Thought for the week: If anyone is foolish enough to suppose that the prestige of this country and the Empire, and with them, the welfare of the population, can be restored by an appeal to an anonymous, irresponsible, and misinstructed ballot-box democracy, I can assure them that, if their opinion should prevail and our destinies be submitted to decision by that process, the outcome is a mathematical certainty—our final eclipse.

THE DECONSTRUCTION OF AUSTRALIA AND OUR CONSTITUTION By Arnis Luks

The South Australia Parliament, following in the footsteps of the Victorian Parliament, is making moves to introduce a 'Voice' into parliament without referendum, being the establishment of an exclusively occupied Aboriginal entity to advise Parliament on all matters relating to Aboriginals. Aboriginals are predominantly immersed throughout all parts of Australian society; therefore, this new entity will advise on all matters.

The record of the communist origins of the political intrigue and manipulation of 'separate development' under many titles was recorded by Geoff McDonald in his three books; Red Over Black, The Evidence and Australia at Stake. Geoff McDonald, as was Eddie Mabo, was a member of the communist party of Australia and Geoff exposed the purpose and intent behind the Aboriginal grievance industry within land rights, voice, treaty, truth, stolen generation, and sovereignty - a separate nation-state; with the breakup of Australia being the end objective. The permeation of this communistic intrigue on the ground has occurred predominantly through the mainstream media and academia in our minds, and been actively supported by elites within our courts, successive governments, bureaucracy, and at times teams of lawyers - in other words Sovietisation has occurred by stealth.

Bypassing The Federal Constitution

The current methodology of bypassing our Constitution by going through all the states' parliaments, was utilised by Malcolm Turnbull (as then Minister for the Environment and Water), to bring about the dissolution of the state's obligation to manage their own waterways now under the Water Act 2007 - Murray Darling Basin Agreement.

The Australian Constitution - Section 100 states clearly where that responsibility lies...

The Commonwealth shall not, by any law or regulation of trade or commerce, abridge the right of a State or of the residents therein to the reasonable use of the waters of rivers for conservation or irrigation.

Each of the States were successively compelled to relinquish obligation to-manage-their-own-waterways and in the end all capitulated by handing it over to the Commonwealth. This approach, I believe, is behind the current States' voice, treaty, truth, and eventually sovereignty of a separate Aboriginal nation within Australia's borders. The long road of fragmentation and dissolution of Australia and our Constitution. We may never face a referendum.

Origins of Ideas

The then, Labor Federal Attorney-General HV Evatt, being a former High Court Judge, attempted to utilise this procedure to circumvent the 'referenda requirements' in order to permanently alter our Federal Constitution. HV Evatt was aligned with Soviet spy Alger Hiss, in establishing the United Nations as the vehicle to bring about the one world communist state. Labor has openly advocated the alignment and endorsement of the Socialist International within its statements of belief, while Liberal/National discreetly pursued the same policies originating from this bastion of world socialist policy - "denying with their mouths what they were doing with their hands".

OnTarget Vol 43: No 6

In 1942 an... attempt was made, under the excuse of wartime emergency to persuade the States to transfer 14 powers to Canberra. Every State agreed, with the exception of the Upper House in the smallest State, Tasmania. The leader of the Upper House, one-time Test cricket captain Joe Darling, bluntly told Federal Attorney-General

Dr H.V. Evatt to go back to Canberra and hold a constitutional referendum, as was his duty. Tasmania, and Joe Darling, were attacked for hindering the war effort, but stood firm. Frustrated, Dr Evatt was finally forced to hold the famous '14-powers-referendum' in 1944. There was a massive vote 'No' in every State, with the biggest vote against in Tasmania! It is always under threat of crisis or emergency that the Commonwealth seeks to by-pass the Constitution.

The Truth of Our Constitution

The preamble to Australia's federal constitution begins with 'We the people'... The Constitution belongs to the people as the agreement on 'how we shall be governed', not the politicians, nor the bureaucrats, nor the high court judges with their radical interpretations. What is deliberately withheld from all our learning institutions is the valid study of civics. Any real education being left to organisations such as the Australian Monarchist League, Institute for Public Affairs and Conservative publications.

I was fortunate to have recorded five lectures by Dr David Mitchell, an international and constitutional lawyer (then residing in Tasmania) as to the validity and purpose of the supreme law of our land being our Federal 'Constitution'. The Australian people voted to accept this document as our Constitution after 10 years of consultation and the holding of conventions around Australia, the final convention partly-comprising of popularly-elected-representatives of the people. Ours is the only Constitution in the world whereby it has come about without violence and with agreement of the peoples involved. The Constitution has been under constant attack since federation, but none more so than since the 1983 Franklin Dam High Court decision, which identified 'external affairs' to mean any treaty signed with any entity could over ride our Limiting Constitution of how we shall be governed. The introduction of this 'voice' is another trojan horse to undo this agreement between ALL the peoples of Australia.

Welfare is not the Objective

THE ROAD AHEAD By Arnis Luks

Having watched the latest 'UK column', I was reminded of the structured and organised mind-manipulation-wing (as propaganda) of that bastion of the Socialist International - the United Nations Organisation. Legions of expert behavioural-psychologists are employed to massage public opinion into areas the individual would never thought of going had they not been 'nudged'. While the document 'MindSpace' is from a UK governmental department; the same can be identified within every western government. We have previously recorded of our Federal and State governments spending multi-billions of taxpayer funds on this approach to control the citizenry. All social and mainstream media are part of this manipulating campaign political purposes other than the wellbeing of Aboriginals who attempt to uphold their traditional culture. They, the elites, make no effort to lift those left behind into a better life, but rather use them as fodder to further a revolutionary agenda of greater societal disintegration.

Keith Windshuttle has re-presented the record of the gradual abandonment of Aboriginal high culture since the arrival of the first fleet 1788. The Aboriginal peoples are no longer hunter gatherers, around 80% who may self-identify as aboriginal, having already adapted and partly or fully integrated within normal society. Those remaining women and children unwilling or unable to integrate, can be subject to increased violence of a magnitude 60 – 80 times that which occurs throughout Australia. Yet, the feminist-women's-movements remain mute of this carnage; being revolutionary and indifferent to their plight, pursuing a political agenda rather than the well-being of these individuals adversely affected.

"The way you see people is the way you treat them, and the way you treat them is what they become."

JOHANN WOLFGANG VON GOETHE

The issue of endemic violence and substance addiction is left to outstanding local individuals to face down the truth; to build a better future that calls on each tribe/community/encampment to resolutely accept that these issues must be managed locally. Holding a seat in the UN or Davos will mean nothing to those left suffering their fate. As we all must, the road back to civilisational-regeneration begins with the first step, amongst family and friends and builds into the larger community. It does not come from the top down. The kingdom is within.

having developed into a political art-form for tyrants. 'MindSpace' is one of several papers we carry on our website to illustrate that mind manipulation by all mainstream and social media is endemic and wholesale. Every article that surfaces carries a purpose rather than facts. The dialectical arguments across competing platforms both work together to control the narrative and suitable counter-narrative. Internet searches are graded according to current suitability, rather than criteria. You cannot step away the kerb without politically correct infusions of mind numbing propaganda for manipulation.

Influencing Behaviour Through Public Policy

Calibre of Ideas

The roots of manipulating people's minds goes back into antiquity. The theory of mind manipulation can be for the benefit - to educate, or the detriment - to manipulate to control. Modern theory found favour within the Carnegie Institute and Edward Bernays in particular. Clever marketing can increase sales, however, modern expressions have found more sinister purposes of compulsion, now through government 'mandates'. The Tavistock Institute, a collaborative effort of British military intelligence and the psychiatric establishment, was created in 1921 on the orders of members of the Royal Institute of International Affairs (Chatham House).

Monopoly and media are concentric (having a common centre), whether it be industrial, religious, or political. All rely on some propaganda as a means of coercion and control without physical force. Bernays was particularly adept in the discipline of advertising and marketing to cause increased sales, or, public acceptance of specially-tailored-narratives. While Edward Bernays' and more recently Saul Alinsky's works are there for further research, Beverly K Eakman does provide some counter with several titles here :

While these may only be names to most, however, a modern day Titan has surfaced. Ian McGilchrist, while his qualifications are significant and multidisciplinary, it is within his two exemplary works "The Master and His Emissary" and "The Matter with Things", he has uncovered the 'process of thinking' between the two brain-hemispheres. In my view, it is within this area of the 'brain hemispheres' which can re-orientate thinking towards the embodied-world of how things actually work that McGilchrist has identified; that the current impetus of mind manipulation is orientated only towards the left hemisphere of abstraction, numbers and measurement. This causes a separation from the embodied-world (how it actually is) located more so in the right hemisphere.

There is no short and quick way to comprehend McGilchrist's Trilogy of some 2000 pages of which I have not even unpacked one paragraph. Just as there is no short and quick answer to tyranny. It is within these works of the mind that the remnants of our civilisation may find their way back from these most sinister techniques of mind manipulation. But find our way back we must. The prospect of total tyranny is unthinkable.

On the ground, our economy is in free-fall with house prices plummeting and inflation soaring. Energy prices have nearly doubled this past 12 month. Corruption within the political realm is wholesale. Dan Andrews will not allow the anti-corruption report on branch stacking and electoral anomalies to surface prior to the next Vic. state election. It is being deliberately held up through the courts until electoral victory is assured. Carefully scripted narratives by behavioural psychologists are fed into the political realm to stifle legitimate public interest.

C.H. Douglas "The Big Idea" 1942

"Every prohibition of individual initiative is a victory for the enemy to exactly the extent that is effective... Not only does it, in itself, represent one more step towards the Slave World, but, except under certain conditions, it sets up a habit of apathetic acquiescence which is exactly what is desired... The first strategy has many times been emphasized - it is to insist that Members of Parliament are representatives not delegates... But the same principle can be carried into every official quarter. Once (you) get the mental attitude well established in oneself that institutions exist only legitimately to serve individuals... It is (also) necessary to face up to the fact of institutionalised Judaeo-Christianity... which is simply Liberal Judaism. At the present time, ecclesiastics... are making every effort in their power to identify the Kingdom of God upon Earth with Jewish Socialism (which is State Capitalism with monopoly control by Finance)... derived from assuming as axiomatic, the tenets of a philosophy systematically inculcated from birth. Against this hypnotic obsession, argument is useless - dehypnotisation is essential."

Could Voter Fraud Swing Australian Elections?

I found an article of this title by Kurt Mahlburg here:

<https://goodsauce.news/>

could-voter-fraud-swing-australian-elections/

While Kurt Mahlburg has argued of endemic fraud within our electoral processes, the solutions offered by him don't satisfy my understanding of electronic counting-fraud which is also prevalent. Dominion voting systems are under significant scrutiny in USA by the freedom movement, and Sydney Powell in particular. Flipping of votes is discussed even amongst polite society.

MP Ms Fiona Simpson (LNP Maroochydore Qld) reported to Peta Credlin Sky News in December 2020 on significant security issues with the use of Chinese based coders for the Electoral Commission of Queensland's voting software. These wholesale and obvious anomalies convince me that: any referendum held in Australia will be subject to the same challengers to controlling political power over Australia. Vested interests will do whatever is necessary to secure their result, including leveraging our officials. John Perkins recorded these very facts in his important work 'Confessions of an Economic Hit Man': https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Perkins%20J%20The_Confessions.pdf

Our own Amy McGrath has documented across several book-titles and made 17 submissions to various parliamentary inquiries of election irregularities, most of which were ignored. The electoral roll padding, voter ID to register, confirmed address, Voter ID to cast a vote, are all glaring anomalies for corruption that those in power will not amend due to vested-interests controlling the narrative. The media could easily deal with these issues over a couple of editorials, which they will never do as they are immersed and integrated within those vested-interests. The political class are more interested with holding onto power rather than benefiting us all.

Gold-Fever has morphed into Power-Fever

From pre-selection to branch stacking, to irregularities within every other step of the election process there is little left to corrupt except the electoral commission itself. Investigations by electoral officers are stifled through lack of funds. Australian Federal Police are reluctant to engage with little prospect for successful prosecutions due to time (12 months from the election result) and resource constraints. Within Amy's record, she implicates the greater union-movement as having trained the communists how to gerry the system for their advantage. How does it really look on the ground - a corrupt, filthy mess of pottage. As Aboriginals find that the 'facts on the ground' are abhorrent even after many political gains, so the electors find the same abhorrent 'facts on the ground' to achieve a valid election result. The corruption is endemic and wholesale through every step of the electoral process, with no political desire to 'fix the fix' that has been deliberately put in place.

The Tancangco Report : The anatomy of electoral fraud was the result of 7 years of research by many individuals under Luzviminda G. Tancangco. It alleged 'wholesale' fraud to subvert Filipino elections at every stage of the electoral process. Amy McGrath has done similar within her several works under the banner of HS Chapman Society, even though supported by politicians.

The formidable task of regaining control of our

Jim Wilson ("Letters to The Australian", 4-5/6) has a more convincing case (against the proposed constitutionally enshrined Voice for our indigenous people) than Chris Kenny ("Indigenous voice a fair go"). Yes, the Voice is the creation of political activists and is impractical, divisive and unnecessary. There is a more profound issue, however.

The Australian people are in danger of being fooled into accepting a denatured model of indigenous society, so that alleged "indigenous interests" can be used in order to create a more egalitarian, Marxist-style Australia. The Aboriginal flag symbolises this inadequate understanding and the confidence trick involved.

There is a different and truer account of our indigenous people and the spiritual gift of understanding which they can provide. A. P. Elkin pointed to this in his famous 1945 book Aboriginal Men of High Degree. More recently Graham Hancock has discussed it in his 2005 book Supernatural: Meeting with the Ancient Teachers of Mankind. Such spirituality transcends political chicanery and can help bring about a badly needed restoration of sacred awareness in our nation. It needs no artificial and unjust Voice.

Nigel Jackson, Belgrave, Vic

political processes begins with the individual in community, slowly building a base from which a valid representative may be sought out and placed into 'our' parliament to voice 'our will'. Freedom is too important to leave it up to politicians to pursue on our behalf. They probably are under enormous leverage to toe the line. The results on the ground, as with the Aboriginals, elections and mind manipulation, our legitimate freedoms have been found wanting. Another mechanism must be sought to uphold our ancient rights and freedoms within the existing framework of our Limited Constitutional Monarchy through genuine Representative Parliamentary Democracy for ALL AUSTRALIANS.

The voice to parliament will not achieve this.

ACTION TARGET

Part of the Uluru Statement concerns the establishment of a Voice in Parliament for Aborigines. The main emphasis at the moment is toward the Federal Parliament but a parallel programme is already applying to State Parliaments. Whichever is the case, it is a threat to our system of government.

We are fortunate to have the Westminster system of government which provides every single person the chance to raise any issue with our elected representative (our MP). It is his/her responsibility to pursue the matter provided it is a reasonable request.

The process may involve other MP's in debate but it should receive attention. The end result is not guaranteed but that can never be expected.

To create a Voice for any group, whether they be Aborigines or any other group to have authority over traditional Parliament would not only be a bias but would contravene the whole process of our Westminster style of government. If a Voice is established, many more groups will seek their Voice delivering total chaos.

The above message is incorporated in the enclosed flier which needs to be copied for distribution in the neighbourhood, markets and rallies etc. It should also be sent to your MP and newspapers before further progress is made. The facts need to be made with clear points that your opinion is not against aborigines but is a matter of principle. The Voice would deliver actual division from an homogenous island-nation-continent.
