Mr. J. Crato Larkin is Vice-President and Secretary of Larkin Company Incorporated in the U.S.A. This 60-year-old manufacturing and mail order house has been conducting a "dress rehearsal" of the procedure required from a business concern to carry out the accountant of the Price Discounts proposed by Major C. H. Douglas. "The results indicated that it would be much less expensive to maintain these records than to supply tax information as now required," Mr. Larkin's article describing the findings of his Business Research Staff, and reproduced below, was released to American newspapers on January 29.

BUSINESS MAN ENDORSES SOCIAL CREDIT
A PRACTICAL EXPERIMENT
NO REGIMENTATION, NO ConfISCATION
Says J. Crate Larkin

IN these days of confused experimentation, business men justly fear impractical monetary schemes. The recent findings of the Brookings Institution are therefore gratifying as a foundation for business judgment. These surveys deserve business attention. Significantly they indicate the turn toward an economics of abundance as opposed to the scarcity theories of the past. But they are of even greater importance as footnotes towards a practical solution of the problems of distribution and mass consumption.

Faulty Distributive Mechanism

Dr. Moulton's conclusion that "the trouble with capitalism is the capitalists," requires further explanation. There are two kinds of "capitalists," the industrial capitalist whose business is the production and marketing of goods, and the financial capitalist engaged in the supplying of credit which constitutes the monetary mechanism of distribution.

Mr. Larkin's article describing the findings of his Business Research Staff, and reproduced below, was released to American newspapers on January 29.

Practical Research Work

As early as 1929 Larkin was aware that the depression of '29 was primarily due to financial causes. Members of our Business Research Staff undertook a study of money in relation to the deficiency of consumer buying power. In fact, for this study, they encountered the ideas of Major C. H. Douglas and began a most valuable investigation of his Social Credit Proposals. At first sight the proposals seemed almost too good to be true.

Our cost accountants were requested to make an experimental application of the procedure. They found that it would be much less expensive to maintain these records than to supply tax information as now required. But it was not until December, 1933, that our checking was completed. By a number of other detailed experiments, these investigations indicate that the Douglas Proposals, far from being fantastic, merit the careful consideration of business executives.

We Produce to Consume

Beyond doubt, the purpose of the economic system is to produce and deliver goods and services for consumption. It is also quite generally agreed that the full accomplishment of this purpose is frustrated by a shortage of consumer buying power. In fact, for this study, they encountered the ideas of Major C. H. Douglas and began a most valuable investigation of his Social Credit Proposals. At first sight the proposals seemed almost too good to be true.

Counter Attack

Of the formation of movements there is no end in these dark and troublous times, but another is reported in The Times of February 19, and the report will repay careful reading.

The association, it is announced, will be known for the time being as the Fabian Socialist Secretariat Limited. It is not to be a new political party, but will hold itself to be an open Government and Opposition alliance.

A counter attack, it seems, on our Electoral Campaign. That would be quite a good idea if it were plain and easy for results. We want the question to be, "What will it mean to you?" It is a straight fight.

An "executive" committee has been constituted, with theobjects the group is described as "an association of persons belonging to all political parties and none, of whatever religious persuasion, placed in themselves in substantial agreement as to a common programme of action for the immediate future."

The world is so small, yet, but it cannot be denied, Democracy has come nearer, nor ever will be able to do all that at once. To ask for a plan of action is to withdraw the right to leave off bearing your mother-in-law in" is like asking for a plan of action in the American programme of far-reaching action. The only thing required of the group are calculations of the kinds are calculated to further the debate on the electoral campaign with a maze of plans, schemes, perhaps some of the proposals. You will see the question of the study and discussion of the proposals contained in the book "The Next Five Years," by Mr. George Hall. The publication of further literature, and engagement in other forms of propaganda. The group is going to be the official organ of the Social Credit Secretariat Limited, which will be available for consultation with all who are interested in the subject. Meetings and lectures will be arranged and spread as far as possible. In fact it is to be a first-class demonstration of how to keep everybody too busy to bring them the results of the labour movement.-I, 0. And, of course, the more education succeeds in producing stereotyped boys and girls, the more possible it becomes to do the work of the schools, the more physical remains of them to be set up in the right order. One of the things that is done, seeks to form a rallying point for all those who are to see democracy recognised and converted into a political party, and it is neither connected with nor dependent on the group of the kind that can be considered as a new political party, but will hold itself to be an open Government and Opposition alliance of the kind that can be considered as a new political party, but will hold itself to be an open Government and Opposition alliance.

No, Finance values human beings only per spindle per year for a period of fifteen years. . ,

POLITICAL DYNAMITE
A POWERFUL LEADING ARTICLE

The Evening Standard reports that Rupert Murdoch's recent newspaper, The Daily Mirror, has become the first British daily to feature a major article attacking the Conservative government's policy of austerity. The article, titled "The Time's Touch of Sadness," argues that the government's policies are causing hardship and suffering, particularly among the elderly, who are being forced to choose between heating their homes and paying their bills. The author, G. W. L. Day, writes:

"In the Time'sTouch of sadness, Old Age Pension planners him with losing above government."

The article goes on to criticize the government's recent proposals to cut benefits for the elderly, stating that these cuts will only lead to more hardship and suffering, and calling for a more compassionate approach to welfare policy. The author concludes by urging the government to take action to address the needs of the elderly, and to work towards a more equitable and just society.

B.B.C.—TAX COLLECTOR

The report of the British Broadcasting Corporation (B.B.C.) for 1935 shows that the number of licences increased from 6,780,569 at the end of 1935 to 7,439,109 at the end of 1936. The B.B.C. net licence income was £2,038,262, out of which was provided £120,108 for the broadcasting service. This is equivalent to 2s. 10d. per head of the total number of people to unite in saying so the mark.

FORBIDDEN MACHINERY
HUNGARY RETURNS TO EUROPEAN AGES

The Hungarian Government has issued a decree forbidding farmers to use any form of machinery in the cultivation of crops this year, according to the Daily Worker. The decree was made to make the supply of food for the home market more certain.

The law also provides that every farmer must make a written contract with his landlord, stating how much land he will cultivate in each threemonth period, and how much he will be paid for his work. The landlord must also pay a fixed sum for every acre of land cultivated by his tenant.

The Hungarian economy is facing a serious shortage of consumer goods, and the government is taking steps to control the supply of luxury goods in order to ensure a sufficient supply of food for the home market.

BUSINESS MAN ENDORSES SOCIAL CREDIT

Social Credit is a political and economic system that aims to bring about a progressive balance between the supply of goods and services and the demand for them. It proposes to eliminate the私人 savings of wealth, which would establish a new form of credit. The system is based on the idea that the government should act as a central bank, issuing money as necessary to ensure that there is enough liquidity in the economy to support the demand for goods and services.

The system is designed to ensure that money is created and used in a way that reflects the physical resources and services available in the economy. It proposes to use a method of correlating the money supply of each country with its productive capacity and consumer goods.

The Douglas proposal for National Dividends, payable as a ten per cent dividend on all the national assets, would help to reduce debt and taxes and provide added wealth and more opportunity for all of us. The British Broadcasting Corporation (B.B.C.), a public corporation, is not in the business of earning a profit, but of serving the public interest.

A Challenge to Business Men

Altogether, Douglas offers a most businesslike basis for maintaining economic balance. His Social Credit involves no element of confiscation, but encourages the present efficient organization of business and gives it the necessary stability and protection. The Douglas conception of utilizing Real Credit to reduce retail prices represents a logical and practical way of attacking an essential and urgent problem. The Douglas proposal for National Dividends, payable as a ten per cent dividend on all the national assets, would help to reduce debt and taxes and provide added wealth and more opportunity for all of us.

The British Broadcasting Corporation (B.B.C.), a public corporation, is not in the business of earning a profit, but of serving the public interest. We do not like these glaring contradictions and absurdities. We wish to alter anything. The public must be made to understand the implications of this new system of credit.

Our investigation of Social Credit has resulted in the conviction that it is not a mere pipedream. We are not the only ones who think that business must be organized in a new way. The Douglas proposal for National Dividends, payable as a ten per cent dividend on all the national assets, would help to reduce debt and taxes and provide added wealth and more opportunity for all of us. "ACTION STATIONS!"
THE INVINCIBLE POWER OF DEMOCRACY
AN ARTICLE FOR EVERY SOCIAL CREDITER
By E. J. Roberts

"O far, in the running fights with the Creditors, it has been a bit badly; but as has happened before us, we must pause and review our program and prepare for a closer battle.

Most people will agree that success in almost any undertaking is impossible without the ability to take advantage of changing circumstances. The Creditors are using tactics simply and solely for the reason that he has employed them successfully previously to the present situation, makes himself an easy opponent. Adaptability is of paramount importance in the struggle for existence.

Before we leave off with the heavy guns of our campaign, would not be advisable to examine critically our actual position? It will be of little value to us if we allow our fighting ships to be bottled up by the setting sun. This is certainly not the time for us to keep very probably be a decisive factor in the action.

I think, that despite considerable "bolstering- up" by the Social Crediters a sub-conscious lack of faith in the certainty of the methods adopted by the Electoral Campaign, for one hard-hitting campaign. Not that any air of despondency and failure has yet appeared. Far from it. As a matter of fact, very few movements have such an influence, and when you merely analyse the position, you find yourself repeatedly up against that fact which I mentioned to the mind of the world in the lies held opinion that Social Crediters are not serious about democracy.

A Finance Press Failure
One feels so often that the public has not got a mind of its own, if such a phrase can be used. Everyone says "I think," and every week, every year, fresh evidence is brought by the press to the world of yesterday's newspapers—that is, any, but you, who are reading this, do not believe. And yet, what of the failure of the press to "swing" public opinion in the recent elections, in Manchester, and New Zealand? These two instances give grounds for optimism.

I feel that it is absolutely essential for us all to realise that democracy has infinite possibilities, and that at present it is merely lying in a drugged stupor. Every conceivable effort should be made to keep the public in its present state—in a second world war.

Consider for a moment the following statements: the press, B.B.C. party policy, "The great criminal situation", and "The great society" are the extremes); "optimistic" returning leaders; and so on, right down to films and football. Actually, the world in its drugged stupor is as liable to a spell of panic from passing in the mad struggle, even to conniving outright with its enemies.

The heaviest strangle of democracy, is real enough; and it is evident that every step towards the use of additional "drugs" from time to time shows to the world that something might happen to us which we cannot then be prepared for.

TO EVERY READER
YOU CAN do something to help the cause for which this paper stands—if you will.

Unless you live alone on a desert island, you can do something to help us. The link that only YOU can do— waiting to the Movement.

A simple easy little job which has wide and important bearings of great importance to the Movement.

FIVE MINUTES EACH DAY FOR A DAY IN MAY
Will you try it?

If you mean business—volunteer NOW, and you will be greatly appreciated by your friends, and the Secretariat of Social Credit. Creditors is the very thing to work at, if you wish to be "awakened, grim to your will power."

"ACTION STATIONS!"—And let us hope that that will be a "Message Must Be Started"

Note carefully what I have said. I am concerned with generating the will to act with the confidence that success will result. Confidence is the key of the whole thing. It will not suffice merely to express the of will that once it has been aroused. Perhaps it would be simpler to put this way: The problem I have in mind is that after ten years of inaction—rather than that of harnessing the energy resulting from the failure of the Creditors.

The harnessing of the energy output is being done as fast as possible by the Cam- mitted in the long educational process, and a desire to see that this process is widened and increased. Every conceivable means is being used to bring about the desired result. It is more than possible that every conceivable means is being used to bring about the desired result.

But what of the primary task—that of starting up the dynamo—that of generating the power of democracy? Is this to be regarded as an illusion?

The fact is, I merely say it in opinion. If after serious consideration I have come to the conclusion that this problem lacks the of that lack of invalid faith in the Creditors, if only for a moment did we have any confidence in the Creditors, could we realises that will is supreme—then would there be some Christians doubting their faith's reliability.

Wanted—A New Type of Orator
A type of speaker has got to be developed. The theme is to be the dynamics of democracy. Rather a formidable task, but as I said before, it is a simple one—socially, practically, it is a task that we can do.

The technique of speaking from this angle is very simple. First, the speaker, would rather give half-a-dozen talks on the Socialist method, than one on the Creditors, and understand broadly what that power is. Only then can the Creditors have the people when it attained power.

CORRESPONDENCE
Send Him a Biscuit
My attention was called to an announcement in the Daily Mail to the effect that Major W. H. G. Wells, the author of "The War of the Worlds," had been put on alien oil not produced in the British Empire.

In case of trouble our position would be grave, and Agriculture will take steps to curb the practice of buying milk cows on the hire-purchase system. In view of the difficulty of obtaining a remunerative price for milk and in consequence of the excess of supply over demand, I hope they would give him the "bird" at the next election.

Our dear Labour Friends have become derelict centres. To anyone of sound mind it would appear incredible that the British Navy and 41 per cent. of our coal-mine output has been put on alien oil not produced in the British Empire.

FEBRUARY 21, 1936,
I immediately sent this M.P. a biscuit, and an addressed label in consequence of the excess of supply over demand. I hoped they would give him the "bird" at the next election.

It seems to me a pity that your correspondent who signs himself "Lone Wolf" should "doubt the sincerity of those old Social Crediters" and even suggest that Social Credit may "be a short cut to the gambling adventures and employed upon itself and vain ends."

The following is an extract from the "Out-line of History" by H. G. Wells, in which he admirably voices the sentiments of your correspondent:

"And here we come upon one of the chief problems of our time, the problem of the deflection of the profits of progress. For two hundred years there has been, mainly under the influence of the spirit of science, a considerable improvement in the methods of production of almost everything that humanity requires. E.g., in the medical profession science was equal to the tasks required of them. Now there can be little doubt that the most rapid increment in production would have been secured if the whole community had been given an education of an amount, education, and leisure which had never before been given to it. But though the common standard of living has risen, the rate of production has gone on increasing proportionately.

The rich have developed a freedom of choice which the poor do not understand, and there has been an increase in the proportion of people, particularly prosperous and unproductive people in the community; but that also fails to account for the full headlines. There has been much more sheer waste. Full headlines of material and energy have been wasted for war preparations and war. Much has been devoted to the glitz of advertising commercials, other competition. Huge possibilities have been remained undeveloped because of the opposition of owners, factors and speculators to their economical exploitation.
