

- NEWS HIGHLIGHTS
- BACKGROUND INFORMATION
- COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

The Price of Freedom is Eternal Vigilance

Print Post Publication Number 10000815

Vol. 57 No. 06

19th February 2021

IN THIS ISSUE

Means And Ends By Arnis Luks	1
Breaking the Covid Trance: How the Irish People were Psychologically Manipulated	2
The Real Cost of the COVID-19 Lockstep / Lockdown	3
The Left, The Right and The Truth By Betty Luks	4

Thought For The Week: The need is greater now and the opportunities are also greater, because like the cultural heritage of Social Credit, this generation is heir to the experience and knowledge gained by the early pioneers in the (Douglas) Social Credit movement and they can, if they will, profit by the mistakes of their forerunners as well as by their accomplishments. - Forword to Alberta's Fight For Freedom By H E Nichols

"There is a tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune,

Omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and in miseries.

On such a full sea are we now afloat And we must take the current when it serves, or lose our ventures."

Brutus to Cassius in Julius Caesar By William Shakespeare.

MEANS AND ENDS By Arnis Luks

Google is expanding its topics of censorship from health options, to now, voting anomalies in the USA election. Is it time to switch Google off? If you listen to Brother Nathanael Kapner, he will take you through the direct Mossad links to the whole google and alphabet structure. While providing a search service, this structure is frantically gathering intelligence on every move you make. Google is playing a significant part in the development of the Chinese surveillance state system, mis-titled social credit, what in actual fact is a system to monitor and assess personal compliance to state decreed edicts. The very opposite of Douglas Social Credit.

Can We Agree To Disagree?

In discussions with a good friend this week, we held different views in regard to a potential medical treatment for supposed COVID-19. There are so many arms and legs to the question of health options from which to choose. Is only one of them the best, or only choice? Should we take vitamins, or eat mostly plant-based food? But we both drifted away from the vital Social Credit point. "Who should decide matters of personal health - government or ourselves?" That is really the only question. Should I accept personal responsibility for my choices and place limits to the power government has over me?

Currently government sees fit to medicate us all with the addition of sodium-fluoride (a highly dangerous and poisonous sedative) to all public water. 99.99% of all public water is not consumed by children with developing teeth, if this ever was the real reason for this wanton environmental pollution. Yet all of us receive an accumulating dose in every drink, our food, our bathing water and on our garden. This makes you think doesn't it?

A sedated, compliant people. No wonder John Howard was calling for an increase in the dosage of sodium-fluoride as he was losing control of the narrative and faced possible defeat over, not only the election, but his own electoral seat.

What choice I make is entirely my business, and it is not the business of government to force their choices upon me. Government does little, or nothing about the debilitating scourge of ICE - methamphetamines, or other forms of personal abuse. People are left to their own devices to destroy themselves should they so wish from a plethora of choices.

Governments' justification for its existence is to provide an environment where all individuals are able to exercise maximum freedoms with responsibility in a moral environment. In order for this to occur government must be significantly limited in what they have authority to do - 'limiting constitutional monarchy'. God did not make one person to be lord over everyone else. He made each unique individual person to be lord over themselves – "the kingdom of God is within you".

The question of how much power for government is actually a two edged sword, in that by allowing bureaucrats to dominate, you are actually promoting their wicked behaviour, while abrogating your responsibility to manage your own affairs, including health choices. This is a moral question for both you and the bureaucrat.

Holding The Bureaucrat To Account

Reports are coming in of the political Recall mechanism being exercised in California, so far attracting more than 1.2 million signatures. Californian governor Gavin Newsom will soon have to face the people. As political power is being further centralised, so there is a counter movement to hold representatives to account. The mechanism of Recall is not foreign to our regular On Target readers. This begs the question: "should the people have enough power to monitor and limit government or any who hold public office?"

CIR is a timely consideration for a responsible people.

Voter Flooding

In Canada and the United States, some media are asking for the voting age to be lowered to 16. Women's suffrage had its beginnings around 1850. Achieving full voting rights for women across the free world took another 70 years. Some nations are still not there. Whether men and women have the right to vote or not, perhaps we must first consider whether effective representation has improved in the last 200 years or not? USA political representation appears to be at an all-time low. Perhaps it has always been low, just now more apparent. In Australia and Britain, in my view our political representation is about on par with the USA.

Vested Interests

A recent On Target mentions that all GM restrictions in South Australia have been arbitrarily lifted by the minister. This in spite of 11 councils and many, many public objections to lifting the GM ban. The Conservative government has demonstrated that they don't represent local business nor the people in South Australia, they represent primarily the interests of mega-corporations over and above governments. What possible compounding health effects could occur due to increased exposure to GM food products? On top of this precarious situation is the announcement that another oil refinery in Australia will be closed. Fuel security is paramount to our national security. This is further compromised by exposure to the unreliability of our remaining power-generation and ever reducing sufficiency of water supplies for food and industry. Not only will the organic and biodynamic farming industry be compromised, but all ancillary industry supporting these groups and refineries as well will also suffer – a compounding effect on our industries and communities.

Deliberate Policy Outcomes

As policy, we as a nation of independent and self-reliant people are being fully compromised by our political representatives and also industries pursuing profit at the cost of our national security by closing down coal-fired base-load power generation while supporting unreliable wind and solar farms - Agenda 2030. Within the major parties there is no political will nor desire to implement policy that will benefit, or provide security for the Australian people. They are simply political machines bought and paid for by mega-corporation interests.

With the possibility of the voting age being lowered to 16, this will further exasperate any chance of effective representation with the mega-corporations' control over our media and learning institutions. There is only one policy given sufficient oxygen, that of pursuing the interests of, and ensuring huge profits for big money.

"Join with us and live freely and democratically, or "Serve the enemy and die a slave under a financial dictatorship."

Can We Learn From The Past? -

A History of Social Credit in Alberta 1905 – 1947

An important and little-known booklet available on our website, "Alberta's Fight For Freedom", records the history of the people of that province and their fight against the money power. Their efforts to overcome significant resistance did not go in vain. Rather, they set an example of what has to be done for us all. Residents formed study groups to research and understand philosophy, economics and politics. These study groups injected 'other thoughts' into the community which was ultimately reflected by the throwing out of the party hacks and placing their own representatives into the provincial government positions. This occurred over many years of effort in pursuit of Truth, by incarnating their Christian faith and their ever-maturing philosophical, political and economic knowledge and conviction.

"For where there are two or three gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them".

Meanwhile the money power being able to 'hire' politicians, industrial leaders and the media at will, proved a formidable opponent against those 185,000 people of Alberta, of which 127,000 were farmers and ranchers. The pioneering spirit of Alberta's foundation stock was reflected in their various phases of endeavour.

The book, which takes about one hour to read, is important knowledge to ensure there is no delusion in regard to the formidable task at hand. Even though these people were betrayed at every turn by politicians and the elite class, they were still able to process their tax debts and liabilities to the Province through other means, thus enabling the Province to achieve debt free status.

BREAKING THE COVID TRANCE: How the Irish People were Psychologically Manipulated

<https://www.bitchute.com/video/iMbV9FpGqLk/>
Neuro-Linguistic Programming

Having recently read the transcript of an interview of John Anthony (hypnotherapist with a background in neuro-linguistic programming) by entertaining broadcaster Dave Cullen, I again reinforce the importance of educating yourself. John Anthony walks you through the neuro-linguistic programming used by governments to impose the lockstep / lockdowns. He identifies each step of the psychological process and shows how to recognise their conniving and collusion.

Pavlov and Edward Bernays recognised these techniques, as did the CCP during the Korean War. We must be ever vigilant to guard against this sophisticated, manipulative technique. Cognitive dissonance and pulpil are but two facets of this same technique. I listened to the Podcast and also read the transcript. I found I was able to absorb the information more readily from the notes, rather than the Podcast. It was interesting to compare my comprehension of the subject from both sources. Comprehension was more thoroughly found in reading and then pondering. You may be different. Try it.

<https://www.ukcolumn.org/article/breaking-covid-trance-how-irish-people-were-psychologically-manipulated>

<https://www.ukcolumn.org/article/psychological-attack-uk>

The Real Cost of the COVID-19 Lockstep / Lockdown

This past week I managed a shopping trip to the regional shopping centre and noted at least 50% or even less occupancy. I don't need government statistics to tell me the economy is in dire straits. Snap lockstep / lockdowns are not only crippling small business but causing severe psychological distress for those in isolation. The policy intent is to destroy the independent, self-reliant and self-sufficient middle-class. The logarithmic escalation of debt as policy, will ensure our once independent and self-reliant people will be beholden to the government for conditional handouts - rewards and punishment CCP style.

National Dividend vs Basic Income

The basic income payment (job keeper / job seeker) plus rent protection, are all due to come to an end. The payments are tax based, or new government bond issues which places the debt onto the never-never. This compounds the stranglehold that central bank policy already has over our governments and us. As the alcoholic refuses to acknowledge the problem of drink, so our governments refuse to acknowledge and free our nation from the problem of irredeemable debt.

The 'national dividend' would be an issue from the 'national credit office' of new funds - debt free funds. The national credit authority would operate as a commission similar to 'weights and measures' to ensure the calculations of the shortfall of purchasing power is an accurate reflection of the productive capacity of the nation compared to available wages and dividends. Operating above government, the figures the national credit authority came to, would be available for scrutiny.

While our industry is in a state of disrepair and demise, the payment may only be sufficient to cover the gap for basic food. As the faith within the community came to accept this new system as a viable option rather than poverty induced slavery, so efforts would be made to rebuild our industry from the ground up. The cost of the rebuild would also be met by the national credit authority expressed as a 'release of public energy' to construct the new industry. That 'release of public energy' is what the existing monetary system does, but uses debt as the weapon against the community, instead of credit.

The 'release of public energy' is a demonstration of faith that individuals can direct their energies to a common purpose and will achieve the desired results. In this case, the 'national dividend' increment will be a consequence of the new industry producing more goods. As the produced goods come onto the market so the national dividend would begin to rise in accordance with the increase in total prices (of produced goods). As more faith in the Douglas Social Credit system grew within the community, so calls for 'release of further public energy' would produce an expansion of our industrial base to demonstrate what we are capable of achieving; the results desired and realising an increment in our association.

What we are experiencing under COVID-19 lockstep / lockdown is social dis-credit - the direct road to communism. Communism is based on Darwinism - man is simply matter in motion. Man is the highest form of all animals and so the strongest will not only survive but also rule. Might is right, or, trial by combat.

Douglas Social Credit is based on the philosophy that man is not the highest being. The universe exists, as does everything visible and invisible, emanating from a higher power. This higher power has set about a framework for all things visible and invisible, you might refer to as the Natural Law. This is observable as readily as watching the apple fall from the tree to the ground.

In the most basic sense, without faith in your fellow man you cannot have any form of community.

The natural law demonstrates itself by working best. Planting a tree requires faith that the natural world will send the rains and the sunshine. Embracing mutual love and cooperation will cause an increase in society's credit (faith), that working together will produce the desired outcome and an increment of association.

These are not empty words, but wisdom. ***

THE LEFT, THE RIGHT AND THE TRUTH

By Betty Luks

I have to admit to a sense of frustration when people refer to the Left as bad but never mention the Right. And by 'the Right' in this country I am thinking of the so-called 'conservatives' the Liberal Coalition and its backers. I refer the reader to an article written in 1978 - yes, 1978. After reading it, ask yourself did the writer accurately predict what was to happen - what was planned, what was THE POLICY back then?

BEHIND THE "NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER" - July 1978

Communist strategist Lenin is credited with the view that World Communism could not be established without a world economic system. Lenin strongly opposed small-scale, decentralised production units as a major barrier to Socialism. As a youth I had my first public debate with a Communist, and in my innocence thought I would score some debating points by attacking the evils of Monopoly, only to hear my opponent disagree, claiming that Monopoly was the "natural" result of capitalism, was generally more efficient and paved the way for the ultimate development of State control of the means of production, distribution and exchange.

The development of Monopoly is, of course, not "natural", but the result of financial policies imposed by the servants of the Credit Monopoly. Marxists do not attack the Credit Monopoly.

Australia's former Minister for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Andrew Peacock, a close friend of American Vice-President Mondale and other American members of the TRILATERAL COMMISSION, including Mr. David Rockefeller, has provided a neat summary of what is proposed.

Addressing the United Nations Assembly on September 28, 1977, Mr. Peacock said, "Progress towards a new international economic order would be influenced by transfer of real resources to developing countries."

The peoples of the industrialised nations are being brainwashed into believing that unless they participate in building the "New International Economic Order" their present finance-economic crisis will get worse.

CREATING INTERNATIONAL MONEY

A New International Economic Order must have a complete International Credit Monopoly. Spokesmen for the Credit Monopolists have been engagingly frank about this matter. Consider, for example, the words of Mr. William McChesney Martin, former Chairman of Directors of the American Federal Reserve Banking system, in a lecture given in September, 1970, on the subject of "A World Central Bank?":

"I move on now to speak about the most dramatic development to date in the evolution toward a world central bank. This is the agreement to create Special Drawing Rights . . . International money is now being created deliberately and systematically and as the result of multilateral decision."

Read the full article here:

https://alor.org/Storage/New_Times/pdf/NT4307.pdf

And now, just take a peek at what economist Guy Standing wrote for the World Economic Forum 2016:

"We are in the middle of a global transformation, the painful construction of a global market economy. In the initial period dominated by financiers and rent-seekers, a new global class has taken shape: the precariat...Crucially, the integration of China and other emerging economies into the world's labour market added 2 billion workers to the global supply, most of them used to earning one-fiftieth of OECD workers..."

<https://www.weforum.org/agenda/2016/11/precariat-global-class-rise-of-populism/>

SUGGESTED READING AND TARGET:

It is important to develop your thinking in at least three disciplines, philosophy, economics and politics.

Invest in yourself

We offer a Social Dynamics Training Course that covers these subjects really well. Developed over a lifetime of training people, ED Butler and Jeremy Lee have produced this foundational video to bridge the gap between where you are and where you need to be.

There is also the suggested reading list from each week's On Target. All lists are available from our Website Libraries or Head Office in printed form.

Invest in yourself

Once you have done these personal development tasks, then contact your own MP and Senators requesting they openly support the right for everyone to choose their own medical options, including rejecting all of them.

Produce a pamphlet and door knock your local area, discussing this topic of freedom (from any approach you like). Just gently hold the position, that freedom to choose or refuse one thing at a time, including medical choices, is a basic right derived from God and not from the state. God will provide all your needs in Christ Jesus.

Subscription to On Target $45.00 p.a.

NewTimes Survey $30.00 p.a.

Donations can be performed by direct bank transfer:

A/c Title Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)

BSB 105-044

A/c No. 188-040-840

or cheques to: 'Australian League of Rights (SA Branch)'

Postal Address: PO Box 27, Happy Valley, SA 5159.

Telephone: 08 8387 6574 eMail: heritagebooks@alor.org

Online Bookstore : <https://veritasbooks.com.au/>

<https://alor.org/> our main website and repository of the

Douglas Social Credit and Freedom Movement 'Archives'.

On Target is printed and authorised by K. W. Grundy

13 Carsten Court, Happy Valley, SA.