

THE HIDDEN HUXLEY

Contempt and Compassion for the Masses 1920–36

Edited by David Bradshaw

faber and faber

LONDON · BOSTON

Contents

Introduction	vii
Chroniclers of Folly:
Huxley and H. L. Mencken 1920-26	1
Open Conspirators:
Huxley and H. G. Wells 1927-35	31

ABROAD IN ENGLAND 1930-36

1	Babies - State Property	47
2	Abroad in England	51
3	Sight-Seeing in Alien Englands	65
4	The Victory of Art over Humanity	77
5	Greater and Lesser London	87
6	Is Cruelty out of Date?	96
7	Science and Civilisation	105
8	Dispatches from the Riviera	115
9	Industrial Progress and Social Stability	123
10	Sex, the Slump and Salvation	127
11	Education	132
12	The Prospects of Fascism in England	135
13	Pareto and Society	142
14	What is Happening to Our Population?	147
15	The Worth of a Gift	159
16	Casino and Bourse	166
17	The Next 25 Years	171

18	Ballyhoo for Nations	176
19	Emperor-Worship Up to Date	192
20	General Election	196
21	Artists Against Fascism and War	203
22	Total War and Pacifism	205
23	A Horrible Dilemma	210
24	If We Survive	215
25	People's Front	218
26	How to Improve the World	220
27	The Man without a Job	230
28	Pioneers of Britain's 'New Deal'	237
	Acknowledgements	242
	Index	243

Note: Titles for Chapters 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 22 and 23 are supplied by the editor; all other titles are taken from the newspapers, journals, etc, in which the essays first appeared.