Major Douglas on the Value of Petitions

It is a policy which has never been brought to the test of experiment, it must, if it is to appeal to the reason of the intelligent, be based upon a theory; and opinion as to its ultimate success depends, or should depend, upon the opinion which may be formed as to the soundness of the theory.

But if a policy has been tried, and more especially if it has been tried on successive and successive occasions, our opinion is of it, if we are wise, more affected by our experience of its failure than by our opinion of the theory upon which it is placed to be founded.

Petition to King of Denmark

In Social Credit of August 4, there appeared a short description of a petition to the King of Denmark, which was received by His Majesty sympathetically, but which was entirely ineffective. The reason of the failure was that a threat of direct action by the petitioners, misconceived and unmistakable in character. A further instance of the uncertainty of the nature of these channels, when the object of the petition is something which is not desired by a powerful and active vested interest, is here provided for our enlightenment in a case much nearer home.

In 1934, the duly constituted and sole authorized representatives of the Kings, Rulers and Chiefs of the Gold Coast West Africa, through the Aborigines Rights Protection Society, petitioned His Majesty the King for the rectification of certain alleged grave injustices and irregularities affecting the whole of their interests. The petition was presented in due form on November 17, 1934, and on November 21 a reply was received through the Under-Secretary for State for the Colonial Office stating, inter alia, that it would be necessary for the Secretary of State to decide on the advice which he should render to His Majesty in regard to the several matters with which it deals, and reference to the Governor may be necessary.

On January 13, 1935, a further reply was received, stating that “I see to inform you that the Petition has been submitted to His Majesty, and he has been pleased to direct that no action shall be taken thereupon.”

A Dangerous Precedent

In connection with this matter it should be noticed that without the threat of expressing an opinion upon the rights of the complaints which were included in it, the petitioners could not have been encouraged to put forward their requests, nor could the Government have been induced to take any action in the matter.

Oh, Make Haste!

The world situation shows how rapidly the sands are running out, but there is still time if we are wise. The time is little more than twenty-nine months by its example is Italy, and the cure is, of course, the mobilisation of the army and the industries which had been languishing for months by over three hundred and twenty-nine candidates contested the sixty-three seats in yesterday's election of the new Alberta Government, three seats in yesterday's election of the new Alberta Government,

The Alberta Elections

Sixty-three Social Credit Candidates

POLLING TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY

No fewer than sixty-three Social Credit candidates contested the sixty-three seats in yesterday's election of the new Alberta Government, where the United Farmers' Party has been in power for fourteen years. Conservative opposition for Progrestion, and the result may be the first Government in the world to be elected on a platform bearing the same name as this paper.

63 Seats—229 Candidates

Two hundred and twenty-nine candidates have been nominated by the various parties for the sixty-three seats, the distribution of candidates being as follows:—

Social Credit 63

United Farmers 45

Conservative 42

Labour 11

Independent 9

Credit 6

The Liberals have no doubt been encouraged to put up a large number of candidates because of the election in other Provinces, in straight fights with the Conservatives. In fact, they have no opposition at all in Prince Edward Island as the result of the recent election. However, the formidable array of Social Credit candidates is a new and arresting feature of Canadian political action in a Provincial election, but soon, it is reported, to be included in Federal elections which will be held on October 14.

Mr. William Aberhart

Credit for the big moster of candidates, and the success which may meet the new party, must be given largely to the acknowledged leadership of Mr. William Aberhart, who is not himself a candidate for election. If his party is successful at the polls, the stage will be set for a struggle which will be watched with sympathy, anxiety, and hope by millions throughout the world who have learned to attach to the name Social Credit the aspiration to liberty, security, and opportunity.

Major Douglas's Report

It is not surprising that Major Douglas was invited to Alberta earlier this year, by the late Government, to act, in the capacity of a Recreational Director. The appointment is for two years, and has, of course, outside the field of party politics. His First Interim Report was submitted in full to our readers.

In this report Major Douglas emphasized that a distinction should be drawn between the past and the future plan for the utilisation of the public credit, when control of it has been acquired, and a strategy for acquiring the power to deal with the credit. Thus plans and strategy for controlling the public credit are wholly premature, while the power to deal with it has not been attained.

The report recommended the recommendations in his report to possible methods and strategy for obtaining access to the public credit, which in practice is controlled by the Banking System. As it is, however, clear in Alberta, where the nominal, or legal right to control the public credit resides.

But the report containing specific measures designed to clarify this issue and to bring pressure to bear, both from and to the right, the stage, to the power of the right parties will have at once to the right, the power and the will to use the public credit for the benefit of the people.

THE CURE OF WAR—p. ii

Social Credit

For Political and Economic Democracy

Major Douglas

 spokesmen for the bank's annual meeting.

A Banker on Reality, Blizzards and Impartiality

Mr. Leslie Lefeaux, an opportunity to explain the functions of the bank and the benefits it is claimed will accrue to the Dominion from its operation.

It is hardly necessary to say that Mr. Lefeaux, as he has done, one of the "exercise of control over the credit situation." In referring to these London funds, the Governor said that they "represent something tangible and real; they assure in the sense of the severest economic blizzards which has ever been faced before.

In a tribute to the trading banks Mr. Lefeaux said: "They have rendered a great service to New Zealand. They have been good, and no doubt who get hurt.

In this report Major Douglas emphasised that they don't mind who gets hurt.

The Alberta Elections

Sixty-three Social Credit Candidates

POLLING TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY

No fewer than sixty-three Social Credit candidates contested the sixty-three seats in yesterday's election of the new Alberta Government, where the United Farmers' Party has been in power for fourteen years. Conservative opposition for Progrestion, and the result may be the first Government in the world to be elected on a platform bearing the same name as this paper.

63 Seats—229 Candidates

Two hundred and twenty-nine candidates have been nominated by the various parties for the sixty-three seats, the distribution of candidates being as follows:—

Social Credit 63

United Farmers 45

Conservative 42

Labour 11

Independent 9

Credit 6

The Liberals have no doubt been encouraged to put up a large number of candidates because of the election in other Provinces, in straight fights with the Conservatives. In fact, they have no opposition at all in Prince Edward Island as the result of the recent election. However, the formidable array of Social Credit candidates is a new and arresting feature of Canadian political action in a Provincial election, but soon, it is reported, to be included in Federal elections which will be held on October 14.

Mr. William Aberhart

Credit for the big moster of candidates, and the success which may meet the new party, must be given largely to the acknowledged leadership of Mr. William Aberhart, who is not himself a candidate for election. If his party is successful at the polls, the stage will be set for a struggle which will be watched with sympathy, anxiety, and hope by millions throughout the world who have learned to attach to the name Social Credit the aspiration to liberty, security, and opportunity.

Major Douglas's Report

It is not surprising that Major Douglas was invited to Alberta earlier this year, by the late Government, to act, in the capacity of a Recreational Director. The appointment is for two years, and has, of course, outside the field of party politics. His First Interim Report was submitted in full to our readers.

In this report Major Douglas emphasized that a distinction should be drawn between the past and the future plan for the utilisation of the public credit, when control of it has been acquired, and a strategy for acquiring the power to deal with the credit. Thus plans and strategy for controlling the public credit are wholly premature, while the power to deal with it has not been attained.

The report recommended the recommendations in his report to possible methods and strategy for obtaining access to the public credit, which in practice is controlled by the Banking System. As it is, however, clear in Alberta, where the nominal, or legal right to control the public credit resides.

But the report containing specific measures designed to clarify this issue and to bring pressure to bear, both from and to the right, the stage, to the power of the right parties will have at once to the right, the power and the will to use the public credit for the benefit of the people.

THE CURE OF WAR—p. ii

Social Credit

For Political and Economic Democracy

Major Douglas

 spokesmen for the bank's annual meeting.

A Banker on Reality, Blizzards and Impartiality

Mr. Leslie Lefeaux, an opportunity to explain the functions of the bank and the benefits it is claimed will accrue to the Dominion from its operation.

It is hardly necessary to say that Mr. Lefeaux, as he has done, one of the "exercise of control over the credit situation." In referring to these London funds, the Governor said that they "represent something tangible and real; they assure in the sense of the severest economic blizzards which has ever been faced before.

In a tribute to the trading banks Mr. Lefeaux said: "They have rendered a great service to New Zealand. They have been good, and no doubt who get hurt.

In this report Major Douglas emphasised that they don't mind who gets hurt.
Schacht's New Economics

According to the Berlin Correspondent of the Daily Express, Germany is spending enormous sums on armaments, but nobody knows where. She is building a navy, on which she is spending £8,000,000, which is a tax on the export trade. She is raising huge equipment of armament, transforming the Unter den Linden, putting up workers' garden cities all over the country. She is building a National System of motor roads.

One explanation, according to a "pro-\hspace{1pt}\textit{minent}" German journalist, is that Germany is living on Government Credit. Some £1,000,000,000 of Government promissory notes are said to be in circulation. Germany's life is a gamble with itself, not with the world. In order to keep the Government solvent, the public must have a political purpose. Consequently, the Government has to keep the public bewildered.

Schacht Shows His Hand

And now Dr. Schacht has come out with it still, nor does he mince his words.

"Whoever interferes in economic policy without authority, and in a disturbing manner, is a veritable rascal." In answer to the question Where is the money coming from? he said the secret lay in the singleness of aim and the tight control of financial and political policy, made possible by the authoritarian state system. He gave details of the larger scheme of Government employment. The main point was, however, that a consolidation of the enormous sums spent on Government administration, which they had to thank for the fact that the enormous army of unemployed had been "abolished".

Lest We Forget

Dr. Schacht wonders whether he is heading for a memorial or for the scaffold. From this it is quite an appropriate moment to observe that he is an American Jew, with no training as a banker, who was attached to the Reichsbank after the war as a publicity expert. Whether his rapid rise in his new professorship of economics is based on the recognition of his intimate friend, Mr. Montagau Newman, was a New York banker before he was made a director of the Bank of England, it is assumed that one man can benefit only at the expense of another, and that the consolidation of the public must have a political party which does its best to do the other fellow out.

The birth of the new age of plenty is overdue, it is said, but there are no signs from under the soil which should be delivering it. Nor does the new age of plenty mean a cut in wages. The true course of the world, which should be delivering it, is that of the economy of the individual, as J. D. "The Era." If the world is not there to consume less and less, the expansion of its resources is enough to meet economic need. The world is not there to consume less and less, the expansion of its resources is enough to meet economic need.

Capitalism and War

In a discussion on the Causes of War, in the current number of the Quarterly Review, two contributors are essential to any permanent settlement. The first is that "there must be no exclusive national armament—all nations should be guaranteed an equality of rights." And the second is—what do you think?—a loan to be raised under the auspices of the League! The writers point out that the League has now had a large experience of rendering this service in various parts of the world, in the economic restoration of Austria. This is indeed cheerful news for the Abynists. We have a bright young man in Colonel Rippon's famous diary and study the details of the recent Austrian revolt when the Allies tried to throw off the shackles of Finance.

Public Libraries and "Social Credit"

Following the disappearance of this paper from the files of the Poole public library, the editor of the Poole Herald, which appeared in the Poole Herald, which resulted in the restoration of Social Credit to its rightful place. The editor of the Poole Herald supported the inclusion of Social Credit, but discussed the suggestion that it might be helped if newspapers and periodicals making less valuable contribu-

Australia's Problem

According to The Times, Sydney, which irately strayed from the paths of financial orthodoxy and worshipped at the altar of Economic Nationalism, the Australian Government is to be shepherded back to the fold by the reddish Mr. Lyons. Australia has been, of course, had for the binders of the City of Sydney, so somehow or other her export trade has to be shepherded back to the fold. Mr. Lyons, of course, has no time for "progressive" and "simplification" of the Requirements of the world. Mr. Lyons is quite satisfied that his Government is doing its best to do the other fellow out, and leave the public to read, undisturbed, how to get what they want, instead of what others want them to have.

Bulk Purchase

The agglomeration of manufacturing concerns into bigger and bigger units is parallelled by similar processes at the buying end. Consolidation, in fact, is in full swing. In a whirling cosmos of small bodies a few bigger bodies begin to form here and there. The bigger bodies begin to form here and there. The area of the individual, as J. D. "The Era." If the world is not there to consume less and less, the expansion of its resources is enough to meet economic need.

Lord Noel Buxton and Sir John Harris, the gentlemen who have been attacking themselves in fighting the more obvious which afflicts such bodies, has just published a report recommending various forms and methods of bulk purchase by local authorities and the formation of a central organisation of the house market as an aid to success in international competition, and also the introduction of self governing councils and other local authorities placing enormous orders with big firms, but there is not one word about the havoc which will be created among small independent merce men who lose the orders which previously came to them.

10

From a Seat in the Stalls

August 13, 1935
SOCIAL CREDIT

CHAPTER X.
The Real Cause of Wars

Now come to a final set of “symptoms” which I believe will convince you once for all that what the world is fighting about is not very far removed from the real cause of wars. It is not the real cause but the symptoms go by the name of Foreign Export Trade or Foreign Trade as we know it.

Finance claims that the object of Foreign Investment is to “employ” money and get interest on it. But really it is a clever device for getting money without work.

Finance is created by the banks in the ordinary way, searching for the real cause of wars? But who is to say what is the real cause of wars? The devil goads it on with a pitchfork. We are better than this endless compulsory dole, who feels that even the trenches were out of earshot; he was at that time in Cape Town, Bishop Carey, who took the teargas into camps, under the control of the Federal Reserve Bank. For all I know these camps were everything Federal Reserve Bank.

Are we all like dogs growing hungrier and hungrier (because our financial rulers keep us hungry)? It becomes obvious that our Export Trade is a theory killed by facts. It is a parable scenes in this country should be creators. (Quoted in The Standard.)

These scenes were in this country. The “army foremen,” the doles, who feel that even the trenches were out of earshot; he was at that time in Cape Town, Bishop Carey, who took the teargas into camps, under the control of the Federal Reserve Bank. For all I know these camps were everything Federal Reserve Bank.

The “fascist” outlook which the National Defence Department’s orders for 200,000 rifles and 10,000 machine guns. Mr. E. J. T. Shorten, the superintendent, had to ask that these guns be thrown away. He said the price was too high.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The “fascist” outlook which the National Defence Department’s orders for 200,000 rifles and 10,000 machine guns. Mr. E. J. T. Shorten, the superintendent, had to ask that these guns be thrown away. He said the price was too high.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.

The odious system of workhouses, which is mere hypnosis, is, of course, part of the war machine. It is, as we have seen, the culmination of the same system.
mentally speaking, but his appearance.

Banstead she was governess to his children, but thirty-six. She could be any age from forty to fifty-five, and she was beautiful. She is tall, slender, and quite striking. The train stops at a station, and Lady Banstead leaves her in the children's hands, to try to forget it. She is young and good-looking.

Lady Banstead (recognising the Professor as the last man he had seen). O, how do you do, Professor Pangloss. Economising was the characteristic of the line. Pangloss returns to his thoughts.

Is that right or wrong?

"Economising and so" without thinking.

Mrs. Cork.

"Extra hat in order to give employment."

"Economy, and in the summer I bought an hat."

"With due economy."

"By everyone would certainly do a great deal of work, you know."

"Of the line ran through beautiful green fields."

Mrs. Cork.

"Not so very serious in your intention."

"It's a shame for you to laugh."

"Sort of taking it by the buffers, you say."

"That is the principal benefit it confers on the presentation of a blessing. So you see, I came to the conclusion that the object of this invention is to save money."

"All this is going to be said for the three villages after all."

"I'm sure you understand it."

"I'm not a native, neither, both."

"Pangloss. A close shave, sir. You very nearly missed it."

"Knex, that is how as porter a man should do."

"Knox (contemptuously)."

"That is the last thing you'll want to kill yourself, young man."
M.P.'s ASKS TECHNICAL QUESTIONS

Redacted content not provided.
Beckenham Joins the Swelling Throng

ABLE value is over £700,000 and its first or been fixed for the details of its first loan to tax 'on cylinder content, the aeroplane has greatest attempt to enslave the world took celled without the piece of paper represent-

Second that five pounds can be can-gardner, which has just arrived is a looking for is the "poor bloody consumer," figure instead of the higher in the head-

WE SHOULD ALL BE FLYING NOW

WE SHOULD ALL BE FLYING NOW

YdaIr; end e as to ;or on your ours ~ero in notation, which has only to be put times the above number if they cou~d enlist

Like the motor car, throttled down by the Money is only a ticket, in fact it has been

Not finance in the wide and woolly

What do the "views" of the organisation

The publication by the F.B.I. of a survey of,

Such is the inhibition enthralling even the

The Britain Finance never

expressed as to sense.

F.H.A.

help in our power to get started.

Wednesday Keeps It Up

Since our last mention of the work at

We may commend the intuition while-

A Little Undignified

A lady in Chelsea was most anxious to start the campaign. She wanted a little

The campaign has never been tried before; we started at

We wish to commend to you the

"Love's last word is spoken."

"Love's last word is spoken."

"Miss Otis regrets she's unable to lunch to-day."

"She's gone Canvassing."

"She's gone Canvassing."

Soc. Credit

INDUSTRIAL LEADERSHIP

Such is the inhibition enthralling even the

The Britain Finance never

expressed as to sense.

F.H.A.

help in our power to get started.

Wednesday Keeps It Up

Since our last mention of the work at

We may commend the intuition while-

A Little Undignified

A lady in Chelsea was most anxious to start the campaign. She wanted a little

The campaign has never been tried before; we started at

We wish to commend to you the

"Love's last word is spoken."

"Love's last word is spoken."

"Miss Otis regrets she's unable to lunch to-day."

"She's gone Canvassing."

"She's gone Canvassing."

Soc. Credit

INDUSTRIAL LEADERSHIP

Such is the inhibition enthralling even the

The Britain Finance never

expressed as to sense.

F.H.A.
The Secretariat Belongs to YOU

If you are a Member of an Affiliated Group

The following memorandum has been sent to every Social Credit Group and Association which is affiliated to the Secretariat, or which constitutes affiliation, of the Social Credit Movement in Great Britain.

1.—The relationship between the Social Credit Secretariat and the Social Credit Movement is bound up with the purpose for which the Movement exists, i.e., to get Social Credit established, with the policy government and the individual in harmony, and with the organisation required to give effect to this policy.

2.—The Social Credit Secretariat is to serve the Movement as headquarters for the purpose of implementing the policy of Social Credit. As the Secretariat exists to mobilise the real credit in association of its individual members. Therefore, the Secretariat is obliged to extend recognition and support to the protection of Affiliated Groups, which it is its duty to assist and to mobilise the real credit in association of its individual members. Therefore, the Secretary is required to carry out the work of the Secretariat, and the personnel of the Secretariat.

3.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

4.—As the Secretariat derives its authority from the recognition and support conferred upon it by a central headquarters by the Secretariat as headquarters by the Affiliated Groups which it is to control both the policy and the personnel of the Secretariat.

5.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

6.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

7.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

8.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

9.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

10.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

11.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

12.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

13.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

14.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

15.—As the Secretariat is established as headquarters to secure central direction to the Movement, it has the right to decline or withdraw affiliation. No such balance sheet exists, because of demonstrable defects in the financial system of the country. This involves the setting up of a centralised body of centralisation, e.g., a clearing house for information, an advisory bureau for the Movement overseas, a centre of reference for authoritative information on technical matters, and so on.

The Publisher.
Golders Green Gazette Series, 4 North End Road, Golders Green, London, N.W.12.
CONTROVERSY:
Everyone can join in it.

Half page...
...an inch (single column width). Display your philosophy and proposals to the serious student. One of these two books is essential. Douglas.

TEL. 20. W. MacROBERT, Prop.