De-constructing The Big Lie	4

Thought For The Week: “All this was inspired by the principle—which is quite true within itself—that in the big lie there is always a certain force of credibility; because the broad masses of a nation are always more easily corrupted in the deeper strata of their emotional nature than consciously or voluntarily; and thus in the primitive simplicity of their minds they more readily fall victim to the big lie than the small lie, since they themselves often tell small lies in little matters, but would be ashamed to resort to large-scale falsehoods. It would never come into their heads to fabricate colossal untruths, and they would not believe that others could have the impudence to distort the truth so infamously. Even though the facts which prove this to be so may be brought clearly to their minds, they will still doubt and waver and will continue to think that there may be some other explanation. For the grossly impudent lie always leaves traces behind it, even after it has been nailed down, a fact which is known to all expert liars in this world and to all who conspire together in the art of lying”. - Adolf Hitler, Mein Kampf.

“The essential English leadership secret does not depend on particular intelligence. Rather, it depends on a remarkably stupid thick-headedness. The English follow the principle that when one lies, one should lie big, and stick to it. They keep up their lies, even at the risk of looking ridiculous.” - Josef Goebbels

BEING DRIVEN TOWARDS THE AUSTRALIAN DICTATORSHIP - STATE AUTHORISED VIOLENCE AGAINST YOUR BODY / YOUR PERSON

By Arnis Luks

National Emergency Declaration Act Dec 2020

<https://www.legislation.gov.au/Details/C2020A00128/Download>

Re-reading the ‘National Emergency Declaration Act 2020’, in my mind cleared the air of any ambiguity in regard to the emerging Australian Dictatorship. This Act was passed through both Houses of Parliament and given assent just before Christmas last year for this very purpose - to introduce the dictatorship to Australia.

Section 5: "this act binds the Crown in each of its capacities".

Section 8: this act does not, by implication, limit the executive power of the Commonwealth.

This Act over-rides our limiting Constitution and ancient freedoms, empowers the Prime Minister over our Governor General until the Prime Minister sees fit to end his 'absolute rule' under the Big Lie of covid..., or climate, or War on Terror, weapons of mass destruction, or Y2K - or any other Big Lie.

Hitler's Rise To Power

Following the Reichstag building fire on 27 February 1933, Hitler persuaded President Paul von Hindenburg to issue the Decree for the Protection of People and State, which suspended most of the civil rights enshrined in the constitution. Federal elections were held in Germany on 5 March 1933, after the Nazi seizure of power on 30 January and just six days after the Reichstag fire.

At the new Reichstag's first session, Hitler introduced the Enabling Act of 1933, which allowed the government to enact laws on its own authority for a four-year period. With certain exceptions (which were in practice disregarded), those laws could deviate from the articles within the constitution. Though formally only the Government as a whole could enact laws, Hitler in effect exercised that right by himself. Germany had become a one-party state with the passage of the Enabling Act. With the formal ban of opposition parties in July, the provision of Article 48 that allowed the Reichstag to demand the cancellation of the emergency measures was effectively negated. The Reichstag only met again 12 times between the year 1933 until 1939.

I spent some time this morning searching out the circumstances that allowed Hitler to come to power, where he was able to overcome the 'limiting constitution' of Germany and achieve dictatorship in progressive centralising steps. Massive propaganda mechanisms were made available to them, and the political dialectic of both the Nazis and the Communists collaborating together to further centralise power, while presenting the ruse that they were enemies working against each other.

Prof Anthony C. Sutton in his work "Wall Street and the Rise of Hitler" records the direct financial, industrial, and political support from the giant Wall Street financiers and industrialists towards the fledgling Nazi party. The Main Stream Media failed to report any of this collusion across both USA and German interests through the 1930s and 1940s, and by their silence are self-condemned as complicit in the deliberate rearmament of Germany. Political intrigue of this level always requires significant financial, media and industrial backing. So it is with the emerging dictatorship, not by accident, here in Australia.

Money, Media and Industry are concentric. The Australian Taxation base is collapsing with many small businesses going to the wall and yet our government can still find never ending funds to continue the covid ruse.

Massive financial stimulus through the Reserve Bank of Australia issuing new $4-5 Billion bonds each week, and the major central banks buying up these bonds illustrates this direct support from international finance. Hardly a critical word is spoken by Main Stream Media.

Public demonstrations are now occurring at major centres around Australia, but the best that a crowd can do is to chant out slogans. It has no mind of its own and offers no clear direction out of this dilemma of losing our 'limiting constitution' and ancient Rights and Freedoms. What happens after the demonstration is the only real question. What mechanisms are there to put to good use?

Totalitarianism subdues creativity into conformity - Freedom releases the creative spirit.

Political Parties have managed to take away any semblance of representation within our parliaments, and essentially herded communities into rusted-on warring tribes. Instead of resolving issues, the issues have become more pronounced without resolution, now heading towards revolution - the fertile ground for dictatorship.

Creating alternative sources of News and Information is vital to the health and vitality of the body politic. Analysis of what the ancients did is another. Putting that analysis to good works builds momentum. All of these personal initiatives is in the area of ideas, thoughts and responses, within your mind firstly, and then worked out in the public arena. This process is the incarnation of your belief system - your philosophy or faith if you like.

Declaration of a National Emergency of emergency. The legislation is such that the Prime Minister will hold inordinate powers to override our constitution still further. At this point it is not unrealistic to consider state authorised violence against its people in the form of mandated PCR tests (nasal rape), injections of experimental mRNA chemicals without any medical nor scientific justification. The few who die or are permanently maimed will be sacrificed for the sake of the many – Pharisaical philosophy that crucified our Lord.

Hosea 6:6

For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice: and the knowledge of God more than holocausts.

Matthew 9:13

Go then and learn what this meaneth, I will have mercy and not sacrifice.

René Girard extract: Let us come back to the attitude of Jesus himself. This decision to adopt non-violence is not a commitment that he could revoke, a contract whose clauses need only be observed to the extent that the other contracting parties observe them. If that were so, the commitment to the Kingdom of God would be merely another farcical procedure, comparable to institutionalized revenge or the United Nations. Despite the fact that all the others fall away, Jesus continues to see himself as being bound by the promise of the Kingdom. For him, the word that comes from God, the word that enjoins us to imitate no one but God, the God who refrains from all forms of reprisal and makes his sun to shine upon the 'just' and the 'unjust' without distinction—this word remains, for him, absolutely valid. It is valid even to death, and quite clearly that is what makes him the Incarnation of that Word.

To sum up: the Christ can no longer continue to sojourn in a world in which the Word is either never mentioned or, even worse, derided and devalued by those who take it in vain—those who claim to be faithful to it but in reality are far from being so. Jesus' destiny in the world is inseparable from that of the Word of God. "That is why Christ and the Word of God are, I reaffirm, simply one and the same thing. Not only does Jesus remain faithful to this Word of Love, but he also does everything to enlighten men about what awaits them if they continue in the pathways they have always taken before. So urgent is the problem and so massive the stake that it justifies the remarkable vehemence, even brutality, that Jesus manifests in his dealings with 'those who have ears and hear not, eyes and see not'. That is indeed why—through a further paradox, which is outrageously unjust but could have been expected since we know that no mercy can be shown to the person who understands what all the world around him refuses to understand—Jesus himself stands accused of unnecessary violence, offensive language, immoderate use of polemics, and failure to respect the 'freedom' of his interlocutors...

Ten Canoes

A while back, I watched what I took to be an accurate depiction of our own tribal Aboriginals, explained within this Australian movie 'Ten Canoes'. The call from the crowd (eye for an eye etc.) took expression with the 'spearing' of the 'outsider other' to end this thirst for revenge. The film demonstrated exactly that principle. René Girard argues that all cultures have this violent call for a scapegoat within their psyche – soul or mind. Reading René Girard: The Scapegoat, opens an entirely different perspective to emerge from re-reading the mainstream media article 'headlines' at least.

The Truth

I recently had the pleasure of unravelling an electric fence which had 'got itself' into a spot of bother. I had to take it apart one knot at a time until it was again usable. This metaphor is how we need to unravel the political lies and the false narratives we have found ourselves in.

Going back to the basics, collectivism has its origins within Pharisaism, Puritanism, Whiggism, and the more recent political forms of Socialism, Communism, Nazism and Fascism. The chosen people racket, whether it be Zionism, Nazism, Dispensationalism, Freemasonry, Secret Societies or any other label of religious or societal elitism or group exclusivity, all dominating the 'group objective or benefit' over consequences to the individual.

Christianity is the counter - (being revealed truth) to all those forms of collectivism, in that all things are there to serve the individual; and the purpose and function of every institution including politics, government, church and cultural pursuits, is to benefit the individual. Every individual is unique, created in the image of God. Their personal relationship with their Maker is to be enriched within the function of every institution - own salvation.

While the rules of cricket must be adhered to once you're on the pitch, and the captain's call must be obeyed, the purpose of the game is to develop the skills and personality of every participating individual. This brings me to the core, in my view the very core, of the dilemma we have found ourselves in.

In an attempt to explain the cosmos, (being before men learnt to write), myths and legends emerged within the oral tradition and influenced the evolving writings of the Old Testament. Given René Girard's insight into this group phenomena of the 'scapegoat', my re-considered understanding of the Old Testament is that at least two differing streams of philosophy were occurring in the course of this written record. Something happened beyond everyday understanding which needed to be examined further. The prophets tried to explain what is, the cosmos in the light of their observable and revealed experiences found in the verbalised meaning of the stars or the different legends of mythical characters. I see Iain McGilchrist 'unpacking' to decipher the crowd in his outstanding work "The Master and his Emmissary".

Matthew 23: Then there was a cabal of manipulators, who taught and massaged the various teachings and the texts to achieve other purposes in order to control the crowd. You can label 'them' anything you like, but you only have to look around at the barrage of 'great lies of manipulation' by our current ruling class being dominated by mainstream media, to see this manipulation is observable today and every other day. Daniel Andrews and QDOS are regularly mentioned in the press about this very thing - manipulating public opinion - the crowd.

Jesus was most scathing towards the Pharisees, Sadducees, Scribes and religious leaders for failing to enter the kingdom – no different than today. Well worth a look through your home concordance under those labels. René Girard refers to the 'scapegoat' as the mechanism to calm the blood lust of the crowd seeking revenge. What has this to do with this discussion about Old Testament? Everything. This blood lust, the scapegoat was to satisfy the raw instincts of the crowd and not from God at all.

Matthew 5:43-48

You have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thy enemy. But I say to you, Love your enemies: do good to them that hate you: and pray for them that persecute and calumniate you: That you may be the children of your Father who is in heaven, who maketh his sun to rise upon the good, and bad, and raineth upon the just and the unjust. For if you love them that love you, what reward shall you have? do not even the publicans this? And if you salute your brethren only, what do you more? do not also the heathens this? Be you therefore perfect, as also your heavenly Father is perfect.

God is the same yesterday, today and forever.

'When you see Me you see the Father.'

'I and the Father are one.'

As Jesus was, so the Father is and always has and will be. The Old Testament recording of these acts of revenge are man's attempt at covering up the real cause of unrest and crisis - human frailty. When we look to the 'words' of the Christ we see the will of 'God the Father' without any of these acts of violence or revenge : who maketh his sun to rise...and raineth upon the just and the unjust. Within the manipulation of the crowd, there comes a time when the victim is unanimously chosen and sacrificed.

Oh No! you say. OK, let us consider the crowd who recently murdered a young South African farmer by crucifying him. Or the lynching of a suspect accused of murder or rape as a similar phenomena in the same vain. The crowd loses all sense of proportion and acts out towards an established (in their mind) 'guilty' party to satisfy this justification. Once the scapegoat is sacrificed the crowd returns to relatively normal behaviour.

It can happen whenever the crowd loses sight of all proportion of rational thinking and moves into the herd of swine mentality to annihilation over the nearest cliff.

If you take the time to consider the blood lust of the (current) left towards those outsiders they wish to sacrifice, the similarities are there in plain view.

Take a little longer to look at the political right and you see the same phenomena in regard to their 'outsiders' they wish to sacrifice - abortion, euthanasia, race, religion, war on terror. The list goes on for everyone.

“The meltdown in South Africa isn't a natural disaster or a random fluke. It's a choice. South Africa was the first modern nation to be refounded on the anti-white principles of Critical Race Theory, and now it is reaping the whirlwind of that choice. South Africa did everything that is being done in America right now. As a hyper-diverse multi-ethnic, multilingual society, South Africa has followed almost every prescription embraced by the globalist ruling class...

De-constructing The Big Lie

What is Truth? asked Pilate. Are schools safe? If we look at a child or person to denote their sex the features are generally observable and clear. The Bible and every cell within the human body reinforces this observation, but our leaders and teachers have come up with a different declaration. Does this make their declaration more valid or true than the observable natural world? Is man's law valid over nature? You would think not.

Is marriage gay? The Bible is clear on this issue and yet a majority of Australians have answered that their declaration of this 'holy sacrament' is more valid than ancient myths and legends and two thousand years of Christian social teaching - 'from the beginning it was not so'. Once we start accepting lies as truth it goes on to achieve cognitive dissonance, absurdity and collapse. We are no longer able to discern the difference.

Is the determination of four judges sufficient to overcome the purpose and intention of our constitution? Does the 'sedative' sodium fluoride really prevent tooth decay? Do mRNA injections cause sufficient immune stimulation and response to avoid the common cold?

Are bodily rights more valid than the Right to Life? Should the state be permitted to terminate a life 'deemed' no longer worth living? Can you trust your leaders with too much power? Can you avoid personal responsibility?

In all these instances 'truth' will out. It may take a generation, a lifetime, or a thousand years, but it will out none the less. Natural law will prevail. We are reaping what we have sown based on toleration of these big lies.

A dictatorship is coming because we refuse to accept enough personal responsibility in our defiance of this Natural Law that : all power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely.

What is Truth? Truth is "conformity between judgements and reality". A Natural Law is 'Revealed Truth'.

Solzhenitsyn wrote 'Live Not By Lies' after 8 years incarceration and imminent threat of execution or exile.

OUR POLICY

To promote service to the Christian revelation of God, loyalty to the Australian Constitutional Monarchy, and maximum co-operation between subjects of the Crown Commonwealth of Nations.

To defend the free Society and its institutions -- private property, consumer control of production through genuine competitive enterprise, and limited decentralised government.

To promote financial policies which will reduce taxation, eliminate debt, and make possible material security for all with greater leisure time for cultural activities.

To oppose all forms of monopoly, either described as public or private.

To encourage all electors always to record a responsible vote in all elections.

To support all policies genuinely concerned with conserving and protecting natural resources, including the soil, and an environment reflecting natural (God's) laws, against policies of rape and waste.

To oppose all policies eroding national sovereignty, and to promote a closer relationship between the peoples of the Crown Commonwealth and those of the United States of America, who share a common heritage.
