vera West

Isn't it amazing, incredible in fact, that we are having a literal explosion of these gender identity issues now? We may believe that these are socially constructed by media attention, but while the social construction explanation is used by the Left for everything else, such as race issues, which don't exist being social constructions, unless it can somehow be used against primarily Northern European whites, for gender identity, that is definitely real and not a social construction.

<https://www.thesun.co.uk/news/6306769/2356-children-including-kids-age-4-are-seeking-help-for-gender-issues/>

“A RECORD 2,356 children including some as young as four are seeking medical help for gender issues.

The number referred by GPs last year has more than tripled from 673 in 2014/15. They were assigned to The Tavistock Centre in North London, the UK's only facility for such issues in under-18s. Official NHS figures show most cases involve 15 and 16-year-olds. But 329 patients were under 13. Reality TV star Caitlyn Jenner raised awareness after transitioning in 2015. Clinic director Dr Polly Carmichael said: “There is no single explanation for the rise. There has been significant progress towards the acceptance and recognition of transgender and gender-diverse people.”

Look, there is even a nice set of statistics to support all of this. Where will this lead when surgery becomes a rare thing because of super-bugs, what then? ***

ITALY: HOW THE NEW WORLD ORDER RULES By James Reed

After the Italian people elected a populist anti-EU government that decided that it would do something about the insane EU immigration policy imposed on the people, the EU elites said: no, you cannot have this government, because we rule, not you, and you will be immigrated to death:

<https://www.zerohedge.com/news/2018-05-27/italy-chaos-country-vote-again-after-president-blocks-government-unclear-what>

“Italian President Sergio Mattarella announced his rejection of Italy’s populist coalition government Sunday evening in what is being billed as one of the worst days in Italian political history. Mattarella’s move is being widely interpreted as a rejection not only of the government but of the national will as expressed in democratic elections, and massive demonstrations are expected Monday. The Italian president was reportedly under heavy pressure from Brussels, Berlin, and other centres of European power to abort the Eurosceptic government, which they viewed as a threat to European stability.”

This will get interesting and is likely to be a test case for the future. Will the ordinary voters accept being suppressed or will they, perhaps for one of the few times in human history, rise up against their dictatorial masters? If there is anything worth fighting for at all, this is it, so I hope that the based Italians show us the way in their fight against globalist anarcho-tyranny. ***

GRIP STRENGTH AND THE BRAIN By John Steele

My grand pop told me to judge a man by his handshake. Men with soft effeminate hands, beware! But, now research is indicating that there is so much more to grip strength:

<https://www.naturalnews.com/2018-05-24-your-handshake-may-be-a-good-indicator-of-how-healthy-your-brain-is.html>

“A hand grip may be a normal, everyday thing for men and women alike but a recent study showed that the strength of a handshake can indicate a person’s brain health.

Using the data of 475,397 people from the general population in the U.K., and 1,162 participants who were diagnosed with schizophrenia, researchers discovered that grip strength is connected to the performance of the visual memory and reaction time of a person. This study has been proven in two groups where one has participants over 55 years old and the other has participants younger than 55.

Aside from visual memory and reaction time, tests conducted during the research also included examinations for reasoning, prospective memory and number memory.

According to Dr. Joseph Firth, an Honorary Research Fellow at The University of Manchester and Research Fellow at NICM Health Research Institute at Western Sydney University, people who are stronger tend to have better functioning brains, particularly when age, gender, body weight and education are taken into account.

The cross-sectional analysis was done between 2007 and 2010 using the baseline assessment for the UK Biobank. As part of the test, participants were categorized for more focused studies and results; those with records of non-affective disorders were tested separately from those with no history of mental illnesses”.

<https://academic.oup.com/schizophreniabulletin/advance-article/doi/10.1093/schbul/sby034/4942313>

It looks like there really was something in grand pop’s advice after all! ***

THE LAMPS OF DEATH By Brian Simpson

It looks like even streetlights, of a type, may kill us, in a way:

http://www.shtfplan.com/headline-news/warning-5g-tech-in-wifi-street-lamps-causing-insomnia-nosebleeds-stillbirths\_05232018

“A man in the United Kingdom is warning that the 5G technology found in street lamps can cause some moderate to severe health concerns. In Gateshead, a town in Northern England, citizens are reporting an array of disturbing side effects including insomnia, nosebleeds, and even stillbirths. However, Mark Steele has something to say about it. According to Natural News, Steele, 58, is a local resident in Gateshead and reportedly is a member of the IEEE, an organization which describes itself as “the world’s largest technical professional organization dedicated to advancing technology for the benefit of humanity.” But the radiation given off by the state-of-the-art LED street lamps is wreaking havoc on the residents of Gateshead creating a “humanitarian crisis.” Steele says that a number of people who have been suffering from nosebleeds, insomnia, and other neurological problems since the lights were put in place continues to rise. As bad as that may seem, it gets worse still: Multiple women have lost their babies since the street lamps have gone up. In his own circle of friends, Steele explains, three women have lost babies; one of which was born with severe defects and survived just a few hours after birth. “We are seeing babies dying in the womb as these transmitters are situated outside people’s bedroom windows. It’s a humanitarian crisis,” Steele reportedly commented.”

I do not know if these sorts of lights are standing guard on our streets here in Oz, but I am getting too scared to leave the safety of my polluted house. ***

THE FRUITS OF DIABETES By Mrs Vera West

If like me, you have diabetes and are using diet to control it, you need to be aware of your sugar intake. Not all fruits are suitable for you, some being naturally high in fructose, a form of sugar:

www.naturalnews.com/2018-05-10-which-fruits-are-safe-to-eat-if-youre-diabetic.html

“One study involving over 45,000 participants in the Singapore Chinese Health Study reported that certain types of fruits decreased the risk of developing Type 2 diabetes, while some types increased the risk, dietary and lifestyle factors notwithstanding. The participants, aged between 45 to 74 years, and had no diabetes, cancer or cardiovascular disease upon recruitment (1993 to 1998), answered a validated food-frequency questionnaire in order to assess their fruit intake.

The researchers then conducted follow-up interviews with the participants – one in 1991 to 2004, and one in 2006 to 2010 – and found that over 5,000 of the participants developed Type 2 diabetes during these follow-up periods. The research team found that total fruit consumption was not consistently associated with lower risk for Type 2 diabetes. The results of the follow-up interviews showed that the consumption of high-glycemic index fruits such as bananas put men at greater risk of developing Type 2 diabetes, whereas consumption of low-glycemic index fruits such as apples lowered the risk for women.

The researchers concluded that the impact of fruit consumption on the risk of diabetes may differ by the type of fruits, depending on their glycemic impact or phytochemical content.”

Again, this is pretty much a confirmation of common sense; namely that some fruits are so sweet that you know that they are trouble. I cannot recommend any medical advice here, and these posts are for information purposes only, but I have cut out all fruits from my diet, eating only meats and vegetables, with zero dairy and zero grains. I have never felt better, but I accept that for many such a diet would be worse than a death sentence. Each to their own.

Gasp! I just googled why my eyelids are twitching, and it seems to be a product of eye strain from too much computer work. But, boys and girls, don't use that as an excuse for not doing your homework. And, the sacrifice is well worth it because we must be getting through to somebody, surely? ***

THE MOBILE PHONE MOBILE MUMMY By Mrs Vera West

I hate mobile phones too, which have captured the minds of the young and are probably going to lead to a rise in brain cancers, if not the rot of all things decent. If there really were definitive studies demonstrating a cancer link, do you think the system would do anything about it given the money involved? We live in environments full of dangerous chemicals, chemicals that suck away manhood and destroy testosterone, but the system says that is the price of modernity and consumerism. Social problems like this one is merely water off of a very large duck's back:

<http://www.thisinsider.com/2nd-grader-wishes-cellphones-didnt-exist-because-parents-use-so-much-2018-5>

“A second-grader wrote about how they wish cellphones were never invented, because they eat up so much of their parents' time — and a photo of it has gone viral. The child's teacher, Jen Adams Beason, shared a photo of the unnamed student's assignment on Facebook last Friday. It has now been shared more than 256,000 times. Here's what the assignment said (in the students' words):

“If I had to tell you what invention I don't like I would say that I don't like the phone. I don't like the phone because my panert (sic) are on their phone every day. A phone is sometimes a really bad habet (sic).

“I hate my mom's phone and I wish she never had one. That is an invention that I don't like.”

Sad, but that's just the way it is, until we are saved by a 'higher love': <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=211myGaCEhc> ***

FORUMS AND BASIC FUND

The League is outreaching to the younger generation via YouTube and our other websites. Actionists are taking up the battles. Thank you to those who have participated.

There will be further reports in the days ahead.

The current fund stands at a little under $ 19 000. Thank you to those who have donated and for those who wish to assist us reach the target of $60,000 please send yours to our Office at Happy Valley, SA -- Nat Dir

THE LEAGUE'S WEBSITE: — alor.org

blog.alor.org      thecross-roads.org

Subscription to On Target $45.00 p.a.

NewTimes Survey $30.00 p.a.

and Donations can be performed by bank transfer:

A/c Title                      Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)

BSB                                105-044

A/c No.                          188-040-840

or by cheques directed to:

‘Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)'

or on the Veritasbooks.com.au website:

<https://veritasbooks.com.au/cat/subscriptions>

“On Target” is printed and authorised by K. W. Grundy.

13 Carsten Court, Happy Valley, SA.

Postal Address: PO Box 27, Happy Valley, SA 5159.

Telephone: 08 8387 6574

email: heritagebooks@alor.org

Head Office Hours - Mon., Tues., Wed. 09.00am - 3.00pm