THOUGHT OF THE WEEK: “The poor are poor not because the rich are rich, but because there is not enough money, or, more correctly, purchasing power, to make the poor rich, or even comfortably well off, even if the whole of the money possessed by the rich were taken from them and equally divided amongst the poor”.

C.H. Douglas, Warning Democracy, 3rd ed. (London: Stanley Nott, 1935), 126:

CHINA REWRITES THE BIBLE By James Reed

Ah, China ... the things this country gets up to on the road to domination of the known universe! Things like simply rewriting the Bible so that it fits better into its communist-bee hive capitalism worldview:

<https://www.christianpost.com/news/china-trying-to-rewrite-the-bible-force-churches-sing-communist-anthems-227664/>

“The Chinese government is supervising a five-year plan to make Christianity more compatible with socialism in which there will be a "rewrite" of the Bible, a prominent religious freedom activist has told Congress. The Rev. Bob Fu, a former Chinese house church leader who immigrated to the United States in 1997 and founded the persecution watchdog organization ‘China Aid’, provided great detail during a House hearing Thursday about a plan enacted by leading state-sanctioned denominations in China to ‘Sinicize’ Christianity. As China's crackdown on religion has seen many house churches demolished and thousands of crosses removed from churches nationwide, Fu warned upfront that what is happening right now in China represents the highest degree of persecution for independent faith groups the country has seen in decades.

‘Religious freedom in China has really reached the worst level that has not been seen since the beginning of the Cultural Revolution by Chairman Mao [Zedong] in the 1960s,’ he told members of the House Foreign Affairs' Subcommittee on Africa, Global Health, Global Human Rights, and International Organizations.

At the center of this new level of persecution is China's new regulation on religious affairs that was released last year but enacted on Feb. 1. According to Fu, the revision of the religious regulations are to actively guide religion to ‘adapt to socialist society.’

In a written testimony, Fu said that under the new regulations religious activity sites will ‘accept the guidance, supervision, and inspection of relevant departments of the local people's government regarding the management of personnel, finances, assets, accounting, security, fire protection, protection of relics, health and disease prevention and so forth.” Fu said that in order to comply with the new religious regulations, the Three Self Patriotic Movement and the Chinese Christian Council (China's state-sanctioned Protestant bodies) have developed a five-year plan on ‘promoting the Sinicization of Christianity.’

He explained that the CCC and TSPM held a seminar last July for preliminary discussion about the five-year plan. He added that the plan outline was finalized at a meeting this March. The plan proposes ‘cultivating and implementing the socialist core values.’ The plan will be supervised by the national religious affairs bureau and ‘every province, autonomous region and municipality's TSPM and CCC seminaries and churches will cooperate with it’.

It is in keeping with new Chinese social credit and centralised control of every human activity. Christians need to beware.

YUM! THEY DINE ON NUCLEAR WASTE By James Reed

Basically, I love anything that makes consumer goods and life more comfortable, in this age of plenty. Consumption is everything. One can never have enough, and if God did not want this to be so, then He would not have given us infinite resources. But, this age of plenty requires energy, and plenty of it, or it would not, by definition be an "age of plenty." Sure, we have enough oil and gas to burn until the sun explodes in a trillion years, but some people feel that nuclear is better. Radiation is felt to be a problem, when mega-storms destroy nuclear power plants. That is why we need these guys to eat up all of the radioactive baddies, like pac men:

<https://sputniknews.com/science/201810081068701682-nuclear-waste-neutralizing-bacteria/>

"The unique bacteria, discovered in a nuclear waste storage site in Siberia, shows promise as a tool for the creation of a natural barrier to the spread of radionuclides. Researchers from the Moscow-based Frumkin Institute of Physical Chemistry and the Russian Academy of Sciences' Federal Research Center for Biotechnology have been able to isolate microorganisms which can be used to safeguard the surrounding environment from liquid radioactive waste. Scientists made the discovery while conducting microbiological studies of the groundwater at the Seversky deep radiation burial site in Seversk, Tomsk region, Siberia, where liquid radioactive waste from the Siberian Chemical Combine, which supplies and reprocesses low enriched uranium for nuclear fuel, is stored. Their research, recently published in Radioactive Waste, a Russian scientific journal, suggests that the bacteria is capable of converting radionuclide ions, including those found in uranium and plutonium, into sedentary forms, thereby preventing the spread of dangerous radiation into the surrounding environment. Through lab experimentation, the scientists were able to fine tune the conditions necessary for the bacteria to carry out its useful work. The researchers say their findings are a first step in creation of a biogeochemical barrier for radionuclides for use in deep burial sites containing liquid radioactive waste. Research into microbiological tools to limit the effects of nuclear waste have been conducted since the 1980s, with scientists from around the world saying microbial processes must be taken into account in projects to bury and store nuclear waste which can otherwise slowly decay over a period of millions or even billions of years."

As I understand it, humanity may soon be able to produce nuclear waste with gay abandon, sloshing it all over the place, and having our trusty nuke bacteria to soak up the mess, like low-paid migrant cleaners. Let her rip, Boris! PS: Uncle Len, please get your marbles back soon in the looney bin, we are all feeling the strain of trying to be funny men. ***

CHINA HACKING, EVERYONE By Brian Simpson

China has been hacking all of the Big Tech giants, and even the CIA, showing that Chinese cyber-warfare is in a class of its own:

<https://www.bloomberg.com/news/features/2018-10-04/the-big-hack-how-china-used-a-tiny-chip-to-infiltrate-america-s-top-companies?srnd=premium>

"But in a game-changing report published Thursday morning, Bloomberg Businessweek exposed a sprawling multi-year investigation into China's infiltration of US corporate and defense infrastructure. Most notably, it confirmed that, in addition to efforts designed to sway US elections, China's intelligence community orchestrated a pervasive infiltration of servers used to power everything from MRI machines to the drones used by the CIA and army. They accomplished this using a tiny microchip no bigger than a grain of rice. BBG published the report just hours before Vice President Mike Pence was expected to "string together a narrative of Chinese aggression" during a speech at the Hudson Institute in Washington. According to excerpts leaked to the New York Times, his speech was expected to focus on examples of China's "aggressive moves against American warships, of predatory behavior against their neighbors, and of a sophisticated influence campaign to tilt the midterms and 2020 elections against President Trump".

His speech is also expected to focus on how China leverages debt and its capital markets to force foreign governments to submit to its will (something that has happened in Bangladesh and the Czech Republic. But while those narratives are certainly important, they pale in comparison to Bloomberg's revelations, which reported on an ongoing government investigation into China's use of a 'tiny microchip' that found its way into servers that were widely used throughout the US military and intelligence infrastructure, from Navy warships to DoD server farms. The probe began three years ago after the US intelligence agencies were tipped off by Amazon. And three years later, it remains ongoing.

During the ensuing top-secret probe, investigators determined that the chips allowed the attackers to create a stealth doorway into any network that included the altered machines and that the chips had been inserted at the manufacturing stage." ***

US BIO-WEAPONS GENOCIDE? By Michael Ferguson

Could this be true? Could there really be ... shock ... horror ... conspiracies involving the killing of multitudes of people, via bioweapons disguised as drug research? And, it is the Russians who are alleging all of this!

<https://www.rt.com/news/438543-georgia-us-laboratory-bio-weapons/>

“Shrouded in mystery, a US-funded medical facility in Georgia could be a cover for a bioweapons lab used for disturbing experiments banned in the US, a Georgian ex-security minister has claimed. Tbilisi denies the accusations. However, Igor Giorgadze, a former state security minister-turned opposition figure, says he recently obtained a trove of leaked documents which might expose some dark secrets at the facility. The lab, which was ‘established on the territory of a ... former military base some 17 kilometers from Tbilisi’ as part of a US-funded project back in 2004, ‘was never meant to be a medical center and had nothing in common with a hospital,’ Giorgadze told RT. It was notably overseen by the US Defense Threat Reduction Agency (DTRA), a combat support agency of Pentagon which deals with weapons of mass destruction. Giorgadze points out that the facility has been the subject of rumors, and seemingly linked to mysterious incidents from the very beginning. Located in a Georgian village, it opened in 2011.

‘The people who lived there complained about frequent headaches, sickness and a strange smell’ which they said emanated from the lab, the ex-minister said. The beginning of work at the laboratory strangely coincided with an increase in the incidences of some diseases on Georgian territory, he added. The leaks include documents related to several US grants for research on Crimean–Congo Hemorrhagic Fever, and other disease causative agents. Coincidence or not, the NCDC data shows that the first recorded outbreaks of Crimean–Congo Hemorrhagic Fever in Georgia took place in 2009-2012, while a deadly strain of Orthopox virus was first recorded in 2013. The center, which is officially called the R. Lugar Center for Public Health Research, is described as a ‘brand new facility’ tasked with the “prevention of proliferation of technology, pathogens and expertise related to the development of biological weapons” by the National Center for Disease Control and Public Health (NCDC), an agency of Georgia’s Health Ministry. The task is said to be part of a cooperation program between Georgia and the US.”

It could be true, since stranger things are afoot, such as the present role of part of the US medical profession, who want to ban firearms, but are happy with the appalling level of doctor-caused deaths. ***

YOUNG FOLK, YOU WILL NOT HAVE A PENSION (OR EVEN A JOB) By Peter Ewer

I have long believed that the social welfare system would eventually be eliminated, dying the death of a thousand cuts. This has slowly happened with the dole and other benefits. Now the mangy cat is out of the bag on the end of pensions:

<https://www.couriermail.com.au/news/queensland/federal-treasurer-warns-welfare-not-guaranteed-for-future-generations/news-story/c667fa3140cd3cfa8c4f47a2ac981cc0>

“There is no guarantee the pension will be available for future generations, federal Treasurer Scott Morrison warned yesterday. Mr Morrison said Australia could not take for granted its generous safety net or assume it would always be there. At a post-Budget breakfast in Brisbane, he said Australia needed to keep growing the economy and had to be globally competitive. ‘We owe to future generations (to pay for) health, schools, pensions, the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme,’ he said. ‘There are no guarantees about that.’ Mr Morrison said the Federal Government was committed to ensuring pensions and essential services would be there in the future, through good financial management. Pushing the need for corporate tax cuts for the big end of town, he warned that the US, UK and France could soon all be more competitive than Australia.”

That’s the Libs all over; get rid of the pension, but make sure the big end of town gets tax cuts (that could have funded pensions). Anyway, with any luck a super global financial crisis will bring the big end of town crashing down, which will be a joyous catastrophe. ***

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To The Age Well done, Carol Oliver! Yes, "the money-makers' ignorance of any respect for our icons" (10/10) is deplorable. The burgeoning ugliness of inappropriately restricted advertising must be opposed. But political zealots can also be anti-social pests.

I only wish that readers' indignation against the defacing of the Sydney Opera House had been matched earlier by a similar outcry against the use of St. Paul's Cathedral here to blazon forth a partisan message on the refugee controversy. Nigel Jackson, Belgrave, Vic ***

YOUR CHILDREN WILL BE TRANSGENDER, OR ELSE! By Mrs Vera West

If you do not let your son put on makeup and a dress, then watch out, because Big Sister is going to swat you:

<https://www.telegraph.co.uk/education/2018/10/04/>

parents-wont-let-son-wear-skirt-may-have-referred-social-services/

“Parents who refuse to let their son wear a skirt to school may need to be referred to social services, a council’s guidance has advised schools. Mothers and fathers who dismiss a ‘gender questioning’ child’s requests to change their name could also be a trigger for concern, according to Brighton and Hove City Council’s “Trans Inclusion Schools Toolkit”. It comes after warnings that schools are ‘sowing confusion’ in children’s minds by over-promoting transgender issues, and that children are being encouraged to ‘unlearn’ the difference between boys and girls. The guidance advises teachers on how to handle a number of different scenarios, including if parents say: ‘I refuse to allow my son to change his name or wear skirts’. Schools are advised that some parents may ‘struggle’ to accept their child’s gender identity and it may be a long time before they accept the change.”

That’s the UK, or as I call it “Udecay.” But, Labor here in Australia are warming up to carry on where they left off from the Gillard era.

<https://www.conservatives.org.au/>

labor_s_big_daddy_1_7_billion_unfunded_kids_indoctrination_program

“Labor’s plan to use $1.7 billion per year of borrowed money to expand the scope, size and reach of government to three-year-olds is fiscally irresponsible and further diminishes parental choice, according to the Conservative Party. ‘Many parents will be wary of this given Labor’s enthusiasm for programs like Respectful Relationships which teach children their gender is fluid and discourage boys from playing with trucks and toy guns,’ Mr Shelton said. In what is sure to be an orchestrated move, the socially radical Andrews’ Victorian Labor government today announced it would pump $5 billion into pre-school funding for every three-year-old.”

Labor, if they get in will be pushing the agenda to the next level, so it is time to think about defeating them, and also replacing them with some strong independents. ***

ACTION TARGET

TARGET NO 1.

The On Target of October 12 (last week) carried a most important article about the Greens “Australian Multiculturalism Act 2018”. Peter Ewer called it the “Dispossession of Traditional Australia, law”.

Peter encouraged readers to contact Pauline Hanson; your Local Federal MHR and any other Independent MP’s to protest over the threat to our future. Write in polite but strong terms. I suggest you simply protest that the Bill will deny us the values we have grown up with. It will drive a sharp division between Australians and migrants. Make the point that new settlers must be prepared to adopt and respect Australian standards and values when living here. If that happens much of the division will evaporate. Stress also that the level of migration needs to be severely reduced to avoid racial tension.

TARGET NO 2.

The bullets are sure coming thick and fast. Similar to the target above is the “Global Compact for Migration”(GCM). This is a UN sponsored plan with enormous repercussions for the free world. Fortunately, some nations are objecting to the proposal; the highest profile nation being the US. President Trump clearly told the UN in his recent speech to the Assembly that the US would have nothing to do with the plan. His argument was based on the US deciding on its own, the policies which it would employ. Basically it is a plan to allow mass immigration to flow anywhere across the world. You can imagine very few would be heading to China, Pakistan, Iraq or Antarctica - no, they will all wish to join the western countries to enjoy what we have created over generations.

The GCM is scheduled to be ‘agreed to’ by late this year and an earlier report showed only the US and Hungary had indicated their non-involvement. It appears Australia could withdraw at a later stage but it is clearly better to NOT become involved from the start. -ND ***
