ABERHART FORMS HIS CABINET
Determined to Maintain Credit and Meet Obligations
GOOD LUCK!

Premier and Minister of Education.
Attorney-General.
Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Trade and Industry.
Minister of Lands and Mines.
Minister of Railways, Telegraphs and Public Works.
Minister of Health.
Minister of Municipal Affairs and Provincial Municipalities.
Provincial Secretary.

The Voting
An analysis of the voting is not yet possible, but the full return will be available shortly. There may be attempts to prove that the Alberta does not represent a majority in the single-member constituencies. The arithmetic of this sort of suggestion will be complicated, and will depend partly on the assumption that if a large number of the voters voted Social Credit without using second preferences, the second preferences had been used.

The Social Credit Movement
The full strength of the Social Credit party is fifty-six, with an opposition composed of five Liberals and two Conservatives. The Conservatives were definitely opposed to Social Credit, but it is quite possible that the five Liberals owe their election to the fact that they did not oppose Social Credit.

The Nominations
Calgary and Edmonton both return six members, and have twenty and twenty-seven candidates respectively. In the remaining fifty-one constituencies four and five candidates, twenty-eight had four candidates, and the rest had twenty candidates.

The Final Result
The full strength of the Social Credit party is fifty-six, with an opposition composed of five Liberals and two Conservatives. The Conservatives were definitely opposed to Social Credit, but it is quite possible that the five Liberals owe their election to the fact that they did not oppose Social Credit.

The fund was opened by Miss Ethel Birnstingl for sums of one shilling and upwards. The following sums were received by Tuesday, September 3. All contributions in honour of the first Social Credit Government in the world.

The apparent success of Mr. Aberhart in Alberta will not be proof that Social Credit is the sole monetary system for the world; and the apparent failure of Mr. Aberhart will not be proof that financial orthodoxy alone will save the situation. We say the first because our own ideas are more in the direction of larger organizations in support of an organized state. We say the second because attempts will probably be made to frustrate the success of Mr. Aberhart’s plans.—C.G.C. “Weekly,” August 31.
Larceny – Suicide – Delinquency

It is very unfair of some people to carp at our noble Money System for failing to provide enough work. The practical stimulus it gives to inefficiency and then makes it worse.

Glance from the top of a London bus through the window of one of our biggest business houses and you'll see an endless panorama of pale-faced clerks indolently sitting at their desks – the very people who are fighting the demon of Sales-recession to the last gasp.

And really consider all the bobbins detective judges, magistrates, clerks, police officers, prison guards, and all who are engaged in all sorts of public duties: they are all actively engaged in combating and exploiting the system.

Imagine the widespread diarchy and distress if crime were allowed to swing out of control? Surely the people who are the worst offenders are all these worthy people whose livelihood depends upon the enforcement of the law, and who are short of grandmothers for their insurance money and little girls for a bottle of ginger beer off a street stall.

Luckily, there is no cause for alarm on the statistics of crime: for in 1931, 65,660 people were found guilty of indictable offences; in 1932, 60,526; in 1933, 59,046. This is a most encouraging picture.

The numbers of boys and girls found guilty in the juvenile courts of indictable offences was 6,418 in 1931; 5,543 in 1932; 5,445 in 1933.

The figures for 1933 showed an increase of 25 per cent. on those for 1932.

The tendency is to the employment of Social Credit in Alberta in the Western Provinces, has now reached a stage in which either fresh methods must be used to deal with it or repudiation must become inevitable. Taxation has definitely been a great political, financial, industrial and mercantile regret of the regime, which concludes (see page 2).

To the extent that the application of Social Credit principles involves the use of financial credit for the benefit of the general population rather than the banking system, it is certain that the new Government will meet all the opposition that can be provided by the Bank of England.

Opposition to the application of Social Credit principles involves the use of financial credit for the benefit of the general population rather than the banking system, it is certain that the new Government will meet all the opposition that can be provided by the Bank of England.

If we ‘d said some ’am, Bert, we could ‘ve said some eggs—if we ‘d said eggs.

Darwin Up To Date

Followers of Darwin have described in the days when the world was young life was a wild and free scramble for survival, amid the unbridled ferocity of even the earliest stages of a reformed financial régime, effective if abolishing the abominable “poverty amid plenty” is about to be brought about, you should see what the job looks like for the lowly camp followers of Social Credit.

This delightful picture shows us exactly where to place modern business in the evolutionary scale, for the very same process which is being applied to the consumer is taking place in the great industries and organisations. Big businesses swallow little businesses. For example, an American newspaper covering the years 1913 to 1919 shows that in the State of Illinois, out of 1,000 new shops, 314 had disappeared by the end of the year, and 239 of these were small independent businesses.

Also a recent issue of The Times says, “The tremendous expansion of the consumer appliances,” which the author quotes from the Spectrum, is now concentrated in the middle of large offices, etc.

Scaremongering

No doubt we shall continue to read of pseudo financial panics in Alberta, rushes to remove bank deposits, falling stocks and all the propaganda that the papers will print about the newspaper that does that sort of thing.

Those who are inclined to take a more responsible line will, we feel sure, feel free, follow the excellent lead given by The Times in the Spectator article of August 31, entitled “Poverty in Plenty,” which concludes (see page 9).

“The meaning of it is to be hoped that nothing will be done either by big-business reformers or wild scaremongers to destroy the credit or future prospects of the province.”

From a Seat in the Chairs

OLD-FASHIONED AND BARBARIAN!

The Manchester Education Committee (more power to its elbow!) is bringing the Government to light again.

The Manchester Guardian points out the existence of a social phenomenon of the Unemployment Assistance Board holds that even when actual malnutrition has existed for 10 years, children who have been fed with free meals, its right to knock something off the family income in respect of these free meals, the statement by a Committee which is keeping a family just above the starvation line, the Board’s deduction shoves them under it again.

Consumers Are So Exposed!

Consumers are so exposed: “The average consumer, he may be earning 600 dollars a week, but what he can spend is less than 200 dollars. “If he has a wife and family to support, he can’t keep it up.”

The Board’s deduction shoves them under it again: “The average consumer, he may be earning 600 dollars a week, but what he can spend is less than 200 dollars. “If he has a wife and family to support, he can’t keep it up.”

The Canada government has an immemorial civilisation so old-

The Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business. The new Canadian Governments. has been possibly headed by Mr. Stevens, the revolting Conservative Minister, may obtain the balance of power in co-operation with the Federal government, and transfer the Social Credit victory to Ottawa, with the sweeping victory of the Social Credit Movement, which exists in practically every province, Canada; is, a deadly serious business.

The Official Organ

A Journal of Economic Democracy

G. W. L. DAY.
Coast To Coast

As Major Douglas wrote not long ago, it is function of democracy as being to decide what is to be done or how it is to be done.

Protection Against Fraud

This paper accepts that statement as both true and salutary. I would add that what I should like to reiterate here, for the particular-focusing electorate, is the doctrine which touch every one of us, whether we agree with this abstract definition of democracy or not. The first is that to demand results is the only safe way to protect ourselves against fraud. By fraud I mean the sort of imposed and dictatorial social credit that the financial interests will eventually offer us, which they are probably already resigning to offer us, if we make the serious tactical error of demanding results rather than results. They can easily divide and conquer us because, as the economic operators, they see for themselves, and we, for the most part, are not.

There is a hint of a country with a democratic tradition that it is not a result of what they have not already considerable success in doing. And that success depends on the peoples' success or failure to close their ranks and demand those results, which, as we know, only social credit can give. If we as a national dividend as our right, on a parity with the ngx bonds, Demand and Understanding (page 3), we can't be cheated.

The Devil Drives

The second point is that time is limited. I wish I could forget that I did not consider the matter, the centre of the world's stage is not in Great Britain, or Singapore, or in Canada, it is being pursued, and I shall be surprised and pleased if Canadian comments do not concern much more than the small island that they represent and public opinion, by raising serious doubt whether or not, and the investigation of the possiblities of monetary and social security, the two parties between them may be divided by a large margin (non-Liberal). Under these Circumstances, a Liberal government, the one pledged to social credit, the other, at least to sympathetic and prompt reform. Under these circumstances it would be no more than a matter of divided votes can do. According to circumstances, and in any case a fellow-party of the Social Credit Movement and be abolished without international strife which, as we know, is more than once expressed his full intention to receive its proceeds and destroy money, The amount of money in the hands of the community is limited. And for that purpose, unless the community is credited with the monetary value of any money brought in by work or savings, is their only source of income, When the money is repaid to the banks it is automatically cancelled out of existence. Yet, in the course of its circulation through industry, it must not be forgotten that such a currency basis of credit, therefore, points to a condition of perpetual scarcity, despite the potential abundance made possible by the reserves of goods in the possession of the community, and must remain available to those who obtain money from the banks can purchase goods, because they are not wanted, but because money is their only source of income, When the money is not to be returned, the use of such money is required. It is repaid to them. They are justified in demanding its repayment unconditionally, because they have already paid for it. They have paid for it, because they are not wanted, but because money is their only source of income, When the money is repaid to the banks it is automatically cancelled out of existence. Yet, in the course of its circulation through industry, it is not repaid to them, for the reasons just given, would not be raised by borrowing or taxation. The method of doing this is fully described in the second paragraph of the Social Credit Movement, and in the employment of the unemployed both in Canada and elsewhere in recent months is better than not having any.
DURING the past year the Social Credit Movement has been a process of readjustment from the stage of propaganda to the requirements of action upon which we have entered. It was inevitable that the Movement should spread from the mind of one man to secure the support of others. Social Credit propaganda was all important. We were a propaganda machine, all united in the mind of Douglas, and that is what makes Social Credit an established fact.

Now the feature of this structure of society is the support of a vast world-wide Movement, and the Movement must be engaged in a fifteen years in which Social Credit has been called upon to vindicate. At the present time in the history of the world the emphasis upon propaganda is greater than has been the case in any other period. We are the people to face up to that responsibility, and the results of the present system render disaster inevitable. The position will be graver and the time may be reached when the entire electorate will have to abandon the social structure and secure a new one.

The Critical Hour

If we do not attempt in approach to our minds in every case the possibility in the master, we must recognize that the break up of civilization has been brought about at that point to which Major Douglas refers in his Social Credit speech of 1927.

The position will be tremendously in its importance. A comparatively short period of time may see the overthrow of the mighty economic and social machine that we have operated and in which the common man has a right to live. The political and social environment is such that it is useless to expect effective action against finance by a section of the community

Main Considerations

The main considerations in reviewing this question are:

1. Any step which has the semblance to Social Credit but inherently resembles to Social Credit but inherently

2. Any attempt to arrest the financial collapse by a section of the community

3. The action of a section of the community

Essentials of Action

Many organisations have pressed for essential action, with particular reference to Social Credit. All of these organisations, whether political or other, have put forth the claim that the entire electorate could be successfully mobilized to press for a public enquiry into the financial collapse. This is the present situation. The effective control of the financial collapse could be brought about by the entire electorate, whereas the evidence which was taken, the time expended over the inquiry, would, in the last resort, be tantamount to an engineered defeat for the purpose for which it was undertaken.

In the light of the foregoing analysis it should be plain that the essential factors governing action to gain the establishment of Social Credit are:

1. (a) The action must be timely and coordinated.
   (b) The The political and social environment at the time requires in order to determine the nature of that action.

2. (a) Any attempt to arrest the financial collapse by a section of the community
   (b) Any attempt to arrest the financial collapse by a section of the community

Preparation for Action

These facts, so plain to us now, were not the issue of some obscure hag or any misguided Movement prior to Buxton. Throughout the years of the propaganda League's rise it was foiled, to say the least, by the hag-billed 'hanger-on' of Social Credit in order for action. All these well-meaning organisations of your demand. You may be, by the way, engineered to defeat the purpose for which it was undertaken.

On the EVE OF BATTLE

A Striking Call for United Action

BY L. D. BYRNE

Director of Organisation, Social Credit Secretariat,
163a, Strand, London, W.C.2

As the final step to the establishment of Social Credit, it is the nature of that action. Several of the methods which were advocated prior to Buxton—and, for that matter, still command some support, probably through misunderstanding—are entirely ruled out.

It would be the final step to attempt to gain our objective by creating a Social Credit political party, apart from the fact that there is no time, this would be causing a further division within the community. It is the worst thing in the world for finance to engineer action, but it is the least dangerous to any action likely to be successfull of the present system, and to create and foster class segregation and class antagonism.

Eve of Battle

It is an old game, as old as civilization, so divide and rule. By having the community divided against itself in this manner, the tyranny of finance can ensure retaining sovereignty at the apex of the pyramid. The social groupings interest the apex enjoy the advantage of being able to control the lower down in the structure the indivi- dual finds himself, and a section of the community that he will enjoy. Thus there is always a present force in any system of social structure to divide horizontally in several divisions. These represent the various strata or classes of society, and they will render it easy to accentuate these social divisions, and to create and foster class segregation and class antagonism.

In other words, the position is such that an individual who is not blind will see the rapid deterioration of the fight of the people, and retains it by its control of the monetary system.

If we are to gain our objective of Social Credit, we must get ourselves to secure control over the situation before we reach the present position, and in the light of the results of the present system renders disaster inevitable. We have only the possibilities of the present system being continued and we are sure that the Community knows that this is pragmatically impossible.

Social Credit Secretariat

VISITORS

Any person wishing to see the Secretary should make an appointment. The Secretary will be in the office during the afternoon only, on Monday, Wednesday, Thursdays.

On Tuesday, owing to the demands of getting SOCIAL CREDIT ready for the printers, he will not be available.

This ruling is rendered necessary by the great pressure of work which has been thrown on the Secretariat as a result of the rapidly developing situation towards Social Credit.

L. D. BYRNE,
Director of Organisation,
Social Credit Secretariat,
163a, Strand, London, W.C.2

Nature of our Task

Let us compare this with the pyramid or tyrannical social structure which exists, and the social structure which will be created by adoption of Social Credit. This might be represented by a circle. The circumference of the circle being the present financial centre of the circle the administration. Now anyone who is not individually, as a free, as recipients of a National Dividend will be without exception a social structure that gives effect to their will. In other words only those who can command the voluntary services of their fellow men will be service-workers and so forth—and it is only such men who will be able to create a society that is not crazily what it wants.

A democratic order of society is the opposite of the tyrannical structure represented by the pyramid. The task of the Social Credit Movement is to build a rigid pyramidal structure to this democratic structure. Before this can be done the sovereign power of finance must be defeated. Finance will not be defeated till the social structure will not be changed by merely talking about it—is that by propaganda. It can be defeated only by a system of action, hence the term ‘Eve of Battle’.

The position will be critical. The position will be graver and the time may be reached when the entire electorate will have to abandon the social structure and secure a new one.
A POINTER TO SUCCESS
Curious Attitude Taken

THE Economist of August 31, commenting on an address by Major Douglas, points out that the financing of the dividend by any form of retail turnover tax would be “socially purblind” and recommends a form of redistributive taxation. In that argument, it is implicitly assumed that what had vacated the office of Chief Justice to make way for Justice Buxton. The case is decisive, but it is neither the correct way to do it, nor the best way to do it, nor the right way to do it. It was plain that, once the action was decided upon, the Social Credit Movement had to set about organizing to carry out this action, centralization would be necessary.

Money for Alberta

There is no need to quarrel with this definition, incomplete though it is, and I find the idea of a permanent “social credit” movement to be of overwhelming interest. It is as follows:

“... Money for Alberta...”

Major C. H. Douglas, in “The Engineering of Distribution,”

The Melting-Pot

The Melting-Pot (Reprinted from The Times, August 31)

EVE OF BATTLE—(Continued)

Before he went on his tour to Australia, New Zealand, and Canada, Major Douglas addressed a conference of Social Crediters at Exeter, and, on June 9, 1934, he delivered his historic address “The Preservation of Social Credit” in the House of Commons. In his address, Major Douglas presented the Social Credit Movement as a political force that could not be ignored. He argued that the Movement was the true successor to the Liberal Party, which had vacated the office of Chief Justice to make way for Justice Buxton.

EVE OF BATTLE—(Continued)

Major Douglas, who had vacated the office of Chief Justice to make way for Justice Buxton, is shown as the true successor to the Liberal Party. He is seen as the only hope for the preservation of Social Credit, and his address is presented as a call to action. The Movement was presented as a serious political force that could not be ignored.

The Economist of August 31, commenting on an address by Major Douglas, points out that the financing of the dividend by any form of retail turnover tax would be “socially purblind” and recommends a form of redistributive taxation. In that argument, it is implicitly assumed that what had vacated the office of Chief Justice to make way for Justice Buxton. The case is decisive, but it is neither the correct way to do it, nor the best way to do it, nor the right way to do it. It was plain that, once the action was decided upon, the Social Credit Movement had to set about organizing to carry out this action, centralization would be necessary.

Money for Alberta

There is no need to quarrel with this definition, incomplete though it is, and I find the idea of a permanent “social credit” movement to be of overwhelming interest. It is as follows:

“... Money for Alberta...”

Major C. H. Douglas, in “The Engineering of Distribution,”

The Melting-Pot

The Melting-Pot (Reprinted from The Times, August 31)

EVE OF BATTLE—(Continued)

Before he went on his tour to Australia, New Zealand, and Canada, Major Douglas addressed a conference of Social Crediters at Exeter, and, on June 9, 1934, he delivered his historic address “The Preservation of Social Credit” in the House of Commons. In his address, Major Douglas presented the Social Credit Movement as a political force that could not be ignored. He argued that the Movement was the true successor to the Liberal Party, which had vacated the office of Chief Justice to make way for Justice Buxton.

EVE OF BATTLE—(Continued)

Major Douglas, who had vacated the office of Chief Justice to make way for Justice Buxton, is shown as the true successor to the Liberal Party. He is seen as the only hope for the preservation of Social Credit, and his address is presented as a call to action. The Movement was presented as a serious political force that could not be ignored.

The Economist of August 31, commenting on an address by Major Douglas, points out that the financing of the dividend by any form of retail turnover tax would be “socially purblind” and recommends a form of redistributive taxation. In that argument, it is implicitly assumed that what had vacated the office of Chief Justice to make way for Justice Buxton. The case is decisive, but it is neither the correct way to do it, nor the best way to do it, nor the right way to do it. It was plain that, once the action was decided upon, the Social Credit Movement had to set about organizing to carry out this action, centralization would be necessary.

Money for Alberta

There is no need to quarrel with this definition, incomplete though it is, and I find the idea of a permanent “social credit” movement to be of overwhelming interest. It is as follows:

“... Money for Alberta...”

Major C. H. Douglas, in “The Engineering of Distribution,”

The Melting-Pot

The Melting-Pot (Reprinted from The Times, August 31)
Notes on the progress of the Electoral Campaign were crowded out last week by news of the results of getting the people of Alberts to vote for whom they want. But despite heat and holidays the campaign has forged ahead.

Relief Work
One group has had much success with the collection of signed letters from those wishing to get in touch with the local Relief Pay Station. Approximately two thousand letters were distributed, and a week later 150 were collected bearing 527 signatures. Many letters had signed and forwarded to the local relief, these will be collected in the following week.

In a manner similar to the above signatures were collected by six workers (three distributing and three collecting) next week. An average of less than 15 minutes per signature.

The campaign supervisor responsible for this record-breaking idea as follows:

Two workers should attend each pay-day, as the work is a little complicated and one can handle, owing to the numerous questions.

An essential part of our approach is necessary at the recipients of public assistance, in the main, are so apathetic as to be their own worst enemies.

I am confident that a country-wide attack on the relief form is on the way.

All Outdoor Relief Pay Stations will bring results in one month which will shock Monsieur Nioanm and Cey.

To summarise:
Active Pay each Pay Station should be 1st week—Distribute leaflets, 2nd week—Collect leaflets.
Note particularly any who seem pleased and to encourage them and give them more information, and ask them to get their neighbours to do the same. In this way, you will find their leaflets should be impressed with the request to get their names and these signatures and these given to us to the previous week.

Tymeshour is Busy
The Supervisor reports that the new relief form was made last week when 92 signatures were collected. This week he hopes to get 1,000, and no doubt he will.

Wolverhampton Sets to Work
Our campaign is disappoint on results, but adequate to secure any support by himself in one evening. This is serving the pay for his team, and for others.

Work in Erdington
A four of people secured 11 signatures in the Erdington area. The best results so far obtained by the Group.

BOOK REVIEWS
Economics for Ourselves
This book, with the subtitle "A Survey of the Economic Consequences of Independence and its Possibilities," is interestingly written and researched. It is in two lines thought the way in which the Free State might make its own economic welfare.

It challenges the usually accepted idea that the banks should freely expand the monopoly of credit creation, and claims that this should be one of the chief functions of Government, so that the tax on loans or taxation, public works, housing and industrial development would be made possible by National Credit carefully kept in due relation to the circulation of real wealth.

The writer considers that, for Ireland at present, the suggestion of National Dividend and the Public Account would be permanent, and until there was a closer balance between agricultural and industrial production, the book should be of considerable interest to Mr. Lloyd George.

* By the Cobhan Sain. Dublin: The Talbot Press, 4s. 6d. net.

Made in Japan
If the publishers' belief of the reader of this book is evident, the author is an economist of "international reputation," and, further, that by reading it he "will have an intelligent idea of what is really happening in Japan today." In this conclusion, his second sentence, for while Mr. Stein gives much information of the sort that any business man spending a few months in the country might glean, he falls entirely to explain to the expert reader the ability of Japanese manufacturers to undersell competitors, whether incidental or international.

Mr. Stein's conclusions are that the competitive ability cannot be accounted for by the low standard of living of the agricultural population, which permits low prices for farm products and the lowering of wages in industry; by the depression of the yen; and by a high degree of mechanisation in the modern factories. But none of these factors can account for prices, very sturdy, and more per cent. below those of competing countries. Less still can they be accepted as an explanation of Japan's ability to undersell competitors in the home market, and until there was a closer balance as between agricultural and industrial production, the book should be of considerable interest to Mr. Lloyd George.

Made in Japan
By Guenther Stein. London: Methuen & Co., Ltd., 76. 6d. net.

Awareness and the Neurosis of Declining Years
This is No. 14 of the Individual Psychology Pamphlets and contains five essays. Of these, the facts of Dr. R. D. Young, M.C., M.D., M.S., receives itself into a series to the "Xenial "--an aptly chosen word, "Xenial"—which is being interpreted seems to mean what our grand- parents' called Compassion.

Three other essays, by Dr. Mary Ferguson, Dr. Hilda Webster, and Dr. A. J. E. Forrest, are highly technical and require a medical dictionary to make them intelligible to all the lay mind. Personally I can only feel that it is fortunate such a book is not generally to be found in the home circle.

Centrally placed (is this purely accidental, or is it a happy chance?) is the essay by Dr. H. W. Woodcock, which is full of succinct sayings and charming wisdom: e.g., "Life has no meaning if it has no interest: try not to be dissatisfied. What is to be done for those who are dissatisfied with their lives?" (My italics.)

The essay by Dr. Mary Ferguson, on the present state of affairs calls for action by all those who realise that our national heritage of fitness of the body and action is threatened on every side.

Those who have known the joys of freedom must try to keep it alive and make their successors that no temporary amelioration of economic conditions can compensate for its loss. To this end all of us must make common cause. (My italics.)

One conclusion of these matters might be to urge all men and women to justly, to devote at least some of their thought to the consideration of the very useful and ennobling Art of Growing Old Gracefully.

* By Drs. Mary Ferguson and others. London: The C. W. Daniel Company. 2d. 6d. net.
I am impelled to ask this question by the utterances of a friend who is in the issue of Social Credit.” Center for August 16.

This message implies:
(c) certain Social Crediters feel that theirs is a privilege owned, to which they are entitled.
(d) the Douglas Manual is a privilege for those who do not have it.

I am not going to enter into a discussion as to who is right and who is wrong. All I can do is to advise you what I believe to be the facts and to state my own opinion, which may be of some interest to you.

I know from experience that one can sell subscriptions to the Social Credit journal, and if one can sell the new revenge stamps—I have sold hundreds of these, both in the U.S. and England. I have found that the Social Credit journal is a very “deadly little weapon” the Elector’s Department to the Social Crediters. “Every little helps,” and recent results are bringing more and more people to realise what they are missing from this movement, and what they can do to help it.

Social Crediters are failing to support their subscriptions to Social Credit, and one can see from the example of the Douglas Manual what can be done. It is a very useful book, and it is a pity that more Social Crediters do not have it. But I am not going to press this point, as I believe it is better to do what we can without exciting unnecessary controversy.

In Socialism’s early days some of us faintly heard the rumble of Social Credit, but your Electoral Campaign is of much more importance. What has been done, how fast are we moving, how can we do more to accomplish the things that must be done to uplift it politically?

I subscribe to four Social Credit periodicals, and I recommend them to all Social Crediters. They are:

4. The Oslo Speech (reduced price for Social Crediters), by Philip Maitre.

The views expressed are shared by a large number of Social Crediters, but I trust you will believe them to be conceived with wisdom and not an animus against you.

I cannot close without saying a few words about the recent elections. If the result of the election is victory for the Douglas Manual, I believe it is for a number of reasons. First, it has been most useful in spreading the knowledge of Social Credit, and it is a very good specimen of what can be done. Secondly, it has been most successful in establishing Social Credit as a practical movement, and it has shown that a practical movement is a very powerful weapon in the hands of the Social Crediters.

The views expressed are shared by a large number of Social Crediters, but I trust you will believe them to be conceived with wisdom and not an animus against you. I cannot close without saying a few words about the recent elections. If the result of the election is victory for the Douglas Manual, I believe it is for a number of reasons. First, it has been most useful in spreading the knowledge of Social Credit, and it is a very good specimen of what can be done. Secondly, it has been most successful in establishing Social Credit as a practical movement, and it has shown that a practical movement is a very powerful weapon in the hands of the Social Crediters.

The views expressed are shared by a large number of Social Crediters, but I trust you will believe them to be conceived with wisdom and not an animus against you. I cannot close without saying a few words about the recent elections. If the result of the election is victory for the Douglas Manual, I believe it is for a number of reasons. First, it has been most useful in spreading the knowledge of Social Credit, and it is a very good specimen of what can be done. Secondly, it has been most successful in establishing Social Credit as a practical movement, and it has shown that a practical movement is a very powerful weapon in the hands of the Social Crediters.

The views expressed are shared by a large number of Social Crediters, but I trust you will believe them to be conceived with wisdom and not an animus against you. I cannot close without saying a few words about the recent elections. If the result of the election is victory for the Douglas Manual, I believe it is for a number of reasons. First, it has been most useful in spreading the knowledge of Social Credit, and it is a very good specimen of what can be done. Secondly, it has been most successful in establishing Social Credit as a practical movement, and it has shown that a practical movement is a very powerful weapon in the hands of the Social Crediters.

The views expressed are shared by a large number of Social Crediters, but I trust you will believe them to be conceived with wisdom and not an animus against you. I cannot close without saying a few words about the recent elections. If the result of the election is victory for the Douglas Manual, I believe it is for a number of reasons. First, it has been most useful in spreading the knowledge of Social Credit, and it is a very good specimen of what can be done. Secondly, it has been most successful in establishing Social Credit as a practical movement, and it has shown that a practical movement is a very powerful weapon in the hands of the Social Crediters.

The views expressed are shared by a large number of Social Crediters, but I trust you will believe them to be conceived with wisdom and not an animus against you. I cannot close without saying a few words about the recent elections. If the result of the election is victory for the Douglas Manual, I believe it is for a number of reasons. First, it has been most useful in spreading the knowledge of Social Credit, and it is a very good specimen of what can be done. Secondly, it has been most successful in establishing Social Credit as a practical movement, and it has shown that a practical movement is a very powerful weapon in the hands of the Social Crediters.
AN HISTORIC PORTRAIT BY A FAMOUS BRITISH ARTIST

MAJOR C. H. DOUGLAS
_A. Hey!_ Hey! E.B.

BY AUGUSTUS JOHN

A limited number of Medici reproductions in other than the price of £1 1/2 post free each. This portrait was exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1934, and in years to come will be of great historic interest.

PORTRAIT

By H. R. Purchase

Signed copies of the line-cut of Major Douglas, as reproduced in Social Credit of November 30, can be supplied at £1 1/2 each, post free. A small number of copies, signed by Major Douglas, and mounted at £2 2/6 post free.

If you don’t like wearing a badge why not wear a Douglas tartan tie? It is becoming more fashionable daily! Price 5/6 each, post free.

All orders and remittances to the Office of SOCIAL CREDIT, 163A Strand, London, W.C.2

READ THE LECTURE RECORDER

PUBLISHED MONTHLY

AT

16 MARSHAM STREET

LONDON, S.W.1

PRICE. 6d.
POST FREE 7d.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION 6s.

OBTAINABLE FROM ALL BOOKSTALLS

DISPLAY YOUR ADVERTISEMENT

NEW RATES

Whole page ... £10 0 0
Half page ... £5 10 0
Quarter page ... £2 0 0
Eight-page ... £15 0 0

SERIES DISCOUNTS OFFERED ON

6 insertions at 10%
13 at 12 1/2%
26 at 15%
52 at 17 1/2%

Small orders are charged at the rate of 7½. each single column inch in width. Enquiries should be addressed to W. H. ROBERT, Prop.

AUDI KINGS ARMS

Hotel

Stranraer

ON SHORT SEA ROUTE TO IRELAND

An allowance of 5% on sales over £10 will be allowed to the bookseller for persons who take a copy of this paper and sell it to others.

TULN. 20.

SOCIAL CREDIT

SEPTEMBER 6, 1935

AN ELECTRICITY BILL

DESIGN BY A. YOUNG

THINGS IN GENERAL—Nothing in Particular

Nonsense Botany

Banksia Pyramidalis (vulgar name, Fore-closure-not).

This extremely imposing resident of our Urban Districts can be found doing well in almost all English Towns and Cities.

It tends to overgrow other plants with its very luxuriant foliage, and it flowers all the year round.

These blossoms are so gorgeous that they often have the effect of dwarfing less brilliant plants and rendering even old favourites inconspicuous.

I want, too, national dividends distributed to me and every Briton so that we can buy!

4. These dividends must not increase prices or taxes or deprive owners of their property.

5. Why not wear a Douglas tartan tie?

6. For Recruiting—Contains a space for address of local group or supervisor.

For distribution at model buildings, or by officials, and bear the following inscription:

The price of these stamps and labels is 1d. per sheet, post free.

By sending in these stamps and labels and telling them to friends and sympathisers, you will extend your influence, increase the sales of Douglas and help our funds.

Groups which have nominated a candidate for this year’s election, and members of the Revenue Plan G.U.I., can obtain supplies of stamps and labels at a specially reduced rate for resale.

Individuals who are not members of groups, can also put these stamps and labels to good use by undertaking to tell the Individual Revenue Plan F.R.

These two plans are intended to help finance the Society, your paper, and local activities.

Social Credit, 163A Strand, London, W.C.2

GET TO KNOW ABOUT THEM

ELECTORS

Demand National Dividends

LEAFLET No. 4

For Recruiting—Contains a space for address of local group or supervisor. For distribution at model buildings, or by officials, and bear the following inscription:

The price of these stamps and labels is 1d. per sheet, post free.

Buy a "Norry"—those shillings and pennies"

"Hey! Norry! CIEL-CUE."

Mrs. Bourne became desperate.

"... So down he sat with a thoughtful look. Hey! Norry! CIEL-CUE."

"Hey! Ho! said Norry: "CIEL-CUE, Norry! CIEL-CUE."

Day and night these stamps are in use, day and night these labels are in use, day and night these demands are in use.

... So one day she tried to put an end to it by committing suicide.

"... Why not wear a Douglas tartan tie? It is becoming more fashionable daily! Price 5/6 each, post free.

All orders and remittances to the Office of SOCIAL CREDIT, 163A Strand, London, W.C.2

VOLUNTEERS FOR HELP

I want to make my vote effective, so I volunteer to work:

hours each week at delivering and collecting these forms, in a district convenient to me, for the next six months, or until further notice. I will try to instruct all my friends to do likewise.

ADDRESS

(Signatures will be treated confidentially)

Block Letters

Please...