A 'PROBLEM' CORRECTLY STATED IS ALREADY HALF SOLVED – CH Douglas

Thoughts:

“Socialism, or to give it its correct name, Monopoly, is not a production system, which is exactly what one would expect from its origins... it is a legalistic system based upon a power complex supported by a set of abstract slogans which its policies and results contradict, where they have any concrete meaning. The idea so skilfully inculcated that confiscation of property will assist in the distribution of wealth is, of course, completely without foundation. Socialism is a restriction system, as any examination of Socialist practice in the Trade Unions will confirm, and it has two well-defined fundamental principles — centralization of power, both economic and political, and espionage. “That is to say, every advance towards Socialism is an advance toward the Police State.”

The Big Idea By CH Douglas (1942)

NEW BEGINNINGS OR RE-ORIENTATION by Arnis Luks

The conspiracy to bring about world government has historically lurked in the shadows of political intrigue.

Mainstream media, politicians and historians have traditionally avoided any mention whatsoever of the existence of, or personal involvement of, the major players. Carrol Quigley and Nesta H. Webster are some of those very few authors to openly write about this conspiracy. We carry most of their titles in our online PDF library here:

<https://alor.org/Storage/navigation/Library6.htm>

OR the actual books available from:

veritasbooks.com.au These people are coming out of the shadows as their policy is now in the open by the imposition of world government. The 300 or so families who claim ownership and managerial rights of the entire planet are emerging as this expression of policy. While the likes of Bill Gates, Antony Fauci, George Soros and Rupert Murdoch are willing agents of this conspiracy; I'm not convinced they're the main players, but rather the counter attendees.

The more important question about this conspiracy is “what of our Constitution, our elections, our governments and our political representatives?” Under the proposed world government, will these ancient institutions and representative-individuals become merely middle management of policy emanating from elsewhere? From a world government perspective, I believe the answer is ‘yes they are, and have been so, for a long time’.

Permit me to issue and control the money of a nation, and I care not who makes its laws!

Our Constitution, our elections of representatives and our parliamentary governments are mutating to become indicative appeasements for the masses of really no consequence to the plans of these ‘one-worlders’. Is this the unavoidable end position, or, can we work our way through this conspiracy of world government and regain our institutions? Like a jewel, answers towards this problem come from many and varied perspectives.

The conspiracy of world government is maintained by a never ending barrage of propaganda through the owned and controlled main stream media. Public broadcasters have been openly supported by tax dollars, but more recently so are the private conglomerations. Each has a significant financial incentive to support the official world government narrative. While the source of support appears to be tax dollars, in actual fact the release of these never ending funds to maintain the ruse are coming from central banks. Industry has been so wound down as to decimate the tax base and most are receiving some form of financial support through government programs no longer backed by tax dollars, but rather new central bank credits (as debt) being at the heart of the conspiracy.

Managed dissent is of equal value to the maintenance of this conspiracy. There are more popup decoys being setup every day. If these life support systems of ‘propaganda’ and ‘finance’ for the conspiracy were cut off or circumvented then this would quickly atrophy the smokescreen of deception of the coup d'état that it actually is.

Sourcing Reliable News and Information

Our family finds that managing information-inputs is vital for our orientation and personal wellbeing. We see MSM and social media as equally destructive influencers. Images of a long line of individuals gazing into their mobile phones is past imagining and now common practice. Pleasant communicating is becoming less and less an everyday activity. Conversations across the table are constantly interrupted by social media interference.

Contemplation is a thing of the past. It was not always this way. Prior to television was the radio broadcast.

Homes were the traditional place of both education and instruction around the family fireplace and bible.

Education Against Tyranny

A significant amount of MSM energy is directed towards intelligent psychological manipulation (propaganda) and also dead-ends: false hopes, or decoys offering various shapes and sizes of political and philosophical alternatives, with no clear counter-action to atheistic world government.

The counter (intelligence) to this ‘psyop’ is firstly to be informed by searching out reliable and varied alternative news services such as UKColumn, Dr Mercola, Natural News, JoNova, Gateway Pundit and Epoch Times to name just a few. None of these are Social nor MSM.

While this information keeps you current of what is actually occurring - intelligence, it is necessary to build on with counter-intelligence which comes from further research and self education. Dr Iain McGilchrist lays an entirely different and novel perspective of the process of human thinking with his seminal work The Master and His Emissary: The Divided Brain and the Making of the Western World. Understanding this flow of thought process by the divided brain can build a formidable understanding to counter modern bureaucratic tyranny.

The prototype of perfect freedom is Christ centred self-government, taking personal responsibility with informed ethical decisions for yourself, while promoting ‘government of self’ to others. Part 1 of ED Butler’s Social Dynamics Course lays the ground work with “Philosophy and the Search For Truth.” The path to freedom is before you. The effort is there to be done.

If I was a Religious Leader What Would I Have to Say?

I mentioned in last week’s OnTarget the activities of the progressives in electorates to steer policy towards world government. They, the progressives, demonstrate their faith towards their philosophy of centralised power by their manipulative intelligence over communities. What we are experiencing is due to their faith and energy working together with intelligent purpose - except the policy end-objective of centralised power goes against the natural law of the human desire for freedom. We are so bamboozled by their clever propaganda and psyops that freedoms are being destroyed by dynamic activists holding this foreign faith of collectivism. What is lacking from the once free West is regeneration of our Christian “faith and works” in unity with intelligence and novel strategies to counter atheistic world government and take civilisation further-on towards greater freedoms.

While our institutional leadership actively conspire with the enemies of freedom, I see hope from committed individuals working with as much intelligence and tenacity as is possible, and a full cup of faith within every constructive action taken. I believe that God can cause a restoration, not just for the elect, but for all mankind. The Lord’s prayer teaches us “God’s Kingdom come on earth as in heaven”. This is His commission for us all to intelligently pursue this end objective. It cannot be anything else except part of our daily worship. A Leadership of self; to build up our spiritual faith with our personal efforts as we worship (workshop) to bring about “God’s Kingdom come on earth as in heaven”....

Food Security and Building Local Community

Leading into the French revolution, propaganda made significant headway with fear of food shortages. There was no actual food shortage but fear gripped the public mind - deliberately to cause revolutionary ferment.

One Garden at a Time

The source of our sustenance is the earth: the sun, the rain and the air in conjunction with the soil. It is not the government which provides these life sources, it is God. Demonstrating this can be part of an intelligent counter to revolutionary ferment. Our own front and back yards are planted out with producing trees and edible plants underneath the canopy. So it is with our extended family and some neighbours. In the city I once passed a community-garden next to a busy road. It was an opportunity to share a moment with the gardener, a sense of companionship around that bounty. The policy of building medium-density (high-rise) housing (Stalinist baroque) is to separate people from each other and equally separation from those life-giving forces of the soil. The re-Building of community can be initiated where you are and right now. There is no need to wait for an election, nor achieve a political outcome to get the ball rolling. In my mind, community gardens are a very real antidote to collective tyranny and should be actively sought after. To place this in political perspective, they may become a reliable source of food supply for future soup kitchens and also be a place to hold regular gatherings for personal well-being and support.

Being there comes the chance to talk over many things not necessarily considered whilst also enjoying the outside shared experiences of the day. Hardly a day goes by without some contact and interaction in our own garden. A farmer may think light of this proposal being exposed to these life giving forces everyday, but to the isolated, confused and depressed it is a God-send.

In wartime, governments encouraged people to plant victory gardens to supplement their food rations. Besides indirectly aiding the war effort, these gardens were also considered a civil "morale booster" in that gardeners could feel empowered by their contribution of labour and rewarded by the produce grown. When a problem child is attended by some form of support, it is not unusual for them to be sent on an orientation camp: a place to explore and engage with the natural world. Local community gardens are such a place and will go a long way to counter feelings of isolation and hopelessness in this modern-day disengaged world of covid-isolation.

Food Storage

Several months ago my wife and I spent an hour or so planting out seed potatoes across the driveway verges and elsewhere that would have some chance of growing success. Some areas did quite well, while others barely survived. None were attended. Similar experiments of random plant outs have been trialled with pumpkins, both just left to their own devices with little maintenance. Pumpkins have the advantage of being excellent soil conditioners, while potatoes do break up the soil a little. Both crops, while still in the ground, can be considered an extended form of food storage. We and our neighbours share in this produce, with neighbours responding by sharing other produce they manage. Surplus is redirected back to our chickens or composted back into the gardens. I have the prunings from a macadamia-tree lined up for mulching through the machine, or redirected back to green waste for council to process, with little wasted.

Our local Tree-doctor provides a truck load of timber chips every so often in exchange for several pots of honey. The timber chips cover every walkway and around the base of most trees to minimise stress from our summer sun, and promote new soil growth underfoot. The chips become part of our long term composting and effort to feed and grow soil. The beehive is given a discreet place away from normal human traffic, and their flight-path managed accordingly. These simple steps go some way to being self-reliant while fostering community in that the surplus produce becomes a trigger for greater interaction with the neighbourhood. A swap stand on the road verge can also engage a little further.

State Elections - SA and Victoria

South Australia is due for a state election March 19 - a few weeks away. There may be no clear election result as the incumbent is quite unpopular, while history of the previous Labor debacle is still fresh in the public mind. It is possible a unity government may be formed - both major parties working as one government. In war this is not unprecedented and it was not that long ago after a failed SA election majority result, a willing former liberal leader Martin Hamilton-Smith moved across the parliamentary floor, supposedly to the cross bench, becoming a cabinet Minister in the then minority Labor Weatherill government with little public comment.

The frustration of this coming round-of-elections is that policy will not change no matter the political result. Masks, mandating jabs, lockstep/lockdowns are the new normal until sufficient numbers of 'we' extricate ourselves by choosing and resolutely acting differently. The Victorian state election is due Sat. 26 Nov. 2022 The next Federal Election is due no later than 21 May 2022, but could be held as early as mid-March.

The Jab

Reports are surfacing from life insurance companies of a 40% increase in morbidity for relatively young age groups since the introduction of the experimental jab. The insurance companies are arguing against compensation payments:

that the experimental jab is a form of personal suicide. While many are willingly accepting the experimental jab, some are not due to increasing reports of adverse events. The government, universities, MSM and medical profession are not pursuing causation of this startling morbidity outcome having all been previously captured by vested interests.

I understand many reluctant recipients of the jab have been financially cornered by the mandates. First hand reports of this blackmail are in regard to job tenure, business continuity and educational prospects. Governments are simply administrators of the medical industry mandates regardless of adverse outcomes.

Regeneration of Representative Government OR Can We Again Get Control Of Our Governments?

Local government is the most practical and logical arena to regenerate representative government. It is here that self-government is at its most effective and public opinion has its greatest chance of effective expression. Council meetings are generally open and in close proximity. Offering yourself as a candidate for council, on a platform of greater access to community gardens could be just what the doctor ordered, with minimal cost to council, the public, and yourself - generally just effort.

With the South Australian Council elections due in November, this is an opportunity to bring about significant change of direction - from communities being isolated, passive and manipulated, towards engaging, active and responsible. While the election outcomes may be so corrupted as to already be determined, the process of engagement is vital for the restoration towards representative government. It starts local and it starts with just one active and committed individual. Even if an election candidacy is unsuccessful, with effort, regular attendance of council meetings is both realistic and possible. Preparing and distributing pamphlets of community garden information is a valid service that can be equally healthy, informative, and regenerative. If produced regularly, recipients will look forward to the community garden thought injections. Previous experience has shown that a steady provision of news and information not provided by the MSM, will bring about change within the electorate. Effort is the key.

I thought I was alone on this thinking is a usual comment when difficult subjects are approached. My advice based on others' opinion is to consider sources as a point of discussion, not necessarily the topic head on. I receive a regular stream of source material from others, of which I selectively approach as time allows. It is usually the amplified 'insistence' to consider, or a reliable sender that causes my attention to be redirected. Be that sender... ***

Thoughts For The Quarter: A NEW DARK AGE

We had plenty of warning, even forty years ago, that if we did not defeat the policy of the Money Power within a few years, we should enter another Dark Age, and it is quite evident that we have now entered it. The culture in which we live is no longer a Christian culture. The Christian principles on which most of us were brought up are no longer tacitly accepted by Society as a whole, as they used to be however imperfectly; and the young, for the most part, are not being brought up as Christians. The light of Christianity now shines from many points, but does not visibly diffuse through the whole of Society.

THE DOUGLAS LEGACY by Dr. Geoffrey Dobbs. The New Times Vol 44 No 11 1979

The South Australia state election is only a few weeks out and yet I cannot find any, what I'd call, reasonable news-reported-articles in regard to candidates, or policies, or anything else. This includes the dedicated ABC election website. Incredible. It's almost as if South Australia does not exist in the Australian political psyche. I must admit I don't have a functioning TV or radio in my house so the preferred mediums of interchange of ideas can't permeate my thought processes. Some would consider this an advantage and others a disadvantage. I look on it as controlled thinking.

This weekend NSW will be holding 4 bi-elections. All voters have by now received a postal-voting pack. This extraordinary situation is rife for interference as was demonstrated by video-footage of postal vote rigging of the previous USA presidential election. Voter-rolls are another area of significant corruption that is never addressed by the AEC as their funds are strictly controlled by party hacks. It is not in the best interest of political parties to tidy up this cesspool. Remember those infamous Whitlam words of advice – vote early and vote often. This is not to allude to a Labor party monopoly in this area, but as I said a cesspool that needs a Royal Commission to be conducted following every election to tidy up these anomalies. Scrutineering is another anomaly altogether.

While the Canadian truckers' freedom convoy are facing temperatures of -30°C, we have our own truck convoy in Canberra, coming from all parts of Australia. What will happen after this campaign, or as a consequence of this campaign, is really the only pertinent question. I hold significant concern that the standoff may become a stalemate, which will demoralise those who are standing up for freedom. I am hoping wave after wave of new groups will move in to support the truckers. The French Yellow Vests have been protesting for more than 3 years, so a one-off convoy generally will not cut the mustard. In India, there were extended protests of 250 million farmers over many months that did not even rate a mention in our media. Hoping the media will honestly enter the fray is a false hope that will not eventuate. They are paid servants and will do their master's bidding.

How do we assist the public to come out of this deep hypnotic spell to the light of day, to actually think and no longer accept the MSM programming narrative? A thought that must be considered, is that the vast majority may not wish to come out at all from this spell. They are glued to their TVs in a state of perpetual fear and anxiety and are moving into the realm of psychological exhaustion ready to capitulate to slavery.

United States truckers have had their Facebook account terminated almost as quickly as it appeared, titled "Convoy to DC, 2022". GoFundMe has also attempted to withhold donated funds from the Canadian Truckers. The deep state won't allow use of supposedly 'their' facilities to promote freedom. I noted from one website that there are now migration trends within the United States away from "woke" states towards those states which promote a more acceptable version of freedom. No doubt the same is occurring in Europe with the latest Austrian laws mandating jabs. As Geoffrey Dobbs wrote in "Responsible Government in a Free Society", the ultimate VETO against government policy is to leave the country.

Inalienable Rights

Inalienable Rights, or a Bill of Rights, or a Charter of Rights are a vital thought to consider in light of a current court case in Canada. In a recent UK Column broadcast this very question came up. Legislated Rights infers that one person or group has the power to determine and adjudicate what rights another person or group may hold. Inalienable, or natural rights, not written down but originating from God alone, infers that the law's function is to the negative, you cannot lie, kill, maim, or destroy, but apart from that you are free to go about your business. Eric Butler would always refer to the 'road-rules' as the most obvious prototype or model of common law rights, free to go about your business and travel wherever you like provided you adhered to those road-rules and do not infringe on another's equal rights. This is the primary function of all law.

Only do unto him what you would have him do unto you

This way of thinking in my mind leads to an honest assessment of behaviour that is above all law and / or commandments. I read this morning two diametrically opposed perspectives by church leadership. One promoting the jab and the other condemning the jab. One stating that it is immoral 'not to get the jab', and the other stating the dominance of big Pharma over humanity as immoral. I'm of the view that one position is hideously evil coming from him who wears a backwards collar, and the other enlightened, that is, turning towards the light of truth. This is where we are and we have to accept that brother will turn against brother, wife against husband and children against parents.

Former merchant banker and appointed leader of the Anglican Communion (appointed by former British PM Tony Blair weapons of mass destruction fame) Justin Welby suggests that those who are not vaccinated are immoral. This was countered by Roman Archbishop Vigano describing:

"the multiple vatican endorsements of the criminal mass-vaccine campaign confirm the full adherence of the (Roman church-ed) hierarchy to the globalist vulgate, without taking even the slightest account of the serious critiques of the so-called vaccines... The Pontifical Academy for Life is no exception. It has become an organ of neo-Malthusianism, even to the point of declaring that subjecting oneself to inoculation with the experimental drug is an act of love and a moral duty, incontrovertibly denying not only the evidence of the facts but also the existence of a global plan that has deliberately caused this psycho-pandemic in order to bring about a ruthless reduction of the world population (especially the elderly) and impose forms of control and restriction of the natural rights of citizens..."

Certainly a polarising narrative coming from two very differing leaders. As to the question of morality of being jabbed or not jabbed the former merchant banker Justin Welby has laid his cards on the table as to whom he shall serve. This is not out of the ordinary. Eric Butler would often write of the Communist infiltrated and controlled 'World Council of Churches' directing significant amounts of funds towards the guerrilla campaigns throughout Africa where helpless victims were necklaced to death by these revolutionaries. This is the sordid history of the world council of churches involved in evil political acts. Should there even be a world this or a world that?

I believe it is our primary function to find resolution

In a most enlightening interview of Kyle Kemper, half-brother to Canadian PM Justin Trudeau, many sacred cows were refreshingly examined. The alternative news services are certainly rising to the challenge. Watch this interview right through to the end, because it just gets better and better. Unexpectedly, Trudeau's half-brother is a guileless, informed, and genuinely humanity-loving individual who counters the woke narrative.

Coles' supermarket shelves are increasingly running out of stock. I can only reiterate again the importance of promoting local growers, farmers markets and community gardens to reinforce the banks/levies of your own personal supply chains. Some sources of out of season produce can travel more than 4000 km to their market. Under increasing duress on the supply chains, availability of items will diminish. It is necessary, so necessary, to think ahead and secure your food base.

500,000 Canadian government employees have received pay rises while the remainder of the nation are finding they increasingly have to tighten their belts. If you earn less, you pay less tax, and yet the bureaucracy and those on government payroll are receiving pay rises. Also, significant numbers of the mainstream media are losing employment. This exerts inordinate pressure on the remaining staff to comply. Governments are providing huge financial support to the mainstream media to the tune of billions of dollars. Where does all this revenue come from? It comes from new credits in the form of debt issued by central banks, the source of this covid/climate lockstep/lockdown policy.

Reports coming in are that the Canadian truckers' freedom convoy is now being supported by cowboys on horseback and a contingency of farmers with their tractors. There was also one report of a Native-American contingent moving into position. Spokesman for the truckers are insisting that all lockdown/lockstep impositions be removed including mandatory jabs and testing. The Trudeau government is owned and controlled by corporate interests as is the mainstream, now referred to as "legacy" media. The alternative news services are reporting from the ground of these trucker activities, while our media in Australia, if at all, presents a very sanitised version of events. The main battleground is in this area of ideas, the public consciousness if you like.

This week I have been working my way through a book titled the "United States of Fear" by Mark McDonald M.D. presenting the case that heightened levels of anxiety, fear and trepidation, are gripping predominantly the female mind. The legacy media is doing all they can to foster this anxiety and fear. The facts on the ground are that the birds are singing, the weather is kind, and the harvest is plentiful. The demons in the forest are only a creation of the witch doctor's spell of which the legacy media play their most vital role.

I have also viewed a report that should any police officer support or provide facility towards the Canadian truckers' freedom convoy they will be investigated and prosecuted by their police chief to the full extent of the Police Service Act and if relevant the Criminal Code...

#Ottawa Police Chief Says He Will Investigate & Prosecute Any Police Officer That Provides Any Support To The #TruckersConvoy2022 Protestors Including Food or Water...

(continued from previous page) Blackmail isn't limited to the political sphere but is rampant throughout all those areas which hold the political and societal purse strings or employment.

A relevant thought is of what structure or organisation actually controls the leadership of these departments?

In 'Secret Societies and Subversive Movements' by Nesta Webster, she writes of the hidden hand of the Masons, the Illuminati and nowadays we have all these 'think tanks' and 'charitable funds' which are able to pour billions into this campaign of world government. Another title on secret societies and subversive movements is 'The Mystery of Freemasonry Unveiled' by Cardinal of Chile.

New South Wales local Liberals are attempting to have some input into the selection process from their branches. The Federal Liberal executive is riding roughshod over the locals to parachute in pre-ordained individuals. By their very structure political parties are not a representative organisation but a power movement run by ruthless individuals. Their structure attracts tyrants and are generally run by them. The most revealing comments were made recently by the 'great reset' Klaus Schwabb: is that most of these world leaders are parachuted-in individuals, injected into the body politic, having been trained at his WEF school for world leaders. He also makes the extraordinary claim that 50% of some federal administrations are injected from his school. Whether communist or capitalist, they all come from this school as they historically once came from Harvard or the London School of Economics and Political Science.

If you as an individual do not accept personal responsibility to run your own life, then these tyrants will most certainly run it for you.

Emmanuel Macron and Justin Trudeau are not exceptional tyrants. They come from the same preparatory and predatory ground as Vladimir Putin and Jacinda Adern. They are groomed, developed, trained and implanted there to do the bidding of their corporate masters. The same place these funds come from, central banks and international corporations.

The Chinese system of surveillance is a creature developed in the west by tech giants such as google, facebook and twitter. Plans are afoot to constantly assess your worthiness as to more and more jobs based on your compliance to this global tyranny. In Europe, Austria has now passed laws making jobs mandatory or receive fines for non-compliance. Queensland has now introduced random covid testing. This will never end unless it is overcome by a counter movement towards freedom.

New Patent Proposes Digital Surveillance to Vaccinate People Based on Social Credit Style Scores By Tom Parker

<https://reclaimthenet.org/us-patent-surveilling-vaccinating-scores/>

Patent and trademark attorneys Dr. Gal Ehrlich and Maier Fenster of Ehrlich & Fenster recently had a US patent approved for a technology that aims to surveil people via their digital activity, give them a score that defines "the potential level of super-spreading activity of each individual," and then vaccinate people based on this score... Not only does the patent suggest mass electronic surveillance of people to create a social credit style score that determines when they should be vaccinated but it also proposes that the technology could be deployed as part of a "dedicated mandatory app" where "the government may order the citizens to install a dedicated application on their smartphones (or other smart devices like tablets, smartwatches, smart glasses, etc.) to help the government with the logistics of the vaccination procedures"...

The patent was approved on August 31 and follows governments around the world implementing increasingly far-reaching surveillance measures amid the coronavirus such as vaccine passports that aim to exclude people from economic and social activities and apps that use geolocation and face recognition to police quarantine...

What Is Law For? Think about the Road Rules:

Just-Law is not burdensome, but allows all (in this case) to freely travel/use the roads on conditions stated in the Rules of the Road. Truck drivers travel thousands of miles to their chosen destination every day - obeying the Road Rules. This is a good example of a useful law, not burdensome, but neither are they chaotic as would happen if there were no rules or those rules were not obeyed. This is "the power of human beings in association to produce the result intended, measured in terms of their satisfaction."

Tudor Jones, in Elements of Social Credit directs attention towards Douglas' advice that we must not only use the 'rules of the road' (or Constitution) we must 'practice at the net'. Sports stars understand this very well. They practice at the net - or wicket- to improve their abilities even though they must also know the rules of cricket or tennis, etc. Knowing the rules of the game is necessary, but without practising at the net knowing the rules will get nowhere. That is why it is so important to begin with Freedom of Choice and Lifting all Mandates as the first step in practising at the net.

Thinking about this proposal of practicing at the net; the need for devolution of political power has not surfaced from any political entity, but rather more of the same from different hands UAP, Australia 1, PHON etc.

Government as mother, and now father, removes personal responsibility from the individual. First there was mass medication in the form of fluoride, justified for the protection of young children's teeth even though less than 1% of 1% of all water produced was drunk by children. If fluoride worked and was not a neurotoxin, a topical application by the dentist could have sorted this issue easily. Instead, all the population was medicated with a known sedative. And now this mass-medication theme has evolved into never ending jabs. Just think, the largest building complexes in every major city are now 'citadels for health' while our population is getting sicker and sicker, weaker and weaker. Cui Bono?

Accepting personal responsibility for your own health decisions has moved from something voluntary, almost incidental, towards something that is vitally essential, or mandatory if we are to restore our inalienable rights.

Practicing At The Nets

I have previously suggested Rate-Payer's Associations and Progress Associations as vehicles towards reform at the local government level. Understanding inordinate influences that can corrupt human nature, and the injection of persons of already vested interests into government, I see that the open meeting provides a viable resolution to this corruption, in that should a local meeting be swamped by outsiders, brandishing the council-rates-notice and being known by existing members could alleviate some external interferences.

Open discussion, while there are risks of meeting capture, do promote meaningful and lively dialogue. Finding resolution may take time - so be it. This is where understanding that a quick-majority can and should be challenged back by a thoughtful and considered approach after due consideration, being the counter-balance. Participation is the key. The revolutionaries know this only too well and will always be the other side of the net.

While opinionated individuals may carry persuasive arguments at the time, due consideration can counter back. This is all practicing at the net stuff that builds community and enforces representation instead of party power movements dominated by professional activists. How little consideration was ever given to local's opinions with the GMO decree by the agricultural minister in SA? Those active associations, had they been working tirelessly to remove this person permanently from the parliament, could have possibly changed the state government while they were at it.

Political party movements work from their own 'controlled associations' for their own purposes. It works like a club or a gang. Once representation is achieved the open meeting quickly goes behind closed doors.

36% organic certified farmers and growers of the Fleurieu Peninsular was insufficient to hold the line against this tyranny exercised by the minister on behalf of the GMO superstructure. Everyone is a minority at some stage. We need to rethink this majority vote racket.

Last ChristMass, I received word that a Queensland local government had supported local business leaders by declaring a covid tyranny safe-haven. This allowed business to achieve their much needed cashflow-injections across this high spending period, with no covid restrictions or policing whatsoever. Another council body was asked the same question but declined to offer support to their business community. Extraordinary.

One 'local government' acting resolutely with the 'local representative' and business leaders, could send shockwaves through any state government that imposes this tyranny. The covid thought police would be powerless against this in a heartbeat. Especially, if like the truckers, the thought caught on with wave after wave of increasing support from freedom loving individuals.

You see, free must be balanced with moral and responsible. Those who rashly chose the job are the same group that are now recording a 40% increase in all-cause morbidity. They have not avoided responsibility; in fact, they are demonstrating it with this increase in death rate. As horrid as it is to say that is the practical truth of it.

Short term goal: to slow or stop the progress of covid tyranny with the restoration of all our inalienable rights: freedom of movement and choice, informed consent, and Long term goal: to have our constitutions updated to include a VETO mechanism to hold the 'tendency of tyrants' to account on a daily basis. ***

Our Constitution of the Federation of Australia is quite unique in the history of constitutions around the world. The people of the various states within Australia, and their appointed and popularly elected advocates held negotiation-conventions across more than 10 years to bring about "How We Shall Be Governed". Australia's Constitution is a limiting document, clearly stating those powers allocated to the federal government and no more. The interests of the various states is accommodated within this limiting document e.g. Tasmania achieves similar senate numbers as does NSW, and yet the population of those states is starkly different in numbers and disposition. The state's house, the senate, is equally representative from every state, and entitling two seats from each territory. Senators normally face re-election alternate federal elections unless a double dissolution is called.

The structure of the Parliament is trinitarian, dividing power across the two houses and the Monarch's representative the Governor General. Both upper and lower houses have equal power, except, that supply must be initiated through the lower house. The power of the purse (for the government to function) must be reviewed annually through both Houses of Parliament. Should confidence be lost in the lower house (the House of Representatives), the upper house (the Senate the state's house) has the opportunity to withhold supply to force an election. This check of power against tyranny of the lower house is foundational for the good working of Parliament.

The 1975 withholding of supply caused the then Governor General to force the situation back to the people. The people being the final arbiter of the performance of the government. The Constitution vests with the people.

The people must be consulted and approve of any and every change to this agreement : our Constitution of how we shall be governed. It is a fine balancing of powers across the three branches of our Parliament.

There is also the trinity of the "separation of powers". The Parliament makes the law. The Executive (cabinet government) administers the law. The Judiciary assesses the true and proper application of these laws in accordance with our Constitution - the supreme law of the nation of Australia. The third trinity within our federated structure are the three levels of government; federal, state and local.

Some would argue, somewhat cynically, that local government is nowadays a branch or expression of the administration of state government laws. This is certainly more so since councils were amalgamated into regional corporate bodies. This restructuring of the local councils through regionalisation directly affected how we shall be governed, with a dominating CEO and Mayor as the public face of policy. This erosion of the representative function of local government was deliberate to assist bringing about a one world government.

Section 51

The constitutional arguments against medical conscription have at least three facets in regard to federal and/ or state power to legislate in this realm. The imposition over companies to require conditions of employment in regard to medical status. The imposition over doctors to disregard their training, experience and sound science to administer an experimental chemical-procedure altering the human system in unknown ways. The imposition over people with QR codes, jab compliance and medical passports to function normally within society. All are forms of conscription. Our courts, up till now, have provided no relief of this imposition of totalitarian tyranny against the clear contractual agreement between the people and our governments as to "how we shall be governed".

World Government Policy Undermining Our Federation

Since local government regionalisation across the states, the CEO and Mayor are working together, rather than representatives of the shire, more and more as a management team to implement world government policy 'locally'. This imposition is reflected in the strong environmental presence within all licensing and policy (sustainability) - e.g. medium density housing, recycle. Licensing and inspections for even the most basic things within local industry are now the norm. The council officers are more bureaucratic by the day having lost site of service to the community as a genuine public servant.

The Global Parliament of Mayors and the Abolition of the Electorate

At the state level, privatisation was a key world government policy-initiative resulting in the loss of nearly all the state's assets to private interests. More recent the marketing of solar panels as environmental policy. The life-cycle of a solar panel is around 10 years after which performance drops off. Wind farms and their life-cycle are around 20 years. Electric car batteries are even less. Behind every environmental policy-initiative is heavy industry based around base-load electrical power generation. Coal and Gas fired base-load power generation is capable of continued service for perhaps 100 years with little loss of performance and minimal footprint, generally being located amongst coal or gas fields with transmission lines to populace centers. If CO² was such a problem this would be apparent around these base-load CO² emitters, which it is not if you take the time to look. Torrens Island in Adelaide SA has a gas fired base-load power generation facility there since 1963. In the immediate vicinity, if it is anything, are pristine wetlands and a city wide forest of lush growth. Adelaide is a clean and pretty city.

I have worked in oil and gas for 35 years, operating heavy and extremely high pressure and very hot equipment on a daily basis. More than 10 years ago I was compelled by state government legislation to seek a license to perform this everyday task. The license itself did nothing other than authorize what I was already doing. I find now my license will lapse if I fail to demonstrate competency of something my years of experience can demonstrate in a heartbeat. Ironic that it would be more appropriate for me to license the inspector in the first place. This situation is similar with my carpentry experience for having been brought up in this industry from a building family. The license being the state issued authority to work in a field that is readily in my blood. West Australia as is Victoria is demonstrating where this is going, with now more apparent demarcation lines around your personal vaccine status and passport. The current experimental jab is probably the most environmentally un-sustainable product industry has ever come up with. Vaccinations were 'scientifically' argued they provided immunity for a lifetime. Nowadays the jab is supposedly providing protection for as little as a few months. The jab and sustainability don't fit together at all. The logic of this pseudo science does not hold. It is medical propaganda for the benefit of vested interests and promulgated by our TGA Therapeutic Goods Administration as supposedly an independent body.

At the federal level the imposition of world government policy is reflected in the decimation of all our primary industry and the loss of any semblance of control over our national financial policy. All our major assets are under the direct management and control of private interests for the direct benefit of those same private interests. World government is in fact corporate governance. Nation states count for little in this world-wide managerial environment.

Douglas Reed has written extensively on this program towards world government. Reed's 27 page booklet "The Grand Design of the 20th Century" is available in our online PDF Library here: https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Reed%20D%20-%20Grand_Design_of_the_20th_Century.pdf
The corporate management of the USA by one man across 6 Presidential terms makes for alarming reading.

A Vision Splendid

I am sitting here contemplating while the rain is lightly kissing the ground. We are in the middle of summer and a further 30mm or so of rain has fallen over the past day or so. I wouldn't consider this a wet summer, but rather just a continuation of the mild summers we are experiencing. Our garden is growing plentifully with little need for supplementary water except for the kitchen veggies. There is a small chance, if the rain continues, that some crops may be damaged by fungal problems, however we are not experiencing this. If you listened to the mainstream media or read their main articles you may feel incredulous towards me for writing about the observable natural world. The truth is I must write about what I see, sense and feel (touch) in the real world, because this is how to undo this massive psychological operation (psyop). What does it really look like? Every 2nd news-item broadcast in public places is in regard to covid or climate. Even the tragedy occurring in Tonga is enmeshed within the Covid propaganda narrative.

Information Sources and Methods of Communication

I've spent nearly all of this week attempting to resolve computer email issues with our leased 'Internet server' housed interstate. The incredible situation is that: providing a secure and encrypted email - not selectively directed into spam by anti-virus software - across our leased server has been compromised and the issue remains unresolved. In spite of many support tickets across two well-known companies this issue is still in limbo. Identification-encryption is something you need if you prefer what you send-off to arrive in the in-tray, not sent into spam, and also be read by the recipient alone. Intelligence services would have little trouble overcoming this barrier, but against the average hacker it is a layer of security worth having. Both companies' service, in my personal involvement across many years, has remained impeccable, up till now. I can only guess as to why this is occurring, and even then the next guess changes completely. This has caused us to take stock and perform a review of contractual arrangements, what we are doing and the services required going forward.

How Important Are Workarounds or Workarounds

Adversity builds personal resolve amongst some. Others may be crushed, unfortunately. The Chinese interchange the word 'crisis' with 'opportunity'.

(continued from previous page) Their symbol of yin-yang shows that order can come, even from the middle of chaos. ED Butler referred to 'events' that will cause people to move - take stock, regenerate. 130 years ago our fathers of federation, through the constitutional conventions, saw fit to include the preamble within our written constitution which states 'We the people...humbly relying upon the blessings of Almighty God'. Our foundational, but now muddled philosophy, is currently immersed within humanistic- materialism. These foundational words to our constitution are a straight-arrow leading to our refuge, in that we have drifted away from the important things and are in pressing need to re-energise them to go forward.

Civilisations can regress and eventually collapse, or they go forward onto another plain. King John is 'our' example of tyranny overcome by resolute and faith- full individuals - going forward. I am not convinced any other nation has achieved this development of limiting constitutionalism as has that once merry Isle England. She has many skeletons in her closet, but this is the most brilliant jewel in her crown, that we must look to God for providence - as we bring about His Kingdom on earth as in heaven. Some other jewels are the evolution of common law, Westminster trinitarian parliamentary government, Habeas Corpus, trial by jury and 'innocent until proven guilty' in our courts. All of these jewels we received from her as part of our cultural inheritance brought to Botany Bay with the first fleet, and are in significant jeopardy of being lost by the current representatives and international agreements imposed over this land by historically compromised governments.

Those 1983 judges including Lionel Murphy, inflicted a mortal injury to the body politic of Australia with their 4:3 majority decision to allow our federal government to over ride the limiting power of our constitution (against the states) by making enforceable international agreements under a radical 'external affairs' interpretation, foresaw and foretold by HV Evatt, former high court judge, Labor attorney general and federal parliamentary leader. They, our governments, are now at all levels bound to implement world government policy over us based on secretive (TPP etc) trade agreements with trans-national corporations. Any supposed private- public partnership is dominated by private interests for their benefit, with little public input - GMO for example. A one sided arrangement decreed from the top down.

Without a Vision a Nation Will Perish

If we are to extricate ourselves from this quagmire, we must first unravel to see how this imposition of world government policy by these trans-national corporations and central banks has taken place. Dr David Mitchell, an eminent Australian constitution and international lawyer, has provided 5 educational video lectures covering these vital constitutional issues, available on our website library:

<https://alor.org/Storage/navigation/Library5.htm>

The supreme law of this land is our Constitution which vests with the Australian people - We the people... It is a legal garment worn around every single person in this nation and it is being shredded by aliens to us. Our politicians, judges and bureaucrats are all ignoring this fact and are doing all they can to keep our eyes off the ball, distracted by covid and climate. It is from this point of upholding "our constitution that vests with the people" that we can come together to renew our federation vows. The Constitution first and foremost is the agreement between the peoples of the various states of Australia "as to how we shall be governed". Politicians, bureaucrats and judges, must abide by this agreement that vests with the people and not foster any radical interpretations towards centralist world government policies. We must restore the limiting Constitutional agreement of our federation if we are to have any viability of independence and freedom from tyranny, for us and for our progeny.

National Credit Policy

If we are irredeemably indebted, we are not a free people at all. One of our founding fathers King O'Malley knew this only too well and went about establishing the people's bank. This is our real history of financial self reliance, not some fantasised narrative concocted by corrupted institutions, but readily available for research from our online libraries available at alor.org and other sources mentioned regularly in our journals. A significant task is to regain control of our monetary policy, to be exercised by our own independent bank, such as was once the case with the Commonwealth Bank of Australia under the sole directorship of (Sir) Dennison Miller.

This must be a foundational consideration, that Australia be a financially sovereign nation under a limiting Constitutional agreement by all the people of the various states of this nation. That is the agreement of "how the people shall be governed" and must be upheld as the first restorative principal towards freedom, fought back from tyranny unto the last man standing. South Australian State Election not one sitting member of any political party has lifted a finger to uphold our ancient constitutional freedoms.

Every one of them has either capitulated in their cowering behaviour, or silently and gleefully supported the totalitarian imposition over us, and must be sent packing by placing them last on the ballot paper. There is no other suitable response to this treachery. I believe the nearest old folks' home would provide a higher calibre of integrity amongst its occupants towards our ancient rights and freedoms than what we currently experience. I cannot put it more plainly than that.

South Australia must lead by example and replace these incumbents with fresh blood who have a vision of restoration of our ancient rights and freedoms under a limiting constitutional agreement with the people.

The divisive policies imposed over us are deliberately polarising society into the vaxxed and unvaxxed, old - young, male - female, instead of uniting us under our limiting Constitutional agreement ending discrimination. Our ancient freedoms is what we have lost under world government covid lockstep/lockdown policy, imposed over us by this current state government. They do not deserve another term, but need to send packing back into the barren, totalitarian wilderness from whence they came. We do not need to resort to any form of violence, but intelligent action by an informed and resourceful electorate. There is time and the opportunity is now.

LOVE AS A DYNAMIC FORCE by Arnis Luks

In an increasingly obvious scripted narrative, the South Australian Premier is shaping the lifting of Covid restrictions to align with the next state election. While the ABC is the only reporting service dealing with this obvious manipulation, nonetheless it warrants consideration of what really is a cynical work practice of politics - pork barrelling of another type in exchange for re-election - a temporary relaxation of the rules of tyranny.

A similar perspective can be taken in regard to the Federal election due in May. MSM are almost pleading with the incumbents to give them something to eulogise them with. The jostling for media time isn't limited to the major parties, even though I am convinced the federal ALP hold no real desire whatsoever to win this election, with their polarising narrative of taxing the rich and confiscating inheritance rights. The current ALP leader endorses the Morrison policy of covid/climate tyranny, reinforcing that they are two peas from the same pod.

Our PM has distanced himself from the covid demonstrations in Canberra against lockdown; claiming it as state policy, not federal that is causing this unbearable situation. If this were true, which it is not, the government would have the states in the high court in a heartbeat, which they have not. They work together.

They deny with their mouths what they are doing with their hands.

This vacuum of acceptable policy direction is a huge opportunity for minor parties and independents to rally against the majors. Firstly, to insist upon "freedom of choice"; and secondly "lifting of all covid restrictions". These two policies reinforce our inalienable rights and freedoms are to be upheld, especially by our governments. Should an incumbent be unable to endorse and pursue these two policies they need to be placed last on every ballot paper. Canadian Truckers are leading the way on this issue, and, while it may turn unstable at any moment with the government preparing a paramilitary response, those truckers need to hold their line as best they can. This is a war against tyranny for the restoration of our inalienable rights and freedoms that government seized.

When Mark Latham was the ALP Federal leader he came up with a polarising narrative of class warfare. Even though he is now an indicative leader within the PHON camp, I still cautiously watch every manoeuvre he makes.

Qld's Capricorn Coast Says NO to Labor's Vaccine Mandates

Livingstone Shire Council voted to become "pro-choice" by rejecting government advice to medically discriminate between who they serve and employ in local businesses...

The PHON request for a Royal commission into Covid handling by the various governments and health departments, must be compared to the recently held banking Royal commission which was carefully guided into the sidelines by former PM Malcolm Turnbull.

I have no confidence any 'terms of reference' for a Royal commission would seriously look into this covid fiasco. There are too many skeletons in the closet of important and influential people for the light of day to be allowed.

The splendid work that PHON political party were doing in the early days, with a genuine alternative media presence under the stewardship and guidance of James Ashby, is nowadays hardly to be seen. Had their media contingent being present with the current demonstrations in Canberra, factually reporting the discontent evident on the ground, or the small businesses collapsing under Covid tyranny, and now with the threat of five-year-olds being experimented on with the jab, I'd be prepared to withdraw my concerns for holding such a dark view of where they are going and where they are leading us.

Canadian convoy protesters have crystallised their policy objectives into "freedom of choice" and "lifting of all covid restrictions". PHON, UAP and Australia 1 would all do well to give the electors a serious target for the upcoming South Australian election due in a few weeks. The majors would not be able to contain the propaganda narrative any longer if the people are given a genuine political alternative to pursue - a VETO against tyranny.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AIDHLEom5C4>

The recent business leaders and councillors Nov 2021 town hall meeting in Yagoon, Qld was all good stuff but while Pauline Hanson had the mic, she only committed to managing everything better than was being done by current leadership. Sorry Pauline, just not good enough when we are losing our nation and our inalienable rights and freedoms, while our children are being experimented on with the jab. The people need a clear policy choice, even if it is to the negative of what they no longer want.

I also hold reservations towards Sen Malcolm Roberts' perspective on the economy and the existing financial narrative. My reading of where he is leading is Ludwig von Mises' libertarianism - not far from laissez-faire monopoly capitalism, of which the (Roman) church condemns equally alongside communism - both evil.

Ludwig von Mises: everyone has a responsibility to work even if there are no jobs out there. Even if the machines are doing absolutely everything. Even if robotics, advance control, and computers can do in a few minutes what took months by hand, the policy is still full employment, (if you do not work neither shall you eat) even if that insistence of work happens to demand prostitution of the body and the soul.

Victoria has become the third jurisdiction in Australia to decriminalise sex work

<https://www.abc.net.au/news/2022-02-10/victoria-sex-work-act-repealed-decriminalisation/100818818>

As noted last week, there are opposing theological arguments on this subject of full employment.

"All things therefore whatsoever you would that men should do to you, do you also to them. For this is the law and the prophets"

- the golden rule as stated by our Lord.

It was William Wilberforce with a few others, who won the common law battle against the merchant-led slave trade. Slavery is a moral question, not a financial consideration for both the owner and the slave alike - a Faustian bargain for the slave. No human should have that much power over another, and none should be required to enter into a slave/master Faustian bargain. The financial system, through its nurtured and designed flaw of manipulation, has confiscated the very real assets of the entire planet to only a few hundred families. The natural law response is this: "the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath". Systems are made to serve man(kind) and not man to serve systems. The financial system must be a just system (as with weights and measures), not filching the entire globe unto those who manipulate it for their own purposes, while driving the rest to abject poverty under financial slavery.

This PHON financial perspective, apart from being amoral (no morals), is separated from observable reality. With the cry for full employment, there is no explanation whatsoever of the irredeemable debt every nation in the world finds itself in. If you can't free yourself from financial slavery, if a nation cannot manage its own financial system for the benefit of the people of that nation, then we are all slaves, nonetheless. Silence on these vital issues is complicity. This is where capitalism and communism come together in their nexus of slavery - dictatorship of the proletariat. This is the blind side of PHON and conservatives generally, whereby they refuse, or deliberately avoid considering this question, while the other equally weighty issue of limiting the power of government is also not openly discussed in this arena of public education and discourse. What a moment lost!

LOVE AS A DYNAMIC FORCE - PLAN B
What is to happen when the demonstrations stop?

The combination of the Financial/Political/Military/ Pharmaceutical/Industrial/Media complex would be an impossible task to overcome by physical strength alone. It requires faith, hope and love, all put into action. The Canadian truckers have set up soup kitchens to feed the homeless and blow-up castles for the children. As the Truckers are challenged by whomever, the locals are coming out of their homes and filling the gaps created. This spirit of freedom is growing as Canadians come together to do all they can in -30°C temperatures. There may be some cracks appearing in the politician's armour, but these will be shored as they appear. The key to inalienable rights and freedoms is that it affects everybody including civil, political, military and police.

Leadership of these structures has been subverted with injections from the WEF and secret societies. It is always the leadership that sets the flock on a destructive path.

Leadership of Self

I watched footage of the Canberra march and listened to several people with the microphone and came out with the impression clear direction was lacking or they were attempting to garnish votes for the next election. I did not witness a clear policy direction. What can 100,000 people do together in a march or rally? Not much unless this display of frustration is converted into action at their local level with an injection of some leadership of self. A dominant individual can readily take over a large meeting to cause a change in direction if you are not aware and thinking clearly. To overcome this charisma advantage, clear thinking and preset objectives are essential ingredients prior to attendance of these.

The Canadian Truckers have united the nation under a freedom of choice and lifting of all covid restrictions banner that is bringing the public along with them.

This is a unifying policy that permeates the public imagination. Issues other than this need to be set aside for now in order to direct political energy towards the restoration of our inalienable rights and freedoms. These rights and freedoms do not come from government but are inherent within every person from conception unto death.

Government has overstepped their defined boundaries of a limiting Constitutional Monarchy. Energy now needs to be placed into this institution to shore it up as 'our agreement as to how we shall be governed'. Petitioning the Governors and Governor General to lift all covid restrictions is a start. He, as commander of our police and armed services is the rightful recipient of this plea from the people against the tyranny of our governments. This can be done at your own capital city rather than the 1,000+ kilometre trek to the capital Canberra. Logistically it also makes sense.

Alternative Media as Education

Each time there is interaction with a member of the public is also another opportunity for civics re-education. Our Limiting Constitutional Monarchical system of government is orientated towards 'division of power' across divisions of government and administration. No single house, nor individual holds supreme power over our nation (or our States). Annually the lower house must stand to be judged in the states' house the Senate with the passing of the budget. The Executive stands answerable to the Parliament, and the Ministry stand answerable before the Courts as adjudicator of the imposition of these laws. Our representatives are not doing their primary function of representing the will of the electorate and holding the Executive to account. They collect wages under false pretences and need to be replaced with others more attune to the now realised will of the electorate. The New Zealand public are also rising up against this world medical tyranny. A similar message from them is freedom of choice and lifting of all covid restrictions.

We need to understand that the police and the military also have children and family directly affected by this world medical tyranny. They need to be brought alongside with the public. This issue is government tyranny imposing a world medical policy. Sir Robert Peel, the founder of the London Police wrote:

"The police are the public and the public are the police; the police being only members of the public who are paid to give full time attention to duties which are incumbent on every citizen in the interests of community welfare and existence."

While the public is now finding clear objectives, the structure of tyranny must be considered. Klaus Schwabb boasted that he had injected up to 50% of administrations with his operatives, it is those in leadership positions which direct policy. It is those who will attempt to turn this narrative against the pursuit of our inalienable rights and freedoms. National broadcasters are simply hired tools. New media is 'you' with a clearly defined message: freedom of choice and lifting of all covid restrictions. You can do much locally in this pursuit of our freedoms. This is where the supply lines are not 1,000+ks but readily available. This is a war against tyranny and it is happening in your neighbourhood at your own front door. ***

MAN - HEIR and STEWARD by ED Butler

No reversal of current developments is possible without reversing and modifying the financial policies which have been such a powerful instrument in the hands of the power-lusters. The true conservative knows how important is the past. As the young French-Canadian mystic, Simone Weil, so beautifully expressed it in

The Need For Roots:

"We possess no other living sap, than the treasures stored up from the past and digested, assimilated and created afresh by us."

A genuinely conservative approach to life requires humility, to accept the fact that the man is not self-sufficient.

It is surprising how many conservatives will accept this truth concerning some subjects, but reject it in the field of economics. Far too many conservatives create the impression that their concept of "rugged individualism" is a type of free-for-all where the self-made man succeeds and the weak go to the wall. The truth is that no man is self-sufficient today in the field of economic endeavour. Even those pioneering on some of the world's remaining frontiers are making use of machinery and technical assistance which comes from co-operative industrial societies, themselves the heirs to a thousand years of "accumulated" industrial arts. The creative conservative of the Twentieth Century must take a new look at economics if he is to meet the Socialist challenge. Some proper humility is a prerequisite. The following are basic truths which must be accepted in evolving a policy which will enable the best of our civilization to be preserved and developed along the lines of a genuinely conservative and co-operative society, one in which the creative initiative of every individual can find expression:

1. What might be described as man's basic capital consists of vast natural resources, including the soil. Growth is impossible without sunshine, rain and fresh air. All this is a gift from God. It is not produced by men's work. Labour does not produce all wealth as the Socialist and Communist claim.

2. The use of basic capital requires production capital. This has been developed at an ever-accelerating rate because each new generation is the heir to the accumulated knowledge of the past, which is part of man's cultural heritage. Without this knowledge, man would still be subsisting at a primitive level without even knowing about the wheel. It is more correct to describe man as a discoverer than an inventor. The truth concerning what is termed the "mechanical advantage" was DISCOVERED, not created by the man who first used a lever to lift a much greater weight than he could with only his own muscular energy. This and other truths are also a gift from God. The Indians watched the flow of water over the Niagara Falls for centuries, without realizing that here was an enormous source of power which could be harnessed to serve the individual. Present-day North Americans use this power, not because of greater physical ability than the Indians, but because they are heirs to knowledge passed on to them by previous generations. Semi-automatic machinery driven by solar energy, computers, machines making machines, with human labour as such now a minor factor, are the results of the cultural heritage.

3. Both morally, and realistically, the individual is entitled to a share in the benefits possible because of the application of the cultural heritage to basic capital. But although the cultural heritage, like basic capital, must be regarded as a community heritage, in order that this heritage is preserved, extended and in the most competent and responsible manner on behalf of the individual, private ownership is essential.

In a free-enterprise society, private owners should be a group of producing aristocrats, proud of their responsibilities and the opportunity to develop their various skills, serving a democracy of consumers.

4. As the "money vote" and price system is the most flexible mechanism through which the individual can exercise effective control over how his heritage is to be developed, it is the legitimate function of Government to ensure that the volume of community purchasing power AUTOMATICALLY reflects economic realities. The proper level of water in a cattle drinking trough is automatically adjusted by a ball-valve and the amount of water consumed by the cattle. The actual mechanics necessary to place individuals in control of their own credit, is one for appropriate experts to create. No change in the ownership or administration of the private banks is necessary.

C.H. Douglas predicted in 1924 that unless control of the community's credit were decentralized into the hands of its individual members, and the economic system reoriented away from the direction in which it was being forced by those monopolizing the control of financial credit, there would come a time "well within the lives of the present generation" when "the blind forces of destruction will appear to be in the ascendant... There is, at the moment, no party, group, or individual possessing at once the power, the knowledge, and the will, which would transmute the growing social unrest and resentment (now chiefly marshalled under the crudities of Socialism and Communism) into a constructive effort for the regeneration of Society... we are merely witnesses to a succession of rear-guard actions on the part of the so-called conservative elements of Society, elements which themselves seem incapable or undesirous of genuine initiative; a process which can only result, like all rear-guard actions, in a successive, if not successful retreat on the part of the forces attacked. While this process is alone active, there seems to be no sound justification for optimism..."

— Social Credit By CH Douglas.

A genuine counter-offensive by conservatives, demand a challenge to the policy of the credit monopoly. It was Abraham Lincoln who observed that "the power to regulate the currency and credit of a nation" is "the Government's greatest creative opportunity."

A resurgent conservatism might well take the Lincoln statement as it's fighting motto. ***

IT WAS NEVER ABOUT COVID - IT WAS ALWAYS ABOUT THE SURVEILLANCE STATE by Arnis Luks

Those following the political events in Canada would be aware that bank accounts have already been frozen and insurances revoked against the protesters on the ground, and any other remote supporters opposing that government's covid tyranny. The tyranny is expanding to any who fail to support lockdown strategy such as the tow truck companies who may fail to obey a directive to tow away the convoy trucks. This power is readily usable by the Trudeau administration against all political opposition, including freedom or constitutional movements, against truth in media - the new media, against their bank accounts and corporate structure - they wouldn't you say - they already have. Trudeau is not an exception, but rather the rule of what to expect from our nation's rulers trained by the WEF school for world leaders. Sovietisation has come to Canada as it convulses further into crisis.

The validation of any type of prophecy is to correctly predict future events if a policy is pursued. CH Douglas foresaw what we currently experience and his written record from 100+ years past is available for research. On this week's broadcast thecross-roads.org, a short paragraph from the 'protocols' was read out to reinforce the long-term objective of what we are experiencing. The 'protocols' are such a 'prophecy' and deserve wider consideration - available from our online libraries. Another most important booklet of the origins of modern communism is the 'Antecedents of Communism' available here: https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Antecedents_of_Communism.pdf which highlights the pedigree of ideas from which satanic communism emerged.

The Chinese surveillance state, which is an expression of this satanic ideology, is being rolled out across the free world by all governments as the central bank 'policy' to control the world. Klaus Schwabb and Bill Gates, while appearing as dominant players in this narrative, are in fact the willing slaves of their masters the Money-Power. It always has been the Money-Power behind the wars and revolutions within our living memory. Few alternative media are pursuing this line but are confusingly attributing the cause and effect of the situation to governments, when in fact and deed, governments are simply doing the bidding of a higher power and authority. Political parties, as are our education institutions, multinational industry and the bureaucracy, are all willing tools of this same power.

With the build up of pressure in the political situation in Ottawa, and the increased levels of propaganda in regard to the Ukraine, I would expect false flag events to occur simultaneously in both these regions.

"It is only in war, or the threat of war that English speaking people will accept large-scale planning".

The fully planned society is correctly called capitalistic-communism. The expression of this is most observable in China and Russia, but becoming increasingly obvious in the English speaking free world. We are no longer free due to our governments administering Draconian financial-brutality against any who would disagree with their policy. Minor donations of as little as $100 are punishable by termination of employment, seizing of funds and closing of bank accounts. This is without court order nor redress against the banks through the courts.

A similar legal indemnity was pronounced in favour of big-pharma by these governments over the covid jab.

Artist's empty shopfront photos show how COVID lockdowns devastated Melbourne's retail sector <https://www.abc.net.au/news/2022-02-19/empty-shopfronts-melbourne-covid-lockdowns-economic-crisis/100812668>

The writers for this journal have repeatedly emphasised the financial carnage being done to middle-class Australians by the Covid tyranny. Whilst this recent ABC news article makes reference to the thousands of now empty shopfronts across the Melbourne landscape; it neglects to emphasise the thousands of other small businesses that have closed due to the same policy, nor the tens of thousands of jobs lost with all the personal ramifications flowing on from such occurrences - family breakdowns, increased suicides and mental illness, bankruptcies, homes lost, and inheritances dissolved.

Building upon the narrative of seizing and closing bank accounts by the Canadian federal government (being a reflection of central bank policy), it becomes apparent that we are facing a convergence of politically-aligned catastrophes against the common people.

Whatever the real number of protesters in Canberra over this past week, whether it be the 100,000 or even the 1 million, the point is that individual and community resistance against Covid tyranny is building.

The level of frustration has come to the point of political expression into the streets. Can this action alone bring about significant political change? Unless this energy can be directed towards realistic and firm policy objectives, it may dissipate to nothing with the moment lost.

Our PM and Opposition leader quickly distanced themselves from responsibility for the covid tyranny by straight out misinformation to the media. In Canada, the Provincial (state-ed) governments also eased pressure from themselves by reducing the intensity of covid restrictions; only to 'probably' raise the bar further after the Ottawa movement is collapsed by whatever means necessary, including false flag events that may result in the death of both RCMP and protesters.

A False Flag Event

A false flag event would legitimise Canadian government crackdowns converting from covid to the now police state. The (blind, deaf and now dumb) general public will not notice any change in outcomes and continue to accept whatever narrative is generated (psychologically manipulated) into their minds.

Two years ago this journal's writers emphasised the political coup d'état that was taking place across the free world. For two years the owned, controlled, and now subsidised media have failed to report of this. Some alternative media outlets are suggesting 99% of the once mainstream is now financially supported with government subsidy. Let's be clear that this subsidy is not coming from the government 'as sponsor', but rather from the government 'as administrator' of world government policy. Central banks are issuing what can only be described to as 'never ending' (debt)-funds in the form of new debt to governments across the free world. The money is there for the police state and now a possible war-front in Donbass, Ukraine, in the form of increased debts over the public purse, but it is not there to allow the fruits of industry for the public to enjoy.

"Guns will make us powerful; butter will only make us fat," declared Hermann Goring, Hitler's economics minister - 'guns before butter'. This same message is being touted by central banks - police-state and war, but not for the pleasure (leisure) of life.

This scripted narrative is attempting to hide the obvious fact that we live in a time of material abundance with the modern technological advances in the manufacturing and other industrial and scientific arts. Sufficiency is there for all of mankind if we would only choose such. Those who would be world leaders have correctly predicted that 50% of all manufacturing, distribution and production jobs have now gone to machines and robots. Amazon warehouses are full of robots while they have become the largest distributor in the world; with little income distributed to workers in comparison to prices for their products. This situation is repeated over and over again. Universities and colleges are utilising online courses as the norm, as have schools with a laptop for every student. Church services are centrally controlled and occurring increasingly online. Even Parliaments and the Courts are becoming remote-attended events, with cardboard cut-out (virtual) representatives and proceedings. The highest levels of government are conducted online, or for photo opportunities rather than open Parliaments with recorded debates across the floor of ideas. A stunted, perverse abstraction of what was once genuine participatory and representative democracy.

Faith In The System At An All-time Low

The latest central bank press releases are in regard to battling inflation (as if it were a hot war). With the past two years of the policy of issuing massive amounts of new credit (in the form of debt for governments to subsidise industry while locking down middle-class manufacturing); this policy has purposely fostered this inflationary cycle with the release of massive new debt-credits without a corresponding massive increase in production. Any increase in production will only occur under wartime-production-conditions of which they, this world government, are also making moves towards.

The continuous rise in the price of housing is a direct consequence of promoting increased borrowings by inexperienced young people trying to get into the housing market. This occurring whilst the cost of building materials used with their accompanying prices becoming less and less expensive to produce. What has changed significantly is the products utilised (under Agenda 2030) requiring specialist-manufacturing (read China), rather than the locally sourced and produced timber, bricks and mortar historically utilised for building our homes.

My first block of land which I saved across one year (from which provided a 50% deposit), and subsequently paid for 'outright' across the next two years must be compared to today's young people trying to get a home. The ratio of income against the price of land allowed this to occur in my time without excessive personal hardship, all whilst starting a young family on a single income. Nowadays, just for the land will require a 20-year mortgage garnishing a significant percentage of the entire income/s of that individual or family.

This is inflation as a consequence of central-bank policy (administered in this case by local government under the Agenda 2030 – medium density housing policy - with restricted land availability thus shortening supply which increases price).

The end position for today's young people attempting to get into the housing market, is that they will be indebted for the rest of their working lives. A new home, constructed under modern light-building-codes will not survive standing for the life of the mortgage. The mortgage will outlast the home and the occupants.

This is due to financial policy of debt creation with the stroke of a keyboard/pen. Not due to the science of building construction, which was able to build churches that lasted hundreds, if not a thousand years, as also can a home be built-to-last as demonstrated with various 'escape' video shows of rural England. The issue of the light-building code construction is a financial policy of deliberate-redundancy so new homes can be forever built and a profit made, regardless of the environmental carnage. This same environmental carnage argument goes into the nuclear industry now actively espoused by (supposed) environmentalists. This policy of shutting down coal and gas fired power generation is to centralise power generation into the hands of multinational corporations who hold the licences for nuclear power.

The environmentalists are playing directly into their hands. The environmental waste from this nuclear industry is our legacy to future generations not yet born - a cesspit of carnage that will last thousands of years - Nyonoksa, Kyshtym, Chernobyl, Fukushima, Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

Taking Stock of What We Have

Firstly, we have a rich history of individuals rising up against tyranny (including our own home-grown tyrants). When the Danes were constantly harassing the English, it was Alfred the Great who united the various kingdoms and fought back against the marauding invaders until he was able to establish an agreed-peace. That agreement set about a United Kingdom that lasts unto this day.

The legacies of 'presumption of innocence', trial by jury, Habeas Corpus, the Common Law being natural law, and Westminster Limiting Constitutionalism each have their story to tell of those 'George's' wrestling down and subduing the Dragon of tyranny. It is within our ancient mythology. This is our history of who we are and what we have achieved when called upon to do our duty.

Today we are again called upon, to work this tyranny to the ground, to overcome and subdue a communist- capitalist nexus that would financially and politically enslave the world.

We have our Constitution that must be upheld as the agreement between the people as to how we shall be governed. We have our Parliaments that must again be those places of debate to resolve political issues, not the party room nor other secret chambers. We have our elected Representatives whose primary function is to represent the electorate within the Parliament and whose other primary function is to hold the Executive to account within the Parliament. Both functions, of which they must be encouraged to uphold on an everyday basis. We must shore up these institutions to work as they should and no longer be the plaything of political parties or power movements. The Representative belongs to the people of the electorate, not the party machine (gang). Parliament must not be suspended for any reason whatsoever, including war, covid or climate or anything else. It must function so these things can be debated, and resolution sought to the very end. We must unite under our Limited Constitutional Monarchical system of government that has served us and our forebears so well, the Governor General as the Queen's Representative and Commander in Chief or our armed services. All our institutions must again reaffirm their loyalty to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II as that unifying and gathering point over which our political, judicial and administrative branches of government must serve as to how we shall be governed. These issues will never be resolved in the sheep paddock Canberra. They must be resolved locally in the nearest community near you.

Unifying Through Policy Agreement

South Australia is heading into an election cycle that is being all but ignored by mainstream. For this coming election cycle, two policy objectives need to be pursued.

- Freedom of Choice
- Lifting of all covid restrictions

These two objectives have unified the Canadian truckers and their population including the police and military.

A third policy of 'putting all sitting members last' on the ballot paper should also be actively encouraged.

The probability of election fraud is great, with local covid testing stations now part of the mix and postal votes being advocated under this covid tyranny. Postal votes were the largest area of fraud in the previous USA presidential election. Can there be any confidence in a valid result under these circumstances?

The result, – tongue in cheek, as goes within all Soviet banana republics, is already pre-determined and will be published prior to the event to ensure a consistent message goes out on the day. Similar to 9/11, when the reporter called the building collapse prior to it actually collapsing, the election result is already agreed across the major-party-coalitions.

You can be sure that if something happens in politics there is someone somewhere who made it happen

Topher Field has produced an educational video on the preferential voting system (practiced in most mainland states for their lower houses of parliament), with a proposed voting strategy that could cause a change in the two major party's dominance within Australian politics. I encourage you to watch his informative work here:

<https://youtu.be/zLS3IfC-i6I>

My after-thought on this well produced and thought- provoking production is to always look backwards before you move forwards. I investigated from previous elections the official 'how to vote cards' issued by minor and major parties and discovered direct lines of preference deals between supposed protagonists across the political spectrum. This is not to be unexpected from the majors who have worked together many times to put PHON or any other threat last (to their duopoly power-base) and each other second-preference, but it was unexpected across supposed protagonists within the minors. Do your own homework on this important perspective as it reveals the closed-door-collusion between supposed protagonists. George Soros and Rupert Murdoch would both be equally proud of their deception:

"Ye shall know them by their fruits"

Another point to note is the 'how to vote cards' across major parties. This can be a very good talking point when the opportunity to door knock is taken up and the major 'voter' is across the door-threshold believing 'they' would not do that. Most major party supporters would be unawares of this conspiracy of collusion between the majors, and also the minors. A safer vote is where every box is numbered 'as you see fit' and should be promoted at every conversational opportunity. You can make a difference to the end result - placing first and placing last.

https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Bezmenov_Y-Love_Letter_To_America.pdf

In the telling "Love Letter to America" written by former KGB operative Tomas Schuman (Yuri Bezmonov) who defected from Russia, has highlighted the 4 stages of subversion of a nation to Sovietism, namely:

Demoralisation: Destabilisation: Crisis: Normalisation
These past several generations have experienced without interruption the demoralisation of all our historical and cultural achievements. This demoralisation continues to this day through all our institutions. Victorian parliament recently outlawed any ability to oppose conversion therapy – from one sex to another, even a cat sex.

With the lockstep/lockdowns we entered into the destabilisation stage and will shortly be moving onto the crisis stage. In Canada rest assured, there is massive manoeuvring across all political and institutional departments occurring at a frenzied pace to replace all soft communists (socialists) with hard-line communists.

Note the swap of the Ottawa police chief due to him failing to crackdown on legal demonstrations. At the start of covid - January 2020 - we experienced a significant resignation of CEOs who read the writing on the wall.

This is the modus operandi of all communist takeovers of a nation. Sovietism is the end position unless 'we the people' choose to take a different path. It is late in the game and down to the final stage for restoring our ancient rights and freedoms. This upcoming election cycle may be our last free election. Think hard and act resolutely. ***

Thoughts For The Quarter:

Our own ABC has been contacting those Australian people (identified in the hacked website data that has been readily made available around the world) to intimidate those for donating to the Canadian truckers – this is called 'doxing'.

Leaked data from the Canadian convoy protest fundraiser website reveals hundreds of Australian donors

<https://www.abc.net.au/news/2022-02-16/australians-donate-to-canadian-convoy-givesendgo-fundraiser/100832928>

...The ABC confirmed the highest single donor on the Australian list to be a Melbourne woman who contributed $US1,300 ($1,817)...(whom the ABC contacted for comment-ed)

This week I received several reports in regard to the trucker convoys in both Canada and Australia. Similar may be occurring in USA.

Individuals are doing extraordinary things to highlight the dilemma created by the covid/climate lockstep/lockdown. It is one thing to create exposure of a problem. It is another to cause a correction. I'm not convinced any of these actions will achieve any change in policy direction due to many contributing factors.

What will we do for an income when the robots have taken over all our jobs?

The observable and natural world has shown me personally over the past 50 years a marked increase in productive capacity due to technological advances, automation, advance control and robotics. Built on an already solid foundation of solar energy expressed in the forms of steam, electricity and the internal combustion engine; it is no exaggeration to suggest man's productive capacity has increased 1000 times in the past 300 years.

Across my 35 years of oil and gas experience, I witnessed first-hand the advancement of these technologies and this encroachment upon a continuously diminishing workforce. With a close association with the building industry and coming from the building family, I watched my father as 'carpenter on a pushbike' carrying his tools in a sack across his back, metamorphose to the phenomena today of the fully motorised, self-reliant, power-tool-driven builder, with prefabrication processes and development of new and innovative building products, which all lead on to the rapid construction of today's modern dwellings. The truckers are another example of this same phenomena, with their B-Doubles and triples, and bigger and bigger prime-movers carrying more and more with less and less human involvement, carrying further distances in less and less time due to advances in road construction, bridge and free-way technologies. The horse, or ox and cart across a dirt track or cobble road being the predecessor to today's transport super-trucks on super-highways. Some not even requiring a driver.

A very important point to note on this matter of the trucker's convoy is the massive increase of overseas imports into USA, Canada and Australia from China as further and further manufacturing is directed to China's relatively modest cost of labour and 'efficient' labour management strategies, being a slave empire. The truckers are moving more and more Chinese containers of produce from their own ports to other areas of their country.

Without China's manufacturing, USA and Canadian retail shelves would be bare, as would Australia's. The convoy tactic, especially during such a very cold winter across most of North America may actually play right into the hands of the one-worlder's advertised policy of supply chain collapse.

This turndown of our national manufacturing base, aside from the current national security perspective of supply chain collapse, will also cause a massive balance of payments issue for those countries, leading ultimately onto war. These war drums are currently being beaten through the MSM (as the propaganda wing for the great reset), as part of this global strategy to continually enforce world government policy across the western world in particular as the last stop-out. The only recording of CH Douglas - "The Causes of War" available online library.

What we have to recognise, is that technological progress is continuing on an accelerating rate, and consequently reducing man's involvement in the economic system. We are producing more and more with less and less human involvement and have been increasingly doing so for these past 300 years.

Australia's successive governments having previously surrendered our manufacturing industries over to supposedly developing nations, at the direct cost of our own national security and social stability. What has this to do with lockstep/lockdown - everything. As our shelves are running out of produce, this man-made and man-created phenomena will lead to increased social friction and imposition of greater levels of governmental control on more and more areas of life. There is design and purpose behind this policy. Hitler's Germany, Mao's China or Stalin's Russia did not just happen, they came about as a result of policy - central bank policy towards world government.

A problem correctly stated is already half solved said CH Douglas. Douglas, as engineer rooted in the natural world, discovered the variance of flow in the relationship between the financial and economic systems. He referred to this as the A+ B theorem. Recognise the never ending and accelerating debt as a direct consequence of this flow-flaw. The Rumble video channel Douglas Social Credit explains in detail this phenomenon. Less and less is being paid out in wages to a diminishing workforce, while machine output is increasing at accelerating rates. Chinese wages are also improving as USA wages are diminishing as the manufacturing base has successively been moved to China. Same in Australia and Canada.

Where will we get our income to purchase what the machines have already made?

Government is increasingly providing assistance to companies and the workforce, not based on a real tax base, but rather increasing indebtedness to central banks that debt-subsidise the Lockstep/ Lockdown. Gradually governmental requirements have been increasing to ensure compliance towards government programs, which just happen to be perfectly aligned with 'great reset' policy - no job, no work... no job, no anything.

Compliance is king, nothing to do with science (masks or natural immunity) or freedom or constitutional framework or anything else. It is a coup d'état of the whole world.

The covid/climate threat is there to take your eyes off this manufacturing phenomena of material abundance with less and less amounts of human engagement, and concentrate-your-eyes only on covid/climate (and now war with China/Russia) as an existential threat to mankind, while the manipulators of this system of financial fraud bring into fruition a centrally controlled digital currency CBDC to track every move you make. Who tracks those that track you? Nobody. They are unaccountable for all they do.

Turn Down Time

These past four days I and my wife have been under the weather. A friend enquired if it might be Covid. My rejoinder "I hope so, similar to measles; once I've had it it is processed for life".

As I was surfacing from this turndown, I directed my attention towards the 1978 advanced social credit audio lectures by ED Butler. When considering the upcoming elections around the place, Eric, in effect had this to say: "in the current 1978 Fraser conservative 'cabinet' are three ministers who understand Douglas Social Credit only too well. The ivory tower of power has seduced them all". Eric went on to explain the fundamental need for regeneration must begin with the individual. The organised church offers little hope of change in direction as it has also been seduced, or equally as destructive, infiltrated and perverted by foreign ideologies.

The Christian Philosophy insists that all things exist for the benefit of the individual - the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath - Render unto Caesar those things which belong to Caesar...and unto God those things which belong to God. This directs the financial-economic system's only legitimate purpose or policy is to provide goods and services as, when and where required, not provide full employment to an ever-reducing workforce.

Rooted in reality as to how things actually are, and not in a theoretical or abstract conception of reality, Douglas suggested an adjustable dividend would allay the shortfall in purchasing power of this modern manufacturing age, to correspondingly liquidate those accumulating prices at the point of sale. Industry would not need to continue running unnecessarily if the market were satisfied. The workers could take increasing amounts of time off to pursue other things - Seek ye first the kingdom of God and all these things will be given unto you. This age of plenty is before us and every effort is being made to ensure you never see, nor realise it as the reality that it is. Eric's 1978 lecture notes are titled 'Releasing Reality'.

Trusting Each Other and not the MSM

In a short interview of one of the hundreds of thousands supporting the Canadian trucker convoy, a native American woman said "We must trust each other rather than trust the mainstream media". In this profound statement she highlights the dilemma of modern-day propaganda. As is our government, the mainstream media is the willing slave-tool of big Pharma, which itself is controlled by monopoly finance - world government. While alternative news sources are providing an increasingly accurate assessment of the phenomena of covid/climate lockstep/lockdown, they do not provide from a philosophical perspective, any practical solutions for regeneration during our civilisational collapse.

In 1924 CH Douglas warned of the increasingly obvious civilisational collapse, of which ED Butler reiterated again in 1978. Civilisational collapse occurs across hundreds of years as the social cohesion erodes. This social cohesion, or as Douglas described as 'the social credit' is what builds and strengthens civilisations. The correct question, if we are to counter this civilisational collapse of our age is :

"how do we rebuild the social credit?"

The point to note about building social cohesion or the social credit is that it is not in the nature of a plan. It is an organic movement of the spirit, approached to suit the local circumstances, situation and peoples. Societies build social credit by spontaneously working together...I did an Internet search on Ratepayers Associations and also Progress Associations. I enquired in regard to existing involvements in this area to gain an insight into what worked. While having only a limited chat due to another pressing engagement, I noted that their involvement was in several groups.

I gathered they spent little time in front of the box. Their life was participating in community.

I understand their local area is cross-linked with other community groups further afield and so a network of participants is actively involved in the running of their communities. This isn't hypothetical or abstract. This is practical and real. The minutes from the previous ratepayer's meeting were available which showed targets set and actions required from the participants. This showed practical engagement, not theoretical utterances about how things ought to be.

The first of all communities being the family. The young are generally tech savvy and have much to offer in this realm provided they can be resourced. The more senior are generally more politically savvy and also have much to offer provided they can be resourced. We have nothing to lose but our freedoms, and no future prospects but slavery, if we do not work together as a community of families to overcome this great reset tyranny. Grog only available to the 'vaccinated' in WA - because of The Science, right? Sun, 30 January 2022 https://www.michaelsmithnews.com/Transition to Cashless Society, then Carbon Credits

We have previously (1988) reported on the proposal for a cashless society: <https://alor.org/Storage/OnTarget/Volume24/Vol24No28.htm> More Australian trials since then have occurred in Norfolk Island 2010 (carbon credits) and Ceduna 2016 (cashless society). Once people are fully accustomed to using only an electronic card, (cashless), it is no longer a significant step across to Carbon Credits (Central Bank Digital Currency-ed).

We need to consider these cashless society trials and also the basic income trials as the precursor to world government - all developed through our universities. The productive capacity of the world is now so ginormous as to only require some countries to actually be producing while the rest will be spoon fed a diet of compliance jobs and food rationing with a forever reducing carbon credits or CBDC. Someone else's utopia over the entire world's population while the very real cultural inheritance of this technological age is being confiscated into private hands along with all the material assets being placed at their disposal.

The filching of the real assets of the entire world and the financial enslavement of every nation has occurred due to the deliberately manipulated anomaly with the financial/economic system discovered by CH Douglas over one hundred years ago, with the proposed remedy of the National Dividend unconditionally paid as a part of their cultural inheritance. The establishment (above government) of a National Credit Authority to issue this dividend is justified on the basis of balancing the imbalance of: 'the flow of prices' compared with 'the flow of spending power' in the form of wages, salaries and dividends. Manipulation of this imbalance has confiscated the assets of the entire world into the hands of charlatans and needs to be placed back into the rightful hands of every member of society as their part of that cultural inheritance, which I might point out is Christian - Seek ye first the kingdom of God and all these things will be given unto you.

WA Premier Mark McGowan has decided for all those unjabbed, that grog is no longer allowed and restrictions will also continue ad infinitum. A utopian pathology of supreme leader Führer. Dan is not far behind. These personalities are not unique but surface among 'considered normal people' as power becomes more and more centralised into their hands. Relinquishing your own personal responsibility for health outcomes promotes this environment for the Führer to emerge. This is our own doing to some degree.

The development of the independent individual and original thinker does not appear to come from our learning institutions, but rather those whose life experiences are immersed in practical things being their time and place of personal preparation. Douglas never attended university until he was 30yo. For Douglas those pre-uni days were involved in the real world and became the foundation of his most profound thinking and scientific observation. He built and sailed his own yacht, while also harnessing the modest water flow across his land to produce electricity.

Our universities, while being the mechanism for the massive immigration program of 250,000 per annum promoted by all major political parties, has been the testing ground of programs to bring into fruition world government, while also the breeding ground for today's cultural-Marxist revolutionaries. They were also involved in the development of weapons of mass destruction.

Princess Diana actively campaigned against land mines while our local university collected royalties from the same. I can only endorse the sentiments of another ALOR writer James Reed that they should all be shutdown.

We have updated and upgraded our electronic systems and are able to offer Douglas Social Credit instruction through our online bookstore :: veritasbooks.com.au There is also ample opportunity to keep abreast of the Video and Podcast forums conducted each week with participants from around the world.

The knowledge, tools and mechanisms are readily available as part of our cultural inheritance, to regenerate this collapsing civilisation into the likes of a never seen before time of material and spiritual abundance. To bring about as our earnest prayer on earth as in heaven. This is not a utopian dream, but an observable fact to him who has eyes to see. And every man shall sit under his vine, and under his fig tree, and there shall be none to make them afraid.

FREEDOM OF REACH by Arnis Luks

Across the break I was sent a copy of the "Biederman's Chart of Coercion 1956".

I was not surprised to find these methods of psychological manipulation (similar to what was used on prisoners of war during the 'Korean police action') were being emulated across the once-free-world over covid and climate. I noted that Sydney Powell's USA group 'Defending the Republic' are currently holding a spiritual renewal in Florida, stating that our spiritual problems are not resolved with military might, elected officials, nor human governments. With the frenzy for covid testing, and irrational arguments against natural immunity, I can only agree that we are in a state of unrealistic fear, having surrendered our spiritual roots for a bowl of secular covid/climate pottage. We are here because we choose to be. That is a big statement of which you may not agree. Bear with me as I attempt to work through that comment.

Seek ye therefore first the kingdom of God, and His justice, and all these things shall be added unto you.
(Matt 6:33)

Going against this statement of a Natural Law, of not only indifference towards 'not seeking', but deliberately going against seeking His Kingdom and His justice on the basis of man building his own kingdom and rules as he sees fit, then all these things will be stripped away. We are losing all 'these things' because of this. All these things are our freedoms, our faith, our hope for a secure and plentiful future. And yet taking a momentary look outside we can see a beautiful, balanced and bountiful world of wonder of God's provision and providence.

Unprecedented Cooling - Not!

At the moment in Adelaide, we have experienced 3 or 4 days of light autumn rain with temperatures from mid to low 20's °C, and yet we are in the middle of an Australian summer where historically temperatures on average have been at least 10°C higher. Orchestrated climate science (propaganda generated from our own BOM and CSIRO - both having changed to activist propaganda instead of science under former NSW ALP Premier Neville Wran's guidance 1986-1991) claims weather is out of kilter due to AGW, anthropogenic global warming, and yet a small amount of personal research into sunspot activity and consulting the ancient records shows today's conditions are not unprecedented nor unusual across millennia. Observation and research is a starting point for any scientific consideration, not blind acceptance of the great reset covid/climate religion and propaganda. This summer, like last summer, has been quite mild and the light rain is welcome as the grain crops are already harvested. It has been another bumper year of grain production. This mild weather has not hurt us, but rather eased Australia's usually hot summer conditions. You may not be aware of this observable fact unless you make the effort of looking outside to consider the real world. Our ABC and the other MSM entities have not let up on the AGW theme - a steady stream of covid/climate religion and propaganda.

I grew up in the 1960s, a period where my Uncle Donnie spoke of and trusted the long-range-weather-forecaster Lennox Walker and his calendar that was produced based on observation of sunspot activity and the historical record. I note that Lennox's son Hayden has continued with his father's legacy of accurate (80%) prediction 12-18 months out based on improved monitoring facilities. Why would we or more importantly our scientific institutions not observe, monitor and take into account that ginormous solar furnace in the sky that domineeringly influences our weather patterns? This failure of observation and recording against the historical record is a form of collective psychosis that must be considered and deliberately deconstructed in our own minds. The weather is fine and currently well within historical variables repeated over many millennia.

Biederman's Chart of Coercion

The first two methods of control in the Biederman's Chart of Coercion are 'isolation' and 'monopolisation of perception' (a dominating mainstream media narrative).

Obviously, the counter-action against these methods of coercion are 'realistic unrestricted-movement' and 'as many and varied inputs of news and information as possible' - the opposite of this covid tyranny of lockstep/ lockdown. While the local newspaper is generally monopoly owned and controlled, a few independently owned-and-run rare jewels are around which need to be supported and protected as a vital community service for intellectual stimulation. ALOR does all it can to disseminate news and provide realistic assessment, however there is always ample opportunity for increased circulation from a willing readership and support base. ALOR's proven many times over accurate-written-record of this plan for world domination goes back to the 1930s for consideration and research - available from our online search facilities, archives or copied onto a USB for mailout - contact Head Office for a copy usable on your desktop PC with suitable search software. Please consider this initiative of spreading the real News in your personal endeavours.

A 1991 video of Jeremy Lee at the ALOR seminar held in Melbourne was rediscovered across the break and placed on our front page and video channels. Jeremy's record of events occurring within the Australian Labor Party highlight the complete change of direction towards internationalism that occurred with the election of the Whitlam government 1972.

The New World order, or if you like the New International Economic Order, or more currently the Great Reset are all manifestations of this drive towards world government. The traditional labour movement was subverted at least 50 years ago (almost to the day) in rapid fashion and has never returned to its historical roots amongst blue collar workers. Liberal/Nationals hold the same sorry narrative of subversion to pursue world government policy most obviously demonstrated with both covid and climate, both major political entities in lockstep regardless of supposed antagonisms. UAP, Australia 1 and Pauline are making little clarity against this tyranny due to their own philosophic bias towards libertarianism or laissez-faire capitalism. They cannot or will not recognise/ acknowledge the centralising tyranny in order to counter the drive to world government, because the corrupted financial system is at the heart of this centralised power base of world government, and they are each beholding to its furtherance. Under the plan of the great reset is to introduce a CBDC, central bank digital currency forming the final surveillance-nail in the coffin of freedom, that will monitor and control every action every individual on the planet chooses to make, and corresponding sanctions applied accordingly.

Holding out against the jab, or suggesting political power be given unto them, does little to turn back the great reset towards centralised world government. What is needed is devolution - decentralisation of political power back towards communities and individuals. This will not occur with another political party machine. It must come from communities acting independently but pursuing a common goal of restoration of our ancient rights and freedoms.

Unity AND Diversity

Unity of policy objective; and diversity of personal expression, work together. There is no 'how to' on finding what is necessary to ensure success of outcome. Each active community must work this through with their own representative themselves. Some may find a small nudge will cause a significant verbal change of direction (with little practical outcome), while others may find a full effort is required even for a modest beginning to regain control of their representative. Regaining control as the necessary objective must be pursued to conclusion.

Your representative has no right to insist they are a 'delegate' who can put party interests above the electorate. The crossed axes at the town hall are a symbolic reminder of how much effort was necessary to hold onto ancient rights and freedoms. In 2005 while touring England, I was driven past a pleasant, lawned and tree lined Runnymede. I needed to recognise that in 1215 the stage that was set there was not for a picnic, but rather, if necessary, a battle to the death. King John 1215 was met at Runnymede by the fully armoured barons in order to be persuaded to uphold those ancient rights and freedoms. The institution of Monarchy was to be maintained but their ancient rights and freedoms were to be restored - to the point of death. Freedom is a fight worth fighting for. Our objective today is 'influence over our representative' to be placed onto the floor of parliament with their deliberations, which is not happening and has not occurred but for a few rare instances for at least the past 70 years.

The primary function of every representative is to "represent the will of the electorate within the Parliament". The next and equally important primary function is to "hold the Executive to account to the Parliament". Neither of these primary functions have occurred across the great reset covid/climate lockstep/ lockdown towards world government.

Real Voices

While the progressives, aligned with world government, are attempting to harvest discontent with 'voice of' initiatives, communities must find their 'real voice' and ensure their representative is listening (which they are not except at election time). Look at what they have done, not what they say with their mouths while doing the opposite with their hands (deeds).

'By their fruits you will know them' is a warning of their deceit by officials/politicians/bureaucrats and preachers.

Freedom is the issue, not covid or climate or an array of progressive policies: 'voice of' is pursuing progressive policy (under a banner of representation) while in fact openly supporting Murdoch and Soros centralist initiatives.

Our nearby electorate of Boothby is being pursued by 'voices of' under climate urgency which no doubt will assist the campaigning of the one worlders Murdoch and Soros together. The electorate will find little comfort in pursuing this policy whilst losing jobs, homes, businesses, ancient rights and freedoms with covid/ climate lockstep/lockdowns. The activist group 'voices of' are pursuing the great reset agenda in deference towards the 'real voices' of those communities within that electorate.

'Know them by their fruits' means exactly that.

A viable resolution against this monopolised tyranny is almost any initiative exercised by the individual.

Simply placing one's faith in another party-hack will never cut the mustard towards freedom. Everyone must make those necessary choices and actions for themselves (to learn by their mistakes if necessary) to take charge of their own life. For some this may be quite daunting as they have spent a lifetime being guided by strong 'leadership'. I believe this subjecting yourself to strong leadership is a grave error of judgement, even within a family - mutual love and cooperation being the better arrangement of cross-pollination of thought and action.

The likes of UAP, Australia 1 or PHON making those decisions for you, and you placing a quick tick in the box at election time is what has got us into this pickle in the first place. A novel (original) solution is 'local voices' feeding towards their representative in such a fashion that the representative cannot ignore their many and varied views. Not one voice alone, but many and varied. The task of the representative is to encompass all these varied views to find resolution. In the case of covid - freedom of choice allows each to make their own personal decision, with possible home isolation of symptomatic individuals to allow others to live normally as once was the historical and standard method of illness management suggesting Go home and rest. Come back when you are well again!

Baby Steps

I was encouraged to hear of the forming of several action groups trying resolutions against our descent into tyranny. I was also reliably informed of several other communities across Australia where small business owners actively resisted draconian mandates. Two years of tyranny has passed so rapidly, which places Russia, China, Germany and Italy on an entirely different level of understanding of how those totalitarian dictatorships were able to come about. Professional manipulators were at work then as they are now, who understand the workings of the mind to take advantage of our inherent human weaknesses most manipulatable within the crowd - the collective. Only as individuals taking the time and effort to reason can we disentangle this web of political deceit deciphering truth from lies.

New Initiatives

While mass demonstrations are a valid expression of discontent, they alone will not achieve a change of course of political direction as the 'Yellow Vests' of France have repeatedly demonstrated over these past 3 years. The Adelaide nurses' suggestion of meeting every other weekend at the local library has merit and needs to be seriously considered. Regular meetings of autonomous and independent local action groups can also at times network together to pressure their representative, but equally importantly, use every opportunity to progressively and systematically educate their electorate, this being a dependable path towards restoration of our ancient rights and freedoms - the truth will set you free.

Local Growers Markets

Food security must be the first priority. I have been informed that some big-end players are discontinuing sourcing produce from local suppliers. Once lost, these local and oh-so precious jewels of food sources may not come back which places all beholding to the tyranny of centralised food supply.

Think very carefully about this critical issue that could be quickly used against you.

Make every effort to source your food from local growers and local farmers. As your own food security objective is achieved other targets can be set and met. The importance of self-reliance cannot be overemphasised. The very real threat of supply chain collapse is to ensure a siege situation occurs, make no mistake. We are at war for our ancient rights and freedoms while our harvests are plentiful. Pray God for the continued harvests. We must also do our bit to bring about God's Kingdom on Earth as in Heaven.

Individual Initiative

Every community may have varying views of priority towards their representative. Even across the one community there can be much diversity. Some may want a swimming pool for young people, others a road upgrade, others relief from covid compliance to protect the viability of their business, and others freedom of choice towards the experimental jab. To insist on lockstep is a denial of that unique spark of divinity within us all. We are not automatons, but unique individuals regardless of station in life, race, gender, or 'religion'.

The Decentralising Douglas Initiative

The Douglas proposal of the National Dividend in this age of automation and advanced control, amongst other things may do away with the justification of the structured church as charitable institutions. This could be why the Douglas proposal receives such short shrift from them.

They would rather 'game' the system than change the system based on solid moral and ethical principles.

The question of government providing all your needs is a moral question. With provision comes conditions which our governments are only too happy to impose.

I have received word that state wards (young children aged 5 and above) are being pursued by EPA bureaucrats to enforce the experimental jab. These young children do not have the protection of a stable family situation.

So many situations within families occur due to the fraudulent nature of the financial system resulting in irredeemable debt and poverty. Covid/ climate exasperates this isolating predicament and financial duress 'as policy'. The Douglas Social Credit case correctly states that: "God is providing our daily bread; not the state, nor the church through charity". The Calvinist perspective of prosperity-dispensation, similar to libertarianism or laissez-faire capitalism, makes all those unable to find meaningful employment as lacking. In this age of automation and advanced control/robotics, employment is of secondary consideration against the uniqueness of every single individual on this planet. This uniqueness, or spark of divinity is within us all, generally finding expression through creativity, not necessarily paid employment. What a confused state of affairs we are in by not thinking clearly and acting resolutely.

Regaining Control of the Shire:

"The Kingdom is within": Luke 17:19

The SA state electorate around Fleurieu Peninsular, whose growers happen to be 37% certified organic, found their representative 'decree' GM food crops 'unrestricted access' across that farmland and the state. Remember this at election time. A young person has taken the initiative at the local market to inform their electorate of GMO and the financial carnage against those that lose certification.

Does Kangaroo Island find satisfaction with their representative leading the pack to legalise that satanic practice of infant sacrifice through full term abortion legislation? I cannot visualise or imagine anything more evil than this, except perhaps the pursuit of those young ones with the experimental jab. Is this really who KI residents want as their representative? Do they indifferently not find time or space for these unwanted and not yet born in their considerations of effective political expression?

Or the residents of South Australia, whose businesses have been lunched due to panic and fear exercised over them by their state government officials and the MSM. Will we remember them? All those that have suicided due to failed businesses, or the young and elderly due to isolation and societal deprivation? Will we remember them? This is the truthful outcome of this one world government – the great reset. Man fills his mind with all sorts of things when he does not fill it with the things of God. This is why we have ended up where we are. "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and all these things will be added unto you" means exactly what it says.

Solzhenitsyn, when asked why all those evil things of the soviet regime had happened to Russia, answered that "men have forgotten God, that is why these things have happened".

History is repeating itself because those things which should never have been forgotten are lost. We must again make every effort to find them and put them back in place, whilst also taking society further-on in this age of automation and advanced control/robotics. The Christian message is one of a world of abundance. A place of love, joy, peace and faithful dealings - societal credit (Douglas Social Credit). Are you ready to accept 'this' as the best cultural inheritance you can provide for your children and grandchildren? Or are you going to work and collaborate with others and take every initiative to bring about God's Kingdom on earth as in heaven using all the spiritual armour of God before you?

Ephesians 6:10-18 Finally, brethren, be strengthened in the Lord, and in the might of his power. Put you on the armour of God, that you may be able to stand against the deceits of the devil. For our wrestling is not against flesh and blood; but against principalities and power, against the rulers of the world of this darkness, against the spirits of wickedness in the high places. Therefore take unto you the armour of God, that you may be able to resist in the evil day, and to stand in all things perfect. Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of justice, And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace: In all things taking the shield of faith, wherewith you may be able to extinguish all the fiery darts of the most wicked one. And take unto you the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit (which is the word of God). By all prayer and supplication praying at all times in the spirit; and in the same watching with all instance and supplication for all the saints... ***

VOTER MEMORY LIKE A GOLDFISH By Arnis Luks

USA, who along with Britain, refused to recognise nor enforce the Minsk Agreement which would have ensured safety of those Russian speaking civilians in the Donbass region in eastern Ukraine, are now both relishing the military manoeuvres by Russia to appease rising internal dissent within their own nations towards the massive increases in the price of domestic energy and continuing covid restrictions. Russian military action is now the justification (domestically) for hyperinflation, and ready excuses for continued lockstep/lockdowns.

Deciphering this psyop narrative is supported by inaction of any sanctions towards Russia over the Swift payment system. Even the narrative of halting the final certification of the NordStream-2 pipeline won't hold up to scrutiny when Europe starts feeling the next winter's cold. Keeping the pipeline stalled at 'certification' directly benefits the profits of the hydrocarbon industry. Once the public is accustomed to these higher energy prices, I have little doubt the Nord Stream 2 pipeline will be certified.

The threat by Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky to pursue nuclear weapons as a counter to Russian aggression, further assists the Russian military justification.

<https://www.dailywire.com/news/president-zelensky-suggests-ukraine-may-pursue-nuclear-weapons-to-counter-russia-putin-responds>

The Ukraine is geo-political-theatre to take our eyes away from our own domestic issues of hyperinflation and rising dissent against covid tyranny. The unfortunate Ukrainian people are considered acceptable collateral damage of policy pursued by other means.

Canada: Can Parliament Deconstruct Limited Constitutional Democracy?

The salient points coming from the aftermath of the Canadian truckers' convoy, are that those 'emergency powers' exercised by the Province of Ontario and the Canadian Federal government, whilst both entities have rescinded those powers, certain legal tools utilised during the 'declared emergency' will be transcribed into everyday legislative instruments. Canada can quickly move from a supposed free and democratic nation into a tyranny by invoking these same Acts again and again whenever the government/s of that day see fit. Our own Victoria and West Australia governments are not far behind, as are most Australia states and Territories.

Executive Decree Without Parliament

Most obvious in Australia has been our combined Leaders (national cabinet) issuing decrees without parliamentary over-site nor debate. The Executive/s have not been held to account within the Parliament/s.

Every Representative is guilty of failing to uphold their primary duty as Representative. This undoes all our common law rights and freedoms (extracted reluctantly from tyrants across millennia). This model of arbitrary decree is now repeated across all three levels of our governments: federal, state and local.

Rex Lex is latin for the 'king as law'. We have devolved, from representative democracy, to supremacy of parliament, to now supremacy of leadership.

Rex Lex under another name.

Weaponising of the Banking System

The identification of donors to the crowd-funding campaigns supporting the Canadian truckers, with subsequent bank account freezing and insurance cancellation is part of the Chinese surveillance state and will not be relinquished easily, as will also the bank indemnity for any of those actions taken (similar to big-pharma indemnity towards the jabs). Once seized, these unaccountable surveillance and punishment powers are very difficult for future generations to rescind.

Looking back to this financial pressure being exercised over individuals or corporations, I realised this modus operandi has been repeated many times across my lifetime. The teachers' colleges and universities were being actively 'populated' with professors holding a foreign philosophy - dialectical-materialism, or humanism which found its most ready expression within cultural-Marxism.

In the late 1960s socialist-programmed teachers were entering the workforce. My highschool history teacher - a declared socialist, was utilising cut-and-paste project assignments as the method of education about the Sino-Japanese war. Who remembers and who cares? This 'plastic' education model was stealing my inheritance to learn of and be inspired by the marvellous achievements of the English-speaking peoples and their inordinate influence over the expansion of freedoms across the world, especially Australia. This marvellous inheritance, centred around the expressions of the Christian philosophy, was being deliberately withheld due to political appointments within the education bureaucracy and subversion by foreign agents within political parties who made these professorial appointments.

The appointments back then of communist injected professors mortally compromised our own culture to where we now are experiencing the death convulsions. Equally, those professors who held out against this Marxist injection into our education system were side-lined; financially blackmailed to either toe the politically correct line rather than cultural, scientific and historical facts and truth, or face job loss.

Cultural Marxism is a power movement, survival of the fittest. Whilst in 1859 Charles Darwin theorised "On the Origin of Species by Means of Natural Selection, or the Preservation of Favoured Races in the Struggle for Life"; Karl Marx and Fredrich Engels in 1848 were likewise theorising their "Communist Manifesto". Darwin's work was quickly grafted on to Marxism as the validating explanation of Marx's theories (which were not original. See Antecedents of Communism here: https://alor.org/Storage/Library/PDF/Antecedents_of_Communism.pdf).

Professors were side-lined if their political views were not aligned regardless of scholarship, truth or science. This side-lining had already occurred in medical training facilities that had aligned with the Johns Hopkins' and John D. Rockefeller's model of big-pharma - industry controlling-by-sponsorship education for their own purposes. Our BOM, CSIRO, TGA are all a reflection of vested and sponsored interest to the point where each new pronouncement is orientated towards propaganda, against inductive-theory and scientifically-sound research

Controversial Queensland scientist Peter Ridd has lost a High Court battle against JCU dismissal
<https://www.abc.net.au/news/2021-10-13/qld-controversial-queensland-academic-court-battle-jcu/100534402>

...On social media Dr Ridd thanked his supporters who had donated $1.5 million towards his legal battle with JCU.

"We lost, in my opinion, because JCU's work contract, under which I was employed, effectively kills academic freedom of speech – and the contract is effectively the law," Dr Ridd said. "JCU's actions were technically legal. "But it was, in my opinion, never right, proper, decent, moral or in line with public expectations of how a university should behave."...

Our universities lost their way long ago as is reinforced by James Cook University's suppression of scientific rigour in favour of marketing the false science (propaganda) over the Barrier Reef ill-health to promote the now 'disproved in law' theory of AGW anthropogenic global warming. Our government recently allocated nearly $1 Billion of taxpayer sponsorship towards the reef in order to ensure sufficient propaganda studies are fully funded to keep this AGW ruse going into the future.

Truth is no defence says our highest court, only an EBA enterprise bargaining agreement - contract law being above scientific truth and rigour. Without AGW there is no climate emergency. The climate ruse is up.

I know that two car manufacturers, one steel plant supplying the resident shipbuilding plant, with associated iron ore mines, coal production and power generation, one whitegoods plant, with all the ancillary industries as offshoots of these, have all gone from South Australia in the past 50 years. We are a retirement village supported by a never-ending supply of government subsidy based on a tax base that does not exist. Government (our) debt is now to the tune of $1 Trillion AUD and rising with no end in sight while all our industrial self-reliance has already been deconstructed as part of what can only be described as world government policy. Any political situation like the Ukraine that calls upon our own resourcefulness to manage, we are unable to do so. We are a sitting duck on the water due to past political decisions to de-construct our primary industries. The liberal and labor coalitions both supported this de-industrialisation policy issued from world government.

Bill Gates admits that Omnicron provides higher levels of immunity than vaccines. Building from this admission, the actual death numbers across the preceding two years are well within normal trends. The covid ruse is up, and no doubt there will be yet another variant or urgent situational needed to reimpose tyranny across the world.

"Among all the vaccines I have known in my life (diphtheria, tetanus, measles, rubella, chickenpox, hepatitis, meningitis and tuberculosis, influenza and pneumonia), I have never seen a vaccine that forced me to wear a mask and maintain my social distance, even when you are fully vaccinated. I have never heard of a vaccine that spreads the virus even after vaccination. I have never heard of rewards, discounts, incentives to get vaccinated. I never saw discrimination for those who didn't. If you haven't been vaccinated, no one has tried to make you feel like a bad person. I have never seen a vaccine that threatens the relationship between family, colleagues, and friends. I have never seen a vaccine used to threaten livelihoods, work, or school. I have never seen a vaccine that would allow a 12 year old to override parental consent. After all the vaccines I listed above, I have never seen a vaccine like this one which discriminates, divides, and judges society as it is. And as the social fabric tightens.....it's a powerful vaccine. 'She does all these things except IMMUNISATION.'
If we still need a booster dose after we are fully vaccinated, and we still need to get a negative test after we are fully vaccinated, and we still need to wear a mask after we are fully vaccinated, and still be hospitalised after we have been fully vaccinated, then it's time for us to admit that we've been completely deceived."

Pasteur vs Béchamp: The Germ Theory Debate:
<https://thevaccinereaction.org/2018/02/pasteur-vs-bechamp-the-germ-theory-debate/>

- Louis Pasteur's "germ theory of disease" remains the basis of Western medicine, considering that disease is caused by specific micro-organisms that invade the body from outside.
- Antoine Béchamp believed instead that illness stems from an unhealthy system that triggered changes in minute particles of the body that lead to dis-ease (adj).
- Western medicine has fully embraced germ theory and its dependence on drugs to treat symptoms, effectively minimizing the importance of nutritious food, fresh air, hygiene and sanitation....

South Australian State Election

With the election only three weeks out, I note the precarious position the existing Premier finds himself. This cannot be unexpected considering the convulsions we have experienced in the preceding two years. I personally hold no malice towards him as another human being. However, he alongside his government must be held accountable for the financial and political carnage they have fostered and allowed to be created.

And many that are first, shall be last: and the last shall be first. Matt. 19:30

The more I think over the 'voting last' option the more attractive and effective it appears. The conservative and labor coalitions work together as we see mirrored with the east and west leaders over the Ukraine : good-cop bad-cop scenario repeated again and again.

By placing 'he who would be first' last, you simultaneously clean out a soiled administration and also filter out the most ruthless and opportunistic from the Parliament. The 'voting last' strategy appears more attractive and effective each day I take another look.

By considering an 'alternative source' of representative rather than from the conservative and labor coalitions, again provides an opportunity to rotate the soiled administration. This consideration can be effectively worked through further by the order of the preferences on your voting slip. I offer no 'how to vote' opinions, but rather hope that prior consideration as to how you shall vote will be given in this critical time of our history.

Political Bribes

Following a 'how to vote card', I feel, is at best an ill thought through donkey vote and far from being responsible, but possibly destructive towards our shared future. Being offered a bribe 'at the expense of your neighbour', is how they both have managed to divide and redirect us towards bigger and bigger government. We can do so much better than that and send the criminal-party-gangs to the bleachers where they belong.

Electoral Integrity

Registering as scrutineer, which does not require the jab, offers some indicative resistance against polling-booth fraud. H.S. Chapman Society produced several excellent books authored by Amy McGrath which illustrated the many and varied unaccountable options available for voter fraud to occur, of which several politicians have been known to investigate. No change to this rort has been initiated by differing governments as the benefits of turning away are generally greater.

The electoral roll administered by the Australian Electoral Commission, is usually shackled financially by the incumbent government / treasury and will rarely be scrutinised adequately prior to an election.

Individuals who may have voted multiple times across the polling day are increasingly difficult to prosecute due to the voter ID blind spot all political party's support by their inaction. A denial by the accused is sufficient to stop any real investigation. Governments may stand or fall by a handful of votes, so fraud can affect the final result.

As USA is repeatedly experiencing, the existing practice of political-party-supported voter fraud is massive and integrity of the ballot system is attacked from multiple fronts to achieve quite sinister results against the expressed will of the electorates. The postal-vote-mechanism appears to be the most vulnerable to fraud and possibly a watermark across the ballot paper would be somewhat more difficult to produce quickly, so does offer some relief. This has yet to be utilised to my knowledge. It must be understood this fraud has continued to occur while we also sat idly by and did nothing ourselves. This is as much our own fault for complacently putting our faith in political parties, as it is equally their fault had they opportunistically exploited these available frauds to alter the final result.

Voter Memory Like A Goldfish

Scanning the news and information channels from around the world everyday does not necessarily produce an accurate picture of actual political events, but rather "only an approximation". Events may reveal themselves across time and an obscure fact may only surface after many years. The scandalous behaviour of former PM Bob Hawke now surfaces as sex addict, womanizer and foreign spy, yet the media and the many woman's associations within that political movement would have been well aware of this and yet chose to remain silent as a political expediency to further their own agenda. Censorship, by the media or anyone else, is as much a problem as misinformation. The many church paedophile scandals are another example of more damage being done by suppression, rather than exposure to the light.

The tyrannical Trudeau administration's grab for power has not gone away, but simply given the silent treatment while the Ukraine military action is allowed to fill the headlines. This provides the world government with some relief as they regroup to plan the next surge of events to mesmerise the masses.

The speed of Putin's response with invasion to divert attention away from the Canadian trucker's resistance against Trudeau's political clumsiness, and the rolling effect across other nations of the Freedom Convoy, illustrates how world government can spin on a dime when necessary. The monopoly owned and controlled box and media keep the world hypnotised while events move forward to their end objective of the world slave state. Confiscation of assets and seizing of bank accounts by a 'tyrannical government and an indemnified bank' slips into the silence of the abyss as those many hypnotized eyes are drawn away towards more entertainment, with little thought of the impending peril. We live in an age of massive misinformation - propaganda. It starts with the box and continues through schooling and higher education, including seminaries to the point where black is white, and truth is of little interest even to our courts.

The Scouring of the Shire

In the final chapter of 'Lord of The Rings' by JRR Tolkien, Frodo and his band of merry hobbits return to the shire after having defeated 'Sauron and the Ring' to find other tyrants Saruman and Wormtongue, not only alive, but brutalising their place of sanctity, the shire. The hobbits again must fight to clear out another tyranny.

As individual people, we cannot operate in the realm of these superpowers 'over Ukraine as a manipulatable plaything', but must accept what personal responsibility we can, to operate at a level in which we are effective. That area is the local community or shire if you like. What can we do here? becomes : what we must do if we are to regain our ancient freedoms and rights.

Trudeau is not the exception but the rule of all tyrants throughout history. If the individual will not accept personal responsibility to rule their own life, others will quickly take up that vacuum to rule over them. The welfare state, immersed within our nationalised medical system, is the policy failure that has led us to a potential world war III to usher in world government. The counter to this is personal responsibility; to make as many of your own medical and personal choices as is possible.

Safe Government is Small Government

The fraudulent financial system, managed and manipulated by unscrupulous people has been the 'ring of power to bind them all' that has brought the world to this current philosophical climax. In this age of automation, advanced control and robotics we could easily live in material security and abundance should we so choose. Obsolescence and redundancy could easily be designed out of inferior products so each was produced to last, if not a single lifetime, better still, many lifetimes.

Faith As A Mustard Seed

Do we have the intestinal fortitude and heart to take this "civilisational step of faith" as a mustard seed, that this mountain of political corruption and intrigue shall be picked up and thrown into the sea? Future generations will look back intensely on our answer or indifference to this eternal philosophical question of 'who is it then that you shall serve?'

No man can serve two masters. For either he will hate the one, and love the other: or he will sustain the one, and despise the other.

You cannot serve God and mammon.

OUR POLICY

To promote service to the Christian revelation of God, loyalty to the Australian Constitutional Monarchy, and maximum co-operation between subjects of the Crown Commonwealth of Nations.

To defend the free Society and its institutions -- private property, consumer control of production through genuine competitive enterprise, and limited decentralised government.

To promote financial policies which will reduce taxation, eliminate debt, and make possible material security for all with greater leisure time for cultural activities.

To oppose all forms of monopoly, either described as public or private.

To encourage all electors always to record a responsible vote in all elections.

To support all policies genuinely concerned with conserving and protecting natural resources, including the soil, and an environment reflecting natural (God's) laws, against policies of rape and waste.

To oppose all policies eroding national sovereignty, and to promote a closer relationship between the peoples of the Crown Commonwealth and those of the United States of America, who share a common heritage.

DOUGLAS SOCIAL CREDIT TRAINING

Douglas Social Credit is the disciplined science of social engineering measured in terms of human satisfaction.

DSC looks for the Truth which governs human associations. DSC is found predominantly in the areas of philosophy, politics, constitutionalism, society, economics and finance.

DSC is concerned in any other discipline which considers the satisfaction of human beings an important factor.

DSC Training is available in four semester workpacks, steadily developing the individual's understanding of the Science of the Social Credit measured in terms of human satisfaction.

Our online training initiatives include:

- 1. Social Dynamics Videos and Booklets available on our alor.org/ website front page.
- 2. Introducing Social Credit by Betty Luks is built around five modules, as well as Video and Podcast discussions around the Science of the Social Credit.
- 3. Intermediate Social Credit by ED Butler includes eight written assignments, Video and Podcast discussions around the Science of the Social Credit.
- 4. Advanced Social Credit is conducted with the assistance of international experts in this science, included are the historical 'Elements of Social Credit' by Tudor Jones, (originally produced by the Social Credit Secretariat), two courses including texts, Video and Podcast discussions and other reading material understanding the Science of Social Credit measured in terms of human satisfaction.

THE LEAGUE'S FREEDOM CAMPAIGN

No political or social movement can exist in a moral vacuum, and Australians have traditionally accepted that it is the Christian Faith that generated our rich heritage of representative government. While the League maintains a small full-time staff primarily motivated by Christian service, it is the extensive network of volunteers from all walks of life who form the backbone of this Movement.

The League of Rights seeks to help create a body of dedicated men and women who serve not for their own material gain, but as custodians of those truths and values which must form the basis of all successful efforts to defeat the enemies of human dignity and freedom.

The League encourages and equips individuals, through our many libraries, journals and audio/ videos to exercise their own initiative in the service of freedom.
