Thought For The Week: 'Demon Est Deus Inversus' ('The Devil Is God Inverted')

INVERTING BACK THE INVERTED By Arnis Luks

With the escalation of covid propaganda it is vital to inject some political and philosophical clarity into our thinking. How do societies work; upon what foundation are they built? Coming together to form a family as the basic unit of society, people do so based on mutual love and cooperation. This, as prototype, is a demonstrable model for larger types if it is fit for purpose. This is the reason the revolutionaries are so anti-family, anti-husband especially, and also the wife to be equally responsible towards employment in spite of all the advancements in the industrial arts.

When families come together to form a community, they are also doing so based on mutual love and cooperation, which ensures a cohesive community structure. Cultural warfare in the form of class, religion, age and all other forms of fostered-antagonisms causes community strife, to fragment and fall apart.

When communities come together to form a state it is also based on mutual love and cooperation. States can become antagonistic towards other states in the form of economic wars, but this is generally due to insecurity and scarcity (of which we no longer suffer unless it is man induced famine – Joseph with his coat of many colours).

The family model Prototype (based on mutual love and cooperation) holds "True" for all instances in the demonstrable world. China's escalation of the nuclear arms race is an expression of insecurity and insistence of domination over others. As a nation, they are not at peace with themselves with little if any love and cooperation. 'There comes their soulless hand of tyranny from a philosophy of materialism'. There is no individual initiative nor creativity within all these oppressive Marxist regimes. This is where we are going if we follow the MSM propaganda towards totalitarianism. If the truth be known, the knowledge of nuclear arms was handed to China and Russia on a platter by the West in order to foster the dialectic – free world against communist world narrative. Without Hardware by C R Dalton is an historical record of the subverted Australian Nuclear Industry.

Scott Morrison and Tony Abbott introduced the "no jab no play, no jab no pay" policy, as an act of 'financial and medical violence' against our young mums and their children - malevolence. Who would have thought this supposedly conservative 'encouragement' would end up in the current state of "no jab no job"? Yet it has.

Unless we are evaluating these programs upon the correct principles of association, we may never know where their skewered principle will work through to until the observable conclusion - for the ill, not the good.

Medical 'blackmail' against young mums and our children has evolved into what we observe concerning all others who wish to continue employment. The principle of this association was wrong from the start. Medical choices must be from a position of informed consent and freely entering into agreement. Dissenters are not criminals, just people with a different point of view. Freedom - the right to chose or refuse one thing at a time.

The Puritan rule-maker can be within us all - especially the 'would be if they could be' dictator. History has shown countless times that power cannot be exercised responsibly when in too few hands. Today is no different than every other time in history - the rules don't change because we want them to, or we have forgotten them. We must recognise these rules (natural law) and set up our systems to accommodate them - limiting constitution.

There is a prayer – 'Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as in heaven'. I see this as a Commission to look at the words of The Christ and the natural world and how they work best, and from there to bring these observations into our systems, be they family, society, government, organised religion, or finance. The principle of observing them in the real - natural world and then implementing them is the same - inductive science.

Using the organised church as an ignominious example - should the structure be from the top down, or should the structure be from the bottom up? I think demonstrably the current structure is corrupted with power by the 'preference' for money, and needs to be inverted.

The local church is generally established upon the foundation of gifts of land, and then physically built from community effort, materials and support. Church organisations are currently selling off these gifts for financial gain, when in fact the property rightfully should be given back to the community from whence it came. While not necessarily illegal, the action certainly holds no moral standing on this issue. Administering taxation for charitable purposes does not elevate an immoral act. Should the traditional family have been given sufficient tax relief, and a just financial system put in place, the opportunity for an extended family is promoted and the 'aged' cared for in the traditional home environment. The organised church's preference is money. This feeds into the cesspit of their observable inverted morality.

So it is with the organised political parties. They are meant to serve, but being corrupted from the top down are an inversion of a Truth - 'He that is the greatest among you shall be your servant'. If you wish to start a political movement or a local church, it is from this principle that you must build. All other efforts are simply power movements with differing labels.

Within this week's reading list came the title :
"... and forgive them their Debts" by Michael Hudson. His work reinforced my mention of the two trains of thought within the Old Testament record, one originating within the Mosaic Tradition, and the other emerging from the teachings of the Rabbi Hillel, a founder of rabbinical Judaism, who sponsored the prosbul clause, by which creditors obliged their clients to waive their rights to have their debts cancelled in the 'Year of Jubilee'. The schism within the Mosaic Tradition was perhaps five hundred years before Christ's birth. You will read in the New Testament Jesus' teachings left the people 'amazed' - it was not as the Scribes and Pharisees... St. Paul, himself a Pharisee, trained in the Law by Hillel as known by the 'Traditions of the Elders'. There was no such religion 'known as Judaism' in the time of Christ. According to Benjamin Freedman's "Facts are Facts": prior to 1775 the word 'Jew' did not exist in any language. It was introduced into the English language for the first time by Sheridan in his play "The Rivals". Now go on to read what Jesus had to say about the 'Traditions of the Elders'. When these people speak of 'The Law' they are invoking the Rabbinical oral additions onto the Mosaic Tradition. These Oral additions were recorded as The Talmud. Several books from our online website library build onto this argument: The Controversy of Zion - Douglas Reed, The Law of Civilisation and Decay - Brooks Adams, The Babylonian Woe - David Astle The Tallies, A Tangled Tail - David Astle

In the first reported sermon delivered by Jesus, He unrolled the scroll of Isaiah and announced His mission to restore the Year of Our Lord. The purpose of the Year of Our Lord is the "Jubilee", to not only forgive financial debts both personal and national, but also the restoration to right order of all those other things 'inverted'.

The word "usury" is not only the exploitation of the 'use' of the medium of money, but has its origins with the bite of the serpent from the garden of Eden - ('mortgage' as the grip of death). We can see the ever-encroaching expression of usury with the confiscation of all the assets of our nation into the hands of the merchant bankers by the distorted use of our system of measurement referred to as finance.

Cane, who killed his brother Abel, was the author of 'weights and measures' mentioned by the ancient historian Josephus. This is another archetypal illustration of the schism of the Mosaic Tradition to fraudulently achieve the inheritance - all these kingdoms of the world...if you bow down and worship me...

A young 'Australia' concluded the WWI campaign and found itself virtually debt free in 1919. Yet within five years a treacherous government had set us on the path where we find ourselves today, irredeemably indebted to the money merchants through this corrupted inversion of our financial measuring system - usury. Joseph (coat of many colours) had used this identical trap against Egypt.

The Christian church demonstrates this same philosophical schism as happened within the Mosaic Tradition. Irredeemable debt (laissez faire) in its many political forms such as Whiggism or Puritanism, is currently expressed within neoliberalism and libertarianism, are not only 'not' condemned, but actively encouraged as legitimate. Today's church is not schizophrenic, it is corrupted from the top down and has been overrun by Hillel's teachings of the chosen people ruling over all others - ...Demon Est Deus Inversus..

He that is the greatest among you shall be your servant

The Christ made the 'key' of the knowledge of God available to all mankind, not an elect or anointed - the sun to shine...rain to fall on the just and unjust alike.

One of my greatest difficulties was attempting to reconcile the Christian God of Love in the New Testament with the God of the Old Testament where the most savage and treacherous acts are recorded as having been committed in His name. Later I came to realise that irrespective of the imperfections of the record of Christ as given in the four Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, nearly two thousand years of history had convincingly demonstrated that : when the Truths enunciated by The Christ were applied in human affairs, a new, creative civilisation came into existence.

C H Douglas shed a blinding light on much of what had appeared obscure or irrelevant concerning modern Christianity. His presentation of the vital importance of the Doctrine of the Incarnation was such a revelation and

I have long come to the conclusion that Douglas Social Credit is, as Douglas said, “practical Christianity,” and that the very future of genuine Christianity depends upon understanding these revelations of Douglas Social Credit.

Douglas reconciled the deliberate corruption of our financial system, by placing it into right order permanently, (inverting back the inverted), with the National Dividend, based on the 'purpose', the Truth or justification for any economic system as being for 'consumption', not profit (as in the teachings of Hillel). Jesus demonstrated this beautifully with the feeding of the 5,000 from two fish and several small loaves of bread. He did in quick time what man can do every day in normal time - a pair of fish in the natural environment (order) can go on to produce enough to feed the 5000 as does enough heads of grain go on to produce more grain and flour for the farmer to also feed the 5000.

The crowd of 5,000 did not have to work nor toil in order to have their physical needs met by our Lord - seek ye first...and all these things will be added unto you.

HOW A HEALTHY PERSON BECAME A 'CASE' OF DISEASE IN 2020-21

By Judy Wilyman PhD

My PhD has now been downloaded thousands of times and in March 2020 my book, “Vaccination: Australia’s Loss of Health Freedom”, became available just as everyone globally was being locked down.

This happened because in 2020-21 all the traditional measures for controlling infectious diseases were reversed for the first time in history by the World Health Organisation (WHO). This organisation, advised by the corporate-public partnerships in the GAVI alliance, including the Federation of Pharmaceutical Companies, falsely claimed that healthy (asymptomatic) people are a 'risk' to the community if the virus is identified in their body.

This was stated by the WHO scientists in March 2020 even though the WHO had no data to base this claim on in March 2020. Remember, this novel Coronavirus 2019 (SARS-Cov-2) only appeared in January 2020 and there was no evidence provided to support the statement that healthy people without symptoms were a risk to the community. It was being assumed that a positive PCR result, a test that cannot diagnose disease, indicated an asymptomatic 'case' of disease.

This assumption has led to journalists and health departments reporting healthy people as a 'case' of disease in 2020-21, wildly inflating the risk from this alleged new flu virus in the media. This false assumption has led to healthy people being locked up in quarantine for two weeks as well as to the unnecessary masking of healthy people, social distancing and isolating of the elderly.

The mainstream media is not required to list the symptoms of the 'cases' of disease they are reporting,

"Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls.

For my yoke is easy and my burden is light."

Our leaders have made the way ahead a maze, a labyrinth of confusion and strife. Seek, and you will find. Knock, and the door will be opened to you...Knocking at His door can be done anywhere, anytime, and from any station in this life. Not just in a church, although He is there, not just listening to a 'leader', although He is there as well. You can find Him quietly on your knees, or standing tall observing the wonder and bounty of His creation. The Christ made the 'key' of the knowledge of God available to all others, not just an elect or anointed - the sun to shine...rain to fall on the just and unjust alike. Christ as given in the four Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, has convincingly demonstrated that : when His Truths are applied in human affairs, a new, creative civilisation comes into existence.

All these things are added unto you.. *** and this has enabled the government to hide this fact. This allows the media to frighten the public with cases of disease that are healthy people (no symptoms), and deaths that are elderly people with co-morbidity, that die with the flu every year. The difference is that this year, the media is reporting these deaths - normally you do not hear about them.

The fact that the WHO did not have any evidence in March 2020 to support the claim that 'asymptomatic' people are a risk to society, is provided by **Dr. Maria Van Kerkhove, on 8 June 2020 – only three months after the 'pandemic' was declared. This WHO spokesperson appears to understand the traditional measures of controlling infectious diseases because she states that you isolate the people with symptoms and trace their contacts to prevent transmission.

**<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dZoIOyiZnt8&t=2067s>

However, even though she states that asymptomatic transmission is 'very rare', because the WHO doesn't have any data to claim otherwise, she concludes that the WHO still advises that 'some people without symptoms can still transmit the virus on.'

The flaw in this WHO statement is that there is a difference between transmitting the virus and transmitting disease. Whilst the virus can be passed on from a sub-clinical infection this does not lead to disease in the majority of cases in countries with good public health infrastructure.

Infection only leads to disease when there are poor environmental conditions or poor host characteristics. Hence, asymptomatic people do not transmit disease in the population, they transmit infection that is mostly beneficial when good conditions exist: asymptomatic 'cases' generate natural herd immunity.

This is the reason why the WHO changed the definition of 'herd immunity' in December 2020. It was to claim that only vaccine created herd immunity would be successful with COVID19 disease. This was claimed without any risk-benefit data for the COVID19 vaccine: this drug had not been trialled in humans in December 2020.

The WHO changed this definition without providing any scientific evidence to support the claim that 'vaccines can create herd immunity' and without any scrutiny from the scientific community. Therefore, the claim has not been validated and it has been done to support the WHO's desired outcome; to make the world reliant on vaccines.

Viruses are around us all the time and we do not need to eradicate them to live without disease. This is because viruses on their own cannot cause disease: the cause of disease from infectious agents is multifactorial.

This is where the GAVI/ WHO partnerships have deceived the public in 2020. Scientists have known since 1950 that viruses mostly cause sub-clinical infections, that never develop disease symptoms, due to improvements in public health infrastructure and nutrition.

It is these sub-clinical infections that resulted in herd immunity in the population of developed countries by 1950/60. This led public health officials to claim that 'infectious deaths fell before widespread vaccination was implemented' (Fiona Stanley, Australian of the Year for Public Health, 2003). Even smallpox of cases with symptoms was not controlled until after 1950 when isolation of cases with symptoms and case-tracing strategies played a significant role in the decline of this disease.

The fraudulent claims that are being made by the WHO are effectively manipulating public behaviour because the corporate-sponsored mainstream media and big tech companies are working together to censor public debate.

If this was a conspiracy theory, as the mainstream media would like you to believe, I would have hoped that the industry-lobby groups who petitioned to have my PhD removed in 2016 - after it was published on the University website - were successful. But they weren't.

The University stood by this thesis because it provided the evidence to support the fact that global health policy is being designed by a collaboration of industry-partners. This is also supported by the extreme censorship of many doctors, scientists, and activists also providing this evidence to you in 2021. Science is only validated when it stands up to scrutiny from the community, so human health is at serious risk until we have this scientific debate.

TO FIND THE TRUTH, LOOK WITHIN

By Surit Dasgupta

*Extract from "Responsibility Is the Antidote to Tyranny"
The timeless wisdom of 'The Gulag Archipelago' by Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn*

...Solzhenitsyn had every reason to hate his captors. He had every reason to feel victimized and plot revenge. After all, he was an innocent man wrongly convicted for speaking the truth. But he did something that went beyond victimhood and scapegoating; he looked within himself. He contemplated his life and asked himself how he might have contributed to the creation of the regime in which he was now imprisoned. His time spent in multiple labor camps made him realize that the degradation of the society and state is a consequence of the degradation of the individual.

When the Russian Revolution erupted, many innocent lives were lost at the hands of furious mobs acting at the behest of the "oppressed." This coincided with a massive loss of life on the battlefields of the first World War. Before the Revolution and before the hypnotic frenzy of the mob, Russia had been a flawed but thoroughly devout, traditional country. She was soon fed an overwhelming amount of socialist and utopian ideas from Europe. This import of radical socialist ideology came after a combination of liberalism and nihilism supplanted the traditional axiom of Orthodoxy that had held the country together.

Fyodor Dostoevsky wrote about this embryonic era of nihilistic movements in his novel Demons. Dostoevsky argued that for a morally upright society, or a society striving for moral uprightness, to sustain itself, it must have a foundation that is not only firm but also transcendent; and by being transcendent, even Kings and Queens must subject themselves to it. For Dostoevsky, that foundation had to be God. Once that foundation is removed, the ground becomes ripe for artificial religion — i.e., hateful ideologies — to grow and spread like wildfire. Man is an innately religious animal, and he must have an axiom by which to live and exist, either devouringly or fruitfully....
